FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
January 4, 1897. }

To the Senate and Assembly:

GENTLEMEN: In pursuance of an established custom, and in accordance with the mandate of the Constitution, I have the honor to present to you this, my first biennial message.

It is with grateful satisfaction that I recall to your recollection the peaceful condition of our State during the last two years, its fruitful harvests, its freedom from domestic disturbance, and its immunity from pestilence and disaster. In the midst of a general industrial depression, and hampered as we are by imperfect political practices and economic fallacies, we have steadily pursued the inevitable destiny which has called us to the proud position of the foremost State in this peerless Union.

It is with regret that I turn from the natural advantages bestowed upon us to contemplate the political conditions with which we have surrounded ourselves. At the time of my inauguration I commented upon the extent of State extravagance in California, as being a matter of common notoriety, and that the extravagance with which we managed our finances prevented a desirable immigration and the influx of the capital necessary to the proper development of our dormant industries. I called attention to the fact that the expenses of government had been steadily increasing for the past ten years, in the face of a steady decline in wages and profits, and that while private business enterprises had scaled salaries and made every reduction in expenses consistent with efficient conduct of their affairs, the State had gone forward in the old groove, evincing, if anything, a tendency to looser management and more profligate expenditure.

The correction of the abuses which exist in our political condition rests with the legislative and executive departments of the government, working harmoniously together for the common welfare. Continuing, I remarked:

"Laws designed to bring the public expenditures within the limits of reason, to lop off redundant functionaries, to concentrate distributed institutions of like character under a single management, to reduce salaries as far as may be deemed consistent with the efficiency of the service, and in general to place the affairs of State upon the same safe business footing as that of a successful private enterprise, must originate with one or the other of the two Houses. The Executive can only advise, recommend, or approve, and the first he takes the liberty now of doing, in a necessarily imperfect way, but nevertheless so as, it is hoped, the direction may be made clear in which the retrenchment so imperatively demanded may be effected without the embarrassment of any useful public institution, or in any way hampering the administration of the State's affairs."

The opinions I then expressed were confirmed by subsequent investigation, and, so far as possible under existing laws, the State Board of Examiners has endeavored to correct the evils found to exist in our State government and in its various State institutions, and in this good work has been assisted by other State officials and by the officers of the various institutions themselves.

SOME INEQUALITIES.

The State Board of Examiners found salaries and wages for the same service exceedingly disproportionate; the number of employes excessive; that there was no uniformity in the system of keeping books, warrants, or checks; that attendants in the various asylums vary greatly in their ratio to the inmates thereof; that employes frequently increased in number, and the payroll was augmented by thousands of dollars, while the number of patients remained stationary or decreased. The dissimilarity in salaries could not be better illustrated than by an inspection of the past payrolls of the State Reform School at Whittier, and of the Preston School of Industry. In the one the superintendent's salary was $3,600 and maintenance, in the other it is only $2,400 with similar provision—the former being in excess of the salary of the wardens of our State prisons. A further inspection of the salaries and wages paid at the Home for Feeble-Minded Children, near Glen Ellen, where the work is hard and long and delicate, and of the wages in our asylums for the insane, will also show the lack of uniformity; and in the asylums themselves, for the same service, the wages are so disproportionate among the officers that in some cases they are twice as much for a certain service as in others for a similar service.

The salaries of officers of our State institutions equal, and frequently exceed, those of constitutional State officers, who are required to possess special training, to undergo the expense of a campaign, and to perform the most delicate and responsible services for the State; and to the salaries paid to the officers of the State institutions are frequently added dwellings and maintenance, including teams and expensive living for themselves and families. Changes in this order of things are necessarily slow, and under present laws we cannot expect to equalize the salaries and wages, nor to reduce the number of officers and employés materially.

SOME SAVINGS.

Had the State Board of Examiners power to reduce the number of employés and officers of State institutions, it would have made savings to which the recent reduction in expenses through its supervision, and the coöperation of the trustees and superintendents of the several State institutions, would be insignificant. Within the forty-seventh fiscal year, ending June 30, 1896, these asylums spent $65,321 31 less than their appropriations, and during the five months ending December 1st of this fiscal year, they had spent $20,070 01 less than the amount of the appropriations allowed for that period; and if this economy continues at the same rate, the saving to the State will be, for the two fiscal years, $113,489 31, and the asylums have never been better maintained, nor has better work been done therein, than during this period. The above figures do not contain the deficiencies in the Southern California Insane Asylum, due to an insufficient appropriation.

The Controller's estimates for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years, and for the next two fiscal years, show that $104,667 50 will be saved over the estimates of two years ago, although it is universally conceded that the asylums will increase their inmates by hundreds. This decrease of expenditures on this increase of work speaks well for the institutions and the work of the State Board of Examiners.

A CENTRAL BOARD.

There should be a central body—be it the Board of Examiners or a Board of Charity, or whatever we wish to call it—with power to prescribe the number of employés, and their compensation, and also to have general business supervision of the affairs of the various institutions, their advertisements and contracts for supplies. Most of the existing boards admit the benefit that would be derived from centralizing power; for they cannot well act independently, as each expects the other to inaugurate the reforms, and the whole is too bulky to act together economically. The saving by such a plan would be certainly fifteen per cent annually of the expenditures, and if other amendments suggested are adopted, the saving would certainly be over twenty-five per cent of the present cost of running our asylums and reform schools.

I do not favor the cutting of all wages, for where large responsibility, experience, or special training is required, the wages should be commensurate therewith. We need, and must have, in our public officials, ability and strict integrity.

Nor would I disgrace the State by permitting the salaries of the Attorney-General, State Treasurer, Secretary of State, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and similar State officers performing such honorable and valuable services, to be but $3,000 annually, while County Clerks, District Attorneys, County Treasurers, Tax Collectors, and Assessors frequently receive from twice to three times as much, and the heads of some of our State institutions, and their subordinates, receive more, and also necessities for themselves and families.

Nor would I abolish needed offices, under the idea that parsimony is economy.

CONCERNING ECONOMIES.

In his report to me, dated December 15, 1896, the Controller says:

"During the last two State campaigns, a cry has gone up from every quarter for economy in conducting the State government. It was demanded of legislative aspirants that they pledge themselves to the reduction of expenses and the abolishment of some and consolidation of other State commissions and offices. Everybody preached economy; but few, if anybody, practiced it. During the sessions of 1891, 1893, and 1895, the number of offices and commissions has been largely increased, and the monthly salaries paid from this office alone on the last day of each month have increased, in round numbers, from $36,890 in January, 1891, to $44,700 in November, 1896—an annual increase of nearly $95,000. These figures do not include the payrolls of any of the State institutions, nor do they convey an adequate idea of the additional expense to the State, for the salaries paid these newly created officers and commissions is the smallest part of the appropriations made for their use and benefit. Certainly, this does not look like economy, nor even an approach to it."

With profit to the State and to your honorable bodies, which create the offices, he might have followed the counsels of my predecessor, who, in his inaugural, said:

"You will observe that the retiring Governor, in his biennial message to the Legislature of the twenty-eighth session, says: 'That upwards of $100,000 are expended in the support and maintenance of commissions and bureaus; many of them have been useful, but have outlived their usefulness; while others have been of little use, save to those holding offices under them.' It is to be deeply regretted that he should retire from office without informing you specifically upon this subject; that is, without pointing out the particular commission or bureau that could be dispensed with, that you might take steps to ascertain the situation, and, if found expedient, cause the same to be abolished at once."

On assuming the office of Governor I pointed out to the Legislature the commissions on which I deemed legislative action then necessary.

A number of the offices created under my predecessor, expiring, as I believed, by limitation, I recommended that the duties of the Viticultural Commission, the Horticultural Commission, and the Mining Bureau, be transferred to the University of California, where a trained corps of scientific men already existed, eminently qualified to enlarge their value and extend their usefulness. I also recommended a reorganization of the District Agricultural Societies.

The Viticultural Commission was so transferred, and as the Controller, in his report of 1894, page 140, had estimated $30,000 (besides printing) as necessary for the commission, while but $5,000 was appropriated for the change, the resulting economy was $29,451 70 (including printing).

The Legislature failed to carry out my suggestion as to the Agricultural Societies, and made appropriations therefor aggregating $193,000, which I disapproved, thus saving that amount.

It also failed to transfer the Horticultural Commission to the University of California, whereupon that commission, in compliance with my request (Horticultural Report, page 21), moved its office to Sacramento, where the Secretary of State furnished it with ample room; the Harbor Commission furnishing quarantine offices in San Francisco. The estimate for this commission for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years (Controller's Report, page 140) was $29,600. Since the change the estimate is, for the next two years, $9,600, or $20,000 less.

Thus, in three out of the four boards and commissions, concerning which I deemed changes necessary, they were made, either by the Legislature or myself, at a saving of about $240,000 to the people.

I am pleased to state that I do not know of any offices created during this administration that were not necessary, although I do know where others should have been created—and where the failure to create them has put additional expense and work on other officials. I am sure that the Controller will, in a measure, agree with this statement, for one of the offices created was at his solicitation—for his own department.

Had my other recommendations been carried out, the saving would have been equally large. Over two years ago, I declared my purpose of recommending to the Legislature that the coyote scalp law and the law granting support to aged indigents be repealed. In my message, I thus urged their repeal:

"Here is an easy saving, then, of $1,000,000 in these two items, and if we are sincere in our purpose to retrench and reform, there is no good reason why the saving should not be made."

The Legislature, acting upon my recommendation and the parting advice of my predecessor, Governor Markham, passed Acts repealing both laws, which I signed, and thus was saved to the State, biennially, $800,000 on indigent claims and $200,000 on coyote claims, or $2,000,000 during four years of this administration. The former law was in operation over eleven years prior to my election, and the latter nearly four years prior thereto.

I am pleased to bear testimony to this economy of the last Legislature, for never before my election had the repeal of the "indigent law" been recommended to a Legislature.

Thus, by the transfer of the Viticultural Commission to the University, by the removal of the office of the Board of Horticulture to Sacramento, by the veto of the appropriations for district fairs, and by the repeal of the Acts granting aid to aged indigents and paying bounties for coyote scalps, $1,239,451 70 has been saved; and, including the veto of the appropriations for District Agricultural Societies, I felt constrained to disapprove of over $1,000,000 in appropriation bills.

This does not include the saving on account of advertising proposed constitutional amendments; the saving in our insane asylums, spoken of above; the saving in editing the State school books, nor the saving by the elimination of fifteen companies from the National Guard; nor does it include the large saving made by the Board of Examiners in scrutinizing claims before it. It has passed upon 8,454 claims, aggregating $7,131,414 42, and out of the claims otherwise allowed it has eliminated items amounting to $66,362 74. The board has also rejected absolutely 76 claims, aggregating $682,639 51; of the latter, the greater proportion was for damages, but a large amount was for other claims.

While I found the State in an unsettled, uncertain, and extravagant condition, as heretofore pointed out, I now find a general disposition to economize in most every department of the State government where saving can be had. Notable instances are the Napa Asylum, running, in seventeen months, over $25,000 under its appropriation; the Agnews Asylum, running over $17,000 under its appropriation; the Mendocino Asylum, running $13,000 under its appropriation; the Stockton Asylum, running $14,000 under its appropriation, and a reduction in each and every one of them in per capita, and in some institutions—the Whittier State School, for instance—a reduction of over $500 per month in salaries. Such instances as these are most commendable, and should receive public acknowledgment. A general statement that “everybody preached economy, but few, if anybody, practiced it,” is unjust, and does not lend sufficient encouragement to praiseworthy acts of official frugality.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

As I have elsewhere stated, our State institutions should be organized under some one business system, and each class of institutions should be under the government of some uniform law.

While the Board of Examiners is compelled to pass upon the claims of nearly all our State institutions, to audit the salaries of employés, as well as the bills for supplies, it has not the power to regulate the salaries or to vary contracts, and therefore its action must be, in many cases, advisory only. It does, however, have the power of seeing whether the employés are rightfully working under the appropriation, and of rejecting bills for supplies not on contract. Were it empowered, either independently or as a part of other boards suggested, to regulate the matters complained of, many thousands of dollars now needlessly paid for wages and supplies in violation of law would be saved, and it could, by a regulation of the employés and their salaries and of contracts, coupled with the right to cause an exchange of the products or supplies of one institution for those of another, save large sums annually.

I have heretofore contrasted a few of the salaries and wages paid in different State institutions, and when I call your attention to the variance in the price of supplies during the past six months, you will readily perceive how the Board of Examiners, by selecting or awarding contracts for the various institutions, could, by choosing the lowest and paying the difference in freight, be of great benefit to the State.

It is hard to understand, even admitting a difference in quality and freightage, why beef at Whittier should be $6\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound, while at San Bernardino it is $4\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound, or 2 cents less; and why in other institutions of the State it should vary from 4 cents per pound to $6\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound; or why the same kind of beans should range in price from $1\frac{1}{3}$ cents per pound at one institution to $2\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound at others; and bacon from $6\frac{3}{4}$ cents per pound to $11\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound; codfish from 3.37 cents per pound to 7 cents per pound; coaloil from 14 cents per gallon to 26 cents per gallon; eggs from 16 cents per dozen to 35 cents per dozen; hams from 9.23 cents per pound to $12\frac{3}{4}$ cents per pound; lard from $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound to $6\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound; cornmeal from \$1 39 per hundred pounds to \$2 50 per hundred pounds; rice from 2.36 cents per pound to $4\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound; dried prunes from $2\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound to $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound, and raisins from 3 cents per pound to $6\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound; and when we consider the immense quantities of these goods consumed, the mind is at once struck by the possibility of saving in their purchase.

I elsewhere speak of the work of the Board of Examiners, and will therefore not repeat. No member of my political faith in either house should be deterred from voting for the indicated economies by reason of the fact that a majority of the Board of Examiners is of the opposite political faith, for I have never met, in my experience, more upright, conscientious public officials.

STATE TAXES.

To equally and fairly provide for and collect the revenue necessary for the support of the government is always the most serious duty of the State. The burden of taxation so easily falls upon the material and tangible things, the real and personal property of a community, that the tendency is to levy upon such property-holding class an unjust share of taxation. Another numerous class of our people, in addition to such property, and often almost exclusive of it, are granted and enjoy under our laws an extremely valuable possession in the nature of corporate rights, privileges, and immunities. Such corporate advantages are always beneficial, and often the source of great profit. This class of property it is very difficult to assess or value, and it generally fails to contribute its just share of revenue for the support of that government by the sanction of which alone it enjoys its existence. Our Constitution makers undoubtedly contemplated that this class should be taxed for the benefit of the State. I would therefore recommend that under Section 11, Article XIII, of the Constitution, you formulate and impose, upon all corporations in this State doing business for profit, a graduated income tax, so adjusted that they be required to pay only such sums as are strictly just and fair, and that equal justice be done among them.

If the appropriations for purposes other than the regular running expenses of the government, as estimated by the Controller, be kept within reasonable bounds, the condition of the treasury is such that, for the next two fiscal years, on the present valuation of property, the tax rate will be less than 38 cents per $100; and if the graduated corporation income tax and the excise license tax raise $1,500,000 between them—for State purposes—the people of the State will be compelled to pay less than 26 cents on the $100 valuation of property. And the Legislature that accomplishes this good end will stand out as the greatest our State has ever had.

I would recommend that this system be gradually inaugurated by imposing but a limited tax until its practical workings be determined. In this event, should inequality or oppression to legitimate corporate interests result, little injury would follow its trial.

INHERITANCE TAX.

The tax on collateral inheritances is working a great hardship on charitable, educational, eleemosynary, religious, and like institutions; and as it is the spirit of our laws to cherish and foster these beneficent agencies, I strongly urge such legislation as will relieve these and similar institutions, when recipients of bequests, from the operation of this tax.

While it is complained that "the amount expended by the State for the care of orphans, half orphans, etc., continues to increase with alarming rapidity, and some safeguard must be thrown around this law, if we are to keep within the bounds of reasonable economy," I hope you will not be deterred thereby from including these classes, and the institutions devoted to their care, in the exemption.

The laws bearing on the subject might receive your careful scrutiny.

The State pays far less per capita for them than for the other wards of the State. Its insane receive from $10 50 upward, monthly; its infants in reformatories more than double that; its deaf, dumb, and blind, $278 per annum; its feeble-minded, $160 60 per annum. And these amounts do not include the produce of the farms, the cost of lands, buildings, and furniture, and other costs, or the interest thereon. While it costs, in a reformatory, $22 per month for boys under fourteen years, we cannot complain of a cost of less than $9 per month for full orphans and a cost of $6 25 for half orphans and abandoned children, which includes clothes, care, and a moral and reformatory education. If we could have had our insane and other wards cared for, on the same terms, it would have saved us millions in buildings and many additional millions in maintenance.

LICENSES.

The proper regulation of the liquor traffic, and the collection therefrom of its proper share of the State revenue, are at once difficult and important. There are, at the present time, in this State, over eleven thousand places licensed for the sale of spirituous liquors to be drunk upon the premises, and to collect from these a license which will regulate them, and at the same time compensate the State for the privileges they enjoy, and for bearing the burdens which result from their existence, is a question which should enlist the energies and demand the best intelligence of the law-making power.

The present method of collecting liquor licenses is illogical and incomplete, while the apportionment of the very considerable fund which results from such collection is always unsatisfactory and frequently unjust. At present the State, which supports most of the burdens which result from this traffic, secures none of the revenue, while the interests engaged in the liquor business are frequently harassed, the various interests in the local jurisdiction never satisfied, and the temporary compromise, alike unsatisfactory to all parties, has but a short and unstable existence. To put an end to this perpetual civil strife, and to secure to the State a revenue commensurate with her burdens, it would be well to adopt a State excise license tax, equal throughout the State, and in such amount as would insure an efficient regulation of this traffic, raise a revenue of such magnitude as would materially contribute to the support of the State government, and secure to the citizens adequate compensation for the burdens arising from its existence. While such a tax might result in an increase of the license now levied upon the liquor business, the fact that it would permanently fix the impost and relieve the dealer from the vexation of perpetual changes, would be to him an adequate return. The remaining taxpayer, relieved by the settlement of the license question in his local jurisdiction, would be furnished with an additional compensation in the increased revenue, and in its more just and equitable distribution. I do not, however, agree with the law reported by the Code Commissioners upon this subject. The licenses might be classified according to the amount of sales of each saloon, and should be so graded as to put the heavier burden upon the sales of alcoholic liquors, while a less one is placed upon the sales of malt and vinous liquors.

In this connection, and as another reason for a State excise license law, I call your attention to the fact that at least one-third of the saloons of this State apparently escape the payment of any county or municipal license tax. According to returns made to me by the County Auditors from every county in the State, except that portion of Alameda included in the City of Oakland, and by the Tax Collector of San Francisco, there were in March, 1896, and after, in the State of California, 7,446 saloons; one county only having no saloon. The rate of license varies from $15 per quarter to $600 per year. The following are the counties, the number of saloons in each, and the rate of the license, according to said reports:

After receiving these reports, I received a statement of liquor licenses collected by the United States Internal Revenue Department for the State of California prior to the first of July of this year. It is as follows:

Wholesale liquor dealers in San Francisco.....	300
Wholesale liquor dealers in balance of State.....	156	456
Wholesale dealers in malt liquors in San Francisco.....	90
Wholesale dealers in malt liquors in balance of State.....	91	181

Retail dealers in malt liquors in San Francisco.....	80
Retail dealers in malt liquors in balance of State.....	131	211
Retail liquor dealers in San Francisco.....	5,000
Retail liquor dealers in balance of State.....	6,846	11,846
Total.....		12,839

From these figures it is at once apparent that the rates are fixed without any system. They also show that upward of one third of the saloons in the State of California escape the payment of taxes altogether.

If the Legislature fix a rate upon these saloons that will raise the sum of only $1,000,000 annually for State purposes, it will reduce the amount assessed upon other property nearly twenty per cent, and make the taxes upon the farmer and the merchant correspondingly low. A tax averaging $100 per annum, assuming that there are 12,800 saloons in the State, of which 10,000 would pay the license, would raise this amount of revenue.

INSURANCE.

From the report of the Insurance Commissioner we learn many things of importance. The Commissioner is undoubtedly hampered in the discharge of his duties by the smallness of his contingent allowance. The office is self-supporting, and this embarrassment should be removed.

Foreign insurance companies doing business here should be compelled to provide proper security for policy-holders. The Commissioner's reason for this recommendation I indorse. Annually more than $4,000,000 is paid to foreign fire and marine insurance companies alone. For this immense amount drawn from our people little is paid toward the support of our State government. One foreign company, making a yearly net profit in this State of over $120,000, can do business in California for the insignificant tax of $20 per annum.

The moment an endeavor is made to correct this and other abuses, gigantic efforts are made, and combinations formed, to cause the attempt to fail. A proper tax upon these and other corporations, regulated by the amount of business, as provided for by Section 11, Article XIII, of our Constitution, should have been imposed years ago, and would have been a just relief to other taxpayers of the State.

The example of New Jersey, New York, and other Eastern States should convince our legislators that it is time a law somewhat similar to theirs was enacted here.

All secret and fraternal associations doing an insurance business should be, to this extent, under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner.

A stringent law should be passed preventing pools and combinations: the juggling with rates and the favoring of special classes by insurance companies authorized to do business in this State.

In the consideration and adjustment of this question, care should be taken that the companies are given the fullest hearing, and that the charge be not invited that the proposed regulations are not actuated by good faith, or that they are in the nature of "cinch" measures.

BANKS AND BANK COMMISSIONERS.

The just assessment of banks and banking properties is very difficult, and, under our present laws, without the coöperation of the bank officials, often impossible. This difficulty has led to much undeserved censure of zealous public officials, and much undesirable conflict between earnest Assessors and bank proprietors. I recommend that every bank be required to make a report, to the Bank Commissioners, of its affairs, as of noon on the first Monday in March of each year, the statement to be verified by the Commissioners, and immediately transmitted to the Governor. Such reports should be open to inspection by the Assessor of each county of the State.

I regret that all previous attempts to enact such laws have heretofore failed; but as the banks are now required to make at least three statements each year, a determined opposition to making one of them on the first Monday in March should be a weighty circumstance showing the necessity of making such a legal regulation. I am pleased to state that most of the banks cheerfully complied with the request for such statement, and that but a few such institutions sought to thwart the will of the legally constituted authorities.

The law creating the Bank Commissioners should be so amended as to provide that a willful failure on the part of any Commissioner to properly perform his duties should constitute a criminal offense and a forfeiture of his office, and that, upon charges filed and a public hearing had, the Governor should, in such case, remove him.

I shall probably transmit, later, further recommendations and information on this subject.

EXHAUSTION OF GENERAL FUND.

J. R. McDonald, when State Treasurer, in his report of September 1, 1894, used the following language, which places the subject treated in as strong a light as I possibly could:

"I deem it my duty to call your attention to the frequent exhaustion of the General Fund. On June 15, 1893, this fund became exhausted, and payment was not resumed until about January 1, 1894. It became exhausted for the second time in that year on April 9, 1894, and payment was resumed April 28th of the same year. It is estimated that this fund will become exhausted on or about September 15th of this year, and so remain until January 1st next. The occasional exhaustion of this fund would not be a matter for remark, but when the exhaustion occurs as frequently as twice in a year, it is evident that the demands on the fund are too great. It is apparent that one of two things should be done: The appropriations should be cut down, or the tax levy raised to meet the increased demands. The great State of California should always be in a position to meet the ordinary demands against the General Fund. It is only putting off the evil day to carry our debts from one year to another."

The condition of the General Fund on December 1, 1894, was that it had a credit balance of only $175,891 19, while on that day the outstanding claims against it, borrowed from other State funds, was $860,000.

On January 1, 1895, the credit balance in the fund was only $1,146,-016 34. April 1, 1895, this fund became exhausted, because of unusual demands attendant upon a legislative session, and deficiency appropriations, which became immediately payable; also, the payment of extraordinary demands by the previous administration, which were unprovided for in the tax levy, and which exhausted the usual surplus provided to tide over the time between the first of the fiscal year and the first payment of revenues applicable to that year. It was overdrawn on May 1, 1895, $96,434 30, and replenished the same month by the second installment of State taxes. It was overdrawn again on August 1, 1895, $146,754 87.

The last Legislature, however, by its tax levy, provided sufficient funds, with the bills that were vetoed by the Executive, so that on January 1, and December 1, 1896, there were no outstanding claims against us drawn from other funds.

Prior to the exhaustion of the General Fund, in April, 1895, there were $499,558 deficiencies paid therefrom, the total deficiencies during the session being $602,556 81. Besides this, large amounts, running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, have been paid during this administration out of the appropriation for the last half of the forty-sixth fiscal year. When it is remembered that all settlements made by County Treasurers, with the State Treasurer, must be between December 15th and May 30th, yearly, it can be easily conceived how the fund was exhausted. Notwithstanding this, the treasury is now in a most healthy condition, and it is to be hoped that this government will hereafter pay as it goes. This can be done by providing, in the appropriation bills, that all appropriations, except for the support of the government, shall not become due until January 1st next. For the money now in the treasury—while in the General Fund, and subject to drafts—was raised for specific purposes, and not for the purpose of paying new obligations. It was somewhat by this means that the funds two years ago were exhausted in the payment of deficiencies. There were over $602,000 in deficiencies allowed by the last Legislature, for many of which no appropriation had ever previously been made.

And while the fund is in a healthy condition, we must recall that there are against it—or may be against it—claims of $287,615 for coyote bounties; $80,000 borrowed from the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund, under the Act of 1891; while $250,000, under the Act of March 24, 1893, may be drawn from the General Fund, when the contingency provided for in that Act accrues.

CONTINUING APPROPRIATIONS.

One of the worst features of our financial administration consists in retaining "continuing" or "standing" appropriations; that is, the establishment or recognition, by law, of some board, body, or institution, and a provision for an appropriation in its interest. This appropriation once provided for, while not a bonded indebtedness, or a liability in fact, causes a yearly amount to be drawn from the General Fund, without any act of appropriation providing therefor at each session of the Legislature. As an instance of this class of liability I might cite the Indigent Fund, which imposed upon the people of the State of California a tax of over $2,300,000, from the time it became a law until its repeal. The coyote scalp bill, while it did not contain an appropriation, caused a liability, which the people of the State may be called upon to pay, estimated to be $287,615, besides the sum of $187,485 already paid.

There are a number of existing statutes, containing these appropriations, which should be repealed, and I desire to request your honorable bodies to investigate each and every standing appropriation, and to enact such legislation as will correct this evil.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The growth of our University has been phenomenal. The increase in the academic departments at Berkeley, from the year 1890-91 to the year 1895-96, was from 457 students to 1,336 students, or an increase of nearly two to one. The increase in the affiliated colleges, located in San Francisco, during the same period, has been from 311 students to 717, or more than one hundred per cent; the total increase being from 771 in 1890-91 to 2,047 in 1895-96. The University has not now accommodations for these students, and the question of how to provide for them from the funds that may be used for such purpose has become a serious one. The University must have aid, or it will be compelled to apportion the students hereafter throughout the State in accordance with population, and thus deprive many of its splendid privileges.

During the past two years there has been an endeavor on the part of the Regents to bring the University and its work more in touch with the people of our State, and to furnish to the latter, by meetings held in various parts of the State, information and instruction not heretofore attainable. This system was inaugurated in June, 1896, by the Regents, and will be continued and extended. A special appropriation has been made from the contingent fund of the University, for paying the expenses of holding fifty farmers' institutes in the State.

The College of Agriculture is doing a most valuable work, which is set out in the report of the President of the University, which I would most earnestly recommend for your consideration.

All the departments of the University are in the most thriving condition, as other portions of the President's report show, and the good work being accomplished by this most valuable of all State institutions is being recognized and appreciated by the people.

Under an Act of the last Legislature, buildings for the affiliated colleges are being constructed in San Francisco, and as soon as a general plan for the construction of buildings at Berkeley can be adopted, the Regents will receive, by the donation of generous people of the State, sufficient money to construct all the buildings the University will need for many years to come. The means by which to procure these plans has already been donated by that public-spirited philanthropist, Mrs. Phebe Hearst, whose aid has heretofore been graciously extended to the University; and as soon as the plans are adopted we are assured by her of an additional benefaction of over half a million dollars, for the erection and maintenance of buildings for the use and extension of the University.

In the meantime, a conference between your honorable bodies, through your finance committees, and the law committee of the University, will probably develop a system under which money may be procured for the buildings now necessary in this institution, if for no other institution in the State.

The University of California has funds which it cannot use directly for improvements, but which must be invested for the purpose of producing revenue for its support. These funds are loaned on real property in various portions of the State, and are exempted from taxation, so that $1,000,000 of such funds loaned in any county of the State would at once prevent the taxation of property there situated to the extent of the loan, and of necessity thereby increase, not only the State, but also the county, tax upon other property in such county not favored by this loan. The effect of this is easy to imagine; and the difference between the amount of interest that will be procured by bonds and the amount of interest that will be procured by loaning the money under the present system should be borne by the State at large, rather than by the taxpayers of the county in which the funds are loaned. The State itself might take such portion of such funds, under proper laws, as are necessary for constructing University and other buildings, as it is the guarantor of the integrity of the funds in all instances.

It has been demonstrated to my satisfaction that a shorter term of office for a Regent of the University would result in more efficient service. To maintain the vigor and promote the advancement of this seat of learning requires that it be managed by active and enthusiastic officers. If the term of office of a Regent were eight years, such of them as had kept in touch with progress and had faithfully advanced the interests of the University could be reappointed, while in the case of such as had been inattentive to such delicate and important duties, upon the expiration of their term of office, their places could be filled by useful men, before an unreasonable tenure of office had hampered and, perhaps, forever impeded the progress of the institution.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

Our Normal School work is commendable. The schools are managed by three separate boards, of five members each, holding office at the pleasure of the Governor, with the Governor and the Superintendent of Public Instruction sitting ex officio as members. Yearly these boards meet as a general body, having, however, but little power. A joint committee was appointed to revise the laws governing these institutions. I recommend the passage of the bills reported, slightly modified. This would give us still three local boards; the principal of each institution being added as a member thereof, the Governor to appoint four in place of five members, to hold for fixed terms instead of "at his pleasure," and the term of one of the trustees to expire annually; thus retaining a majority of experienced members on the board. Teachers should be appointed on the nomination of the principal, and he be held to a strict accountability for the efficiency of those under him and the harmony of their work. The general board to be composed of members of the local boards, and to have the power of adopting text-books, prescribing a uniform course of study, and adopting a uniform set of rules for all the Normal Schools. It alone should have the power to fix the salaries of employés and teachers.

In this connection I call attention to the fact that the grounds owned by the State for Normal School purposes at San José are far in excess of the quantity required. I would recommend a re-conveyance to the City of San José of such portion as it may require for high school and library purposes, reserving always for the Normal School sufficient grounds for its work, and for purposes of recreation. The benefits of having a high school and library in such proximity to the Normal School would be great.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

In my inaugural message I recommended constitutional amendments on two subjects: those relating to city governments being submitted in the form of Amendments Nos. 4 and 5, and adopted by the people. The recommendation affecting the Railroad Commission was not submitted to the people. On this subject I said:

"Many other States accept none but men of special training for this most responsible position. In some, a lawyer, a man experienced in railroad matters, and a business man, are required to constitute the commission. In California, any one who can get the nomination may run. Of course, this change might make necessary an alteration of the method of selecting the commission, but as in fourteen years' experience in this State we have not covered ourselves with glory through the operation of the law as it stands, almost any kind of a change would be an improvement. The finding might be prima facie, allowing either party to apply to the courts in case of dispute or manifest wrong."

The recent decision of United States District Judge McKenna makes more urgent the changes recommended. The portion of his decision ruling that the findings of the Railroad Commissioners are not conclusive, eliminates a portion of our Constitution, and that holding the rate fixed must be reasonable, demands of California the selection of her ablest men for the place. We must select men who understand the law, men experienced in railroad matters, and men experienced in business.

We should require that the commission keep its office open and conduct its operations daily—as does the Secretary of State, the State Treasurer, Controller, and others—with open sessions and open records. No member should, during his term as Railroad Commissioner, pursue other occupations. This commission is now the eye of the State, as well as its hand, and should be composed of trained, unflinching men.

The commission has worked faithfully. It has been delayed and hampered by litigation, but will, in my judgment, accomplish much good.

The recommendations I have made can have no application to the present Commissioners, but their successors should be required to possess the qualifications and maintain the office regulations I have indicated.

The recent report of the present board contains recommendations and proposes legislation which their experience has shown them to be necessary to the broader usefulness of their body, and I recommend their report to your careful consideration.

STATE PRISONS.

Our people purchase too freely the products of other States and countries, thus spending for articles manufactured abroad immense sums which should be used in the purchase of the products of our own farms and factories. During the past two years it has been my endeavor, when possible, to confine the purchase, by State institutions, to the products of California, thus changing the practice heretofore too frequently prevailing. The efforts of the Manufacturers and Producers' Association of San Francisco, and similar associations throughout the State, have caused an increased demand everywhere for State products, and the old and improper subterfuge of marking our goods with foreign names, to insure their sale, is being abandoned. Of this, no better evidence has been given than in the latest exhibition of the Mechanics' Institute of San Francisco, which was confined almost entirely to State products.

The competition of Eastern prison-made articles with the products of our own free labor is a most grievous wrong. These products are sold in California without brand or mark to distinguish them. While prisoners should be compelled to labor, so as to be self-supporting, thus relieving the taxpayers from the burden of their support, beyond this point they should not be permitted to engage in remunerative work, and their efforts should be so directed as to produce the least friction with free labor. That a man out of jail, who would then be in competition with his fellows, should be fed in idleness at the people's expense when he becomes a criminal, is wrong, and why the salutary discipline of work should give way to the expensive support of idle prisoners; why they should be turned loose, a prey on society, instead of being reformed and taught to maintain themselves out of jail when liberated, cannot be explained.

California prison labor, as conducted, is beneficial to free labor. In some industries conducted in our State prisons there has been no profit to the State; still, such articles, produced at a loss even, have acted as a regulator of prices, and kept millions of dollars in California which would otherwise have been sent abroad to purchase articles necessary for the use of our people. The jute factory is an instance; but for it our farmers would be compelled to pay such prices as a foreign trust might enforce upon grain bags, and thus hundreds of thousands of dollars be spent abroad by reason of the increased price paid, which now circulates among our people. This industry would have been self-sustaining but for the unwise inhibition of our laws. I refer your honorable bodies to the report of the State Board of Prison Directors, whose recommendations in all respects I commend.

Our Constitution requires us to work the convicts for the benefit of the State, and the water-power at Folsom should be turned to profitable account to that end; but the prison goods of other States should not find a market here, and all reasonable efforts and laws tending to restrict the same should receive your favorable consideration.

That there may be no question as to what goods are and what are not prison-made, we ought, by law, to require all such to have plainly marked or stamped thereon, or attached thereto, a designation showing where and when produced; and this law should prohibit the sale in California of any prison-made goods, except such as are produced at San Quentin or Folsom. We have, in my judgment, as much right, as a matter of State policy, to regulate or prohibit the sale of this class of goods, as we have to regulate or prohibit the sale of intoxicants or oleomargarine.

That laws as herein indicated, would be beneficial to the State, no one would question. That they can be effectively enforced through our State Board of Prison Directors has been demonstrated by the manner in which the State Dairy Bureau has driven butterine and oleomargarine from competition with the dairy products of this State.

The number or quantity of foreign prison-made goods sold here is immense, as is shown in annexed appendix. The sale of these products imposes a ruinous competition upon our factories; if it can be discontinued, the industries of this State will receive a stimulus that will tax their capacity and prove an incentive to the establishment of others.

OUR OWN PRISONS.

We have two great State prisons in California: one at San Quentin, the other at Folsom. At the former, power is produced at great cost; at the latter, the State owns an immense water-power, ready harnessed for immediate use. The maintenance of two prisons entails upon us two sets of officials and the needless expense of two establishments. The salary list at San Quentin is $120,000 biennially, of which over one half could be saved. The supplies are estimated at $200,000 biennially, of which that going for maintenance of redundant officials, light, fuel, and power, would be saved. The San Quentin site alone, if sold, would produce sufficient money to erect all needed buildings at Folsom and complete a consolidation of the two prisons. The State Board of Prison Directors should be empowered and directed to make this consolidation, and erect the necessary buildings at the earliest possible moment, and in such manner as it deems best for the interests of the State. The cheapness at which the last magnificent structure erected at Folsom was completed, under the direction of Warden Aull, whom I consider without a peer in his line, is a guarantee of the economy with which the proposed change can be carried out. Sufficient money should be appropriated to commence the construction of these buildings, the same to be continued out of the proceeds of the sale, at the proper time, of the whole or portions of the site at San Quentin.

When the prisons are so consolidated, if Folsom be permitted to produce many of the supplies required at the other State institutions, and to aid in the production of articles entering into the construction of new, and the repair of old, buildings, and in the furnishings of both, the saving to the State will be considerable. When we once stop the sale of foreign prison-made goods, such work by our prisons will not be felt.

I desire to commend the management of our two State prisons; both are ably conducted.

PARDONS.

I desire to commend to the Legislature the statement of my predecessor on the subject of pardons and commutations, and cannot do better than repeat and indorse the reasons given by him for the disproportionately large number of convicts contained in our State prisons, as compared with the number in like prisons of other States:

"First, our statutes create a large number of State prison offenses; second, because the judges of the State, in their discretion, impose excessive sentences, as compared with other States for like offenses. Hundreds of men are sentenced to our prisons, for the first offense, to terms of from five to ten years, who, in the Eastern States, would have been sent to jail, or to the penitentiary, for not exceeding one year. It can thus readily be seen that a criminal in this State who serves a term of ten years is equal to ten prisoners in another State sentenced for one year for the same offense. I believe the hardened and confirmed criminals should be given the full extent of the law, but that first-termers, and those not of the criminal classes, should be dealt with as leniently as the public safety will permit, and that the reformation of those not yet wholly debased should at all times receive careful consideration."

Judges imposing these excessive sentences believe that they thereby suppress crime in the community by clothing its commission with extreme punishment. It is not the extent of punishment, but its certainty, which deters people from committing crime; the extreme punishment and the wide publicity given the case, and great prominence attained by the criminal himself, too frequently, through the law of suggestion, increase crime itself.

On this subject I commend to the Legislature the publication of the United States Bureau of Education, being Circular No. 4 of the year 1895, where will be found the following statements:

"It is a common experience that when one of a party yawns, another is liable to do the same. There is an instinctive suggestion to look when the crowd are gazing on the street. This elementary power of suggestion becomes morbid in the case of the habitual thief. Any desirable object he sees suggests taking it; there is a spontaneous feeling too tempting to resist. If questioned closely why he takes it, the man's last and repeated answer is simply, that he likes to.

"It was the custom in Denmark during the last century to have a procession of priests, repeating psalms, accompanying the criminals from prison to the place of execution, after which a sermon was preached. The contagious suggestion from this display made condemned criminals ambitious to die among such pomp. The result seemed to be a large increase of murder in the country. At one time martyrdom became so contagious in the Church that it was forbidden. Religious history contains many examples of excessive enthusiasm rising from nervous contagion. In massacres, after a few men have been killed, the sight of blood intoxicates the crowd, who rush upon the prisoners with fury and reckless murder. * * *

"A woman who throws vitriol upon her lover is seldom convicted. She is described in the newspapers; the color of her hair and her other charms are dwelt upon; her letters and her photograph are published. Women with more imagination than intelligence are fully prepared to imitate the heroine, when any peculiar grievance or temptation affords the occasion. The force of such suggestion has been known to result in epidemics of vitriol-throwing."

Publicity and prominence given to criminals themselves, and the details and descriptions of the crimes, with the excitement surrounding the trial, and the evidence in the case, create an unnatural stimulus, which should be checked—not only a stimulus to commit similar crimes in a similar manner, but a stimulus to easily affected persons to project themselves into trials with imagined evidence. I would suggest consideration of this subject by your honorable bodies, and would recommend such legislation as would limit the publication of evidence in criminal cases, and as would tend to reduce the prominence given to persons accused of crime.

I also recommend that in nearly all cases of a first offense by a person of previous good record and reputation, the extent of punishment be limited.

I would advise that all judges be required to inquire as to the habits, the bringing up, the business, character, and antecedents of all persons convicted, and as to all facts tending to influence the person to commit crime, which could not be in evidence on the trial, and that a record be kept thereof, and transmitted to the prisons themselves, for preservation and information. I make this recommendation in view of the fact that, in many applications for pardon, the committing judge has joined in the petition, stating that had he known all the facts in the case, the sentence imposed would not have been so severe, and that the Wardens may better know how to classify the prisoners.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Thus far during my term there have been twelve executions for murder. I have respite^d five persons until after the adjournment of the Legislature: some because of the claimed condition of their minds, and for investigation into their cases, and all because I did not desire to act before submitting to your honorable bodies the request for a law that, where a party has had his sentence commuted from the death penalty to life imprisonment, the petition for further Executive clemency must be indorsed by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court.

In granting pardons, I require evidence showing a mistake in the original judgment, or that the person pardoned was innocent, or was young, or not of the criminal class; or that the crime committed was his first offense, and that a pardon would lead to reformation. I have, however, frequently compelled such persons pardoned to serve almost the entire sentence.

Commutations are usually granted where there is doubt of the commission of the crime, and the party is not of the criminal class; or where, by reason of facts which the judge could not become familiar with on the trial, or for other reasons, too heavy a sentence has been imposed. Circumstances, however, vary each case. A number of persons have been pardoned or had their sentences commuted that they might die out of prison.

I transmit a record of all pardons or commutations, whether from State prisons or county jails, together with the reasons in each case for the same.

REFORM SCHOOLS.

A few years since, when institutions were being scattered throughout the State in answer to local demands, two State reform schools were established; both being by different Acts, of date March 11, 1889. Under these Acts one must be "within a convenient distance from Lone City, and in the County of Amador," and the other in the County of Los Angeles. No discretion was left for the selection of sites, except within the limits of the county; and while the laws were of the same date, their requirements as to the powers of the boards and the superintendents are so remarkably dissimilar as to prevent organization under the same plan. The reformatory at Whittier, costing, according to the Secretary of State, for lands, improvements, and other matters, $419,435 14, has, during the past two years, maintained, on an average, 399 and a fraction of pupils, at a cost, during the past fiscal year, of a little over $260 for each pupil.

The institution at Ione, costing, according to the same authority, $316,591 20 up to August, 1895, had for the same period an average attendance of 202; costing $---- for each pupil, and this did not include the farm produce.

The intent and purpose of each institution is to reform children who have committed crimes, and in one are admitted some who, owing to their tender age and surroundings, are liable to commit them.

These institutions are crowded with inmates who should be under the tender care of their parents, or, if orphans, in the orphan asylums of the State. The very foundation of our laws, and of all laws, presupposes that a child under the tender age of fourteen years cannot distinguish between right and wrong, and Section 26 of our Penal Code declares: "All persons are capable of committing crimes except: (1) children under the age of fourteen, in the absence of clear proof that at the time of committing the act charged against them they knew of its wrongfulness."

These reformatories contain many children whom the law itself declares incapable of crime, except under specific proof of their culpability, and whom a lesser punishment or a good chastisement might have reformed. A visit to either, and a close scrutiny of the faces of the bright little fellows, will convince the most skeptical that many should never have been sent there for reformation. They certainly should not be condemned to confinement until they are twenty-one years of age, in an institution where, by association with or proximity to hardened criminals of greater age, they must learn crimes, the very name and character of which they would never learn elsewhere.

We have in these reformatories the vagrant of ten, the burglar of eight, and, in some cases, the child "who is in danger of being brought up to lead an idle or immoral life"; as also those guilty of malicious mischief; and these in an institution containing the young man guilty of arson, robbery, and manslaughter. "Many of our boys have been tramps, and have spent years wandering from place to place with older and depraved companions, acquiring habits and vices the most degraded known to man," says Superintendent Coffin's last report. He also says elsewhere: "Twenty-four hours or less in a jail breaks down whatever barrier may exist between the child and a criminal. However innocent he may be, once in a jail, he is placed, in his own mind at least, in the criminal class." How needful, then, that some remedy be found to prevent a sentence of from six to eight years, of an infant of eight, ten, or twelve, to a reformatory for young criminals.

No child should be sent to a State reformatory with this criminal class until he has reached the age of fifteen, unless the facts of each case be laid before the superintendent of the institution, or the Governor of the State, or before some other specified State officer, and he approve the sentence. And I commend to your consideration, in this behalf, the words of Dr. Lindley, as approved by Superintendent Coffin, page 11 of report. In all cases the evidence on which the child was convicted or committed should be reduced to writing, and a copy thereof transmitted to the Governor, so as to become a record of his office, and this evidence should be taken by deposition; not by filling in a printed blank, by which the party testifies to conclusions only, and not to the facts on which they are based.

Parents should be compelled to reform their children at home. Eighty-five per cent of the children committed to our reform schools have one or both parents living. Proof should be required of attempts to reform the child by its parent or guardian, if he has such, before he is committed to the State reformatory. It should be made a punishable offense on the part of the parent to fail to make such an attempt.

Truant schools ought to be organized in counties as a part of our educational system. The reformatories should be the last resort toward the reformation of children. Children should be home evenings, unless abroad with adults, and their parents should be held legally responsible for their whereabouts; giving them the right, on complaint to the proper officer, to have locked up from one to five days the juvenile delinquents, without making any criminal record against them. The industrial and mechanical appliances at these reform schools should be greatly increased. Within the past year steps have been taken at Whittier toward constructing an industrial building and power-house, with brick made by the boys themselves—a large quantity of which is now on hand there, made at a cost of $3 per thousand.

The State reform school at Whittier should never have been established where it now stands. In confirmation of this I point to the report of the Preston School as to its needs, and the reasons given why its possessions should be extended; also, to the report of Superintendent Coffin, of Whittier. In setting forth the needs of his institution, on page 10 of his report, he shows that it needs more land for vegetables, hay, grain, pasture, and dairy supplies, and that it should have a section of costly land to produce what is needed. Besides this, Whittier must purchase its water for irrigation; and whatever power it has must come from coal, wood, or oil. The mechanical and industrial portion of the education is most essential in a reform school, and "the school should be thoroughly and completely equipped with the best of approved machinery and appliances in all the branches that it contemplates teaching, in order that, when the pupil leaves the school, he should go forth theoretically and practically an expert in his chosen calling. But more important even than physical skill and mental development to be derived from the acquirement of a trade are the knowledge and industrious habits thus gained as the morale of the child. Idleness is the parent of vice." (Superintendent Coffin's last report.)

For these purposes cheap power is needed, and large quantities of land. The school at Ione has a magnificent water-power, a much larger quantity of land than that at Whittier, and has bonded, for a very small sum of money, a few hundred acres adjoining its present site, land in its vicinity being to-day remarkably cheap.

At Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, the State possesses a most suitable site for a school of the character of the State reformatory at Whittier, together with all the advantages recommended in the reports of the superintendents of our two reform schools, and with water from springs sufficient to develop one hundred and fifty horse-power. The land is well suited for dairy, fruit, vegetable, industrial, and other purposes; the institution has two competing lines of railroad through its grounds, and it is away from the turmoil of a large city. It is an ideal spot for a reformatory. I had hoped that the trustees of these institutions might be agreeable to a transfer of the school at Glen Ellen to Whittier, and of that of Whittier to Glen Ellen. No harmonious action can be secured, as each locality prefers its own institution. Dr. Osborne, of Glen Ellen, objects to Whittier as not proper for his institution, on grounds which, if correct, condemn it as a reformatory. Unless this change be had, which I believe advisable, after providing for the chronic idiots at Glen Ellen elsewhere, I recommend that the boys at Whittier, who need the industrial habits set out by Superintendent Coffin, be transferred to the industrial school at Ione, and that the institution at Whittier be turned into a school for the reformation of girls.

In passing from the subject of our industrial schools, I would recommend that a bill, such as that suggested by Superintendent Bank, with amendments changing the appointment from the Governor to the judges of each county, receive your careful consideration. Its purpose is virtually approved by Superintendent Coffin in his recommendations.

I again strongly urge consolidation of the reform schools into one for boys at Preston, unless the changes between Glen Ellen and Whittier be made. In this connection, I desire to call your attention to the special report of Trustee Mitchell, of Whittier, which shows much study on her part. I recommend that it be made mandatory by the law to teach and treat girls in our reform schools, as recommended by her.

ASYLUMS.

Our asylums should receive your earliest and most careful consideration, for three reasons: First, they contain the unfortunate wards of the State; second, we expend biennially for their maintenance alone nearly $2,000,000; third, the laws creating them have never been classified or systematized—each being drawn for its own purpose and institution, and occasionally for its locality. No committee or person, by visiting our asylums, can thereby estimate the reforms needed therein. All these institutions, or nearly all, are quite well conducted, and the efficiency of their management, under our present loose law, is surprising. If comparison be not made one with the other, or their methods and laws carefully studied, you might conclude that each was perfect. Nor can we compare the per capita cost of our asylums with the per capita cost of Eastern institutions, and from that draw a just estimate of the comparative expensiveness of either, for there are climatic differences and other matters which overcome the differences in the per capita cost. Many important supplies furnished our State institutions do not enter into their apparent per capita cost at all; and many inmates are of the class of harmless demented, found in poorhouses elsewhere, and whose care and management do not cost as much as that of the insane.

Take supplies: It is estimated that 1,400 patients in a New York insane asylum will require 36,000 pounds of meat monthly, 48,000 gallons of milk, 4,000 dozen of eggs, 6,000 pounds of butter, 2,998 pounds of cheese, etc. In our institutions, say Napa, the same number of patients would require 6,000 pounds less of meat, the milk supply being only 16,520 gallons, the eggs but 960 dozen, the butter 3,830 pounds, cheese 47 pounds, etc.; and so on with numerous other articles. Then, the climate of California allows our inmates to be in the open air almost daily; therefore, they require less fire and clothing; and for this meat, eggs, etc., we substitute immense quantities of fruit and vegetables, which, being raised on the grounds, do not enter into the per capita estimate, though they do represent a large item in the cost of support. Each of our California insane asylums also has a large contingent fund, which is used for the benefit of the asylum itself, not being calculated in its per capita. If our per capita be low, it still varies in our different institutions too largely, and is, all things considered, in most of our institutions, too great. This will become apparent to your honorable bodies from an inspection of the tables that I have compiled, running over a period of years, and showing the number of inmates of each State asylum, the attendants per inmate, the gross wages and salaries, and the price of the larger supplies entering into the cost of maintenance.

Thus, during the fortieth fiscal year, the Stockton State Insane Asylum had 1,595 patients, with a payroll of $96,181 56; while in the forty-sixth fiscal year, with 1,513 patients, being 82 less, its payroll had increased $3,776 04, and the attendants had decreased 9, from 100 to 91. In the thirty-sixth fiscal year, with 1,287 patients, its payroll was only $79,000. From the thirty-sixth to the forty-seventh fiscal year it increased the number of its employés by 39, and its payroll by nearly $18,000, yet during nearly all this time the price of groceries, meat, and fuel had decreased in the institution, and the cost of labor had decreased elsewhere. During the seven years preceding the forty-seventh fiscal year, the attendants upon the insane, as per its payroll, had decreased 10. By looking over the list you will find that as groceries, fuel, and meat decreased in price, the payroll increased, eating up the appropriation. This does not include its contingent fund expenses. While Stockton Insane Asylum is well conducted, this table shows that its management could be better. For upward of ten years its treasurer remained a defaulter without discovery, which shows the need of a more perfect system of checks.

In most of the insane asylums of the State no clinical record, or history of patients, has ever been kept—an astonishing and regrettable fact, due also to our lax laws regulating them.

Again, the Napa and Mendocino Asylums average one attendant to a little over 13 inmates; whereas, the Southern California Asylum has one attendant to 17 inmates, and Agnews 1 to 20, and both of these institutions are well conducted—none in the State exceeding the management of Agnews. It is true that, in Napa, by reason of greater attention given to the patients, and through buildings constructed by them, large sums have been saved the State, which counterbalances, perhaps, the increase of wages, but Superintendent Gardner will be the first to admit the immense saving that would follow from a central board. It may be that attendants, under other names, are employed as claimed, but if so, it shows more strongly the need of uniform books.

At Stockton, large improvements have been made for the benefit of the institution, and much of the extra cost has been in improving the grounds and raising vegetables for patients and forage for cattle. This, however, does not compensate the institution for the increase in wages, nor for the extra cost of two power-houses and two laundries supplying the male and female departments, which should be combined at an equal distance between the two asylum buildings.

A greater evil exists, which the law has several times endeavored to correct by providing against the admission to, and requiring the discharge from, our insane institutions, of idiots, imbeciles, and people possessed simply of chronic mental unsoundness. Our insane asylums, as do all insane asylums, simply permit the commitment thereto of a person "so far disordered in his mind as to endanger health, person, or property," and the certificate of a physician who commits a patient, under the Political Code, to Stockton Insane Asylum, requires him to certify that such patient is "dangerously insane." In my inaugural address I stated that "a large percentage of the so-called patients confined in our lunatic asylums are not legally entitled to a home in these institutions, yet they are, and for years have been, admitted and cared for. Had the law been properly complied with in the past, three asylums only would have been required—one south and two north of Tehachapi." And I alluded to the report of Dr. Mays, formerly of Stockton Insane Asylum, and of the directors of Napa Asylum. I add to this the present report of Superintendent Campbell, of the Southern California Asylum. What percentage of patients compose this class "of harmless defectives usually found in poor-houses and elsewhere," can only be ascertained by a clinical record and a central board. These are committed, in most cases, on a hurried and unsatisfactory examination—the method of which should be changed. These defectives are frequently detained because of a claimed doubt of the right to discharge them. Frequently the commitments are made for the purpose of ridding the county of some harmless nuisance, and occasionally to provide some poor unfortunate with a home. If each county were compelled to pay for the whole, or even one half, of the maintenance of all persons sent therefrom to the insane asylums or other State institutions, the State furnishing the building and grounds, thousands of dollars would be collected annually from persons now maintained as "dependent insane." Then each Board of Supervisors would carefully scan the list of the county dependents, and no one whose relatives could pay for the support of an insane inmate would be maintained by a tax on other citizens of the State; no one but a dependent poor, who is insane, has any right in our asylums as an "unpaid patient." And no person who is not insane within the meaning of the law has any right in the asylums at all.

How well such a law would operate can be judged by its effect in the case of our reformatories. During the session of the Legislature of 1895, a clause was placed in the law relating to commitments to these two institutions, of which one of the superintendents says: that the increase in the inmates was a fraction over 20 per month, adding, "By this time the law passed in 1895 (which put half the burden of expense upon the county) came into effect, and the courts became very careful in making commitments, and since that time the average number of admissions per month has been reduced."

This is what we need—that "the courts become very careful"—for in the Home for Feeble-Minded, at Glen Ellen, over one half of the inmates should never have been committed.

I give the table of admissions to the Preston School, the law being approved March 26, 1895:

Thousands in California have no greater mental capacity than hundreds of the so-called inmates in our asylums, and if the State must maintain the class referred to, it will be compelled to tax our people for the establishment of more insane asylums. In fact, but for the maintenance, in our asylums, of those not entitled to admission or support therein, the most ardent advocate for the establishment of a local institution in his county would never have dreamed of the necessity of taxing our people millions of dollars for the maintenance and construction of more than three insane asylums in California. The law as to Stockton has been given; the law as to Napa requires that the examining physician shall certify, on oath, that the person examined is insane, "and the case is of a recent or curable character, or that the said insane person is of a homicidal, suicidal, or incendiary disposition, or that from any other violent symptoms the said insane person would be dangerous to his or her life or the lives of the community." At Agnews patients are admitted on the same conditions as at Stockton or Napa, and at Mendocino the conditions required are those of Napa also. Yet to-day a large percentage of the inmates of our asylums do not come within the conditions requisite for maintenance there. An examination, by the Medical Superintendent, of the patients themselves and their clinical history, would develop the number in these institutions. The difficulties in arriving at the number will be largely through the lack of a clinical record or other history. Laws forbid the admission of these harmless demented, other laws prohibit their retention, and still other laws declare they shall be discharged when cured or recovered. No provision, however, is made for the care, or transportation elsewhere, of any of these poor, harmless, and helpless people. For this reason, humanity and the doubt of the law have prevented their discharge in the past.

There is, however, no reason in a State tax for a class which the law denies admission to or retention in our institutions. Insane asylums should hold the insane, and the insane only; and neither economy, nor a just regard for the good name of our State, will tolerate the retention in these institutions of the other dependents there. If the State must maintain them, it is better to do so in an institution not called an insane asylum, but a "Home for the Dependent Poor," where they could by their work produce supplies for other State institutions, and in part maintain themselves. In such an institution it would not require a high-priced medical staff, a large number of attendants, or a corps of other State employés. A few officials, with the assistance of the more helpful of these dependents, could easily conduct the establishment. One of the present insane asylums could be devoted to that purpose, and the others be classified for the different kinds of the insane. The dangerous and incurable and criminal insane should be detained in one institution; the curable in others. In other words, the asylums should be classified among themselves, so that the one requiring the greatest medical skill would be the most costly, and a saving made in the others.

At Stockton Insane Asylum, recent improvements have provided room for nearly three hundred additional patients. Agnews and Napa, by calculation made by the superintendents of these institutions, can, from their contingent fund, and without a dollar of additional tax, provide room for nearly three hundred more. We thus have available capacity, without a dollar more of tax on the people, or any additions to our other asylums, for six hundred new patients. As the increase of the insane in the past has been but one hundred and fifty yearly in California, if we discharge those not rightfully there, we can provide for all the probable insane for years to come in these three institutions. And if we prevent the further commitment of those not committable, we would decrease the rate per annum, and lengthen the time we could accommodate those entitled to admission, without further tax for building purposes. Thus, we have room, without further buildings, for all the insane we shall have in the State for years to come. I strongly urge that if none of our asylums is to be closed, and I feel certain at least one should be, no further money be voted during this session for the erection of additional asylum buildings, as requested. We have sufficient capacity now. The three new asylums have cost, not including maintenance, as follows:

Agnews	$827,950 28, or $899 per bed capacity.
Southern California.....	556,202 29, or 1,545 per bed capacity.
Mendocino	467,750 93, or 1,063 per bed capacity.

A UNIFORM ASYLUM LAW.

The New York law of 1895, providing for the commitment of insane persons, and relating to the management of hospitals for the insane, amended to meet the requirements of our State, and to allow the State Board of Examiners, who are State officers, together with a General Medical Superintendent and the Secretary of the State Board of Health, to have charge, as a general board, of all the asylums of the State, with local boards of managers of the various asylums, would do much to insure economy and promote harmony and efficiency in the management of this class of our State institutions. This would necessitate the creation of but one further salaried officer, as the general superintendent could be detailed from the present asylum staff. This physician should constantly visit the State institutions, and report at each meeting of the Board of Examiners the condition of the inmates who might or could be discharged; the number of, and necessity for, employés, and such other matters as the Board might require. Each asylum should be compelled to keep a clinical record of the condition of its inmates, to keep uniform books, accounts, and reports, and to observe uniform regulations. It would be a matter of humanity and economy to require the insane to be transported to the asylums by trained and experienced attendants of these institutions. The details of this matter can easily be arranged by law. Internes should be allowed in the asylum from medical graduates, and from these in the future the physicians could in part be selected. This central board should be given power to advertise for supplies, and to award and approve the contracts for the various institutions under its charge; it should also provide for an interchange of products among them. The saving by this method would be considerable.

Our Secretary of State, Hon. L. H. Brown, a careful calculator and a painstaking economist, in theory and practice, has calculated that over $200,000 could be saved in the asylums alone by a central board controlling supplies and salaries.

GLEN ELLEN.

The statute establishing the Home for Feeble-Minded Children at Glen Ellen provides that the persons committed thereto must be "imbecile or feeble-minded, between the ages of five and twenty-one, incapable of receiving instruction in the common schools"; and further provides that "the object aimed at in the institution shall be such care, training, and education of those received as to render them more comfortable, happy, and better fitted to care for and support themselves." (Statutes of 1887.) Thus clearly showing, by explicit language, that neither chronic idiots, nor those incapable of being educated so as to be "better fitted to care for and support themselves," are entitled to admission into this institution.

Notwithstanding this, judges commit to this institution persons who are utterly incapable of helping themselves, or of being in any manner educated or improved, and such persons have there been maintained and cared for.

To-day we find a large proportion of the inmates of the Glen Ellen Home to be of that class which it is neither the right nor the duty of the State to provide for, and who, by their presence in the institution, overcrowd it, and prevent the reception of such as might, through its offices, become restored to capacity or taught to support themselves in independence and happiness.

The institution, however, in this matter of providing for those not entitled to its care, follows nearly all the other institutions of the State, and when I have insisted upon this class being returned to the counties whence they came, I have been met with the statement "that they are committed by judges learned in the law, and that the wording of the law itself in some particulars is not such as to authorize such return after the admission of the patient."

A law should be passed making it a serious offense to either commit to, or receive or maintain at, any State institution, persons not entitled under the law to be committed to it, or received or maintained there, and allowing a recovery from all officers of the institution for any person illegally maintained therein, after such fact has been called to their attention.

The method of keeping books and records at this institution was very primitive, although a careful investigation showed that the business affairs were economically administered.

The buildings are in many respects totally unsuited for the purposes for which they are now used. A fire in the main building would almost certainly result in the death of an immense number of children, whose rescue in such a case would be impossible. While there are no other means of providing for the little ones, it seems criminal negligence to continue to expose them to such threatened dangers.

The site of this home, however, is one of the best ever purchased by the State, but some of the buildings show that money was wasted in their construction.

The institution has been well conducted and economically administered, and had it not been hampered by the commitment of idiots thereto, would have been of great benefit to a large class of children now prevented from availing themselves of the training which a generous State provided for her helpless wards.

Within the past ten years it seems to have been a legislative policy, in order to secure the construction of State buildings in various localities, to permit of maintenance therein of classes who should be provided for by the respective counties. If this unwise policy is to be continued, I would recommend that the class of inmates at Glen Ellen, improperly there, be transferred to some institution with whose workings they cannot interfere.

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

This fine institution, doing great work under the efficient management of Dr. Wilkinson, commends itself to your favorable consideration. The work being done, and the ability of its superintendent, have caused to be overlooked the fact that the institution itself is not required to advertise for bids for supplies, as is done by the other institutions of the State, and that the law governing it provides that each and every inmate must be supported at the expense of the State itself.

In our great educational institutions, like the University of California and our Normal Schools, and even in our common schools, it has never been held to be the duty of the State to support the students. This has been deemed to be the duty of the parents themselves, for while education is placed within the reach of all, it would be beyond the power of our government and the taxable capacity of our people to board and lodge students at the various institutions, however beneficial it might be to have all our citizens educated.

At the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, however, we find that the inmates are lodged and boarded at the sole expense of the State, and in a manner which few private institutions of the land can afford. The cost per capita is $278 per annum, which does not include the produce of the farm or dairy, or the contingent fund itself, as I am informed.

In the case of this institution, I believe it is the duty of the State to provide amply, nay liberally, for its inmates, and I would not stint the appropriation in properly providing for them or for other State wards. But I do not believe that we should tax the people of this State to pay the living expenses of children of well-to-do parents, who ought to be happy in having them educated in a State institution conducted so ably and efficiently as this, and on which the State has expended, for lands, buildings, and furniture, not including maintenance, over $2,000 for each inmate it has capacity to maintain. The argument used by Superintendent Wilkinson, to show that the rich should not pay for their children, does not impress me as logical or convincing. The superintendent of this institution should see that those parents who are rich should pay for their children's support. If the principle prevail that, because rich men pay taxes for all State purposes, they should not be required to pay anything more for their own children in State institutions, it will impose an increased tax upon our people for the support of reform schools, insane asylums, and other institutions supported by the State, and which require the rich relative to pay monthly for the maintenance of his kin.

MECHANICAL HOME FOR ADULT BLIND.

I take pleasure in calling your attention to this institution; it is being conducted at a saving to the State, and the improvement in its management deserves our commendation.

At the last session of the Legislature, a committee from that body visited this institution and found it in a deplorable condition, the particulars of which can be learned from its report. The present management invites your careful inspection, and I feel sure that the home's condition will be found greatly improved under the present management. No inmate shall be disturbed for telling the truth about this institution or its management.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

The expenses of the State Printing Office are excessive, due largely to the system under which it is conducted.

Two years ago a law was passed for the purpose of giving the Superintendent of State Printing greater control over the printing of his office; but was not so worded as to have the desired effect. Under the present law each State institution, and most officials, have the right to demand such printing as it or they deem requisite, and it is the duty of the Superintendent of State Printing to comply with the requisition, exercising little discretion in the matter. The Legislature yearly provides an appropriation for each institution in the State, as well as a contingent fund for the succeeding Legislature, which does not include printing. Hence, the appropriations for our State institutions and Legislature do not represent, by a large amount, their biennial expenses.

The State Printing Office for many reasons cannot be conducted, under the present laws, in as economical a manner as are private printing concerns.

Years ago the Code provided for a printing expert, but it having been decided that he had no valuable powers, he has ceased to perform any services. Most of our State institutions, although under the control of superintendents, have boards of trustees to order supplies and audit bills. Even the Capitol grounds are under a commission. Our State printing establishment, however, expending biennially, in public printing and the printing of text-books, immense sums of money, has no directing board. The impropriety of such a system will be more clearly realized when it is recalled that, during the absence of the Superintendent of State Printing, the purchase of supplies and the management of the office falls to subordinates, who are not constitutional or statutory officers.

In the interest of an economical management, I would suggest that the law be amended so that, at the expiration of the term of the present Superintendent of State Printing, either a board be provided, to consist of practical printers and business men, with similar control as have other boards over State institutions; or, if this board be not appointed, and until it be appointed, I recommend that on or before the 30th of March, annually, all State officers, commissions, and boards entitled to have printing done at the State Printing Office, be required to make, and file with the State Board of Examiners, an estimate of the amount of printing required by them during the ensuing year, together with a requisition therefor. The requisition to be submitted to the Superintendent of State Printing, who shall furnish the Board of Examiners, within thirty days thereafter, a statement of the cost of the work, if done in his office; that thereafter any responsible printer or publisher may bid for the work, the same to be awarded to the lowest bidder; provided, the amount of his bid be at least twenty per cent below the estimated cost in the State Printing Office. The same procedure to be had with reference to the publication of school text-books and of all printing, except proclamations, briefs, and legislative work; and that these, and such other work as may not be awarded to competing printers, be done by the Superintendent of State Printing. The State requires most other public work to be done by contract, and if the State of California, with its immense plant, with no taxes or insurance, cannot stand this competition, then the people should be given the benefit of this saving of twenty per cent or more.

The average yearly cost of State printing for the last two fiscal years, including that of text-books, has been $273,441 60, and the saving of even ten per cent upon this amount, exclusive of legislative work, would be $23,468 72.

I would recommend that the Superintendent of State Printing be authorized to appoint a deputy, to perform also the duties of the present chief clerk in his office, as it is impossible for the Superintendent to be always present, and much trouble and delay would be avoided if some person was lawfully authorized to act in his absence.

The State publishes its series of school books for the use of our citizens, and in the interest of inexpensive popular education. It is designed to dispose of them at cost, and the State desires no profit from their sale. I would recommend that, with proper restriction, private publishers be permitted to print and sell our State school books; provided, that they pay five per cent of their gross receipts from sales to the State, to be paid into the School Book Fund.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

The improvement of the harbor front of San Francisco during the past two years has been considerable, and is receiving the commendation of all disinterested persons familiar with its condition. The dirty, unhealthy, and dangerous condition of the waterfront two years ago, the suggestive advertisements posted everywhere, and a loose method of business, have given way to a cleanly and safe front, unequalled for its healthy and orderly appearance by any harbor in the world. If States are judged by the first impressions of tourists and immigrants, the judgment that will be passed on California, by reason of these changes, will be much more favorable. To-day the waterfront is as easily and safely traversed as the most fashionable portions of the city. The system of buying supplies and doing work has greatly improved within the past year and a half. Its number of employés is, however, much too great.

The Board of State Harbor Commissioners should consist of five members, meeting at least bi-monthly. The incumbents to hold until the expiration of their terms. During their term of service they should engage in no business, other than that of the State. Two members of the board should be business men. Another should be an engineer, and ex officio a member, without extra pay, of the Bureau of Highways, or of such other commission or board of this State as requires his services, and should be at the service of such other departments of the State for such engineering work as would not interfere with his duties. The fourth member should be a practical builder, and ex officio, without extra pay, be compelled to supervise the construction of State buildings, or be detailed for other duties. The fifth member should be the Governor. The service that might be rendered by the engineer, ex officio as a member of other boards, or as a consulting engineer to the other institutions of the State, would save many times his salary annually; and the work of the practical builder in advising the Governor, Secretary of State, and State Treasurer on the adaptability of plans and specifications under the Act of 1876, and in superintending buildings, on detail by the State Board of Examiners, or the board provided for in the Act of 1876, would also save many times his salary. There has been great loss in the construction of buildings for the State, by reason of faulty work, improper materials, and other causes, during the past, and the amount paid for superintendence during recent years has been enormous.

The direction and management of the engineering portion of the waterfront should be confided solely to a competent engineer, holding office as do the United States government engineers, during good behavior; and the supervision of ships, wharves, and the collection of dues, should be vested in a competent chief wharfinger. The engineer and practical builder on the board would be able, at the shortest notice, at all times, to properly advise the board of the amount and quality of any work done, and the amount that should be paid for it.

Whether there be any further change or not in the waterfront, I would especially recommend that all bills or claims contracted or allowed by the Harbor Commissioners should be subject to the approval of the State Board of Examiners, and that the latter board should have power, by unanimous vote, to limit the number of its employés and fix their compensation; that all new work on wharves, buildings, and other improvements should be by contract, under the Act of 1876 (except urgency repairs, which could be made on report of the engineer to the board); and that contracts to furnish all supplies of lumber, coal, and other articles purchased in large quantities, should be, after competitive bidding, let to the lowest bidder, as is usual in other departments of the State's government. This board expends annually $600,000, which expenditure should be surrounded by all possible safeguards. While the present audit of the Harbor Commission's claims may be entirely free from criticism, common justice requires that its demands be treated as are the demands of the other departments of the State, and that all alike submit their claims to one common auditing board, the State Board of Examiners.

The Legislature of California, by Act approved March 17, 1891, provided a fund "For the construction and furnishing" "of a general ferry and passenger depot" at or near the foot of Market Street, in the City and County of San Francisco, and to "cost not to exceed $600,000." Thereafter, the Harbor Commissioners, proceeding to construct such building, had plans and specifications prepared, and instead of expending $600,000 thereon, it contracted for the construction of the foundation and superstructure as separate and distinct works, and it expended in the construction of the foundation and approaches alone the sum of $336,202 60, and will expend in the superstructure, or what they delight to call the building, the $600,000 voted by the people. There can be no question that the intent of the Act was that the building—foundation, walls, roof, furniture, and all—should cost not to exceed $600,000, and it would not have cost to exceed that amount had the law compelled the Harbor Commissioners to proceed under the Act of March 23, 1876.

LABOR COMMISSION.

During the last session of the Legislature an endeavor was made to pass a bill providing for the establishment of free labor employment agencies. Owing, however, to prejudice against the Labor Bureau as then conducted, the Legislature refused to pass the bill, or even appropriate money for the support of the bureau itself. I therefore appointed a gentleman fully committed to the idea of establishing such a bureau, and shortly after his installation in office, he organized the same. His work is familiar to us. Entering office under the most inauspicious circumstances, with a strong prejudice against the bureau itself, Mr. Fitzgerald has so organized and conducted his department as to do great good: not the least of his work being to find positions and secure employment, during the recent depression, for upward of eight thousand skilled and unskilled persons.

BOARDS OF HEALTH.

The powers of the State Board of Health should be enlarged. Its work during the past year has been satisfactory; it has been hampered, however, through a failure to possess essential authority. Its quarantine rights, under the Act of March 19, 1889, are too limited, as the experience of the past year has taught us. In some official should be lodged the power to quarantine one portion of the State against another for animals, as well as human beings. The law imposes this duty for such quarantine from points without the State, but leaves the board powerless within it. Much trouble and loss were occasioned our cattlemen during the year 1896 by reason of this oversight in the Act, and but for the consideration of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, and the energy of our Senators and Representatives, the damage to our cattle-raisers would have been excessive. An amendment to the law, providing that the board may quarantine between various points within the State, and allowing the use of the existing contagious disease fund for this purpose, when necessary, would prove of incalculable benefit to the State, and especially to the cattle-breeders and farmers.

The following portion of the board's report and recommendations I recommend as most timely and wise :

"This board has urged that municipalities issue licenses to sellers of milk, but that they refuse licenses to sellers of milk who bring milk from dairies which do not conform to the standard of requirements established by the local boards of health. These requirements should include clean food, pure water, sanitary surroundings, and good health among the cattle. They should include the application of the tuberculin test for consumption. They should exclude from sale and consumption all milk from dairies that keep tuberculous cows. If the owners choose to kill such cows, so much the better, and the loss should fall on the owners, as the loss falls on the owners of hogs that die of cholera. If the State undertakes to pay for all sick animals, it should include all kinds, and not tuberculous cattle only. The pure food law, passed by the last Legislature, covers the sale of milk of diseased cows, as well as the sale of the flesh of diseased animals. The simple enforcement of that law would do away with the dairy products of consumptive cows, and also their carcasses."

I also approve of their recommendation regarding the collection of vital statistics and the registration and the preservation of the record of marriages, births, and deaths; and advise the enactment of such laws as are calculated to effect this end.

I recommend a sufficient appropriation to abate the nuisance complained of at Folsom.

Not only this board, but also local boards of health, being especially charged with the protection of our people from disease and death, bring to their work a mind educated and enlightened by experience and a capacity enriched and strengthened by research and discipline. Serving without pay, and open to the criticism and attack of all with whose interest their duties conflict, their only reward must be that they have done their duty well, and that their work has been of service to humanity. For these reasons, the laws granting them powers should be ample, and those regulating their exercise be stringent.

The San Francisco Board of Health has exercised its powers to the utmost. It has given to that city pure meat and pure milk, and started a crusade in behalf of pure food; it has abated the festering nuisance in Chinatown, that for years has defied law and decency. At every step of its magnificent work it has been hindered, delayed, attacked, and misrepresented by nearly every private and public interest touched. It has dared to compel attention to the health laws of the city, and stands admittedly the greatest Board of Health this State has ever known. In order to accomplish these good results, it has been compelled, on the advice of its attorneys, Mr. McEnerny, and the regretted Dennis Spencer, and with the counsel and assistance of that public-spirited citizen, Hon. J. B. Reinstein, who might well be called a sixth member of the Board, to exercise implied powers to a degree that less bold men would have shrunk from attempting. If your honorable bodies increase the powers of the State and local boards, the battle nobly fought during the past two years will continue during this administration.

YOSEMITE COMMISSION.

The Yosemite Commission during the past two years has entirely changed its system of doing business, and by a radical change in its rules and by-laws, endeavored to prevent all pooling, special privileges, or favoritisms, such as have been complained of in the past. Its aim has been to give to the general public, and especially to the citizens of this State, a place of pleasant resort at the least possible cost.

The Commissioners' report best expresses what they have accomplished. Among other things stated, are the following:

"Any semblance of pooling between hotel proprietors and stage companies was stamped out; competition in transportation to and from the Valley has been encouraged, and actually established, thereby insuring cheaper rates; charges for horses and carriage hire have been reduced and generally regulated, and provision has been made for the better accommodation of the two thousand and more campers who annually visit Yosemite; a patrolman visits the various camps several times daily, and lends assistance and advice to campers, and directs visitors as to important rules and regulations governing the Valley, thereby preventing vandalism by thoughtless persons; a meat market and bakery have been established in the Valley, and arrangements have been made by which campers can purchase hay at cost; pasture fields have been inclosed by portable fencing, into which stock of campers may be turned and kept in safety; all barbed wire fences have been removed from the Valley—all of these tending to the benefit of the campers, both in purse and matters of general enjoyment."

In addition to other work, a fine bridge has been constructed at the approach of the Valley on the Coulterville road, practically opening another competing road which, for lack of this bridge, has been, during portions of the year, dangerous and unavailable.

The General Government should purchase the three toll roads now leading from the Yosemite reservation through the Yosemite Park and to the public highway beyond. A bill to this effect is now pending in Congress.

On August 24, 1896, the Stoneman House, erected by the State in the Valley, was totally destroyed by fire. The hotel never should have been constructed where built and as built, for it was located in a most undesirable portion of the Valley, and of poor design to withstand the winter storms. The State requires, either another building in the Valley, or additions and improvements to the present buildings. Any building constructed should not exceed two stories in height, and be of Yosemite granite. Whether the hotel be rebuilt or additions be made to the buildings now there, should depend largely upon the appropriations made for other purposes. It will be necessary to keep the taxes at the present low rate or to reduce them, a thing easily accomplished by limiting appropriations to the necessities of the State.

A power and light plant should also be established in the Valley, to cost not exceeding $15,000. This would insure better rental for the buildings, light the Valley driveways, and furnish power to operate small motor pumps at various points for supplying water for the roads, and also power for general purposes.

An Act transferring to the Yosemite Fund a part of the unused $50,000, appropriated to build a road from Mariposa into the Valley, and authorizing the Commissioners to use the same to repair hotels, and for other kindred purposes, would probably be sufficient for all present needs.

Elsewhere I have given my reasons for desiring the law so changed as to require the terms of two of the Commissioners to expire each year, instead of as now—four each two years.

It should be made a penal offense for any person or persons receiving privileges from the State to combine with any person or corporation to increase the amount of profits he or they may receive or make thereby, or to share the same with others.

FISH COMMISSION.

The work of the present Fish Commission has been very thorough, and few of its predecessors have approached it in practical value. The fish and game interests are quite dissimilar, and frequently antagonistic. Where both interests are fostered and guarded by the same commission, it is unavoidable that charges of favoritism should be made, and that each should be jealous of what it may regard as any favoritism shown to the other. Large commercial interests are involved in the preservation of the fishing industry, and the manner in which it is carried on conduces to a more easy detection of the violation of its law. These facts have, perhaps, made it appear that this industry was favored at the expense of the other; but when we consider the vast extent of the State, the difficulty of detecting those violating its game laws, and remember the difficulty and almost impossibility of procuring convictions in such cases, we can at once discover the apparent reasons for the criticism of this commission. In an endeavor thoroughly to investigate this matter, I caused numerous letters to be sent throughout the State, and found that the laws were less violated than represented, and that the limited number of prosecutions was owing to the inability to convict. I heartily indorse the recommendations of this commission, and call attention to its report, in which its many accomplishments are set forth.

ROADS.

Over $1,700,000 of money being annually expended on roads, with but little permanent improvement, the last Legislature deemed it in the public interest to endeavor to remedy this evil, and to that end enacted a law creating a Bureau of Highways. Urged by the people and their representatives, I approved the Act, and by my appointments made the Bureau non-partisan. The work of the Bureau cannot be too highly commended. Its close study of this most important question; its hard work in holding meetings in every county of the State; its inspection of all the main roads; its bulletins and lectures, have aroused an interest on this subject never before felt in California.

That immense good would flow from the construction of a State system of highways is beyond question, and a few State roads, traversing the lines of heaviest traffic and most frequent travel, would undoubtedly be of incalculable benefit. I am inclined to favor such a system, but its great cost offers an insuperable obstacle to its immediate adoption. I trust to the wisdom of your honorable bodies to suggest a method by which a system of improved highway construction may be gradually inaugurated in this State, to the end that we have pleasant and economic highways, without increasing the tax burdens of our farming communities.

The rock-crusher at Folsom is a most beneficial industry, and has been a valuable assistant in teaching proper methods of road construction. It has been of great benefit to property-owners, and although operated by convicts, has furnished work to free labor, by promoting the construction of new roads and streets, that would not have been built but for the cheap road-metal furnished through this agency. Should a general road system be adopted, it may become necessary to establish crushers upon a like plan in various portions of the State.

Whether or not the suggestions of the Bureau of Highways, as to a general road system, be adopted, its other recommendations should be, and the laws for managing and constructing roads should be changed. No State has better facilities, at less cost, for constructing fine roads than has California, and it is to be hoped that consultation between your members and the members of the State Bureau of Highways will be productive of a system of good roads, a thing we have failed to effect in the past, largely through lack of proper knowledge of the subject.

DAIRY BUREAU.

The State Dairy Bureau has done more good than was anticipated by its most sanguine advocate. Using but a portion of the small appropriation made for its use, it has driven oleomargarine and butterine from competition with, and has infused new life into, our dairy interests. The need of the bureau is shown by its report. From January, 1894, to March, 1895, nearly half a million pounds of oleomargarine and butterine were sold to our people and consumed by them as butter; the loss to our dairy interests being upward of $100,000 during that period. The bureau has closed the factories where these materials were manufactured in our State, and has, by a rigid inspection and enforcement of the law, reduced to an insignificant quantity the amount brought here from abroad.

I recommend the continuance of this bureau for a further period of two years, also the amendment to the law asked for in its report. In view of its correspondence with the transportation companies, I would suggest that a law be passed making it the duty of all transportation agencies carrying butter, cheese, or similar articles through or into our State, to furnish to this bureau, or its agents, a statement of all such articles transported, and the names of the shipper and consignee. The State, to guard its citizens, has the right to require these matters, and, in addition, has frequently the arbitrary power, not only to inspect stores and buildings, but in proper cases to destroy cattle, or their contaminated or diseased products, and no transportation company has the right to refuse to give information of the shipment of an article, the sale of which is regulated by the laws of the State.

While considering the work of this bureau, my attention has specially been called to the lack of facilities for proper analysis under the laws of the State. This same matter was called to my attention by the members of the San Francisco Board of Health. No appropriation has ever been made by the State which would enable the State Analyst to properly discharge the duties of his office. Prof. W. B. Rising, of the University of California, is the present State Analyst, and I would suggest that such provision be made as will enable him to discharge the duties of his office when called upon. During the last session of the Legislature, by reason of this omission, we were unable to secure requisite data in matters pending before that body.

MOB LAW.

During the past few years a number of prisoners, while in custody of officers of the law, have been taken from such custody and executed by mobs. In our early history such unlawful acts were upheld, because of claimed necessity. We cannot now, however, permit such usurpations of the functions of the lawfully constituted authorities to go unchecked. Let the conviction and punishment promptly and certainly follow the crime; but an accused person should be fully protected in his constitutional guaranties. Such violent executions disturb the harmony of the communities in which they occur, and lessen the confidence of our people in the security and proper execution of our laws; while they present us in an unfavorable attitude to foreign powers, and have been fruitful of international disputes between this Government and our sister republic. A flagrant case of lawless execution has, within a comparatively recent time, occurred in one of our northern counties. Three of the participants in it were apprehended, convicted, and are now serving life sentences in the State prison. I heartily commend the praiseworthy zeal and capacity shown by the Sheriffs of Mendocino and Trinity counties in this matter, and compliment the able and successful prosecutions of the guilty parties by the Deputy Attorney-General, who was specially detailed for this purpose at my request. Rewards have been offered in other cases of mob violence, and several cases are under investigation.

Stringent laws should be passed for the prevention of this class of lawlessness. For a Sheriff to permit a prisoner to be taken from his custody, or from a jail under his charge, should constitute a forfeiture of his office. As an additional measure of restraint, I would recommend that any county in which this crime was committed should be liable to the heirs of the person executed in the sum of $5,000.

HORTICULTURAL BOARD.

Since the last session of the Legislature the expenses of the State Board of Horticulture have been minimized. It has been given room, free of cost, for its quarantine office, by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, at San Francisco, and supplied with adequate offices in Sacramento, where it has the additional benefit of the Senate and Assembly chambers for large assemblages. The work is done now as cheaply as possible. It is necessary to sustain its present quarantine headquarters, unless the commission be transferred to the University at California.

The vast importance of the horticultural interests of this State cannot be overestimated. The enlightened policy of our past horticultural legislation, combined with the advanced intelligence of our people and our incomparable soil and climate, have conspired to place us in the proud position of the first horticultural community in the universe. Our resources in the direction of increased acreage and awakened interest have been sufficiently developed. Our future growth must be in the direction of improving the quality of our fruit product, and developing markets beyond our State and National limits. This work might, with great propriety, be left to the business ability of our citizens and the trained and scientific professors of our Agricultural College.

In the past the greatest source of expense and loss to the fruit-growers of California was the noxious insects and fruit pests brought from abroad. It is of the first importance that a perfect system of quarantine be maintained to prevent the introduction into our State, to ravage and destroy our fruitful orchards, of injurious insects or pests or dangerous tree or root diseases.

When we consider that the amount of quarantine work demanded is great; that our present quarantine officer is a most valuable and efficient one; that the University is crowded with business, and that the Horticultural Department, as now constituted, is economically conducted, I leave it to your wisdom to determine what legislation is desirable in relation to this most important industry, always remembering that a rigid quarantine is of the highest necessity.

LAKE TAHOE WAGON-ROAD.

Another great resort to people of moderate means is opened by the renovation of the old immigrant road, recently purchased by our State. This road is in a bad condition, owing to long neglect. As it leads through, and to, a region only second to our Yosemite in grandeur, and as the road itself is now a regulator of the rates charged by the railroad, between Sacramento and portions of California and Nevada, and may some day become a military necessity, its permanent repair and improvement are of the utmost importance. I would recommend that, for work on this road, under the supervision of its commissioner, a proper sum be either appropriated or transferred from the Mariposa road fund.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

The Legislature, at its last session, made appropriations for the District Agricultural Societies of the State, amounting to $193,000, which I vetoed for the reasons then given.

The State Board of Examiners of the previous administration very forcibly presented the objections to these appropriations. After reciting the laws, and "showing that no money appropriated for the different agricultural districts can be used for racing or speed contests, permanent improvements, or for insurance," and that "they shall provide for an annual fair or exhibition, by the association, of all the industries and industrial products in the district," they continue as follows:

"We find that, in some cases, the amount paid for premiums does not exceed one quarter of the amount appropriated, the balance being made up of salaries, expenses of directors, expenses for bands, and other expenses that should not be paid for by the State, and, therefore, the State is not receiving the benefit it should receive from the expenditure of $190,000 in two years by the forty-three agricultural districts. The law should be amended so that the amount paid to each district should not exceed the amount paid for premiums for 'the industries and industrial products' in each district, as the money received for admissions to these fairs, for privileges, etc., should be sufficient to pay all other expenses. Either this should be done, or else the number of districts should be reduced or wholly abolished. We are informed that some of the district fairs now almost entirely consist of horseracing, and we know that some of the districts have paid premiums for stock only, no exhibit having been made of horticultural and agricultural products of the district. In addition to the $190,000 appropriated by the last Legislature for the forty-three agricultural districts, there was $40,000 appropriated for the State Agricultural Society, making a total of $230,000 for two years for both."

I adhere to my then objections, and believe that the entire State system of agricultural fairs should be reorganized; the State redistricted into a few districts, on which shall be placed, among other things, the responsibility of furnishing information to the State Board of Agriculture and other State officers, concerning quarantine and other similar matters.

In the meantime, as the various District Agricultural Societies have acquired property for the purpose of conducting their agricultural fairs, the law should be so amended as to authorize them, when necessary, to mortgage sufficient property of the association to liquidate the indebtedness incurred in their behalf.

I am fully aware that the horse-breeding interests of this State are very considerable, and should receive proper recognition, but not at the expense of the other industries of the State. I will be pleased to cooperate with you in any adjustment you may make of this question, which will give proper recognition to all the legitimate industries of the State, which will safely provide that the money be used only for the purposes for which it was appropriated, and be within the limits of a wise and just economy.

STATE LIBRARY.

Our State Library law needs amending; it is one of the most peculiar and unreasonable in the Codes, and has been criticised by Executives of the past, without avail. Under it the Legislature—in session only biennially—elects trustees, who in turn elect a librarian, whose removal requires the unanimous vote of the trustees, no matter how derelict he may be in the discharge of his duties, nor how he may conduct the affairs of his office. I desire to urge upon your honorable bodies a change in these laws, placing that institution on the same plane as are other institutions of the State.

All bills of the board, and the salaries of the employés, should be transmitted to the State Board of Examiners, the same as are the bills of the normal schools, the asylums, State prisons, and other institutions. In the language of my predecessor: "This system of transacting public business is radically wrong, and the law should be altered, placing this institution in the same category and on the same plane as are other public officers. Apart from the question as to the honesty of the payments, the partiality extended to one department of the State as against all others is unjust."

The library should have a statistician, with duty to gather statistics at the request of State officers, and who would furnish the Legislature from year to year with such statistical information as he might be directed to prepare for its information.

The library itself contains a valuable collection of books, and its management during the past two years, as compared with the forty-fourth and forty-fifth fiscal years, has been very economical, showing a balance on hand at the expiration of the forty-seventh fiscal year of $12,449 69, as against a balance of $6,098 54 for the two previous years; with an expenditure of $41,906 47 for the forty-fourth and forty-fifth fiscal years, as against $31,290 10 for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONERS.

In 1885, provision was made for the appointment of commissioners by the Supreme Court, whose duties were prescribed to be "to aid and assist the court in the performance of its duties, and in the disposition of the numerous causes now pending in said court undetermined," under such rules and regulations as the court might adopt. The object of the Act was to relieve the Supreme Court "from the overburdened condition of its calendar." This commission was continued by the Legislature in 1889, and again in 1893, and it will expire by limitation in a few months. The promoters of this commission, and the bar generally, believed that it would rapidly relieve the court from its press of business, and enable it to promptly dispose of matters pending before it. Their hopes, however, have not been realized. The commission, not being a constitutional body, could not render judgments, and its work had always to be reviewed by the court. It has not been productive of the results anticipated, and it will become your duty to consider the still overburdened condition of the calendar of the Supreme Court, and to make provision for its remedy or relief.

I would recommend the creation of one or more courts of appeal, of three justices each, with such jurisdiction as will reduce the number of appeals to the Supreme Court, and as will thus admit of prompt decisions in all cases appealed. One of these appellate courts could sit at Los Angeles, and one at San Francisco, while the Supreme Court should be required to sit at the capital.

I would recommend that all cases in which the State is interested, or which relate to the State government, be given precedence, as delays in the decision of such cases often involve most serious consequences.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Legislative terms of sixty days are too short under a Constitution which requires that each bill shall be read in full in each house on three several days. The canvass for Senator, the organization of the two houses, and of the committees, the preparation and introduction of bills, and their consideration in committees, together with numerous other incidental matters, too frequently leave an insufficient time for work in the consideration of measures to be acted upon. For these reasons, we find many loosely drawn bills becoming laws, and great lack of harmony, and frequent contradiction, in the laws themselves. It is not therefore to be wondered at that the dominant party should meet in caucus for the purpose of preventing these abuses and for other purposes.

My predecessors made many wise suggestions never enacted into laws; in fact, the message of a Governor cannot be properly considered in the hurry and bustle of a legislative session. When the Legislature really begins to understand men, measures, and State reports, it too frequently must adjourn. Much time is wasted on bills that can never pass. The Governor's inauguration so shortly after election, coupled with his familiarizing himself with the policy and recommendations of his predecessor, as given in his last message, after the Legislature has convened, is extremely unwise.

Our Constitution should be amended, fixing the legislative term at not to exceed one hundred days, and prohibiting the introduction of bills in either body after the first thirty days of the session, except in urgency, and then only by unanimous consent after three days' notice.

The Governor's term should commence on the first Monday of July succeeding his election; then his predecessor's recommendations will receive the consideration due them. The Legislature to meet the January following.

By this means, each Governor would have more time at the beginning of his term to devote to State affairs, and the Legislature ample leisure in which to make a study of State institutions, consider recommendations, and formulate needed laws.

During the last session of the Legislature, three hundred and seventeen bills were sent to the Governor; two hundred and seven, or nearly two thirds, being sent to him during the last ten days of its session. These last ten days are the busiest days of the session; both Governor and legislators work from early morning until long after midnight; and but for the wisdom of our Constitution makers, in giving the Governor ten days after the adjournment of the Legislature, he would be unable, almost in any degree, to consider, or even read, the volume of measures that pour in upon him at the rate of twenty and upward per day. The Governor should be given sufficient time in which to familiarize himself with each measure submitted to him for his signature, and should not be required to pass upon any measure until after careful consideration. The time is too short now to consider the volume of business thrust upon a Governor during these ten days; and he would be better able to act fairly if a constitutional amendment gave him thirty days after the expiration of the session in which to consider such bills. If sufficient time to properly consider proposed legislation be denied the Governor, and several hundreds of bills be forced upon him for consideration within ten days, it might become his duty to return them for lack of time within which to properly consider them; and allow the responsibility for hasty legislation to rest with the legislative branch of the government. The Constitution requires a bill to be read three times in each house before it can be passed, and it is manifestly unjust to compel a Governor to act upon a bill before he has had time to carefully read it once.

I am pleased now to bear testimony to much of the work of the Legislature at its last session in the passage of needed laws. It endeavored, by the tax levy for the forty-seventh fiscal year, to provide for the liquidation of deficiencies and liabilities not incurred under this administration, but which it must pay. The total amount of such deficiencies and liabilities, contingent and otherwise, was very large. It expended excessive amounts in the employment of needless attaches, but endeavored to prevent such extravagance by its successors. I refused to approve the bill passed, because of apparent defects therein, and from the belief that the legislative committee appointed at that session to draft proposed laws and rules on this subject would report a bill to this Legislature during the first week of its session, which could be passed as an emergency measure. The above-mentioned committee on legislative business recommend legislation which they claim, while it will give the Legislature adequate clerical and other assistance, will reduce the expenses of that body for such purposes two thirds. It is to be hoped that this end can be accomplished, as at the last session of the Legislature the expenditures for salaries of officers and clerks and for contingencies, amounted to $91,000. This does not nearly estimate the total cost of the Legislature, for it does not include legislative printing, which, during last session, according to the committee's report, amounted $77,508 63. As the law is, and was, either house of the Legislature has the right, in the exercise of its judgment, to employ such number of persons as it deems necessary, and no other official, or body, by veto or otherwise, can legally interfere.

PUBLISHING PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The cost of advertising proposed amendments to the Constitution has, in the past, in many instances been excessive, and in some cases flagrantly so. At the time of my inauguration I found that the bills for this advertising incurred at the previous election amounted to $109,753 20. The Legislature, after consulting with me through their committee chairmen, cut these bills down to $48,912, at which sum they were allowed. A saving was thus effected of $60,841 20. At the recent election the cost of advertising proposed amendments was $14,376 66—a saving of $34,535 34 over the amount of the reduced bills of the previous election. Under the present law it is impossible to avoid a considerable and unnecessary expenditure for this purpose. I would advise the repeal of the Act of March 7, 1883 (Stats. 1883, p. 53), and that in the future proposed amendments be published, in addition to their publication in the election proclamation, by the County Clerks inclosing a copy of them with the sample ballot. The copies could be printed at the State Printing Office, and distributed by the Secretary of State to the County Clerks. By this means a great saving could be effected, while the amendments would be brought directly to the attention of the voters.

NATIONAL GUARD.

Under laws requiring a reorganization of the National Guard, and lessening appropriations for its support, it has been reformed. The six brigades, nine regiments, and one battalion are consolidated into three brigades, five regiments of infantry, one battalion of naval militia, and four unattached troops of cavalry; solidifying the Guard, and dispensing with one hundred and seventy-two commissioned officers and fifteen companies, at an annual saving of upward of $30,000. The battalion of four companies, recommended by the Secretary of War, is adopted as the regimental "unit." The work was not without trouble, friction, and criticism. While in some cases the criticism may have been just, it was much less than was expected from so complete a reorganization of such an important arm of the government—one involving so many officers and men, and the interests of so many localities.

I await the pleasure of the Legislature as to any further or other reorganization it may deem necessary. In your various bodies are men long and favorably connected with the Guard itself, and so conversant with its needs that their advice should possess the greatest weight. In my opinion, the San Francisco regiment should be organized for heavy artillery and be compelled to drill at the Presidio, if permission could be obtained from the National Government. Your request would, in my judgment, secure this privilege. It should also continue infantry work.

A State armory in San Francisco (and perhaps at Los Angeles) in the near future will be a necessity. It should contain office room for State officials residing there. This should be accomplished, under Article XVI of our Constitution, on a vote of the people and issuance of bonds. The saving would more than justify the expenditure, while the convenience and safety assured would make the same most desirable. The law should be amended to provide that company allowances shall not exceed, per month, the amount specified by Section 2094 of the Political Code. Now each company is entitled, perhaps, to the amount specified by such section. The expenses for rent and care of armory in certain localities greatly exceed those in others, so that a uniform company allowance is not just.

Were the militia better equipped for actual service, neither officers nor men would be criticised for matters now beyond their control.

A special military emergency fund, devoted to the purchase of supplies, the transportation, care, and pay of troops during emergencies, is needed. The present system is costly to the State, which buys on credit, and unjust to the seller and soldier, who must await legislative action for payment. Thirty thousand dollars annually laid aside would, in the course of a few years, amount to more than was expended during the railroad strike of 1894, and far more than would have been required had the State paid cash.

While I desire the Legislature to carefully consider the estimate made for support of the Guard, I deem it but just to say that I cannot see my way to approve all of the appropriations now requested therefor. I hope a conference will lead to such action as may be just to both Guard and taxpayer.

CITY AND COUNTY GOVERNMENT BILLS.

As no county government bill became a law at the last session of the Legislature, and no amendment was made to the municipal improvement bill, I repeat my recommendation made two years ago, which is as follows:

"Our Constitution declares, in Article XI, Section 5, that the Legislature, by general and uniform laws, may provide for the election or appointment, in the several counties of the State, of various officers, and that it shall regulate their compensation in proportion to their duties, and for this purpose may classify counties by population. The plain meaning is for a general classification of such counties as have an approximately equal population; yet we find the most dissimilar and discriminating classifications, and the most unequal and unjust burdens imposed on the taxpayer, the plain constitutional provisions being ruthlessly ignored. There are fifty-three classes under this law, out of a total of fifty-seven counties, or nearly one class to each county. The difference in population, forming the alleged basis of the classification, is often ridiculously slight, although the compensation of officers varies greatly. Thus, in counties of the thirty-second and thirty-third classes, the difference in population, according to the latest enumeration, is but thirty-one, while the difference in population between classes thirty-first and thirty-second is but sixteen. Nevertheless these classes differ widely in the salaries and other compensation allowed their officials. Again, many counties have different fee bills, and while the Clerk's fees in one county might not exceed in a probate or contested case the sum of $5, in other counties they may run into the hundreds. These unfounded and unnecessary differences impose unequal burdens upon the people.

"The truth is that our existing scheme of county government is species of the most unjust and unequal special legislation imaginable, along with being, as the courts have so frequently declared, obviously unconstitutional. The necessary limitations of this communication do not permit a full consideration of all its inequalities and iniquities. The illustrations presented, however, will suffice to draw your attention to the condition of the law, and suggest the necessity for its amendment. We should lay aside all other considerations than those of the public good, and devote ourselves assiduously to this important task. The members of the legal profession in your respective bodies, comprising, as they do, some of the best lawyers in the State, should have the matter referred to them, instead of to persons unfamiliar with the many decisions of the courts covering the matter. Should you pass a new Act, drawn in accordance with the suggestions of our Supreme Court in Dougherty vs. Austin (94 Cal. 608), our people would be relieved of many oppressive and unjust burdens, and freed from the necessity of much useless litigation.

"The laws under which city governments operate are in a scarcely less chaotic state. Take, for example, the municipal improvement bill, known as the Vrooman Act, as amended, and under which public work is done. This, in many cases, imposes unjust burdens upon property-owners and is essentially a contractor's law. It should be carefully amended. Property-owners should have a right to appeal to the courts against inferior street work or the failure of the contractors to comply with any condition or specification of the agreement, and every contractor should be compelled to execute an undertaking to keep the work in repair for three years, and during that period to remedy all injury or damage thereto arising from inherent defects. The cost of preliminary street work under the present Act can easily be reduced over fifty per cent."

The committees of the last Legislature, in the main, met the requirements of a good County Government Act, but the bill was so amended as to make it unequal and unjust, and it failed to become a law, I deeming it better to endure the one we had than to adopt the one submitted.

As the law now provides a four-year term instead of one of two years, a reduction might be made in the salaries of county officers greater than would have been justified otherwise.

MINING.

It is well known to all miners and mining lawyers that the laws relating to the location, relocation, and manner of recording lode and placer claims, the work necessary to hold possession thereof, and the right of co-owners, are very unsettled; that their rights to liens thereon are uncertain and most unsatisfactory. The United States Government recognizes miners' laws and customs where there are no statutory provisions governing the same.

The Miners' Convention, at its recent session, appointed a committee to propose new laws, or revise the existing ones, on these and kindred subjects, and they will cause bills to be prepared for your consideration. Considering the high source from which these measures come, I recommend their most careful consideration, and when so drawn or amended as to remove the uncertainty existing and to give relief to prospectors and miners, and stability and record to their claims and proper liens thereon, that they be passed.

The legislative committee of the Miners' Convention, at the direction of the whole convention, will propose amendments to Section 605 of the Penal Code, which practical experience has shown to be of importance to the mining industry, and I ask your careful consideration thereof.

OUR RIVERS.

This State has in recent years expended millions of dollars in the construction and furnishing of buildings, and in their maintenance, for the benefit of the wards of the State. It has expended thousands of dollars under a Commission of Public Works, under the Act of 1893; and in 1893 passed a law providing for the expenditure, by a Debris Commissioner, of a quarter of a million of dollars for the protection of the sources of our rivers, while upon the navigable portion of those rivers themselves they have not expended, for years past, one dollar. Our rivers are the natural arteries of the State for commerce. South of Tehachapi the southern harbors have and will receive millions of dollars from the National Government. To the north, Humboldt harbor has received large sums for its improvement from the same source. For the mining interest Congress voted $250,000 and our State $250,000, or half a million. Yet these great arteries of commerce remain practically neglected. The great valleys of the State contain of available land 25,000,000 arable acres, and through them flow these mighty rivers, daily being ruined by neglect. The improvement of these rivers should be by the National Government, but where it hesitates, nay, halts, when it should begin, the State ought to step in and do the work itself. The entire State is deeply interested in this subject, and I recommend to your honorable bodies that you consider this matter carefully, devise ways and means of giving our interior the relief it needs, and enact a law carrying a proper appropriation for that purpose.

COYOTE-SCALP BOUNTIES.

In any appropriations you may make for the payment of the coyote claims against the State, I recommend the insertion of a clause in the bill by which the Board of Examiners may take such evidence as it deems necessary as to the validity of said claims before allowing the same against the State. I am convinced that frauds have been perpetrated on the people in the presentation and manipulation of these claims in several of the counties of the State; and while the claims from many of the counties of the State are undoubtedly just, if the Board of Examiners be given the above power, and false swearing thereunder be made perjury, I am confident that there will be effected a large saving to the State. While this may delay somewhat the payments to honest claimants, they need have no fear but that they will receive their money in due time.

There are now outstanding 57,523 claims unpaid, of which number 11,037 were presented for the year 1892, 15,220 for the year 1893, and 26,715 for the year 1894; the total amount of claims now unpaid amounting to $287,615. From this it can be seen that the depression of hard times did not reach the coyote interest.

VITICULTURE.

At the last session of the Legislature the duties of the Board of State Viticultural Commissioners were, upon my suggestion, transferred to the University, and while this change occasioned considerable friction, the results have justified the best hopes of the advocates of the transfer. Viticulture is one of the most extensive and flourishing industries of our State; it is of vast present commercial importance, and promises, in the hands of the intelligent and progressive persons engaged in it, to do as much to enrich our State as any of its greatest resources. The scientific and practical specialists of the University have taken hold of this matter with enthusiasm, and during the short time it has been in their hands, have done most valuable work. I am convinced that their work is proving satisfactory to all concerned in vine-growing or wine-manufacturing, and the University should be given a sufficient appropriation for this purpose to enable them to continue the work they have so well begun.

REFUNDING INDEBTEDNESS OF PACIFIC RAILROADS.

In my inaugural message I suggested that the Legislature instruct and advise our Representatives and Senators in Congress to use all honorable means to defeat any bill designed to refund the indebtedness of the Pacific Railroads. This recommendation was expressed in a resolution adopted by the Legislature by a practically unanimous vote, and was transmitted to our Representatives and Senators in Congress. I now recommend that your honorable bodies pass resolutions instructing our Senators and advising our Representatives in Congress to use all honorable means to defeat the funding bill there now pending.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR.

Unless there be special reasons for providing otherwise, the terms of appointees upon boards or commissions should be so arranged or adjusted that, on the expiration of present terms, they expire in succession, and not all together, so that old or experienced members should always be upon the board with the new ones installed. This is not the law as to many existing boards or commissions.

I await legislative action as to a number of trustees, directors, and commissioners, in the hope that some such law will be passed.

In this connection I desire to repeat what I said in my inaugural about "hampering" the Executive, and I urge upon your honorable bodies, as then, the passage of some law as therein indicated:

"If the Governor is to be held responsible for the conduct of the departments whose incumbents he names, he should have the control of those functionaries. In this State we should either have a system of continuous tenure during good behavior, as under the civil service classification of the General Government, or else the appointing power, which, in the public mind, is held responsible for the conduct of the appointee, should be vested with authority to remove the appointee, in the language of the Constitution, 'for misconduct, incompetence, or neglect of duty, after an opportunity to be heard on written charges.'"

I have been hampered to a considerable extent for the reasons stated. I do not favor a law under which a Governor might remove his predecessor's appointees, but in such cases I would provide by law for the removal by the courts of the derelict official.

I, myself, believe that the removal should be made, if at all, by hearing before the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

I favor placing the insane asylums and other similar institutions of the State absolutely upon a civil service basis, and will coöperate with your honorable bodies to that end. Such a law should provide for an equalization of the political complexion of the present officers and employés of these institutions; also, prohibit all officers and employés from being members of a political convention. If these institutions are to be conducted in the interest of the State and the unfortunates, this course should be pursued. Each administration, until the abuses are corrected, may avail itself of the opportunity of filling vacancies by the appointment of members of its own party, and thus only can be held strictly responsible for the conduct of these institutions. Politics probably have not entered largely into such institutions. Unfortunately, however, we find that our five Insane Asylums, our three Normal Schools, our two Reform Schools, our Deaf, Dumb, and Blind Asylum, and our Home for Feeble-Minded Children, all have heads of one political faith, and occasionally this evident discrimination did not stop with the heads, but, with a few exceptions, ran down the list of pay offices. Whether the employé be of one political faith or the other, such a needless, one-sided political complexion in the management is pernicious and improper.

LEGISLATIVE RESPONSIBILITY.

The Governor makes such recommendations as his study of State affairs may cause him to deem proper. You alone have the power of passing bills, changing existing laws, bettering the condition of our institutions, and of reducing the tax levy. My recommendations are merely advisory; the responsibility for the passage or defeat of bills introduced or recommended lies with you.

It is my desire, during the coming session, as it was during the past, to coöperate with your respective bodies and members in the interest of the taxpayers and our people generally; and in that behalf I will at all times be pleased to consult with committees or members.

The responsibility for the defeat of any good measure, through a lack of harmony or personal or political differences, will not rest on the Executive, nor will I be influenced in any of my actions by intimations that my measures may be defeated. I have no measures to propose, dictated through personal desire. If not in the public interest, my suggestions should be ignored; if in that interest, their defeat only injures the people.

I have caused to be made brief statements from the reports of the various State institutions as to their operation, condition, and requirements. These are appended hereto for the purpose of giving legislators a more intimate knowledge into State affairs than their time would allow through the perusal of the numerous and voluminous State reports.

Some of our departments I have not touched on, but I desire to assure the Legislature that in the various departments of the State government I find in the officers a general disposition and endeavor to follow the law and discharge properly the duties of their offices, and, with the exceptions hereinbefore made, I desire to commend each and every one of them.

JAMES H. BUDD,
Governor.

BOARD OF BANK COMMISSIONERS.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is believed by the Commission that the laws affecting and governing the banking corporations of this State should be revised. And upon this subject the Board is unanimous in its opinions and recommendations upon the following subjects:

Commercial banks should be restricted to the conducting of a commercial banking business. The law, in our opinion, should prohibit the merging of a savings bank with a commercial bank, and a commercial bank with a savings bank. In our report of last year, we also recommended that the law be amended to prevent the practice of permitting savings banks to be conducted in the same room with commercial banks, and governed by the same officers.

The experience of this Commission, obtained in the examination of the combined savings and commercial banks, leads it to the belief and conclusion that depositors in such institutions are frequently, without evident intent or purpose upon the part of the officers conducting the same, misled as to the nature of their deposits or the position they may hold with the bank. And when, if any such institution should become depressed, or be compelled to close its doors, the rights of depositors under the law are, in the commercial bank, different from those in the savings bank. The depositor in the commercial bank has the right, under Section 440, Code of Civil Procedure, to offset his deposit against his liability, while in the savings bank it has been held that such offsets cannot be made.

This Commission also recommends that the law be amended, providing that when a bank is declared insolvent a receiver should be appointed by the court to take charge of the affairs of the bank while the same is in liquidation, with the power placed in the Commission to fix the salary to be allowed him by law and the number of additional employés and their salaries.

We further recommend that, at such times as reports of banks shall be called for by the Commission, in addition to the requirement of the law now imposed, requiring its president and secretary to verify under oath said report, at least a majority of the board of directors of said bank shall sign and qualify to the correctness of the same and the value of the assets, as therein set forth.

And it is also recommended that loans made to officers and directors of commercial banks shall be approved by at least three members of the board of directors, who are not directly or indirectly interested in said loans; and that said approval shall be indorsed upon the note or obligation executed to the bank.

It is believed that the enactment of such laws, in addition to those now already on our statute books, will, if not perfecting our banking law, greatly add to its value, and throw around banking institutions safeguards against many bank failures.

THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The law fixes the first and third Mondays of each month as the regular meeting days of this Board, but the great volume of business coming before the Board, which is increasing in amount and importance with the growth of the State, requiring attention and consideration, has necessitated frequent meetings to keep the business up, and enable those having claims against the State to receive prompt attention.

It has been the earnest effort and desire of the Board to reduce the business of the State to a uniform system.

We have had 162 meetings, and passed upon 8,454 claims, aggregating $7,131,414 42; 76 claims have been rejected, aggregating $682,633 51; the items cut out of, and rejected from, other claims aggregate $66,362 74. Total rejections, $748,996 25—more than 10% of the entire claims presented. The claims approved have been transmitted to the State Controller.

Quite a number of claims presented under Section 664 have been approved and, under Section 666, transmitted to the Legislature, with recommendations that appropriations be made to pay the same.

DEFICIENCY CLAIMS.

Under the "General Appropriation Bill," and Act approved March 23, 1893 (Stats. 1893, page 285), officers of the various departments, boards, commissions, and institutions, for whose benefit and support appropriations are made, are expressly forbidden to create any indebtedness in excess of such appropriations, except the unanimous consent of the State Board of Examiners be first obtained and a certificate, in writing, duly signed by every member of said Board, of the unavoidable necessity for such expenditure.

The Board has exercised great care in granting deficiencies, but it was found absolutely necessary to grant a few.

BONDS PURCHASED UNDER SECTION 680, POLITICAL CODE, FOR THE STATE SCHOOL FUND.

The Board has purchased, since January 1, 1895, $302,000 worth of bonds for said fund. It is important that the law (Section 680, Political Code) authorizing the purchase of bonds by this Board for said fund be amended. United States bonds are selling at a high premium, the State is issuing no bonds, and the counties of the State are paying off their bonds very fast, and this Board finds that it is impossible to keep this money invested to advantage, under the present law.

FORECLOSING THE INTERESTS OF DELINQUENT PURCHASERS OF STATE SCHOOL LAND.

Article VI, of Chapter I, of Title VIII, Part III, of the Political Code, provides the machinery for foreclosing the interests of delinquent purchasers of State school land, and getting the title back into the State, when the persons holding certificates of purchase of said land fail to pay interest thereon according to law. This machinery is very expensive and very unsatisfactory. It is the judgment of the Board that the Legislature should amend the law.

SECTION FOUR (4), GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILL OF 1895.

In compliance with an order made by the Board on May 31, 1895, the following circular letter was issued:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 4, 1895.

DEAR SIR: Would call your attention to Section 4 of the General Appropriation Bill approved March 28, 1895 (Stats. of 1895, page 289), which reads as follows:

"SECTION 4. Not more than one twenty-fourth part of the amount appropriated, under this Act for each department or institution for the two years ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, shall be expended during any one month, unless by consent of the State Board of Examiners."

To carry out the provisions of this section, it will be necessary to use care that no indebtedness is incurred in any one month in excess of one twenty-fourth part of the amount appropriated for your department or institution, and all bills incurred in any one month must be sent here complete with claims for that month.

Please preserve this circular for present and future use, and acknowledge receipt of same.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN MARKLEY,
Secretary State Board of Examiners.

By order of the Board.

In the judgment of the Board the adding of Section 4 to the General Appropriation Bill was wise legislation; it has compelled the equalization of expenditures and prevented deficiencies. It should be retained.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Placed a sanitary inspector against smallpox on the desert, near Yuma, in summer of 1895. Located permanent quarantine station at Cabazon; purchased a quarter-section of land, and caused to be constructed spur-track and water pipe-line. Introduced in the Legislature a bill to purchase and manufacture diphtheria antitoxine. Asked the Federal Government to enforce the quarantine laws of the United States against cholera, and to assume control in Pacific ports. Inspected all the asylums, prisons, and State schools each year, making recommendations. Examined into matter of river pollution by sewage, and reported on same. Prepared and published a pamphlet, "Restriction and Prevention of Consumption," and distributed same. Held two sanitary conventions, and published and distributed to medical profession and the press 3,500 copies of proceedings of each. Published and mailed, each month, 600 circulars of State Board of Health, showing deaths and prevailing diseases. Published advice on public sanitation, and maintained an active correspondence with local sanitary bodies and Boards of Health in the State and in other States. Mailed a large number of old Health Reports to health authorities in other States and to libraries in the various States and abroad. Compiled vital statistics as received, as shown in Biennial Report. Prepared and published 3,500 biennial reports, and mailed them. Purchased antitoxine for diphtheria, and distributed same as per request of physicians, free of charge. Attended

American Health Association at Montreal and at Denver. Attended National Conference of State Boards of Health at Washington, D. C., and at Chicago, and Pan-American Medical Congress at Mexico. By direction of the Governor, inspected certain asylums partly maintained by State, and reported thereon. Performed such other duties as are contemplated by law. Held meetings of the Board every three months.

The Secretary found it expedient to abandon his private practice and devote his time solely to the service of the State, the extensive correspondence necessitating constant supervision.

STATE BOARD OF HORTICULTURE.

By reason of an imperfectly drawn bill passed by the last Legislature, which the Governor was compelled to veto, owing to an error, the Board was not provided with funds for its uses, except the salaries of its officers. The work, however, was continued without interruption, as before, through the liberality of fruit-growers and other public-spirited citizens.

Inspection of Steamers.—Through our system of quarantine laws, every steamship and sailing vessel has been inspected on arrival from foreign countries, as also every shipment of trees from outside the State. Large numbers of trees and plants, as well as fruit, have been destroyed when found infested, thus preventing the introduction of foreign insects into our State.

The number of vessels inspected from December 4, 1894, to August 29, 1896, the number of plants, trees, etc., found on board, and disposition made thereof, and from whence they came, are shown as follows:

From—	No. Steamers Inspected.

The following were found on board, and action taken:

Total number packages trees and plants inspected and passed	930
Total number packages trees and plants inspected and destroyed	506
Total number packages trees and plants inspected and disinfected	474
Total packages	1,910
Plants (loose) inspected and passed	1,345
Plants (loose) inspected and destroyed	45
Total	1,390
Boxes fruit inspected and passed	1,739
Boxes fruit inspected and destroyed	3
Boxes fruit inspected and disinfected	837
Boxes fruit inspected and returned	100

Removal of Offices.—In accordance with the Governor's wish, the offices of the Board were removed from San Francisco to the State Capitol last June; and the Board now finds itself comfortably housed in rooms provided by the Secretary of State, at the request of the Governor. The property of the Board is quite extensive, some four hundred large boxes and packing material having been required to transport the various articles. All counters, shelving, glass partitions, etc., were crated and shipped by boat. The library, consisting of over five thousand standard books, was packed in boxes specially made. The safe and all desks were burlaped, and all other furniture crated. In all, there were fifty-eight tons. Besides the main office on the first floor, a room on the third floor has been provided for laboratory work, also storage room in the garret.

Branch Office.—At the Governor's request, a suitable room was secured from the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, in the Chief Wharfinger's Building in San Francisco, for a branch office, where the Quarantine Officer and Entomologist is stationed, making the work of inspecting steamers, etc., for plants, trees, fruit, etc., more accessible.

Correspondence.—The correspondence of the office is exceedingly large, and continues to increase daily. There is continued inquiry upon all subjects from every part of the State, all of which have had prompt attention. Packages containing fruits and infested branches, leaves, etc., of all kinds, are constantly being received for identification and examination. The required information is promptly given, and when cases present themselves of sufficient importance, careful field and laboratory examinations are made, and the results published.

Experiments and Investigations are constantly being made, the results of which are published in bulletin form as occasion requires, and distributed throughout the State.

Conventions of Fruit-Growers.—At various times, the Board has called a general convention of fruit-growers of the State, for consultation and consideration of subjects of great importance to their industry. The proceedings are published in pamphlet form and widely distributed.

Prosecuting Adulteration.—Many brands of oil, purporting to be olive oil, were found in the market. Several prosecutions were made, which secured the passage of a law preventing adulterations and deceptions of this character.

Expenditures.—Although without State aid for the past two years through an imperfect bill, we have managed to investigate all matters of importance reported to us.

The total expenditures and receipts, from June 30, 1895, to December 1, 1896, are as follows:

Disbursements	$1,498 64
Receipts	1,343 80
Deficit	$154 84

This does not include Mr. D. O. Mills' donation of rent, amounting to $1,860. Since the establishment of the offices in the State Capitol, in June last, there has been no expense of rent, light, and supplies, which otherwise would have had to be incurred.

Insect Pests, Fungous Diseases, Etc.—The inroads made by insect pests and tree diseases in the State are well known. All our reports treat on them exhaustively; various remedies have been discovered, with which they are easily subdued, and the general condition of orchards throughout the State, from their use, is most encouraging.

Parasites and Predaceous Insects.—The beneficial insects introduced by the Board have increased with wonderful rapidity, and have accomplished great good. It is hard to estimate their value to the State. Thousands of colonies have been sent throughout the State. Riverside County reports: "There will not need be one dollar paid for washing oranges this season, where the past once cost our growers about $5,000 per annum to wash the black scale smut off their fruit." Other counties report likewise. The results, therefore, justify the effort and expenditure in this line a thousand-fold.

Legislation.—The State Fruit-Growers' Convention, held at Los Angeles, in November, 1893, passed a memorial asking the Legislature to appropriate $5,000 per year for the uses of the State Board of Horticulture, and $10,000 to send an expert abroad in search of parasites and predaceous insects. The Convention of 1895, held in November, at Sacramento, passed a memorial asking for a similar appropriation, and in conclusion the memorial says:

"The laws in regard to the State Board of Horticulture, and the duties and powers of its officers, seem to us to need no change. They have stood the test of the courts, and should therefore not be endangered by amendments, unless these be clearly of the highest value."

The State Convention, held at Sacramento, in December, 1896, again passed a similar memorial, as above mentioned.

BUREAU OF HIGHWAYS.

Expenditures on Roads.—Expenditures for 1894 to 1895, $1,789,259 64; expenditures for 1885 to 1895 inclusive, $17,919,324 26. Figures given do not include numerous payments for bridges out of funds other than those set apart for highway purposes, nor subscriptions of cash, labor, and material by private individuals.

Climatic, Geological, and Topographical Conditions.—Favorable to road construction.

Actual Condition of Roads.—Scarcely any permanent highway construction in this State.

Cause of Our Bad Roads.—Work carried on without any method or system. Money wastefully and injudiciously expended.

The Remedy.—Introduction of a definite system and economy in highway construction throughout the entire State.

Classification of Roads.—Division of roads into three distinct classes: State highways, County thoroughfares, and District roads. State highways, constructed and maintained by the State, main arteries of a road system from which should branch out minor highways. County thoroughfares, most important roads in each county, under direction of Board of Supervisors. District roads to serve needs of particular localities.

Decadence of Road Construction.—Road-building was neglected during the period of great railroad construction.

Utility of, and Demand for, Good Roads.—Necessary to the further industrial development of our State. Promote prosperity.

Duties of the Bureau of Highways.—Study of laws of this and other States, of physical features of the State and their relation to a system of roads, of the economic and legal status of highway conditions in each county.

Difficulty of Securing Accurate Data.—Lack of system and uniformity in book and record keeping in the counties.

Road Laws of Other States.—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Connecticut, where State highway construction is in vogue.

Revision of Road Laws.—Harmonizing of conflicting sections; changes and prescription of penalties for non-compliance with statutory regulations.

Reforms Recommended.—Reduction of the minimum limit of taxation for highway purposes in each county, now fixed by law at 40 cents per $100 of assessed valuation of outside property, to 35 cents. State levy of one quarter of a mill per $1 of total assessed valuation for the State Highway Fund. The Bureau is of the opinion that better results can be accomplished through system and economy with a smaller expenditure than is now accomplished, and that the burdens of road construction should be equitably distributed.

Road Structures.—Substitution of stone, concrete, or brick for wood, wherever practicable. Where wooden, steel, or combination bridges are necessary, the floors should be protected by a pavement of asphaltum or bituminous rock. Wooden bridges to be roofed over. Iron and steel parts to be kept free of rust, and painted regularly.

Duties of County Surveyor.—Should be the highway adviser of the Supervisors, and be placed under a definite salary; should advise Supervisors on all matters of local highway construction, and supervise the location and construction of important roads.

Faulty Location of Roads.—In valleys and rolling country, generally located along land subdivision lines; in the mountains, along old Indian trails. Should be located along the best grades and alignments which the nature of the country will permit.

Rail Franchises.—Rails should be laid in such a position as would least interfere with traffic, and be of such a pattern as to permit the easy passage of wheels over and upon rails and ties.

Width of Tires.—Three inches minimum width of tire for the ordinary farm and road wagon; four inches for wagons intended for loads between four and six tons; five inches for loads between six and eight tons; six inches for more than eight tons. Law not to go into effect immediately. After January 1, 1899, fine for having wagons on sale not in conformity with the wide-tire law. After January 1, 1900, use of wagons not conformable with law to be subject to license.

The State Highways to Traverse Great Belts of Wealth.—Mineral, agricultural, timber, fruit.

Commercial Necessities for State Highways.—Inability of counties traversed by important roads to construct and maintain them, on account of lack of funds and lack of direct benefit.

The Proposed State Highways, and the Principles of their Location.—
(1) Laid out along those lines which the physical features of the State forever fix as the easiest lines of communication. (2) Traverse the great belts of natural wealth of the State. (3) Connect all the large centers of population within the limits of our State. (4) Reach the county seat of every county, and tap the lines of county roads, so as to fully utilize them.

Construction and Maintenance of State Highways.—About 4,500 miles of road, varying in cost from $500 to $4,500 per mile.

County Thoroughfares.—The main roads of each county, to serve the general interests of the county, constructed under the direction of the Supervisors, and to serve as feeders to the State highways.

District Roads.—The people to organize themselves into road districts, after the manner of the organization of school districts, and to construct such roads as their necessities demand.

Résumé of Report.—Sentiment for good roads, at the present time, is such that the movement must result in the early adoption of a definite system, or no improvement will be made for several decades. A definite system must be substituted for the present haphazard methods. The plan recommended is based on the experience of other States and other countries, modified by the conditions peculiar to California. The adoption of the plan proposed, and the inauguration of the system recommended, together with the minor recommendations, would make the Golden State the ideal highway community of the world.

Rock-Crushing Plant.—Cash orders for nearly 50,000 tons of rock received.

Appropriation for Contingent Expenses.—$20,000 for forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The Board of Commissioners of the Building and Loan Associations report a fairly prosperous year for the institutions under its supervision. One hundred and forty-seven associations show a total membership of 31,150, and aggregate assets amounting to $21,470,309 86.

It is apparent that these mutual savings and coöperative institutions have become an important factor in the financial system of the State, and fully merit the safeguards that have been given them by law.

That this plan of savings and investment is sound and practical is attested by the fact that the aggregate net profits of the year amount to $1,370,742 28, or 7.11% on the average capital invested.

During the life of these associations, 9,343 homes have been built for members. Of these, 1,001 were built during the past fiscal year.

The laws governing building and loan associations, and placing them under the direct supervision of a State Commission, are the result of a demand for such regulation by the people most largely interested in these institutions, and are designed for the protection of the members: guaranteeing safety, and thereby commanding the respect and confidence of the public.

The amendment of 1895 brought under the supervision of the Commissioners all mutual corporations doing business under plans similar to that of the building and loan associations. The Commissioners report that, under this provision, they investigated many companies, mostly of foreign incorporation, which had undertaken to do business in this State under the name of investment companies. These companies were found to be mostly disguised lotteries, or, at best, schemes of investment that promised profits to none except the original promoters. By a rigid enforcement of the laws, twenty of these fraudulent concerns were obliged to give up business in this State; thereby the good name of coöperative organizations was protected and many thousands of dollars saved to unwary investors.

During the past fiscal year there has been little attempt on the part of foreign incorporations of this class to gain a foothold in the State, but the Commission refused licenses to several that were incorporated here.

There seems to be general satisfaction with the operation of the laws as they now stand on the statute books, and no further amendment is suggested.

COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The work may be properly classified under seven heads, as follows:

First—Gauging and determining the flood-flow of the Sacramento River;

Second—Gauging and determining the flood-flow of the San Joaquin River;

Third—Survey and recommendation of a plan for drainage of flood-waters of Petaluma Creek and tributary streams;

Fourth—Special report upon the care of mining detritus as proposed by measures then pending in Congress;

Fifth—Investigations of the water-supply of the Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-Minded Children of the State of California;

Sixth—A report upon a plan for the improvement of the drainage capacity of the Sacramento River, with an ultimate purpose of reclaiming the swamp and overflowed lands of the Sacramento Valley;

Seventh—The results of our investigation on the San Joaquin River.

The most important question submitted to the consideration of this Commission is the drainage and reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands. The arguments urged at the time of the creation of this Commission were based upon the importance of drainage, and it is to the solution of that problem that the Engineers have directed careful thought and constant attention.

We recognize the fact that complete reclamation of the swamp lands cannot be accomplished at once, and there are certain important steps that must be taken before any plan of drainage or reclamation can be perfected. The report directs attention to the urgent necessity for making certain river improvements.

The first and most important of these is the removal of the Newtown shoals. The biennial report discusses, in detail, the results that may be expected should these shoals be removed. It assures an increase of flood-flow, which, if necessary, will permit the passage of a volume of water 72,000 cubic feet per second larger than can now pass these shoals without destroying every single improvement on the lower river. Millions of dollars represented by valuable property—homes, orchards, well-cultivated fields—the accumulation of honest toil and earnest industry, are subject to the ravages of an ever-threatening flood, due in a great measure to the existence of the Newtown shoals. The removal of these shoals will furnish an outlet for flood-waters that the valley requires. This outlet is assured by the removal of this one obstruction. I call earnest attention to this subject, and ask a careful examination of the profile and map presented with our report. If the old methods are employed for removing this obstruction, the Engineers estimate that it will cost $500,000. Should the State see proper to adopt the advice of the Engineers and procure a Bates hydraulic dredger of the same capacity as the one constructed for the Mississippi River Commission, it is safe to say this obstruction can be removed in fifty days at a cost of $20,000, exclusive of the cost of the plant. The dredger above referred to, at a trial at Memphis, demonstrated its ability to move 6,000 cubic yards of earth per hour, and the maximum test was 7,798 yards. The law governing the possibility of improving a silt-bearing stream rests entirely upon the measure of the volume of water that can be introduced therein. The question of the deepening of the Sacramento River, therefore, depends upon the quantity of water that can be retained in the stream. This machine will open the way for the water, giving it an opportunity to utilize its scouring force. The Engineers insist upon a system of deep rivers as the important step in drainage.

The important steps to be taken in providing for the drainage of the Sacramento Valley are, first, the removal of the Newtown shoals; second, the closing of the crevasses now existing between the mouth of the Feather River and Sacramento City, said crevasses to be closed by easements of suitable elevation, so as to prevent the escape of water into the Yolo Basin, except in extreme flood times. The object of this improvement is to force as much water as possible down the main stream, so as to scour out the bed of the river. It is estimated that these easements will cost $225,000. If it should be found necessary to place an easement below the City of Sacramento, in order to prevent disaster in time of extreme high water in the American River, it is estimated that such easement would cost for construction $40,000.

The Engineers also recommend the construction of a uniform levee system from the mouth of the Feather River to the mouth of the Sacramento River. If it should require the excavation of 5,000,000 cubic yards to construct these levees, the work by present methods would cost not less than $350,000. The same work can be done by the Bates dredger, at a cost that will probably not exceed $100,000, exclusive of the cost of the machine. In this one class of work we are justified in believing that we could perfect it with a saving of $150,000, exclusive of the cost of the dredger.

The report of the Engineers also calls attention to the incomplete data regarding the San Joaquin River, and they estimate that it will require $25,000 to make the necessary surveys on said stream. It also indicates a very faulty condition in the San Joaquin River, and any one will at once recognize the great benefits that may be expected from the introduction of the proposed drainage system.

From the investigation made by the Engineers, they feel confident they are warranted in recommending the proposed dredging system. It seems to be no experiment, but rather an application of power to the possibilities of a well-tested principle of mechanical and hydraulic engineering. The hydraulic dredger has long been in use, but the Bates dredger appears to be the first to accomplish such wonderful results.

STATE DAIRY BUREAU OF CALIFORNIA.

The Bureau commenced the enforcement of the law approved March 9, 1895, on the 1st day of May, 1895.

The Bureau finds, from reliable information, that from January 1, 1894, to March 1, 1895, a period of fourteen months, there was sold and consumed in the State over 450,000 pounds of oleomargarine. Of this amount, 300,000 pounds was manufactured in the State; the balance imported. The unlimited sale of oleomargarine during that time was a loss to the dairy industry of the State of at least $100,000.

During the above period eighteen licenses for the sale of oleomargarine were issued by the U. S. Internal Revenue Department; all of which expired June 30, 1895. From July 1, 1895, to June 30, 1896, only four licenses were issued for the sale of oleomargarine, and all for the City of Los Angeles; three of these were canceled before they expired, the other expired on June 30, 1896. At the present time there are no licenses for the sale of oleomargarine, and no oleomargarine or filled cheese can be found in the State.

The Bureau finds that not over 30,000 pounds of oleomargarine has been received in the State since May, 1895 (all of this amount received in Los Angeles), and, from reliable information, fully 75% of that amount was re-shipped from Los Angeles to Arizona and other places outside of the State. No oleomargarine has been manufactured in the State since the present law came into effect.

The next Legislature should make the Bureau a permanent commission. As the law now stands, the Bureau will cease to exist on July 1, 1897.

We recommend that Section 2 of the present law, which is as follows:

SEC. 2. No person, by himself or his agents or servants, shall render or manufacture, sell, offer for sale, expose for sale, or have in his possession with intent to sell, or use, or serve to patrons, guests, boarders, or inmates, in any hotel, eating-house, restaurant, public conveyance, or boarding-house, or public or private hospital, asylum, school, or eleemosynary or penal institution, any article, product, or compound, made wholly or partly out of any fat, oil, or oleaginous substance, or compound thereof, not produced directly and at the time of manufacture from unadulterated milk, or cream from the same, which article, product, or compound shall be colored in imitation of butter or cheese produced from unadulterated milk, or cream from the same; provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the manufacture or sale, under the regulations hereinafter provided, of substances designed to be used as a substitute for butter or cheese, and not manufactured or colored as in this section prohibited.

be amended so as to make the proviso read as follows:

"Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the manufacture or sale, under the regulations hereinafter provided, of substances or compounds, designed to be used as imitation, or as a substitute for, butter or cheese made from pure milk, or cream from the same, in a separate and distinct form, and in such a manner as will advise the consumer of its real character, free from coloration, or ingredients that cause it to look like butter or cheese made from pure milk or cream, the product of the dairy."

The object of this amendment is to make the law plain and clear.

A case was tried in Los Angeles, for selling oleomargarine colored in the semblance of butter. The analysis showed there was no artificial coloring matter in the sample. Judge Owens decided that the coloring of the oleomargarine was caused by the ingredients used, and therefore not a violation of the law, unless artificial coloring matter is used.

The Bureau also recommends that a law be passed fixing a standard for cheese manufactured in this State, and requiring all manufacturers of cheese to procure an official brand from the State Dairy Bureau, with which to mark each and every cheese at the place of manufacture; said brand not to be used by any other person or persons other than those receiving the same. Such a law, if passed, would be a protection to the cheese industry of the State, by preventing cheese not made in this State from being sold for California cheese. It would also stimulate cheese manufacturers to make a standard article, and, by so doing, make a reputation for California cheese at home and abroad.

The following is a condensed statement of the expenses of the Bureau:

Amount appropriated for balance of forty-sixth fiscal year.....	$2,000 00
Amount appropriated for forty-seventh fiscal year.....	5,000 00
Total expenses of Bureau for forty-sixth and forty-seventh years	$3,357 33
Balance of appropriation (unexpended).....	3,642 67
	$7,000 00	$7,000 00

The expenses of the Bureau for the above fiscal years was $142 67 less than one half of the amount appropriated.

We wish to call attention to the following in our report: "The probabilities and danger of tuberculosis being transmitted, by the milk from tuberculous cows, to the human race, is now receiving careful consideration by the health authorities in many States. The experimental stations and the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington are experimenting and studying this disease. There seems to be no doubt that steps should be taken, and authority given to some State official, to make a general inspection of dairy cows, and also of the sanitary condition of dairies and creameries furnishing butter and milk to the people of this State. We do not think that any radical course should be taken until this disease is better known, and some general action is taken by State authority to eradicate this disease. In our opinion, a great deal of good can be accomplished by looking into the sanitary condition of dairies and creameries, as it is better to go slow and confine the inspection to aggravated cases where there can be no doubt of the existence of this disease, and until this is done, the wholesale slaughter of our dairy herds should not be permitted."

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND BLIND.

(Berkeley, Alameda County.)

Number of pupils under instruction for twenty-nine months ending November 30, 1896:

Deaf	212
Blind	63
Total	275
Graduated and discharged during the same period	54
Enrolled at date	221

Receipts and expenditures, for two years and five months:

Receipts.
Balance on hand July 1, 1894	$3,853 42
Received from State Treasurer	135,515 28
Received from miscellaneous receipts	5,629 46
Total receipts	$144,998 16
Expenditures.

Expenditures account General Fund	7,878 78
Total expenditures	143,394 06
Balance on hand December 1, 1896	$1,604 10

There was no appropriation for improvements by the last Legislature, and therefore no additions to equipment except what were paid for out of the contingent fund.

The needs of the Institution are as follows:

Maintenance for the two years ending June 30, 1899	$119,300 00
Special appropriations—
Hospital building	$5,000 00
School apparatus	1,500 00
Improvement mechanical department	2,000 00
Improvement of streets	5,000 00
Building of stone wall	3,000 00
Reconstruction of basement	1,000 00
Painting exterior of buildings	2,000 00
Repairing shop roof	500 00
Total special appropriations	$20,000 00

FISH COMMISSION.

Much has been accomplished during the last two years by the Board of Fish Commissioners to advance the interests of the State in the protection and preservation of its fish and game. Its commercial fisheries, valued at $3,022,991 in 1892, have been carefully watched and fostered in so far as the law allows; and it has been the constant aim of this Commission to increase the quantity and variety of food and game fishes. Statistics compiled under their direction conclusively show that the money expended in this direction and the attention paid this branch of the State's business are making returns a hundredfold to the people of the State.

Statistics compiled to show the value of our game as a food product demonstrate the value of this product and the need of better protection.

The State now controls and operates six fish hatcheries, having increased the number by the addition of the Battle Creek, Tallac, and Wawona stations, and is now better equipped than ever before and better able to carry on the work of re-stocking and increasing the output of our streams and lakes. The output from these hatcheries during the past two years has been as follows:

Eggs	383,000	1,141,000
Fry	7,391,700	18,351,833
Adults and yearlings	1,239	5,209
Totals	7,775,939	19,498,042
Total output for two years		27,273,981

The laws governing the placing of ladders upon dams, the placing of screens upon ditches, and the polluting of streams with sawdust and other substances, have been well enforced.

The deputies of this Board have made one hundred and eighty-two arrests during the last two years for violations of the fish and game laws. Fines to the amount of $1,620 90 have been collected.

Desirable mollusks and crustaceans have been transferred from one part of the State to another, and a general distribution given many varieties of fish in those waters best adapted to their increase.

The appropriations for the last two years were:

For support and maintenance of State hatcheries	$15,000
For restoration and preservation of fish and game	20,000

The appropriations are sufficient for the work in hand, provided additional legislation grants needed changes in the allotment of the work. The Fish Commission has a sufficient work in the supervision of the commercial fisheries and the propagation of fish, without the added responsibility connected with the enforcement of the game and game-fish laws. The office of State Fish and Game Warden should be created, and a biennial appropriation of $10,000 made for his use. If this appropriation is made, that for the restoration and preservation of fish and game should be reduced to $15,000, and made applicable to fish alone. In consequence of the increased demand for fish for stocking purposes, and in order that suitable varieties now foreign to our waters may be introduced, the appropriation for support and maintenance of State hatcheries should be increased to $20,000. An appropriation of $500 should be made for the expenses of an investigation of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, with a view of ascertaining what steps are necessary to increase the run of salmon in those streams.

FORESTRY.

California contains 160,000,000 square miles of territory, only one twelfth of which is cultivated. Our forests are disappearing under fire and ax, the annual lumber demand alone being more than 800,000,000 feet. Timber culture is essential over nearly half the area of the State, on arid foothills, on alkali plains, and on sand barrens. The Federal Government has made large forest reservations, over which an administrative policy will eventually be instituted. It would seem to be the duty of the State to encourage forestry by moderate appropriations, continuing arboretums and nurseries, from which very valuable results are being obtained. The University plans and methods are heartily approved by the Division of Forestry at Washington.

Cost of Work and Results.—During the last six years of its existence, the late Board of Forestry received from the Legislature $89,500; this Department, for the four fiscal years ending next June, has received but $9,000. With this money the University has restored the two neglected stations at Chico and Santa Monica; has equipped them with tools, wagons, horses, cheap buildings, propagating-houses, etc.; has established nurseries, cleared land, planted and labeled trees, and instituted many useful experiments. Upon the land not yet occupied, we have grown hay for our teams. The stations have had the free services of the staff of the Agricultural and Botanical Departments at Berkeley—services which, if paid for separately, would have cost the State more than the entire appropriation.

The stations have procured from various parts of the world rare seeds and plants, and are propagating them for distribution to public institutions, etc. Some four hundred species of timber and economic trees, new or not in general cultivation, have been added to the collection of the late Board of Forestry. In a short time the older trees will furnish citizens with seed sufficient for very large plantations in the arid portions of the State. We have maintained extensive correspondence and note great public interest in forestry problems. We hope that the time is near when the University can establish an associate professorship in this Department.

Requirements.—The present appropriation (of $2,500 per annum) is entirely inadequate to properly develop the stations. We respectfully ask your consideration of the following items: (1) We have two efficient, educated forestry foremen, each worth to us $75 a month (which we pay our other foremen), but we pay the foresters only $50 and $60, respectively, and cannot long retain such services without paying more; (2) We should have more labor in the nurseries; (3) We should import more seed; and (4) We should buy scientific instruments for important observations.

At present, with the most rigid economy, we spend per annum:

Foremen (two stations).....	$1,320 00
Labor (two stations)	900 00
Seeds, supplies, repairs, and all other expenses.....	280 00
Total	$2,500 00

The necessary expenditures for the next two fiscal years require, in the judgment of the Agricultural Department of the University, an appropriation of $4,000 per annum, or $8,000 in all.

Schedule at $4,000 per Annum.

Foremen at $70 (two stations)	$1,680 00
Labor (two stations).....	1,500 00
Seeds, tools, supplies, repairs, and all other running expenses.....	620 00
Scientific instruments, collections, forestry lectures	200 00
Total	$4,000 00

THE STOCKTON STATE INSANE ASYLUM.

The south wing of the original building of the Men's Department has been rebuilt, and the center and north wing renovated, at a cost of $21,500. The south wing was so dilapidated and decayed that it had to be torn down and replaced by a new structure, and the rest of the building, too, was found in a worse condition than was at first suspected. The $15,000 appropriation being insufficient, the excess had to be paid from the Contingent Fund. The building is now substantial, serviceable, and handsome, and will comfortably accommodate 500 patients.

Two swimming-baths have been constructed at the Men's Department and one at the Women's Department. The temperature of the water being about 88°, no water has to be heated for bathing purposes, except in the case of hospital patients. One bath is in the east end of a structure, 30 by 208 feet, extending along the south wall of the "big yard" in rear of the original Asylum building. The bath-room is 54 feet in length; the center is for a sitting and reading-room, 84 feet in length, and the west end is a shed, 20 feet long, open to the yard.

The old dilapidated shed in the same yard has been torn down and a substantial pavilion built, 36 by 144 feet, with benches and card tables.

The basements and low places in the grounds have been connected with the outfall pipe of the gas-well and the swimming-tanks, thus affording perfect drainage to the whole premises.

The fire-protection system has been perfected by placing reels and hose in each hall, and hose in the attics, laid ready for use.

The tanks in the Women's Department have been removed to a higher elevation, and four wards have been made in the attics of this department, which will suitably accommodate 160 patients, where 78 were poorly provided for previously.

The attendants' dining-room, in same department, which was dark and cold, being lighted only from the north, has been enlarged and remodeled. A short hall on the south side being removed, a southern exposure, good light, and ventilation have been secured, and the room made wholesome and cheerful.

A room in the Men's Department has been fitted up and furnished for laboratory and pathological work.

A greenhouse, 60 by 20 feet, has been built. The work was done exclusively by patients, and almost all the material was from structures that had been torn down. It is an attractive feature of the place. The last eight items cost $13,700, paid from the Contingent Fund.

A good supply of water for irrigation has been obtained by sinking a brick and cement shaft, 14 feet in diameter and 20 feet deep, alongside of the artesian well in northeast corner of grounds, and placing therein a 4-inch centrifugal pump connected 20 feet below surface with the well and with two excavations, each about 250 by 80 feet. Outside the shaft a brick and cement sump-well has also been sunk 24 feet. Water from artesian well and excavations flow into sump-well, and is thus pumped to surface. Supply, about 800 gallons a minute. Cost, $1,350, paid from Contingent Fund.

At an expense of about $1,300, from the Contingent Fund, an effort has been made to increase the flow of gas from the main well, but as it has been found that some changes in the plans are required, the work has been suspended.

An engine-room has been built at the Men's Department to accommodate a 30 horse-power Union gas engine and a No. 8½ electric pump. A 20 horse-power Union gas engine and a No. 6½ electric pump have been placed in the power-house of the Women's Department. The engines and pumps cost $4,155, paid from Water, Light, and Fuel Fund.

Eight hundred and eighty-one iron bedsteads have been purchased to replace unsanitary wooden ones, at cost of $4,090, paid from General Fund.

A block of land to square southwest portion of premises has been purchased. The cost was $4,000, paid from Contingent Fund.

Requirements of the Asylum for the Biennial Period ending June 30, 1899.—There were in the Asylum November 30, 1896, 1,536 patients. The lowest per capita cost reached is 35½ cents. At the present rate of increase there will probably be 1,600 patients on July 1, 1897, and 1,700 on July 1, 1898. In view of this almost certain large increase in the number of patients, and of an evident tendency to an increase in the cost of supplies, it now seems to me that we could hardly expect to get through with a less appropriation than that of the last biennial period, namely, $405,000.

MENDOCINO ASYLUM.

The average cost per capita per day for this Asylum, from June 30, 1894, to June 30, 1895, with a daily average of 260 patients, was 61 $\frac{4}{10}$ cents; from June 30, 1895, to June 30, 1896, with 318 patients, 50 cents; from June 30, 1896, to November 30, 1896, with 365 patients, 46 $\frac{4}{10}$ cents.

During the past two years and a half, we have made the following principal improvements at this Asylum: We have laid 3,600 feet of sewer-pipe, and constructed, in connection with the same, two large settling tanks; also, laid in place, and covered, over 25,000 feet of drain tile, thereby reclaiming quite a body of first-class garden land. Have built a large cow barn, with ample room for 25 cows and a large amount of hay; also, $\frac{3}{4}$ mile of six-board fence around hay-field. Have seeded about 12 acres of land to alfalfa. We have planted 700 fruit trees and 800 vines; also, a large number of ornamental trees, shrubs, and flowering plants in front grounds. Have constructed a road and bridge to cow barn; also, five large woodsheds, with a capacity of about 600 cords of four-foot wood. An additional ward over Laundry Building has been completed and furnished, and is now in use. A great deal of work has been done, in the shape of clearing land of brush, stumps, etc., and draining garden land. Hundreds of loads of gravel have been hauled and spread in various parts of Asylum grounds. All of the above work has been done at practically no expense to the State for labor, the most of it having been done by patients, under the guidance and assistance of employes. We have now in course of construction a stable, which will be completed during the winter.

We need the following appropriations:

For maintenance for two years ending June 30, 1899.....	$160,052 50
For an Administration Building	100,000 00
For furnishing Administration Building	10,000 00
For ice-plant and cold-storage rooms.....	3,000 00
For increased water-supply, including pipe-line, reservoir complete, laying pipe and other construction work, freight on pipe, electrical equipment for lighting building complete, including all electrical appliances, two dynamos, etc.....	15,000 00
Brick building for electrical plant and ice machine, etc.....	2,000 00

IMPROVEMENTS.

In the past two years we have bored an artesian well, which supplies 600,000 gallons daily, and cost $4,000. We have built a swimming-tank and bath-house, at a cost of $2,400; have put fire bulkheads in the attics; have erected a bone-crusher; have made improvements in the laundry; have painted all the buildings; and we are constantly making improvements on the grounds.

NECESSITIES.

Land.—We need more land. An increase of 200 acres will enable us to use more land for agricultural and garden purposes, with a consequent increase in the food supply and a decrease in the cost of supply, and it will also enable us to employ more patients in useful labor. From lack of land we are obliged to limit our herd of cows, and are short of milk. We have but 276 acres, and so much of it has to be used for pasturage that we have not enough left for farm and garden. Additional land is necessary, and it is in the line of true economy to purchase it.

Buildings.—An increase of one hundred and fifty patients every year is practically certain in this State, and enlargements to accommodate them are actually necessary. We are crowded now, and can take but a few more patients, unless we have additional buildings. As half the patients from the whole State are committed from counties within forty miles of this Asylum, making it the cheapest and easiest of access to the center of population, it would appear to be a wise financial policy to make the enlargements at this point. With an appropriation of $20,000 we can build two cottages that will accommodate one hundred more patients. Two additional ward buildings, similar to the present structures, accommodating three hundred and sixty, can be built for $150,000. The system of enlargements by detached cottages has much to commend it in the increased facilities for classification, the partial separation from association with others, and economy in construction.

The domestic water-supply mentioned in Biennial Report has been completed. We have a continuous flow of 16,000 gallons a day. The outlay of money required for this development amounted to $799, paid out of Contingent Fund, all of which, excepting $120, was for lumber and pipe, the work being done by ourselves. This water is piped to the laundry and kitchen, furnishing all water used in both, and to each ward for drinking purposes.

The refrigerating and ice plant, mentioned on page 27 of the Biennial Report, will be completed by December 15th; cost, $1,695, to be paid out of Contingent Fund.

CASH ON HAND AUGUST 30, 1896.

Contingent Fund, $1,975 11. Support (approximate), $28,500. The refrigerating plant and water development will exhaust the balance in Contingent Fund.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

Carpenter's Department.—Built addition to octagon house, four rooms, one-story high, 24x30; one shed for stable and wood-house, 16x30; one two-story farm-house, containing six rooms, bath, and pantry; all the carpenter work on brick carpenter-shop, 40x60—one story and loft with five work-benches, planing machine, band saw, turning lathe, rip and cross-cut saws; all the carpenter work on dry-house, brick, 40x60, one story high, one half fitted up with 52 patent roller drying-racks, the other half fitted up for an assorting-room and a mangle-room; renovated the old laundry throughout, and did all the carpenter work on the new addition, 23x34, brick, one story high; carpenter work on the addition to ice-house, 12x16, brick, one story high; built one shed, 16x54, for drying bed-ticks; built one house-frame for a 3,000-gal. tank; laid maple floors in wards Nos. 4, 5, and Y; also, laid new floor in sitting-room, ward No. 3. In repairing windows have used 3,900 ft. of sash cord and 1,650 ft. of glass. Made 166 coffins and 36 outside coffin-boxes; 4 new 16-ft. roller gates and 16 new gate posts, 10x10 inches in size; 11 large and 38 small tables; 9 new step-ladders; 2 frames and platforms for elevators; 2 new wagon-beds for coal; 2 new harrows; 1 new frame for large iron roller; 4 new cars for delivering food; 2 new cars for laundry; 36 ash closet-seats; 18 baker's peels; 13 food trays; 7 bread-boxes; 2 bathtubs, capped; 2 laundry washtubs; 38 wooden bedsteads; 30 rocking-chairs; 30 folding-chairs; 3 wardrobes; 12 bureaus, six drawers each, and 3 of three drawers each; 11 benches for rear yard; fitted up new clothes-yard with 261 posts and caps, and have made all of our sash doors and mouldings; made mouldings for and framed 300 pictures; also, made many repairs and improvements throughout the building.

Engineer's Department.—Put in National feed water-heater, capacity 300 horse-power, temperature of water raised to $210\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ before entering boilers; fitted up boiler-furnaces with new grate-bars, for burning Welsh anthracite coal; also put in one 45-in. Sturtevant fan and one 8 horse-power engine to create forced draught for furnaces; set up two tanks, with a capacity of 1,500 lbs., connected them with steam feed pumps, so as to make evaporation tests of different kinds of coal; constructed railroad track from coal-bunkers through boiler-room, and put in 3 new steel cars of the capacity of 1 ton each, with which the coal is delivered to the boilers; put on 3,048 sq. ft. of black sheet-iron ceiling in boiler-room; set up one new Howe's platform scales, capacity 3,500 lbs., which weighs all coal used for steam and gas purposes; set up 3 new clay gas-retorts and connected them with the necessary stand pipes and mains; covered 12 hot-water boilers, 4 steam-drums, and 7,297 lineal feet of steam and hot-water pipe with sectional asbestos-magnesia covering; set up in the engine-room one 16 horse-power engine to run ammonia compressor, and one 3 horse-power engine in the basement to run 8 Singer sewing machines in the men's tailoring department; put in one new Parson's oil-burner to burn coal tar in the gas furnaces; one new counter-shaft in engine-room, 24 ft. long, with necessary hangers and pulleys, to run machinery in butcher-shop; one new friction clutch pulley, 5x30 in., on line shaft; took down, reconstructed, and set up 5 hydraulic elevators; took out, repaired, and set up 22 steam radiators; did all the machine work connected with the construction and equipment of the new carpenter-shop, as follows: Put up 225 lineal feet of galvanized iron gutter, with all necessary leaders and connections; one new steel truss, which carries line-shaft from engine-room to shop; extended line-shaft from engine-room through shop with 81 ft. of $2\frac{1}{2}$ -in. shafting, with all necessary hangers and pulleys; set up one planing-machine, cross-cut and rip saws, one turning-lathe, and one grindstone, and connected them with the main shaft. Put 92 lineal feet of galvanized iron cornice, 1,200 sq. ft. of slate, and 400 sq. ft. of tin on extension to laundry building; one new hydraulic elevator, capacity 2,500 lbs., in laundry; extended line-shaft 34 ft.; set up 3 new 26-in. wringers and 2 new washing-machines; moved and reset 2 old washing-machines; set one gas shirt-ironer, one steam mangle, and connected them all with the line-shaft, with the necessary counter-shafts, belts, etc.; put 225 lineal feet of galvanized iron gutter on new dry-house, with all necessary leaders and sewer connections; lined the dry-room throughout with 1,836 sq. ft. of asbestos-magnesia covering; made and put into dry-room new double steam coils of 1-in. black pipe, which covers the entire floor surface, 11x56 ft., and used 6,309 lineal feet of pipe, sizes $\frac{3}{4}$ in., 1 in., $1\frac{1}{4}$ ins., 2 ins., and 4 ins., all connected with the steam mains and new Bundy steam trap; fitted up 51 clothes-racks with cast-iron heads, sheaves, and hung them on overhead tracks made of 1-in. pipe; made and set up one 60-gal. soap-boiler; set and connected with hot and cold water, and with the sewer, 5 stationary washtubs; constructed 2,000 ft. of 22-in. gauge railroad track, using 12-lb. steel rails; put up 10,000 ft. of galvanized iron wire in clothes-yard; set up one 150-gal. kettle in scullery for making soap, and one 60-gal. and one 30-gal. kettle in kitchen; moved and reset two hot-water boilers in the basement; constructed, of 2-in. galvanized iron pipe, 80 ft. of railing on front avenue; set 12 posts, of 2-in. galvanized iron, at the entrance of driveways, with chains stretched across from post to post; put up 144 new chandeliers in the wards; laid 240 sq. ft. of tin on roof of ice-house; made and put in one new bathtub, one new steel sink, one new hot-water boiler; put in plumbing at new ranch-house and connected same with water-supply, using 400 ft. of 2-in. galvanized iron pipe; made and put in one new bathtub, set steel sink and hot-water boiler, and did all the plumbing at octagon cottage; put in white enameled sink, one hot-water boiler, one cooking-stove, No. 7, and two wash-bowls in center building; made and set one bathtub, and set one water-closet in Infirmary; set two closets, one bathtub, two sinks, one gas stove, and three hot-water radiators in ward No. 6; set three radiators and one gas stove in ward No. 1; had made and put in twelve automatic temperature regulators on hot-water boilers throughout the building; set up four new stoves, one gas stove, and two new gas heaters; put in sixty-five new faucets, forty-seven valves, sizes $\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 ins.; 12,716 lineal feet wrought-iron pipe, sizes $\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 ins.; 160 feet cast-iron pipe, sizes 3 to 6 ins., and 916 lineal feet of leather belting, widths, $\frac{1}{2}$ to 14 ins.

Farm Department.—Improvement on front avenue: 5,000 yds. of gravel put on front avenue, and 1,000 yds. of gravel put on roads and walks on grounds. Made and burned 900,000 brick; put in 400 ft. 6-in., 200 ft. 4-in., and 400 ft. 3-in. drain pipe; set out 7 acres of French prunes, 1 acre of apples, peaches, and cherries, and dug well 40 ft. deep at Spencer ranch; set out 3 acres of French prunes and 2 acres of apples, peaches, and cherries at the Coombs ranch; 4,800 ft. of new road graded on the various ranches, and 200 sacks of charcoal burned.

For the amount of the various products raised upon the different ranches, I would respectfully refer you to the tables made out by the Steward.

Painter's Department.—Painted 22,547 sq. yds. surface; calcimined 17,334 sq. yds. surface; painted, in water colors, 2,246 sq. yds. surface; frescoed 500 sq. yds. surface; painted, grained, and varnished 139 sq. yds. wood work; painted 8,648 lineal feet of canvas-covered piping, 11x23 inches in circumference, also 11 covered boilers 7 ft. long by 9 ft. in circumference; painted 190 lineal feet of fencing, 190 head-boards, and 5,383 lineal feet of stencil borders, front of stage, drop curtain, and side curtain in amusement hall; painted and varnished 429 chairs, 107 bedsteads, 69 cuspidor mats, 47 stands, 13 safes, 7 vehicles, 14 ladders, 45 benches; stained and varnished 7 wardrobes, 7 washstands, 13 bureaus, 10 bedsteads, 10 safes, 252 picture frames, and 8 tables; made 260 lbs. putty for glazing purposes.

Mason's Report.—Building foundation for engine, used 6,000 brick, 4 bbls. lime, 4 bbls. cement, 4 tons sand; chimney at cottage, used 1,000 brick, 1 bbl. lime, 1 bbl. cement, 1 ton sand; wall between boiler-house and gas-house, used 16,000 brick, 10 bbls. lime, 4 bbls. cement, 12 tons sand; foundation for tanks in boiler-house, used 1,500 brick, 1 bbl. lime, 1 ton sand; steaming tank, used 2,000 brick, 3 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 3 tons sand; gates at garden, used 2,000 brick, 3 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 3 tons sand; ice-house, used 8,000 brick, 5 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 6 tons sand; carpenter-shop, used 51,664 brick, 52 bbls. lime, 18 bbls. cement, 52 tons sand; building wall, used 7,500 brick, 5 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 6 tons sand; foundation for engine, used

2,000 brick, 2 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 2 tons sand; setting gas retorts, used 1,000 brick; 3 bbls. fire-clay, 2 bbls. lime, 1 bbl. cement, 2 tons sand; dry-house, used 74,000 brick, 45 bbls. lime, 18 bbls. cement, 5 tons sand; addition to laundry, used 37,000 brick, 25 bbls. lime, 9 bbls. cement, 28 tons sand; foundation for wringers, used 1,200 brick, 1 bbl. lime, 3 bbls. cement, 1 ton sand; foundation for water-tank, used 1,500 brick, 1 bbl. lime, 1 bbl. cement, 1 ton sand; closing tunnel, used 2,000 brick, 3 bbls. lime, 2 tons sand; brick floors, used 19,000 brick, 9 bbls. cement, 3 bbls. lime, 5 tons sand; floor in coal bunker, used 7,000 brick, 4 bbls. cement, 4 tons sand; house foundation, used 6,000 brick, 4 bbls. lime, 2 bbls. cement, 4 tons sand; resetting scales, used 9,000 brick, 6 bbls. lime, 3 bbls. cement, 6 tons sand. Total number brick used, 250,864; bbls. lime, 166; bbls. cement, 88; tons sand, 191.

Cement floors and walks, laid 7,940 sq. ft.; total amount cement used, 150 bbls. Stone work done, 4,457 ft.; total material used, lime, 4 bbls., cement, 17 bbls., sand, 44 tons. Plastering done, 630 sq. ft.; total material used, lime, 15 bbls., sand, 14 tons, Golden Gate plaster, $3\frac{1}{2}$ bbls.

In nearly every instance, when new institutions are built, no account is taken of the fact that the number of patients will rapidly increase over and above the number that the institution was first intended to accommodate. Such has been the mistake made at this hospital, and while the various departments were originally intended to furnish the room in which to do the work for 600 people, we are now caring for 1,412. This condition of affairs necessitates the enlarging of certain departments. Having burned 900,000 brick during the last two years, we have been enabled to do this work at a minimum expense. The actual cost incurred in building the new carpenter-shop is $839 05, while the cost of building the new dry-house is $1,162 16. With the machinery in the carpenter-shop we find it possible to do all our mill work, make all the moldings needed for repairs and improvements, make furniture, etc., all of which proved to be very expensive prior to erecting the building. It is estimated by our laundryman that at least 100,000 different articles are washed, assorted, and returned to the various wards during each month. By enlarging the laundry, putting in new washers, wringers, and other appliances, as well as increasing the capacity for drying in wet weather, all of which has been accomplished by the erection of the new dry-house, a large saving has been made in the consumption of coal and labor. I would respectfully call your attention to the tables showing the number of articles made in the sewing-room (Female Department) and in tailor-shop (Male Department) during the last two fiscal years. These tables show that 28,227 articles have been manufactured in these departments during these years, with the result that our patients are much better clothed, and that at a saving of at least 25% under the cost we would incur by buying them ready-made and in open market. Eighteen to twenty patients are employed in the tailor-shop, which was opened for work April 14, 1895, since which date 8,873 articles have been made. These patients are mostly selected from the chronic insane, and are among the most happy and most contented of patients that we have employed.

I would recommend to your honorable body the erection of three cottages at this institution, for the physicians. Such structures can be built at a cost of $3,000 each, requiring an aggregate sum of $9,000 for their completion. By so doing room can be secured and used in the center building, which has cost the State at least $75,000. The economy of such a measure can be readily seen, and needs no further comment.

APPROPRIATIONS NEEDED.

We need an appropriation for the purpose of constructing a stone dam, so as to increase the water-supply of this hospital, and also to secure the land upon which shall be placed the reservoir. During the months of July, August, and September, we have not sufficient water to raise our elevators, and from three to four hours a day the water-closets upon the wards on the upper stories of the building are not flushed. This condition is a direct menace to the health of our people, and should be remedied at the earliest opportunity. An increased supply of water will also extend our facilities for raising vegetables, as rich and valuable land, which at present can only be utilized for raising grain, can, with water for irrigation, be made to produce tons of vegetables during almost the entire year. It should be remembered that a population of over 1,500 people will consume a large quantity of vegetables during a year, and when we consider that at least 1,100 of those above mentioned take little or no exercise, then it is reasonable to conclude that a diet largely vegetable will be conducive to the best health. Asylum management both here and elsewhere proves the truthfulness of the above statement, and it will prove economy to the State, and a great benefit to our unfortunate patients, if a liberal appropriation is granted with which to secure the water to further this feature of our work. The following is the report of the engineer, O. H. Buckman, who made the surveys for the reservoir herein mentioned:

To the Honorable Board of Directors of the Napa State Asylum for the Insane:

GENTLEMEN: In response to your order, made on the 12th day of September, 1896, directing me to prepare a report, together with plans and specifications, for a masonry dam for the purpose of forming a storage reservoir in what is known as the "Kruse Cañon," I now have the honor of submitting the following as my report:

I have made a pretty careful survey of the site of the proposed dam and reservoir, which is situated in the "Kruse Cañon," on land adjoining the Asylum land, and at a distance of about 9,000 ft. from the Asylum buildings. I find the site to be a remarkably good one for the purpose, where, by the construction of a dam 100 ft. in height above the bed of the creek, a reservoir can be formed having a storage capacity of about 300,000,000 gals.

The site for the dam is an excellent one, being in a narrow ravine with rocky bottom and sides, so that comparatively little material would have to be removed in order to get a solid rock foundation under the entire site of the dam.

There is also an abundance of good building-stone in the immediate vicinity with which to construct the dam.

For this site I would recommend a dam of rubble masonry laid in cement mortar, and having a profile or cross-section about as shown by the diagram (Fig. 5).

This is nearly the same as the profile of the great "Quaker Bridge Dam," which forms part of the Croton system of the water-works of New York City, except that the top width is not so great.

Many of the large dams built in recent years, both in this country and in Europe, have profiles of approximately this shape, and it is recognized as being the strongest for a minimum amount of material that has been devised.

I would recommend also that the dam be built on a curve of about 500 ft. radius, as shown on the diagrams, as this will add considerably to its strength in resisting the pressure of the water when the reservoir is full; does not materially increase the amount of masonry, and gives the structure a much more graceful appearance.

The dimensions of the dam would be about as follows, to wit: Height above bed of creek, 100 ft.; width or thickness at bottom, 70 ft.; thickness at top, 12 ft.; length on top, about 440 ft. This would flood about 25 acres of land, and make a lake of about 700 ft. in average width, with an average length of about 1,600 ft.

The amount of masonry in the dam would be about 19,000 cu. yds.

I would recommend that the supply pipe leading from the reservoir to the Asylum buildings be 8 ins. in diameter.

GENERAL SPECIFICATIONS

For a masonry dam in the "Kruse Cañon," near the Napa State Insane Asylum, for the purpose of forming a Storage Reservoir for impounding water for the use of the Asylum:

The dam to be of the form and about the dimensions shown on the accompanying diagrams, to wit:

Height above bed of creek	100 ft.
Length on top, about	440 ft.
Width or thickness of base	70 ft.
Width or thickness of top	12 ft.
Estimated amount of masonry	19,000 cu. yds.
Supply pipe under dam, 12 ins. diameter	100 ft.
Waste pipe under dam, 24 ins. diameter	100 ft.

The entire dam, except the coping and ornamental cornice on lower face, to be built of uncoursed rubble masonry laid in hydraulic cement mortar, the face stones on each face to have horizontal and approximately vertical joints.

The foundation of the dam shall be cleared of all earth and loose and seamy rock, and shall not be leveled off, but left with a rough and jagged surface, especially across the width of the dam. All seams in the bedrock to be cleaned out and filled with cement mortar.

The stone used in building the dam to be the best and heaviest that can be found in the vicinity, and must be sound and free from cracks, and of the largest size that can be conveniently obtained and handled; the spaces between the larger stones to be filled in with smaller stone and spawls, all well bedded and flushed with cement mortar, so as to make as nearly as practicable a water-tight wall.

The coping and cornice to be of stone cut to such shape and size as may be specified. On, and partly into, the upper face of the dam, as shown on the plans (Figs. 3 and 5), will be built a circular well or shaft about 5 ft. in diameter, for an inlet well.

Through the walls of this shaft at various heights shall be set a number of inlet pipes curved upward at the outer ends and furnished with covers for the purpose of admitting water to the shaft at such heights as may be desired.

The supply pipe running through the dam will lead out from near the bottom of this shaft, and be provided with a stop gate, as shown (Fig. 5).

There will also be laid through the lowest part of the dam a waste pipe 24 ins. in diameter, furnished with a valve and suitable screen on the upper end.

All work to be done under the direction and supervision of an engineer and competent inspectors.

ESTIMATE OF COST.

19,000 cu. yds. masonry, at $6 25 per cubic yard	$118,750 00
9,000 lineal feet 8-in. pipe, at 90 cents per foot	8,100 00
100 lineal feet 12-in. outlet pipe under dam	150 00
100 lineal feet 24-in. waste pipe under dam	300 00
Engineering, superintendence, etc., say	5,700 00
Total	$133,000 00

To this must be added the cost of purchasing the land on which the site of the reservoir is situated, which would add probably $..... or $..... more.

The plans hereto attached are made a part of this report.

Respectfully submitted.

O. H. BUCKMAN,
Engineer.

NAPA, CAL., October 10, 1896.

We are of the opinion that not less than $400,000 should be appropriated for the maintenance of this institution for the next two fiscal years. During the last fiscal year, commencing July 1, 1895, and ending June 30, 1896, the daily average per capita expense has been 36.4 cents. Owing to the almost daily increase of our patients, we will probably be called upon to care for, during the next two fiscal years, on an average of 1,500 people. At 36.4 cents per day, it would require $398,580 for maintenance. Bearing in mind that many unknown and unforeseen expenses arise from year to year, we feel warranted in placing before you the above estimate, in the belief that it will only be sufficient to meet our wants, when expended with the strictest economy.

LABOR COMMISSIONER.

First—Free-Employment System, showing the operation of this branch of the work from July 15, 1895, to August 1, 1896, as follows:

Application for employment—
Male	14,251
Female	4,669
Total	18,920

However, fully 30,000 persons, in the course of one year, have entered the doors of the Bureau in the transaction of various business, many of whom sought employment, but did not register.

Positions secured—
Male	3,314
Female	2,531
Total	5,845

Of the 5,845, 5,514 were sent to work at specified wages, and 331 by the "piece"; of the 5,514, 4,845 were provided with board and lodging, and 1,029 "found" themselves.

Total monthly wages of 5,514	$150,422 50
Board and lodging of 4,845, estimated at $20 each	89,700 00

Total monthly earnings of help supplied	$240,122 50
Or $482,546 in two months, which is the average period of employment.

Should these 5,514 persons have purchased positions from employment agents, who claim to charge 10% commission on first month's pay, they would have been taxed $15,042; and, under the statements of the employment agents, who claim two months the average period of service (testimony of agents), at the rate of 10% commission, the agent would receive 60% of first month's wages per year, or $90,252, providing they would have to depend on paid employment agents for the necessary positions to keep them at work for one year. This sum analyzed shows $7,521 per month, or $1 37 per month per capita, which these 5,514 persons would pay for employment. Showing that, if this Department has been instrumental in keeping this number of persons in employment for one year, it has saved them the sum of $90,252, and I feel free to state that those obtaining positions through the State office hold them for at least twice the length of time as compared to those who obtained positions through employment agents, for the reason that we do not fill orders of those who are unreliable, or furnish unreliable help.

To this may be added the amount saved by special rates on transportation of parties sent to labor at interior points:

Full fare, $5,700; special rate, $3,800	$1,900
---	---------

Since August 1, to date, the work shows an increase of 25% upon the foregoing.

Second—Employment Agencies. Investigation shows 69 well-equipped employment offices—

Annual cost of maintenance	$130,800 00
Annual cost of living of 69 agents and their families	75,900 00
Total	$206,700 00

Which are supported by the laboring people, without taking into consideration numerous small offices, or adding to the above amount, as an item of expense, the no small amount paid in subsidies and commissions to employers. This enormous tax upon labor could be obviated by the establishing of two or three free-employment departments, with proper facilities for handling the work. Beyond this, the Department has been the means of obliging the agents to return $1,040 in fees, in 458 cases.

Third—Collection of Wages. The Department has handled 1,424 cases of unpaid wages, and has assisted in the collection of $52,155 72 thereunder.

Other subjects handled are—

Fourth—Time-Check System, showing the disadvantage under which labor is forced to operate.

Fifth—Eight-Hour Day, showing defects in present statute which render the same inoperative, and the many violations which have occurred. A history of the movement throughout the country.

Sixth—Convict Labor, showing the status of this question in this and other States.

Seventh—Japanese. The full and complete investigation into the question; the only official investigation ever held in this country.

Eighth—Industrial Report of the State, by counties.

Ninth—Strikes and Lockouts. Complete history of same in the State for the past thirty years.

Tenth—Trades-Unions of California.

Eleventh—Bakeries. Investigation of this industry from a sanitary and hygienic standpoint.

Twelfth—Sweat-shops. Investigation of those in San Francisco.

Thirteenth—Financial Report, showing receipts and disbursements of the Department of Labor.

Fourteenth—Laws and Recommendations.

Fifteenth—Appendix. Statistical tables: (a) Number engaged in gainful occupations; (b) Wages paid in all avocations; (c) Cost of living; (d) Details of manufacture, employers' statements; (e) Details of manufacture, employés' statements.

Recapitulation—Benefits which labor has derived through the practical operation of the Department from July 1, 1895, to August 1, 1896:

Employment agency fees saved to 5,514 persons.....	$15,042 00
Transportation to interior points.....	1,900 00
Collection of wages in 1,424 cases, $52,155 72; most of which would have been entirely lost; however, allowing only 20% (which is the usual charge for collection) saving thereby.....	10,431 00
Return fees employment agents, 458 cases.....	1,040 00
Total benefits.....	$28,413 00

The good accomplished by the Department can hardly be measured by the pecuniary benefits derived by labor, as the work itself has been far-reaching in the relief extended in the many cases of direst distress; and calamities, involving the lives and welfare of parents and children, have been averted through the assistance rendered—many cases of destitution and desperation having been saved by the procurement of work.

GUARDIAN OF MARSHALL MONUMENT.

As soon as I had received my commission as Guardian of the Marshall Monument I began to perform the duties assigned to me, by first watering all plants and shrubs that were in need of it, and then began to improve Marshall's old cabin, by repairing the porch, laying a stone wall underneath the whole building, and renovating it generally. I have made a desk in the reception-room, and have procured a register, in which visitors may write their names and post office address. On the southeast side of the hill from the Monument I have graded quite a large piece of ground, preparatory to planting a grass-plat and flowers; and also intend to erect a rustic summer-house, where visitors can view the country for miles around and enjoy a rest and eat their lunch. I have also taken away the old gate leading to the Monument and put in a new, substantial one, which makes a vast improvement and a safeguard against stock of all kinds. I am keeping in good condition the road leading to the Monument, and keep a close watch during the rainy season.

THE STATE MINING BUREAU.

The State Mineralogist, with the cordial coöperation of the Board of Trustees, has, during the past two years, performed a vast amount of work of value, not merely to those who mine the precious and useful metals, but also to those who seek for oils, bitumen, magnesite, building-stone, etc. The Bureau's work has commended itself to the members of the California Miners' Association, who recently met in convention in the City of San Francisco.

Its bulletins have been widely distributed, and several of them had the honor of a republication entire, including all the cuts and illustrations. Their prompt appearance, thoroughness, and attention to practical detail, together with a studied avoidance, as far as possible, of pure technicalities, have rendered them useful to the working miner, the simple laborer, as well as to the man of affairs. About 6,000 copies of the Report for 1893-94 have been distributed, in addition to some 25,000 copies of the bulletins and maps. Besides Bulletins Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11, there were issued second editions of Bulletins Nos. 2 and 5, and also the Mother Lode map.

The field assistants have visited and examined, with more or less minuteness of detail, every county in the State, except Modoc. The Museum and the Library have been visited by more than 77,000 interested persons, while the office assistants have been kept busy answering very nearly 12,000 letters of inquiry, including 2,369 replies to residents of the State as to the contents of various mineral substances, earths, bitumens, oils, etc.

The increase in our mineral wealth may be gathered from the following comparisons: The total value of our mineral productions for 1893 was $18,806,261; for 1894 it was $20,203,294; for 1895 it was $22,844,664.

During the latter year the values of the more important mineral productions were:

Gold	$15,334,317 00
Silver	599,789 00
Quicksilver.....	1,337,131 00
Other metals (antimony, chrome, copper, platinum, etc.)	107,069 00
Non-metallic substances (borax, coal, salt, etc.)	1,348,282 00
Hydrocarbons.....	1,404,321 00
Structural materials.....	2,713,755 00
Total	$22,844,664 00

The number of working miners, as collated by the field assistants, numbered 13,765 for 1893-94; and for 1895-96 they increased to 19,508, including 834 Chinese. It is probable that about 500 Chinese and 500 white men escaped enumeration by working in out-of-way places not visited by the field assistants.

To date there have been 157 applications to mine by the hydraulic method; of these, 115 have been made during the past two years.

The State Mineralogist makes the following recommendations in his Report:

1. That a united effort be made to have Congress establish a portfolio, to be known as Secretary of Mines and Mining;

2. That the State establish a Geological Survey as a department of the Mining Bureau, and make a moderate appropriation therefor;

3. That a permanent fund be created to maintain the Bureau, in order that work of a superior character may be done, which is impossible so long as it depends upon appropriations of Legislatures;

4. That 1,000 copies of the mineral resources of each county be compiled from each Biennial Report, when it is put in type at the State Printing Office, and the same sent to the Supervisors of each county for distribution;

5. That statutes be enacted empowering field assistants to act as mine inspectors, and to enforce their recommendations. This will prove a public benefit by protecting the interests of investors and the lives of the miners. A few mines now refuse admission to our assistants;

6. That a thorough study of the hydrography of the State be made;

7. That the State Controller issue stamps, and statutes be enacted compelling secretaries of mining companies to attach and cancel one on each issue or transfer of certificate of stock;

8. That these reports be issued annually instead of biennially;

9. That the Legislature take the necessary steps to render available the State and the United States appropriations for the building of restraining and other barriers for impounding the debris, and to prevent the overflow during the winter's rain.

Since the publication of the 1893-94 Report, the search for new mines, the rehabilitation of abandoned ones, and the discovery of new and profitable oil-regions have, in large measure, been aided, encouraged, and possibly brought about by the publication, through the Bureau, of the matchless mineral resources of our State.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL—SAN JOSÉ.

The following is a summary of expenditures for the support of the State Normal School at San José for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years:

Support.....	$93,965 73
Library.....	1,460 90
Laboratories and equipment.....	851 33
Grounds.....	4,933 74
Repairs.....	3,611 40
Total.....	$104,823 10

The estimates for the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years, made by the Trustees, after a most thorough examination of the property and deliberation as to the actual requirements of the school, are as follows:

Support.....	$100,000 00
Library.....	2,000 00
Laboratory and equipment.....	3,000 00
Grounds.....	9,000 00
Repairs.....	2,000 00
Reseating hall.....	3,000 00
Gymnasium.....	10,000 00
Total.....	$129,000 00

The increase of the general support from $93,965 73 to $100,000 is made necessary by the fact that the course of study has been lengthened one year, which will increase the number of students in attendance, thereby making an increase in the teaching force of the school imperative.

To keep up with the advance of ideas in the future, more money must be expended for the support of the library and the equipment of laboratories.

In submitting these estimates for your consideration, we have made no inflation with a view to reduction, but have asked for the lowest amount possible to conduct the school in its highest state of efficiency and usefulness.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL—LOS ANGELES.

During the year ending June 30, 1894, there were enrolled 362 students. At the present time, there are enrolled 505, which number will be increased by a class of at least 50, to enter in January. The above number is exclusive of the 300 pupils in the Training School.

The June class of 1894, and those who have graduated since, number 225, with about 30 to graduate in January next.

With the special appropriation of $75,000, granted by the Legislature of 1893, the following changes and additions have been made:

1. A new building of three stories and basement, 80x100 feet. This building contains twenty-seven recitation and class rooms for the Normal and Training School departments, with the necessary dressing-rooms, and an assembly-room 80x100 feet;

2. Necessary changes in the old building to make it and the new one a symmetrical whole;

3. Heating and ventilating apparatus for the new building;

4. A chemical laboratory 30x40 feet, detached from the main building;

5. Furniture for the assembly-room, two lecture-rooms, several rooms in the Training School, and benches for the Sloyd Department.

The building was entirely completed without the deficiency which is almost universally an adjunct of State buildings.

With the $5,000 granted by the last Legislature some furniture has been purchased, but most of the amount has been spent for apparatus for individual work in the physical, chemical, biological, and psychological laboratories. All of the above departments have been greatly strengthened thereby, and we are now able to do excellent scientific work.

The following changes in work and organization have been made:

1. The course of study has been lengthened one year, thus insuring better preparation of the teachers in the State than has been made before;

2. Special courses have been planned for the graduates of high schools, allowing two years of the work to be done at home, thus saving the State considerable expense. Nearly half of the students entering last September are high school and college graduates, who will spend only one or two years in the school instead of taking the whole course of four years. It is hoped that this elevation of the standard of the school, and the consequent saving to the State, will be clearly understood by those interested in education;

3. The professional work, including psychology and pedagogy, has been greatly strengthened and raised to the dignity of a separate department under one of the best-trained specialists in the country;

4. Manual training, including sloyd, clay-modeling, drawing from models and casts, and instrumental drawing, is in the hands of specialists, and four rooms have been finely equipped for work in this important and practical phase of education;

5. The first kindergarten training school under the auspices of the State has been organized and placed in charge of a thoroughly trained and competent director. About twenty-five young ladies are now in training for the kindergarten work of the State. When we consider the crying need for true kindergartners, the importance of this department will be understood.

With the work in physical training now being done in this school, with the strengthening of the science work, with the professional work as strong as it is, with manual training given a prominent place, and with the addition of the kindergarten training department, we feel that the organization is complete as a Normal School.

Three requirements must be provided for by the next Legislature to meet the demands that will be made on the school and to insure the best work for the State: (1) An addition to the faculty, in order properly to instruct the added number of students who will ask for admission from this growing section; (2) An enlargement of the library and additional scientific apparatus; (3) A few repairs and improvements in the buildings.

For the above purposes, there should be appropriated for the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years not less than $95,000 for current expenses;

$4,000 or $5,000 for library, museum, and apparatus; $2,500 for care and improvement of the grounds; $5,000 for repairs and improvements. Unless we have the above amounts, we cannot make the progress that we should.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL—CHICO.

The California State Normal School at Chico has had a successful period of growth and progress during the period covered by this report. The scholarship of the school has been raised, and the character of the pupils graduated has been such as to give promise of great usefulness.

During the forty-sixth fiscal year, the total number of pupils in attendance was 232, representing twenty-nine counties; 52 pupils were graduated.

During the forty-seventh fiscal year, the total number in attendance was 216, representing twenty counties; 44 were graduated.

During the present fiscal year, up to November 27th, 202 pupils have attended—more than ever before at so early a season. Twenty-four counties are represented.

At present there are thirteen teachers, exclusive of the Principal, and their average monthly pay is $121 75. The janitor's pay is $75 per month, the librarian's $5, and the gardener's $65.

Below you will find estimated cost of running the school for the next two years:

Care and improvement of grounds.....		$2,500 00
Additions to library.....		1,000 00
Payroll of teachers, janitor, and librarian.....	$52,428 00
Fuel, light, water, repairs, etc.....	3,572 00
		56,000 00

Two new teachers will be needed next year to provide for a department of history and of sloyd and physical culture.

STATE PRISON AT FOLSOM.

Statement of Sundry Matters Taken from the Books of the Clerk of Folsom Prison, and Approximate Estimates of Future Necessities of said Prison.

Total number of prisoners on hand at close of forty-sixth fiscal year.....	$40
Total number of prisoners on hand at the close of forty-seventh fiscal year.....	905
Approximate number of prisoners for the ensuing two years.....	1,000
Amount of appropriation for forty-sixth fiscal year.....	$110,000 00
Amount of appropriation for forty-seventh fiscal year.....	$109,500 00
Amount of money used from the earnings of the prison in addition to the appropriation for forty-sixth fiscal year (1894-1895).....	$4,846 63
Amount of money used from the earnings of the prison in addition to the appropriation for forty-seventh fiscal year (1895-1896).....	$9,697 01
Total for the two fiscal years.....	$14,543 64
Per capita per diem cost for the forty-sixth fiscal year.....	36.22 cents.
Per capita per diem cost for the forty-seventh fiscal year.....	32.50 cents.
Cost of feeding prisoners for the forty-sixth fiscal year, per capita per diem.....	7.62 cents.
Cost of feeding prisoners for the forty-seventh fiscal year, per capita per diem.....	7.64 cents.

Cost of guarding prisoners for the forty-sixth fiscal year, per capita per diem.	16.30 cents.
Cost of guarding prisoners for the forty-seventh fiscal year, per capita per diem	15.10 cents.
Expenses of the prison other than feeding and guarding prisoners, per capita per diem, for the forty-sixth fiscal year.	12.30 cents.
Expenses of the prison other than feeding and guarding prisoners, per capita per diem, for the forty-seventh fiscal year.	9.76 cents.
Appropriation required for the ensuing two years, (This estimate is based on the probable increase of 100 prisoners)	$240,000 00
Employment of prisoners for the last two years: Erection of buildings, improvement of grounds, building and operating rock-crusher, and quarrying stone.

Rock-Crusher.

Rock-crusher appropriation—Construction Fund	$25,000 00
Rock-crusher appropriation—Revolving Fund	$5,000 00
Total	$30,000 00
Cost of plant, exclusive of operating expenses.	$25,000 00
(Plant began crushing June 10, 1896.)
Amount of rock crushed each month up to December 1, 1896:
June	2,957 tons.
July	4,338 tons.
August	7,934 tons.
September	9,004 tons.
October	8,915 tons.
November	6,365 tons.
Total output to December 1, 1896.	39,513 tons.
Price sold at	25c per ton.
Total value of output	$9,878 25

At the date of this report (December 1, 1896), we have the quarry fairly opened. We find the air-compressor in use at the State powerhouse is not of sufficient capacity to furnish power to operate the rock-crusher and the Ingersoll drills at the same time. It takes the full capacity of the air-compressor to run the rock-crusher alone, leaving the granite quarries and other work about the prison without power. It will be necessary to supply another air-compressor as soon as possible. This will double the output of crushed road-metal.

At 25 cents per ton on the cars at the plant sufficient revenue is derived from the operation of the plant to pay all the expenses, and will furnish enough surplus to provide for the full amount of the Revolving Fund by the close of the present fiscal year.

STATE PRISON AT SAN QUENTIN.

46th Fiscal Year. 47th Fiscal Year.

The gross maintaining cost of this prison was	$159,069 62	$154,019 81
Average number of prisoners	1,278 $\frac{1}{2}$	1,279 $\frac{3}{4}$
Cost per capita per diem	34.09 cts.	33.43 cts.
The net maintaining cost, i. e. , deducting the net earnings of the prison from the preceding gross amount, was	$142,109 62	$151,911 32
Net cost per capita per diem	30.45 cts.	32.95 cts.
The total operating cost of the Jute Mills was—
For raw material used	$105,806 03	$74,230 95
For manufacturing and running expenses	61,517 77	62,032 03
Totals	$167,323 80	$136,262 98

A net profit of $6,670 56 was made on the goods sold during the forty-sixth fiscal year, but on those sold during the forty-seventh fiscal year a loss was sustained, amounting to $12,288 45. This loss was caused by the extremely low market rates for grain bags, compelling the State Board of Prison Directors to fix a correspondingly low price on the prison bags. However, while this resulted in a loss to the prison, as a matter of fact the farmers throughout the State were greatly benefited by such a course, as it was undoubtedly the principal factor in preventing dealers and importers from forming combinations and rings, with a view to raising the price of bags, and thus thousands of dollars were saved to the farmers.

In this connection, I would respectfully call the attention of your Excellency to the law regulating the sale of our bags, commonly known as the "Ostrom Act." While this law was no doubt intended to benefit the farmers, yet its provisions are such that many of such farmers do not care to be governed by it, especially during such a financial depression as they labored under during the past two years, and the Act should be either repealed or so modified as to enable the Prison Directors to more readily dispose of bags, whenever such course should be considered best for the interests of the prison, and also to remove the features which most farmers find objectionable, such as the clause requiring an affidavit with each order.

I would also respectfully suggest that your Excellency recommend the amendment of Section 171 of the Penal Code, which now makes unlawful communication with prisoners a misdemeanor, so as to include the smuggling of opium or other narcotics and intoxicants into the prison, and make such offenses a felony, instead of a misdemeanor. At the request of the Code Commissioners, I have given them my opinion upon this subject to the same effect, and I have to-day sent them a draft of the section as in my opinion it should read after being amended.

A force of fifty-five to sixty prisoners has been employed on county road work. The road from Greenbrea station to the city limits of San Rafael is completed, and considerable progress is now made on a branch from Greenbrea to Ross Valley, and on the main road to Tiburon. These roads are quite a distance beyond the boundary lines of the prison lands, and to properly control the prisoners employed on them requires seven guards. Two of these are paid by the citizens of San Rafael, and the other five belong to our regular force. It is also necessary to continuously use for this work from six to eight horses and carts, which are furnished by the prison. This of course entails an expense upon us which would not be incurred if all the prisoners were employed within the prison grounds, and provision should be made by the Legislature to cover such extra expense.

The grounds and roads upon the prison lands are being kept in good repair and condition, and improvements are made whenever necessary.

The vigilance and discipline of the officers and guards cannot be too highly commended, and no prisoner has succeeded in effecting his escape during Warden Hale's administration of nearly six years.

A thorough system pervades all the different departments of the prison, and they have been managed in a most efficient and economical manner.

MANUFACTURERS AND PRODUCERS' ASSOCIATION.

We find it impossible to obtain any data as to the quantity of such goods (prison-made goods) imported into this State, as it is against the interests of the parties dealing therein. As to the kind of goods, we find that the convicts in the prison at Salem, Oregon, are farmed out to the Northwestern Foundry Company, to be used in the manufacture of stoves, and that a leading house in that line in San Francisco receives and sells large quantities of these convict-made stoves. Nearly all of the hollow ware sold in the United States is made by convict labor. Large quantities of furniture, the product of prison labor, are sold in this market. This is also true of boots and shoes, harness, saddles and collars, hosiery and knit goods, cigars, brooms, rattan and reed goods, farming tools, and many other articles, all of which are a standing menace to starting or maintaining the manufacture of like products in this State. The information is given by large and responsible dealers, but they decline to give the names of parties who are the real importers, for fear of getting into difficulty.

PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY.

The Preston School of Industry has now been in operation since July 1, 1894, and in that time has received 268 boys. Ten boys have been released on parole, and only one has had to be returned to the school for violating his pledge. The moral atmosphere of the school at the present time is in a very wholesome condition, and we feel that our outlook is very encouraging.

To carry on this work properly we request favorable consideration of our bills for the following purposes and for reasons as herewith stated:

First—For a Dining-Room and Assembly-Room. This building is absolutely necessary if we are to care for a larger number of inmates than we now have. At present we are utilizing the officers' dining-room and a hallway to accommodate the boys at their meals, and we have no place for assembly except the reading-room, and that is now too small to seat all the boys. By having a building with the dining-room on the first floor and the assembly on the second floor we would economize both in space and in cost of construction.

Second—For two Double Cottages. These two cottages would accommodate 200 boys. We are now caring for 226 boys in a building which was not designed to accommodate more than 125. We have to avail ourselves of every corner of the building, besides using a part of the Trades School building for lavatory, school, and dormitory purposes. This cottage, or family, plan is conceded by all of the advanced reformatory workers to be the best plan, by far, to care for children in an institution. It comes the nearest to giving to them the "home life," which is the ideal condition. It also gives to the management an opportunity to segregate the children, which is a very essential feature. By this plan an outlay of two hundred dollars per capita will build good.

substantial structures which will house the boys comfortably for years to come.

Third—For a Hospital. There are but two rooms which can now be used for a hospital, and they are so located as to endanger the entire population, both officers and boys, if any contagious disease should become epidemic. Not only this, but the amount of room needed is much greater than we now have. At the present time we are having an epidemic of the measles and are obliged to put part of the patients into a dormitory where the other boys are required to sleep every night; of course this is very undesirable.

Fourth—For Superintendent's Cottage. This is desirable for the special reason that the room now occupied by the Superintendent's family is much needed to accommodate officers who now room outside the grounds. Not only for this reason, but a cottage could be built which would be much cheaper in construction than the part of the Administration building now used, and the available portions of the building to be used for administrative purposes would be much increased.

Fifth—For Equipment of Trades School. The small amount asked is very necessary, that we may give the boys who work in these departments the proper tools with which to work.

Sixth—For a Settling Reservoir and a Steam Plant. At the present time we are conveying the water direct from the ditch to the pipe, and have no opportunity to settle the water. Our reservoir, which is four miles distant, is not adapted for settling purposes, and will fill up rapidly if we are obliged to use it for that purpose. The water is, at times, almost too dirty to use in any way except for irrigation. Again, this reservoir would serve the double purpose of a settling and a storage reservoir. At present we must needs be without power if any break occurs in the ditch, and this is often a very great inconvenience. With this reservoir we would have an opportunity to repair any part of the ditch without shutting down our power plant. The steam plant is needed for heating and also for running the electric plant when emergency requires.

Seventh—For Land, Farm Buildings, and Improvements. These items, if allowed, will help us to make our institution self-supporting, and also assist to give many of our boys a practical knowledge of farming and its kindred work.

Furthermore, we beg to say that we feel that we are entitled to especial consideration for the reasons:

1. That we are asking for an appropriation for maintenance which is much less per capita than has ever been asked before;

2. That the improvements asked for are reasonable and are absolutely needed to care for the increasing number of boys; and further, the acquiring of more land, with its necessary equipment and the erection of a refrigerating plant, will help to lessen the cost of maintenance;

3. We have had but one appropriation for improvements since the passage of the Organic Act in 1889, and have had no outside source of revenue, yet we have never asked for a deficiency appropriation and do not expect to have to do so in the future.

For more definite information of our needs we beg to refer you to page 5 of our Report.

In conclusion, we beg to say that in our opinion there is no more worthy charity and none which offers better returns than this reformatory work. In contradiction of the often heard expressions that "the work does not accomplish its desired results" we beg to say that statistics show that, without a doubt, from 75% to 90% of the boys are reclaimed to honest and honorable lives.

We invite the most careful investigation by any and all who are interested, believing that a closer acquaintance will be for the mutual interests of all concerned.

WHITTIER STATE SCHOOL.

Improvements at Girls' Department.—The main building, commenced prior to 1894, was completed, furnished, and equipped; and occupied by the girls October 1, 1894.

Of the industrial building the same is true. The company building for small girls, with accommodations for about fifty, was completed, furnished, and occupied in April, 1896.

The painting on these buildings was all done by the boys of the school.

The pipe-lines for supplying water to the Girls' Department, and also for sewage and drainage, were laid and the system completed by boys.

The grounds about buildings graded, walks and drives made and graveled, and ornamental trees, shrubs, and flowers planted, and lawns made by boys.

Shelter buildings, including small stable, poultry houses and yards, made by our carpenter boys.

Improvements at Boys' Department.—Commissary and refectory building was erected and furnished. Outside closet, cesspool, and sewage system remodeled and greatly improved.

All above-named buildings, both Boys' and Girls' Departments, were built out of appropriation made in 1893.

After new refectory building was occupied, basement of main building was repaired and remodeled, making company rooms for each company; all this latter work being done by the boys, directed by a competent foreman.

Paint shop moved and remodeled, and photograph gallery and varnish-room built by boys.

Cement walks in front of main building completed and cement floor made to court between main building and refectory building.

Equipment of Shops and Power-House.—One Westinghouse dynamo added for lighting Girls' Department and refectory building.

In the laundry one power-washer and a 96-inch mangle, besides starching outfit, added.

Thirteen benches in carpenter shop completely fitted out with hand tools, combination wood and iron lathe, one 6-inch band saw, one foot-power former and one foot-power mortising machine added.

Additional appliances for butcher shop and bakery. Small amount.

New type purchased for printing office. Small amount.

Brickyard equipped, including purchase of one team of horses, and 240,000 rough and 50,000 hand-pressed brick made and burned, ready for use. Cost about $3 per thousand.

Photograph gallery built, equipped, and operated in connection with history department.

The history department comprehends complete history of children previous to their commitment, so far as it can be obtained; a complete record of conduct, personal habits, traits, and progress while here. History of child after leaving the school, so far as obtainable.

NEEDS.

For Maintenance.—Support for forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years, including salaries..... $230,000 00

For Permanent Improvements and Equipments.—Erection of new Trades Building sufficient to better accommodate trades now taught; to permit of the addition of cannery for canning fruit raised on farm; also, foundry and machine shop, plumbing and tinning shop, sloyd school for small boys, drawing room, and gymnasium..... 30,000 00
Equipment of new Trades Building..... 15,000 00

Two new cottages, which will accommodate about fifty boys each, are badly needed to relieve present crowded condition and also to make it possible to more completely isolate different grades and ages. Erection and equipment of the same..... 20,000 00

The proper care of the sick, and the protection of those not sick, demands a hospital building separate from living quarters. This, together with a much needed Superintendent's residence, can be built and furnished for ($7,000 for hospital, $5,000 for residence)..... 12,000 00

One hundred additional acres of land for vegetables, hay, and grain would enable us to utilize boys' labor in raising much that must now be purchased, thus reducing cost of maintenance. For purchase of 100 acres of land..... 24,000 00
Five inches additional water..... 5,000 00

Two thousand dollars expended in books and periodicals well selected would be of vast benefit to the children..... 2,000 00

BOARD OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

Since the year 1894 there have been constructed in California 432.95 miles of new railroad line, making a total of 5,061.20 miles of railroad in the State. The attention and time of the Commission have been given particularly to an investigation of the affairs of the Southern Pacific Company, for the reason that this corporation controls 3,101.61 of the total mileage operated in the State. An investigation of the finances of the company, and of the rates charged for transportation of grain, with the formulation and publication of a schedule of grain rates by the Commission, was the first action taken toward a revision of the rate sheets of the Southern Pacific Company. The Commission was then enjoined by the United States Circuit Court from making other reductions which they considered proper, and in fact from reducing in any manner the charges of the company. (Reference to former report on file will give detail of subsequent proceedings.) It is claimed by the Commission that the amount which would be saved to the grain-shippers of California by this action would be equal to the expense necessary for the maintenance of this Commission since its organization. As far as the affairs of the company are concerned, the effect of the pending restraining order is to prevent this Board from performing the duties imposed by the constitutional provisions.

In the meantime, the Board has investigated and adjusted numerous informal complaints, without the necessity of a formal hearing, and has examined the rates of charges of other roads and water transportation companies, but was met by a refusal on the part of the latter to furnish necessary data. The attention of the Attorney-General was called to their action in this respect. We have examined, and were prepared to revise, the special commodity tariffs of the Southern Pacific Company. We have also investigated the classification of petroleum and its products, and have denied the petitions of companies asking for change of same for the purpose of charging higher rates. We have secured changes in wood tariff of the Southern Pacific Company on the Lodi branch. And, at the request of the last Legislature, we investigated charges made and devices used for the transportation of fruit, and recommended suitable legislation on the subject.

The Board has also inspected the line of the Southern California Railway through Temecula Cañon, upon complaint for non-operation of same, and held sessions at San Diego upon the hearing of the case. (Decision in Annual Report.)

The Board suggests that the commission system of regulation of rates, where the duties of Commissioners are specifically defined and the Board empowered to enforce all laws pertaining to the management of railroad affairs, is the only proper system of regulating the rates of carriers.

The investigation and reports of railroad accidents, the inspection and orders for the repair of dangerous portions of railway lines, the provision of suitable safety devices at the intersection of highways and street-crossings, the placing of depot stations, spurs, etc., for the convenience of the patrons of the various roads, as well as the enactment of a law compelling all transportation companies to furnish proper reports to the Commission under penalty for refusal to do so, will be some of the ideas to be formulated for presentation.

Awaiting a decision in the pending case, the Commission refrained from interfering with some of the minor roads, having reason to believe that expensive litigation would follow any attempt to make changes in their rates, and preferring to perform their duties as Commissioners by adjusting the differences arising between carriers and shippers which would be presented upon complaint.

LAKE TAHOE WAGON-ROAD.

The following is an estimate of the cost of constructing the Lake Tahoe wagon-road, including bridges, culverts, etc., commencing at the junction of the Lake Tahoe wagon-road with the wagon-road leading from Placerville to Newtown, a short distance easterly from the village of Smith's Flat:

Section No. 1. From the junction of the Lake Tahoe wagon-road with the wagon-road leading from Placerville to Newtown, a short distance easterly from the village of Smith's Flat, to Sportsman's Hall—8 miles and 8 chains—4 bridges, 20', 16', 20', and 20' long—
Grading road.....	2,600 00

All bridges to be of steel, with concrete abutments. All culverts to be of stone, arched over.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The number of students receiving instruction at Berkeley has increased from 815 to 1,500, an increase of 84%. The staff of instruction has grown from 88 to about 100, an increase of 13%. The number of accredited schools of California, inspected personally by our Faculty and privileged to send their graduates to the University without examination, has increased from 50 to 67. Last year 87 high schools applied to the University for accrediting. Inasmuch as each one of these high schools is created by the direct vote of the people in the district and supported by local taxes, their number may be taken as an exact index of the demand for higher education. Our standards of admission and for graduation have been steadily raised, in accordance with the most enlightened University policy; but we have endeavored above all things to keep closely in touch with educational conditions in California. The general library has grown from 56,000 volumes to 62,000 volumes, without satisfying more than a small fraction of the demands of the regular class-work. The number of students graduated at Commencement 1894 was 104; in 1896, 137. In addition to the routine work of instruction at Berkeley, our Faculty have, without extra compensation, conducted summer schools of chemistry and physics, have given extension courses in San Francisco, and lectures before teachers' institutes in various parts of the State. Especially has the Department of Agriculture, by means of farmers' institutes, by experiment in laboratory and field, and by a voluminous correspondence with individuals in all parts of the State, endeavored to be of direct and practical value to the people and industries of California.

The income of the University from the "one cent tax," granted in 1887, is about $15,000 per annum. It imposes a burden upon each citizen of but eight cents per year. Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Wisconsin, contribute in larger proportion toward their respective Universities.

The people of California are sending their children to the University in such numbers that the attendance of students has grown four times as fast as the University's income. Many of the classes in the most important and fundamental subjects are from three to six times as large as they should be for the most efficient instruction. Some of the most economically managed of the privately endowed colleges spend more per student than we. Harvard College spends nearly twice as much per student, annually. Our lecture rooms and laboratories are overcrowded. There is no hall in which the Freshman Class can be gathered, much less a place for a general assembly of the students. The Faculty records are insecure in a wooden building. The museum is choked with undisplayed treasures. The young women of the University, now numbering more than 600, have but the meanest accommodations.

Our claims before the Legislature two years ago were fully admitted, but had to give way before the claim, of older urgency, for an Affiliated Colleges building in San Francisco.

To keep pace with the increased demands of our people for higher education, we need not only additional buildings, to be erected at the earliest practicable time, but we need also an increase in our annual income of at least fifty per cent.

Following the noble example of Mrs. Hearst, prominent citizens of California have offered to contribute liberally toward the University, when once the stability and reputation of the institution shall be assured. Permanent building plans, upon a scale appropriate and comprehensive, are now maturing. The prospects that are revealed to us by recent developments are inexpressibly hopeful. But it is certain that the largess of private benefaction will not be forthcoming unless the State stands ready at all times to show her confidence and pride in her highest educational institution.

VITICULTURE.

There are 190,000 acres planted in vines in the State. At an average value of $175 per acre (which is about half of what land is usually rated), the sum invested in vines alone is at least $23,000,000. This does not include the value of cellars, cooperage, necessary adjuncts, etc., nor the millions of dollars' worth of wine, brandy, raisins, etc., in the hands of the merchants of the State. A conservative estimate of all the money invested in viticulture and its products is over $50,000,000.

Before the care of the viticultural interests of the State was intrusted to the University, the State had in fourteen years expended, in fostering and caring for them, $221,000, or a little over $15,000 a year. The University was allowed by the last Legislature $2,500 for doing the same work.

The entire vineyards of the State are menaced with two very fatal diseases—the "Anaheim Disease," which has already destroyed 25,000 acres of vines in Southern California; and the phylloxera, which is rapidly spreading to all the viticultural regions. Besides these two diseases there are many others, such as the "black rot," which is gravely menacing the vineyards of Europe, requiring constant vigilance on the part of competent experts.

It is important that the vine-growers be properly instructed and assisted in combating these diseases if a single vine is to be saved to the State. Neglect means the loss of fifty millions of dollars to California.

WORK DONE BY THE UNIVERSITY SINCE ASSUMING ITS NEW DUTIES.

Gave instruction to twenty-two students in practical and theoretical viticulture.

Imported and is now distributing the best improved varieties of phylloxera-resistant vines.

Introduced the latest improved varieties of wine yeasts.

Established and partly equipped a zymological laboratory for the study and propagation of yeasts, for the improvement of the quality of California wines.

Invented and successfully tested an apparatus for the cooling of fermenting wines, thus doing away with the danger of heavy annual loss resulting from "stuck tanks." This invention is free from patent royalties.

Lectures have been given by the viticultural staff in many of the vine-growing centers of the State.

Eight thousand miles have been traveled by the viticultural staff in investigating diseases and inspecting vineyards.

NEEDS FOR THE COMING FISCAL YEAR.

The viticultural staff of the United States Agricultural Experiment Station and the College of Agriculture of the University are taxed to their utmost with the work already entrusted to them. They have not had a day's vacation for many years, and if the work of investigation and instruction, country lectures, and publication is to be properly maintained, an increased appropriation is absolutely necessary. The present appropriation of $2,500 a year is wholly insufficient for the requirements of the interests at stake. It is estimated that the State can have the work properly done by availing itself of the funds of the United States Agricultural Experiment Station and an annual expenditure of $5,000. That is to say, that the Legislature should be asked for an appropriation of $10,000 for the two coming fiscal years.

YOSEMITE VALLEY AND MARIPOSA BIG TREE GROVE.

The extraordinary work performed in Yosemite Valley during the period named has been the construction of three bridges—two across the Merced River in the Valley, and a bridge at the lower end of the Valley across Cascade Creek. There was also expended $1,500 in repairing the Glacier Point Hotel, and a considerable sum in the construction of stable and corral in connection with the Stoneman House, and repairs and papering of the rooms in said hotel; also, the erection of an ice-house at Mirror Lake. In addition to the above work there were the necessary repairs and maintenance of trails and roads within the valley, painting of buildings, repairs of other bridges not mentioned above, the fencing of a 100-acre field for pasturage for the animals of campers, and the general expense of keeping the Valley in proper condition. There was also considerable work done in Mariposa Big Tree Grove in the way of annual repairs of roads, clearing away of brush and debris within the grant, etc.

The Commissioners will require the following sums during the next two years for the general care of Yosemite Valley and Mariposa Big Tree Grove, outside of the sums which may be required for the construction of new buildings occasioned by the loss of the Stoneman House, viz.:

For Yosemite Valley	$20,000 00
For Mariposa Big Tree Grove	4,000 00
For traveling expenses	3,000 00
For Guardian's salary	3,000 00
Total	$30,000 00

PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, REPRIEVES,

GRANTED BY

GOVERNOR JAMES H. BUDD,

FROM

JANUARY 11, 1895, TO DECEMBER 31, 1896.

PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, REPRIEVES,

GRANTED BY GOVERNOR JAMES H. BUDD,

From January 11, 1895, to December 31, 1896.

The subjoined list shows the total number of pardon applications from January 11, 1895, to December 31, 1896, and the action taken thereon:

Applications from Inmates of the State Prisons.

Total number pardons granted	13
Total number commutations granted	13
Term expired	25
Applications pending	52
Total number applications denied	161
Total number pardons applied for	264

Applications from Inmates of County Jails.

Total number pardons granted	11
Total number commutations granted	1
Term expired	13
Applications pending	8
Total number pardons denied	23
Total number pardons applied for	56

In the list designated "term expired," the reason that definite action could not be taken was that many of the applicants failed to comply with Sections 1420 and 1421 of the Penal Code, requiring notice to be served on the District Attorney of the county where the conviction was had that the applicant intended to apply to the Governor for a pardon or commutation of sentence.

Twelve persons were executed during this period of time, and five reprieved. Some of the reprieves were granted for a limited period for the purpose of permitting a more extended and thorough examination of the record, and of allowing a more careful investigation into the facts set forth in the petition requesting Executive clemency; and some to enable the Legislature to take action upon the suggestion that where the applicant has had his sentence commuted from death to life imprisonment in the State prison, four Justices of the Supreme Court must join in the recommendation for Executive clemency before the same can be granted by the Governor.

LIST OF PARDONS FROM STATE PRISONS.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
W. M. Lemon	Fresno	Selling liquor to Indians....	October, 1893....	3 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, This case was appealed to the Supreme Court of this State, and decided adversely to the defendant simply on the constitutionality of the law. There are a great many mitigating circumstances connected with this case. The defendant has been a man of good reputation, and had possessed the confidence and respect of the community in which he resided. His testimony is clear and positive to the effect that he did not supply the Indians with liquor. The Indians were not of that class known as "tribal" Indians, but were hop-pickers and partly civilized; and, if the facts as stated are true, the evidence of the complaining witness, John Chambers, a Constable, shows that officer not only to have been derelict in his duty, but also the principal in laying a trap to ensnare the defendant. If punishment should be meted out in this case, the evidence of this man calls for severe condemnation. Soliciting a man to commit crime has been justly commented upon in the case of Williams vs. State, 1 Am. Crim. Rep. 416. In summing up in that case the learned Judge said: "To stimulate unlawful intention with the motive of bringing them to punishable maturity, is a dangerous practice. Humanity is weak. Even strong men are sometimes unprepared to cope with temptation and resist encouragement to evil." The law making this offense a felony was passed in 1893, and the defendant had no knowledge of it. The Judge who tried the case has informed me that, with the exception of the above accusation, the defendant has always been an industrious, hardworking man, supporting his family by his daily labor. All of the jury but two—and they cannot be found—have petitioned for clemency, and reputable citizens indorse this action. Personal examination but confirms this request, and I believe that justice demands that this defendant should not be branded as a felon. January 31, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Robert Lyle	Contra Costa	Murder in the second degree.	February, 1884 ..	20 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, I am informed by the Resident Physician of the prison that the defendant is afflicted with consumption, and that his death is but a question of hours; that he has already served eleven years' imprisonment, and that his conduct as a prisoner has been exemplary, and that he has a wife and several children (who naturally desire that he should not die and be buried as a convict). That he had three trials before a conviction was obtained, evidenced doubt in the minds of the jurors. He has paid the penalty of his crime. Let his last hours be with those whose love and affection have never deserted him through the dark hours of his trials and their sorrows. This pardon was requested by Warden W. E. Hale. I do hereby pardon the said Robert Lyle, upon condition that should said defendant recover from his illness, on account of which this pardon is granted, he shall be returned to San Quentin until the legal expiration of his sentence. February 5, 1895. Died February, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Richard Wells	San Luis Obispo	Grand larceny	April, 1895	1 year.

DECISION.—Whereas, On April 1st, defendant stole a hog; that is, he shot it and took it home for meat. He pleaded guilty of grand larceny and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in San Quentin. On March 9th, I approved an Act amending Section 487 of the Penal Code, defining the crime of grand larceny, and the word "hog" was stricken from said section, which reduced the crime to that of petit larceny. While the Act does not go into effect until May 9th, it was the evident intention of the Legislature that the theft of such an animal should no longer be considered a felony.

The Judge of the Superior Court who sentenced him, and the District Attorney who prosecuted him, recommend the exercise of Executive clemency. April 16, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
C. T. Pidwell	San Francisco ..	Embezzlement	Feb. 14, 1894.....	18 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant, up to the time of the commission of the offense for which he is now undergoing punishment, bore an excellent character. He plead guilty. His term of sentence expires on the 18th instant, and his friends have procured a position for him, and there is no doubt but that his future life will be an upright and honorable one.

In response to the appeal of his numerous friends, and believing his punishment has served its purpose, I have consented to his liberation. May 16, 1895. Time shortened two days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Chas. Hansen	San Francisco ..	Burglary, first degree, and Forgery	February, 1891 ..	7 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, I am informed by the Resident Physician of the prison that the prisoner is afflicted with consumption, and that his death is but a question of a few days; that his term of imprisonment will expire in November, 1895, and that his conduct as a prisoner has been exemplary. This pardon was recommended by the Justices of the Supreme Court, as follows:

"We, the undersigned, Justices of the Supreme Court, recommend that the Governor of California grant the within application of Chas. Hansen for a pardon. August 12, 1895. W. H. Beatty, T. B. McFarland, J. Temple, W. C. Van Fleet, F. W. Henshaw." August 13, 1895. Died August 24, 1895, at county hospital, Stockton, Cal.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Pauline Murray	San Francisco...	Receiving stolen property	March, 1894	4 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant is now confined in the Asylum at Agnews, but under date of September 11th, Dr. Hatch, the Medical Director, informs me that, in his opinion, she has so far recovered as to justify her discharge from the Asylum. There is a doubt as to her knowing the goods received by her to have been stolen property. The Hon. William T. Wallace, who sentenced her, joins in the petition for her pardon, and says he "feels constrained to do so from statements which have been made to him since her imprisonment." The State Board of Prison Directors, after careful examination of the case, unanimously recommend her pardon, for the following reasons, to wit:

"First, that the Board believes that it would be a means of protecting, and perhaps saving, her two minor children; second, the Board feels that if she is returned here from the insane asylum, where she is now confined, that her mind may be permanently unbalanced; third, the petition for pardon has the signature of Judge Wallace, who sentenced her, with his reasons, in which we concur." October 25, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
E. Belmont	Los Angeles.....	Embezzlement	October, 1893.....	3 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The State Board of Prison Directors unanimously recommend the pardon of defendant for the reasons herein stated, and in which I concur, from the evidence submitted for my consideration: "The defendant does not belong to the criminal class. He is a young man of about twenty years of age, of good education and breeding, brought up under the best influences. Known as a boy of good intention, he left home for the West, ran out of money, unable to get work, and, too proud to send home for help, he yielded to temptation, and committed what appears to be his first crime. It appears that prior to the commission of the offense he had gone three days without food to eat, and was in reality driven into crime by pangs of hunger, and not through criminal or vicious instinct. It appears from the evidence of the trial Judge that he had no one to represent him at his trial. That the Sheriff erroneously informed this Judge that 'Belmont was a regular "crook," or something to that effect, and by reason of this wrong impression of character and previous history, he was given a larger sentence than he would have otherwise received.' His family are ready to take him from the State and start him in business in the East, thus affording him an opportunity to redeem himself. October 28, 1895. Time shortened about one hundred days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
George Conniff.....	Sonoma.....	Manslaughter.	October 30, 1894.	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The reasons for Executive clemency in behalf of the defendant are, in my judgment, after personal investigation of the case, ably and fully set forth in the following statement of the State Board of Prison Directors: "It appears that, on the 31st day of March, 1894, a Chinaman was sitting on a wharf on the bank of the Petaluma River, fishing, when the petitioner came along and gave him a push. As a result from this push, the Chinaman fell into the water and was drowned. It appears that the offense was more of the nature of an accident than a crime. There appears to have been not the slightest intention to take human life in the deplorable act; that the fatal termination was preceded by no quarrel or ill-feeling, but was the outcome of a thoughtless, foolish, mischievous, boyish desire to play a rude and dangerous joke, meant only to give the Chinaman a scare or a ducking. It appears that this is his first imprisonment, and also the first offense of which he has ever been accused; that his conduct has been good and praiseworthy since his incarceration; that his pardon is recommended by the Honorable the trial Judge, the two prosecuting attorneys, each one of the twelve jurymen who tried the case, and a large number of citizens of Sonoma County, who affirm they are fully cognizant of all the substantial facts in the case." The defendant has now served out his term, and this pardon is granted in the belief that this severe lesson will be of material benefit in guiding his future conduct, he being a young man, only twenty-one years of age. November 15, 1895. Time shortened two days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
J. J. Ryan.....	Humboldt.....	Burglary.....	March, 1895.....	1 year.

DECISION.—Whereas, The State Board of Prison Directors have made full investigation of the case, and state "they are fully satisfied that if the prisoner is released, he will hereafter become an honest and useful citizen." And they unanimously recommend that the Governor do pardon him, saying: "That prior to the commission of this offense, the prisoner had borne an excellent reputation as a hard-working boy, he being only nineteen years of age at the time, and the testimony shows that he does not belong to what is known as the criminal class; his pardon is urged by all of the officials of Eureka, also by the Chief of Police, Mayor, District Attorney L. M. Burnell, who prosecuted him, Hon. Frank McGowan, Sheriff Brown, and a very large number of the leading citizens of Eureka. It was also shown that the prisoner was led into the crime, while intoxicated, by an older person, and at the time of his arrest was sleeping in the saloon where the burglary was committed. The Board had the prisoner brought before them, questioned him fully as to all the facts and circumstances of the case, and were fully satisfied that if this young man is released he will hereafter become an honest, and in all probability a useful, citizen." And from independent inquiry such appear to be the facts. It also appears that but few days of the prisoner's sentence remain unserved, as he would be released by operation of law on January 10, 1896; and if any reformation is to be worked, it is necessary to now assist the young man in the right path.

I do hereby pardon the said J. J. Ryan. December 24, 1895. Time shortened fifteen days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John McAllister	Fresno.....	Burglary, second degree..	March, 1895.....	1 year.

DECISION.—Whereas, The State Board of Prison Directors have made a careful investigation of the case, and state they are fully satisfied that if the prisoner is released he will hereafter become an honored and useful citizen, and they unanimously recommend that the Governor do pardon him, saying: "It appears that McAllister was guilty more of a mere technical violation of the law than of criminal or evil intent in the taking of another's property. It appears that upon an impulse of the moment he thoughtlessly took property without the knowledge or consent of the owner thereof, with a view to reimburse or pay himself for labor performed and inadequately compensated; that upon second thought and deliberation, he took steps and desired to return the stolen property, but was prevented from doing so by a combination of unfavorable circumstances and a refusal on the part of the party robbed to accept his version of the unfortunate affair. It appears that the jury convicted him with regret and reluctance, feeling that the petitioner would in no wise be benefited by being confined with criminals and branded as a felon; but, under the law as they understood it, felt that they were compelled to render a verdict of guilty. It appears that the trial Judge, the Honorable E. W. Risley, was thoroughly impressed with the honesty of McAllister during the trial; that he was satisfied that the petitioner was not a criminal at heart, and that undoubtedly no temptation in the future could be strong enough to lead him to touch that which is not his own; that the least punishment allowed by statute was imposed by the said Judge, simply to prevent the laws of the State from becoming a farce, and as an example to the people in the community of Fresno County. It appears that the majesty of the law has been fully subserved; that the lesson sought to be inculcated by the sentence has been sufficiently emphasized, and that now the petitioner deserves some consideration for his model life prior to his violation of the law—for his praiseworthy demeanor and honesty of testimony during the trial, which so favorably impressed the Honorable Judge and jury, and also for the purpose of encouraging him in the future to live a life of rectitude. Wherefore, it is the opinion of the Board that convict No. 3481, John McAllister, is worthy of Executive clemency, and it respectfully recommends that the Governor of California do pardon him. This recommendation and these findings are approved and adopted by the affirmative vote of all the Directors present." * * * The statement of the District Attorney of Fresno County makes it doubtful if any greater crime than petit larceny was in fact committed by the prisoner. The property taken was of little value, and the proof relating to the intent to commit burglary was very weak. The Judge stated at the time of passing sentence: "I am satisfied that this prisoner is not a criminal at heart; that the confinement and mental torture already endured, pending trial, is all the correction he needs, and that when he gets out of this difficulty, no temptation will be strong enough to lead him to touch that which is not his own." Nine of the jurors who tried petitioner, and many of the leading citizens of Fresno County, join in the petition for Executive clemency. Only two days of the prisoner's term of imprisonment remain unserved.

I do hereby pardon the said John McAllister. March 23, 1896. Time shortened two days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
D. F. Morris.....	Humboldt	Forgery.....	February, 1894..	3 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, It appearing from the accompanying report from the State Board of Prison Directors that the prisoner's term will expire on the 26th day of June, 1896, only three days hence, the pardon is granted, in order that the young man, who, according to the statements of many of the best citizens of Humboldt County, prior to the commission of this offense, bore an excellent reputation in the community in which he lived, may commence the battle of life anew, with the stain of imprisonment as far removed from him as is possible under the laws of the Government, and in the belief that the act of Executive clemency will encourage him to lead an honest and upright life henceforth. The Board of Prison Directors, after a careful investigation, report as follows: "The Board recommends that the application for a pardon be granted at some date prior to the expiration of his time of sentence, for the following reasons, to wit: His petition is urged by a large number of the best citizens of Humboldt County, who state that this young man, prior to the commission of this offense, was considered a young man of good ability and integrity. Through inexperience, and being pushed into responsibility too young to fill, he does not belong to what is known as the criminal class. He has friends who will aid his steps on the right road, and his pardon would not only be a merciful act, but one that should be pregnant of good consequences to himself and to the State, in making of himself an upright man and to the State a redeemed citizen. Hon. Frank McGowan states it would only be just to him, and injurious to no one in the interest of society or the State, if he be pardoned at this time, and the stain of conviction removed as far as possible. Hon. G. W. Hunter, now Judge of the Superior Court, and who prosecuted the case against defendant as District Attorney, joins in the application, and states that this case, to his mind, is exceptional; and in order to give him a chance to wipe out the past, if possible, and gain a new start in life, 'I would be glad to see him pardoned before the expiration of his term, believing that it would be the means of enabling him to obtain employment when released and giving him courage to hold up his head and do better in the future.'" The young man has talent as a writer, and is capable of becoming a useful man hereafter. His conduct, while in prison, has been most exemplary, and by diligent ability and attention to his duties, gained the good will of the prison officials. Taking all these facts and circumstances into consideration, the Board unanimously recommended that a pardon be granted as above stated. Present: Directors DePue, Hayes, Wilkins, and Fitzgerald. Dated, San Quentin, May 18, 1896.

From Folsom Prison, on June 19th, the Board again urged the granting of this pardon, in the following letter:

"My dear Governor: At the May meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors, we unanimously recommended for Executive clemency a convict by the name of D. F. Morris. He was convicted of the crime of forgery in Humboldt County, which will doubtless be sufficient to identify him. The applicant is a young man who, previous to the commission of the crime for which he was punished, had borne an excellent character, and his conduct in person has justified the belief that he is sincerely repentant and intends to lead an honest life henceforth. His term expires on June 26, 1896, and he desires a pardon solely as a means of giving him a little better standing in society when he begins the hard task of living down his disgrace. The very best people in Humboldt County have earnestly requested that this little encouragement be given to this young man, and it is a case that has appealed strongly to all members of the Board. I trust you will examine our recommendation at once and, if possible, act upon it favorably. Yours very truly, (Signed:) Jas. H. Wilkins, Edgar J. DePue, R. M. Fitzgerald, Daniel E. Hayes."

I do hereby pardon the said D. F. Morris, on the 24th day of June, 1896. June 23, 1896. Time shortened two days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Samuel E. Dugan ---	Los Angeles ---	Assault with intent to murder -----	March, 1895 -----	----- 2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The State Board of Prison Directors have made a careful investigation of this case, and report as follows: "The Board has had this case under consideration for several months; and, after an examination of the testimony submitted, also his petition, signed by a large number of citizens of Los Angeles County, General Last, Hon. J. C. Lynch, R. F. Del Valle, and Senator Stephen M. White, who states 'While I know about this affair personally, and feel a great interest in it, he has a family dependent upon him, and has always been a decent fellow, no one was hurt, and the case seems quite plain on the side of mercy'; Judge Shaw, who presided at the trial, states that 'the defendant has borne a good reputation heretofore as a peaceable citizen, and a respectable, honest, industrious, and sober man; he has a wife and several children. I believe that it is a case where the exercise of Executive clemency by a pardon which will remit a small portion of the term for which he was sentenced'; Hon. C. C. McComas, Deputy District Attorney, states: 'I prosecuted the case against Dugan, and while it is a fact that the act committed by Dugan could not be justified by the evidence, yet it is equally true that Dugan was excited to a sudden heat of passion by what was said and done just preceding the shooting, and I am satisfied that he fired the shot under the sudden impulse of passion. I think it would be proper and right, and the ends of justice would be fully subserved, by granting him a pardon.' Taking all these facts and circumstances into consideration, the Board unanimously recommend that a pardon be granted."

The Attorney-General states, personally and in writing, that this is a proper case in which to extend Executive clemency and pardon, and it so appears to me. I do hereby pardon the said Samuel E. Dugan, on the 22d day of September, A. D. 1896. September 21, 1896. Time shortened about forty days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Ed. L. Baker -----	Los Angeles ---	Forgery -----	December 1, 1893-----	----- 14 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, On the first day of September, I referred the application of Ed. L. Baker for Executive clemency to the State Board of Prison Directors for their investigation and recommendation; and whereas, they reported to me as follows:

"CLERK'S OFFICE, CALIFORNIA STATE PRISON, }
"November 17, 1896. }

"To the Hon. JAMES H. BUDD, Governor:

"SIR: At a meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors, held at San Quentin, on the 14th day of November, 1896, Directors DePue, Hayes, Wilkins, Devlin, and Fitzgerald being present, the case of prisoner No. 15686, Ed. L. Baker, convicted of the crime of forgery, under sentence of fourteen years, from Los Angeles County, December 1, 1893, and whose term expires October 1, 1902, submitted by your Honor to this Board March, 1896, for consideration and recommendation, has been considered by the Board. The Board recommends that the application be granted for a commutation of sentence to four years from date of commitment, for the following reasons, to wit: The Board has had this case under consideration for several months, and the papers show that his conviction was had mainly on the testimony of one 'Hay,' a co-defendant, who, before his death, testified that the testimony given by him during the trial was false. This is corroborated by Hon. James McLachlan, who was District Attorney at the time of the trial. All of the members of the U. S. Grand Jury, also a majority of the petty jury, together with Hon. E. M. Ross and C. J. Dennis, U. S. District Attorney, petitioned for his release; personal letters from Hons. S. M. White, S. Lacy, H. T. Gage, Judge Carpenter, Judge Bronson, Mayor Rowan, M. E. C. Munday, John T. Gaffey, all of the members of the City Council of Los Angeles; also, H. C. Dillon, present District Attorney, and many others strongly urge his pardon, giving their reasons therefor. His conduct while in prison has been most exemplary, as is certified to by the prison officials. The Board had the prisoner brought before them, questioning him fully as to all the facts and circumstances of the case, and were satisfied that the facts as hereinbefore stated were true. Therefore, the Board unanimously recommend the above commutation of sentence.

"I have the honor to be,

"Yours respectfully,

"(Signed:) J. V. ELLIS, Clerk."

From a careful perusal of the papers presented with this application and the report of the State Board of Prison Directors, I am convinced that the petitioner is innocent of the crime of which he stands convicted. I am assured by the Attorney-General, Hon. W. F. Fitzgerald, that, after a careful investigation of the facts of the case, he arrived at the same conclusion, and for that reason requests that a pardon be granted the petitioner. Pardoned. December 7, 1896.

LIST OF COMMUTATIONS FROM STATE PRISON.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John McAuliffe ----	San Francisco --	Grand larceny	September, 1890.	----- 10 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant was charged jointly with one Smith with the crime of robbery. Smith was tried and acquitted on the ground of insanity, but the defendant was allowed to plead guilty of grand larceny. The petition for Executive clemency is signed by the ex-District Attorney and the ex-Assistant District Attorney, who prosecuted him, and fifteen Senators and twenty-eight Assemblymen, and also by Judge F. W. Van Reynegom, who passed sentence upon him, and who says he does "not know of any reason for denying Executive clemency, as the moral effect of his sentence has been served." The defendant is respectably connected, and his family are able and willing to secure permanent employment for him. Since the date of his imprisonment he has been and is now foreman of the plumbing department of the prison, and his conduct has been such as to have gained for him the confidence of the prison officials. The case has been submitted to the Board of Prison Directors, who have given it careful investigation, and who recommend a commutation to six and a half years. Sentence of said John McAuliffe is commuted to six and one half years. February 16, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Louis E. Ewing -----	Los Angeles ----	Burglary, second degree..	May, 1894	----- 2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The State Board of Prison Directors have fully investigated this case and state that "said prisoner claims that he was confined in the county jail in Los Angeles County for the period of thirty-two days, after commitment had been issued, as a witness for the People, and had the assurance of the District Attorney and Sheriff at that time that said thirty-two days would be allowed on the original sentence." The Board instructed the Clerk to forward the prisoner's communication to the Governor, calling his attention to the statement of the District Attorney and Sheriff, and if the facts above stated be true, would recommend a commutation of sentence for the aforesaid period of thirty-two days. The prisoner's statement has been corroborated by the District Attorney and Sheriff of Los Angeles County; and Warden Hale also states, under date of October 31st, that: "It was understood that his commitment would be reduced the number of days that he was detained, but unfortunately such deduction was not made. I am pleased to say that since his incarceration he has been an exemplary prisoner, and I do not think he would be classed with the criminal element." And from an independent inquiry such appear to be the facts, and that the prisoner will have served the full number of days of his sentence in case of the granting of the commutation recommended. Sentence commuted to expire December 22, 1895. December 14, 1895. Time shortened about ten days.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Patrick Connolly ...	San Francisco...	Embezzlement	June, 1893.....	2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant up to the time of his trial in this case appears to have borne an excellent character; that he is not a member of the criminal element is shown by the testimony filed in his behalf. His sentence of two years has been more than carried out, as twenty months' confinement in the county jail, prior to his incarceration in San Quentin, should, under the circumstances, have some weight in the consideration of his application for clemency; for, had he served that time within the walls of the prison, he would now be free. The following reasons of the Board of Prison Directors is a correct statement of the facts of the case: "The petition shows that, prior to the commission of this offense, he had always borne a most excellent reputation for honesty and integrity; eleven of the jurors who found the verdict joined in the petition for his pardon, the twelfth juror being now deceased. Assistant District Attorney Hinkle, who prosecuted the case, states: 'That he has not a single element of the criminal in his character or disposition, and if ever there was a case where Executive clemency ought to be exercised, I honestly think that case is Connolly's.' Judge Seawell, who presided at the case, states: 'I am satisfied that Mr. Connolly does not belong to the criminal class; that there is something about him that excited my sympathy every time I saw him. I believe that Mr. Connolly has been sufficiently punished to serve the ends of justice, and that he is a proper subject for Executive clemency.' He remained in the county jail in San Francisco from April, 1893, until his arrival at this prison, January 29, 1895, on a stay of probable cause, pending his appeal to the Supreme Court. The Board had the prisoner brought before them and questioned him fully as to all the facts and circumstances of the case, and unanimously recommend that a pardon be granted, to expire February 26, 1896." Sentence commuted. January 30, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Wm. J. Mugarrieta...	San Francisco ..	Robbery	February, 1895 ..	5 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, I am informed by the Resident Physician of San Quentin Prison that the petitioner is afflicted with consumption, and that his death is but a question of hours. Prior to his conviction for this offense he bore a good reputation, and his conduct as a prisoner has been exemplary. He belongs to a most excellent family, who are very desirous that he should not die and be buried as a convict. Hon. George H. Bahrs, the Judge who sentenced him, Hon. W. S. Barnes, District Attorney of the City and County of San Francisco, Hon. W. E. Hale, Warden of San Quentin Prison, and John J. Edgar, Captain of the Yard at San Quentin, join in the petition for Executive clemency. I hereby commute the sentence of said William J. Mugarrieta, to expire March 12, A. D. 1896, upon condition that should the petitioner recover from his illness, on account of which this commutation is granted, he shall be returned to San Quentin until the legal expiration of his sentence. March 12, 1896. Died at San Francisco, April 13, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Winnie Stanton.....	San Francisco ..	Assault with caustic chem- icals.	December, 1893..	5 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The Honorable State Board of Prison Directors, at a meeting held at Folsom, on the 14th day of February, 1896, adopted and certified to me the following recommendation: "The Board recommends that the application be granted for a commutation of sentence to two years and ten months from date of commitment, for the following reasons, to wit: The papers on file show that prior to the commission of this offense the prisoner had borne a good reputation as an honest, hard-working girl, as certified to by N. B. Williams, Esq. Since her confinement at this prison she has proved an exemplary prisoner. Hon. W. W. Foote, in a letter, states: 'That should she be released she has friends who will take charge of her.' L. W. Fulkerth, of Modesto, also states: 'That the prisoner was formerly a resident of Stanislaus County, and to the best of his knowledge had borne a good reputation.' C. J. Stenzel, the prosecuting witness, Hon. C. A. Low, the committing magistrate, Hon. W. S. Barnes, the District Attorney who prosecuted, have petitioned for her release. Ten of the jurors who served during the trial signed the petition asking for Executive clemency. John Lord Love, A. O. Colton, and S. D. Woods, Esqs., attorneys-at-law, in letters addressed to your Excellency, strongly urge her pardon, giving their reasons therefor. The Board, after a thorough examination of all the documents submitted, unanimously recommend the above commutation." I do hereby commute the sentence of Winnie Stanton, to terminate on the 1st day of April, A. D. 1896. This commutation is granted in the belief, and upon the understanding, that said petitioner will hereafter lead a respectable and upright life. March 21, 1896. Time shortened about fifteen months.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John A. Schafer.....	San Francisco...	Assault with deadly wea- pon	March, 1896.....	2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant is an old man, over sixty-five years of age, and according to the representations contained in the petition for his pardon, or commutation of sentence, had, up to the time of this unfortunate occurrence, always borne an excellent character. He has never belonged to, or affiliated with, the criminal element. Nine of the jurymen who tried him join in a request for his pardon, or a commutation of sentence. Judge Wallace, who presided at his trial, and who deservedly enjoys the reputation of not recommending clemency in unworthy cases, strongly recommends commutation or pardon in this case. Hon. Robert Ferral, A. P. Black, Assistant District Attorney of Department No. 6, and many other prominent citizens of San Francisco, have signed the petition for Executive clemency. The prayer of the petition is granted, chiefly on account of the facts discovered by Judge Wallace, which, if known at the time of passing sentence, would have changed the imprisonment to the county jail, instead of the State Prison. I do hereby commute the sentence of John A. Schafer to two years' imprisonment in the county jail of the City and County of San Francisco. May 8, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Thos. Hutchingson..	San Francisco ..	Robbery	April, 1895	Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, At a meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors, held at Folsom Prison, July 18, 1896, the following recommendation was sent to the Governor:

"His Excellency James H. Budd, Governor of California, having submitted to the Board, for its consideration and recommendation, the application for Executive clemency of convict No. 16776, Thomas Hutchingson, convicted of the crime of robbery and prior, committed to Folsom Prison by the Honorable the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco, California, to serve a life sentence, received June 15, 1895, transferred to San Quentin Prison May 18, 1896, by order of the Board.

"From the evidence submitted, the Board finds as follows:

"First—That the application for Executive clemency is recommended by the Honorable William T. Wallace, the trial Judge, William S. Barnes, the District Attorney, A. P. Black, the Assistant District Attorney, who prosecuted the case, and eleven of the jurors who convicted the petitioner. Said recommendation being based upon evidence presented since the trial, exculpating the petitioner.

"Second—It appears from affidavits presented, that there are now very strong grounds to believe that the petitioner is entirely innocent of the crime for which he is now suffering punishment, another person having voluntarily confessed to the robbery.

"Third—It appears that his parents are highly respected residents of the City of Auckland, New Zealand, who have made arrangements for his return to that country should Executive clemency be extended to him.

"Therefore, it is the opinion of this Board that convict No. 16776, Thomas Hutchingson, is worthy of Executive clemency, and it does most respectfully recommend that the Governor of California do commute his sentence from life to such time as a steamer shall leave San Francisco for New Zealand; and upon such conditions that the prison officials at San Quentin shall see that he is deported from this country, and that his transportation expenses are properly provided for to Auckland.

"Adopted, upon motion of Director Wilkins, by the unanimous affirmative votes of Directors DePue, Hayes, Wilkins, and Devlin."

I do hereby commute the sentence of Thomas Hutchingson from life to such time as a steamer shall leave San Francisco for New Zealand; and upon such conditions that the prison officials at San Quentin shall see that he is deported from this country, and that his transportation expenses are properly provided for to Auckland. Said commutation to become null and void should he, said Thomas Hutchingson, remain in this State, or return thereto. August 6, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Stephen Malaspina..	Sierra	Murder	June, 1881.....	 Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, At a meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors, held at Folsom Prison, July 18, 1896, the following recommendation was sent to the Governor:

"His Excellency James H. Budd, Governor of California, having submitted to the Board, for its consideration and recommendation, the application for Executive clemency of convict No. 342, Stephen Malaspina, convicted of the crime of murder, committed to Folsom Prison by the Honorable the Superior Court of Sierra County, to serve a life sentence, received June 16, 1881, the Board finds as follows, from the evidence submitted for its consideration:

"First—It appears that the petitioner was convicted upon circumstantial evidence solely, of a weak and imperfect nature, the connecting links being faulty, visionary, and defective.

"Second—There appears no reason why the petitioner should commit the crime. The murdered man was his friend. The petitioner had been supplying him with food, money, and other necessities, and was trying to procure work for him. There had been no quarrel between them. There was nothing to be gained by the murder. The day the killing occurred they had met as friends meet, in pleasant, social intercourse. They were seen together until after dark; the friend disappears from view; petitioner spends the greater part of the evening and night at a dance; the next morning the friend is found dead some two and one half or three miles away, and shortly after the petitioner is arrested, because he was the last one seen in company with the deceased while yet alive. From an investigation of all the evidence submitted it appears as if, under ordinary circumstances, there was much better and stronger reason to suspect other parties of committing the crime than the petitioner, a good friend.

"Third—It does not appear possible, after a careful consideration of the transcript of the testimony in the case, that the jury could have given the doctrine of reasonable doubt much weight. Trifles light as air appear to have been magnified into confirmation of guilt, strong as proofs of holy writ, against the petitioner, most of the evidence being of the slightest incriminating nature.

"Fourth—It appears that Malaspina has for the last nine years been a model prisoner, and he is one of a limited number who has merited the confidence and trust placed in him by the prison officials, he having rendered the State valuable service by his efficient and skillful superintendence of the stone-cutting work by the convicts.

"Therefore, it is the opinion of this Board that convict No. 342, Stephen Malaspina, is worthy of Executive clemency, and it does most respectfully recommend that the Governor of California do commute his sentence from life to a term of twenty-five years.

"This recommendation and these findings are approved and adopted by the unanimous affirmative votes of all the Directors present, DePue, Hayes, Wilkins, and Devlin."

I do hereby commute the sentence of Stephen Malaspina to imprisonment in the State Prison for a term of twenty-five years. September 7, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Walter Shoebridge..	Alameda	Burglary, second degree..	March, 1894	 10 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, The petition of Lucy Harnwell to the Supreme Court of the State of California, in the matter of the application for pardon for Walter Shoebridge, is accompanied by the affidavit of Dr. William M. Lawlor, the Resident Physician at the State Prison at San Quentin, setting forth the following facts: "That as such physician he has attended Walter Shoebridge, a convict, confined in said State Prison, during the time of his holding the position of Resident Physician, since November 11, 1895. The said Walter Shoebridge, No. 15897, is at present an inmate of the prison hospital, and is in a very low condition and liable to die at any moment, as he is in the last stages of phthisis, and in my opinion there is no chance of his recovery"; and whereas, the Supreme Court of the State of California have made the following recommendation:

"To His Excellency JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of California:

"We, the undersigned, Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of California, recommend that a pardon be granted to Walter Shoebridge, convict No. 15897, now confined in the State Prison at San Quentin.

"(Signed :) W. C. Van Fleet, T. B. McFarland, J. Temple, Ralph C. Harrison, Associate Justices of the Supreme Court."

I do hereby commute the sentence of Walter Shoebridge to expire September 16, A. D. 1896, upon condition that should the said Walter Shoebridge recover from his illness, on account of which this commutation is granted, he shall be returned to San Quentin until the legal expiration of his sentence. September 15, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
A. W. Campbell.....	Santa Barbara..	Burglary, first degree	May, 1892.....	13 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, At a meeting of the Board of State Prison Directors, held on April 18, 1896, the following findings and recommendations were certified to the Governor, viz.:

"His Excellency James H. Budd, Governor of California, having submitted to the Board, for its consideration and recommendation, the application for Executive clemency of convict No. 2708, A. W. Campbell, convicted of the crime of burglary, first degree, committed to Folsom Prison by the Honorable the Superior Court of Santa Barbara County, California, to serve a term of thirteen (13) years, received July 25, 1892, term to date from May 22, 1892, the Board finds as follows from the evidence submitted for consideration:

"It appears that the petitioner, while an unsophisticated boy of about sixteen years of age, left his home in Eureka, Nevada, and came to California to seek his fortune; that, while in search of employment, he unfortunately chanced to fall in with an old, hardened, and crafty criminal, named Antoine Vital, in the town of Santa Barbara; that Vital, representing himself as also looking for work, persuaded the boy to accompany him to Lompoc, by holding out inducements that they would probably be able to secure occupation at that place; that, while passing through Lompoc after dark, Vital entered a Chinese washhouse, and while therein robbed and killed a Chinaman, during which time the petitioner remained on the outside of the building awaiting Vital, without actually participating or assisting in either the burglary or murder; that, after their arrest upon the charge of murder, it became plain that neither of them could be convicted without the testimony of the petitioner; therefore, he freely turned State's evidence and truthfully told all the circumstances as they occurred; that the charge of murder was dismissed against the petitioner, and that of burglary substituted, and he plead guilty under promise by the prosecuting District Attorney that a light sentence would only be imposed. The maximum term for burglary, first degree, being fifteen (15) years, the petitioner, for his first offense, while a boy of only about sixteen years of age, was sentenced to serve a thirteen years' commitment.

"It appears that the petitioner was of good habits of life from early boyhood; of superior home surroundings and home influences; marked by all those who knew him as an exceptionally quiet, studious, industrious, truthful lad, with no vicious tendencies or criminal inclinations up to the hour he departed to seek his fortune in this State. From all the evidence presented as to the character of the petitioner, his quick repentance, his honest testimony, and frank confession upon the witness stand, whereby justice was meted out to the guilty murderer, who would otherwise have escaped punishment, it appears that the sentence imposed is an excessive one.

"It appears that the trial Judge himself says: 'If I had known, at the time, the facts of his previous history, family, associates, etc., I feel that I would have imposed a much shorter term of imprisonment.'

"It appears that Executive clemency is recommended by the trial Judge and the prosecuting District Attorney, that a pardon is strongly and earnestly petitioned by the late J. E. Jones, Governor of Nevada, Robarty M. Beatty, Attorney-General, M. S. Bonfield, Justice Supreme Court, C. K. Belknap, Justice Supreme Court, R. Sadler, Lieutenant-Governor, E. Howell, Secretary of State, and a large number of other prominent citizens of the State of Nevada, all of whom are fully acquainted with the material facts in the case, and have known the petitioner since his childhood.

"It appears that the father of the petitioner has a home prepared for his reception, and employment awaits his return upon his release.

"It appears that he has been taught a lesson he will probably never forget, and that his punishment has been sufficient to satisfy the ends of justice.

"Therefore, it is the opinion of the Board that convict No. 2708, A. W. Campbell, is worthy of Executive clemency, and it does most respectfully recommend that the Governor of California do commute his sentence from thirteen (13) years to a term of five and one half (5½) years; provided, and upon the condition, that he go immediately upon his release to the home provided by his father, and that his father do take him home.

"This recommendation and these findings are approved and adopted by the affirmative votes of all the Directors present: Robert M. Fitzgerald, Edgar J. DePue, Daniel E. Hayes, and Jacob H. Neff.

"Attest:

[SEAL.]

"(Signed:) BRAINARD F. SMITH
"Clerk Folsom Prison."

I do hereby commute the sentence of A. W. Campbell from thirteen years to six years and one half, on the condition that he immediately leave the State never to return, without the modification of this condition by the Governor of the State of California. October 16, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Benjamin Jessarnitzky	San Francisco ..	Arson, second degree	July, 1894	6 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, On the 23d day of August, 1895, I transmitted this case to the State Board of Prison Directors for their consideration, and on November 29th the same was returned, recommending a commutation of sentence, for the following reasons, to wit: "His petition is signed by a large number of respectable citizens of San Francisco, also by ten of the trial jurors. Mayor Sutro writes a personal letter in the prisoner's behalf; Dr. Wickman, of San Rafael, Dr. Hunsaker, of San Francisco, and the Resident Physician at San Quentin, certify that said prisoner is suffering from an injury of the right leg, which necessitates using crutches. Warden Hale testifies that since the prisoner's incarceration he has been unable to do any manual labor, being constantly in the hospital. Judge Murphy, who presided at the trial, states that he is informed that said prisoner is dangerously ill, and if this be true, he thinks it would be an act of humanity to either commute his sentence or pardon him. His brother-in-law, a business man in Philadelphia, writes to the Board that if said prisoner is released he is able and willing to care for him and his family. Rabbi M. S. Levy, in a communication to the Board, certifies that if a pardon be granted to Jessarnitzky, he will see that he and his family are at once sent to his relatives in Philadelphia, where they will care and provide for him. Taking all these facts and circumstances into consideration, the Board unanimously recommend a commutation of sentence." After a careful consideration of the above report, and of the report of the Resident Physician of the Prison, I was not convinced that the condition of the prisoner was such as to warrant a commutation. Since then, however, it has been reported to me that the prisoner's condition is greatly changed for the worse; that he is bed-ridden, able to take but little nourishment, and can live but a short time. Warden Hale, of San Quentin, and the Prison Directors, have repeatedly urged me to commute the sentence of said prisoner and let his people take him out of the State of California; and from all such facts, it appearing to me that this is a proper case for Executive clemency, I do hereby commute the sentence of Benjamin Jessarnitzky to imprisonment in the State Prison for a term of three years, upon the condition that he leave the State of California, never to return. This commutation to become null and void should the prisoner remain in, or return to, the State of California. November 9, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Joseph Beehan	Sonora	Grand larceny.	May, 1893	6 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, I am informed by Dr. W. M. Lawlor, the Resident Physician of San Quentin Prison, that the petitioner is afflicted with consumption, and that his death is but a question of hours. Prior to his conviction for this offense, he bore a good reputation, and his conduct as a prisoner has been exemplary. The petitioner was convicted of the crime of grand larceny, and the offense was hog-stealing. In 1895, the Legislature of this State repealed the law making hog-stealing a felony, unless the property stolen exceeds fifty dollars in value; hence, the request in this case to "permit the petitioner to die out of prison" is peculiarly forceful. Hon. S. K. Dougherty, the Judge who presided at the trial of petitioner, in a letter recommending a commutation of sentence, uses the following language: "When he got into trouble he informed no one of his relations about it, but quietly allowed the law to take its course. By this course on his part, he came before the Court like any fellow of the criminal class, and was treated upon that assumption. I have since learned that he had formerly borne a good reputation, and has, while in prison, conducted himself well. If I had been advised at the trial that the boy had been in no trouble before, and was respectably connected, I would have given him a somewhat lighter sentence." I do hereby commute the sentence of Joseph Beehan to expire November 13, A. D. 1896, upon condition that should the petitioner recover from his illness, on account of which this commutation is granted, he shall be returned to San Quentin until the legal expiration of his sentence. November 13, 1896. Died November 15, 1896.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John C. Henley -----	Humboldt -----	Murder -----	July 11, 1876-----	----- Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, At a meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors, held at San Quentin, on the 3d day of October, 1896, Directors Wilkins, Hayes, Devlin, and Fitzgerald being present, the following recommendation was sent to the Governor: "The case of prisoner No. 7069, John C. Henley, convicted of the crime of murder, under sentence of life from Humboldt County, July 11, 1876, submitted by your Honor to this Board July 11, 1895, for consideration and recommendation, has been considered by the Board. The Board recommends that the application be granted for a commutation of sentence to thirty-three years and six months from date of commitment, for the following reasons, to wit: The Board has had this case under consideration for several months, and having carefully read the testimony submitted at the trial, and the further examination of the many letters submitted recommending a pardon; also the written statement submitted by Judge J. P. Haynes, who presided at the trial, who says, 'I would have been better satisfied had the verdict of the jury been for manslaughter instead of murder. I think under the evidence that the verdict was a harsh one; the relation of the parties were friendly at the time of the killing; the parties were engaged in a social game of cards, both drinking some; the deceased became angry, threw off his coat, told Henley that he could whip him, and forthwith assaulted him, striking him with his hand and a metallic crib-board, Henley still being in his seat at the card table; Henley, under a sudden impulse of passion, if not in necessary self-defense, drew a sheath knife, which he had habitually carried for years, and immediately commenced striking his assailant, inflicting a mortal wound. In this connection it is fair to state that the deceased was a very active, athletic man, whilst Henley was so crippled in one hand and leg that he was unable to cope with him or make a successful defense. Henley has now been imprisoned to this time over twenty years—in excess of the longest term for manslaughter. I believe his punishment has been sufficient to meet the demands of justice, and that the old man should be discharged from prison.' Judge J. J. DeHaven states that he was one of the attorneys who defended Henley; the killing was done in the heat of a sudden quarrel, growing out of a game of cards, and in the conflict the deceased was the aggressor, commencing the fight by assaulting Henley with a crib-board, and in return was stabbed to death by the latter. 'I have always thought and still think that a verdict of manslaughter would have been more in consonance with the law. Henley is an old man, and at the longest will have but few more years to live, and, feeling as I do that he has been more than punished for the actual crime which he committed (if any), I earnestly urge favorable consideration of his application.' Hon. G. A. Knight, who at the time was District Attorney for Humboldt County, and prosecuted the case against Henley, states: 'Looking back now upon the trial and all the incidents connected therewith, out of court and in, I am confident that the popular feeling and prejudices had much to do with his conviction for so high a crime. Manslaughter was the crime he ought to have been indicted for, but under the pressure of public prejudice the Grand Jury found an indictment for murder. I earnestly pray that you will recommend him for a pardon, as he is an old man and in the down-hill of life, and has paid the legal penalty of his crime.' Henley, since his incarceration at this prison, now over twenty years, has always been a most exemplary prisoner, as is certified to by all the prison officials. And the Board, after a lengthy examination of said prisoner in person, unanimously recommend that a commutation of sentence to thirty-three years and six months be granted from date of commitment." I do hereby commute the sentence of John C. Henley to terminate on the 25th day of December, 1896. December 24, 1896.

LIST OF PARDONS FROM COUNTY JAILS.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John E. Davidson....	Kings.....	Assault with deadly weapon	August, 1893	16 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, In the month of August, 1893, at a regular session of the Superior Court of the County of Kings, the defendant was tried and convicted of the crime of an assault with a deadly weapon, and sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for the term of sixteen months. On the 12th day of February, 1894, Governor H. H. Markham commuted his sentence to expire February 15, 1894, conditional that he immediately be sent to school in the State of Virginia, as stated in the request for his pardon, and that he do not return to this State for a period of two years. The defendant, I am credibly informed, has partly fulfilled his promise, and has improved himself both morally and intellectually. He has been a student at the Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, and has been admitted to practice by the Circuit Court of Appeals of that State. On the 22d day of January, 1895, defendant returned to this State, and in accordance with the conditions of his commutation, the Sheriff of Kings County has given him notice to leave the State, or subject himself to be arrested. I have been petitioned to grant him an unconditional pardon, and in view of the facts presented me as to his reformation, and the possibility of his obtaining employment in an attorney's office, together with the information that his mother, a widow with a large family, needs his support, and that the natural expiration of his term will expire in a few days, I am satisfied said request should be granted. Pardoned. January 25, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Francis P. Porter....	San Francisco ..	Forgery.....	October, 1881	1 year.

DECISION.—Whereas, Hon. Robert Ferral, Judge of Department Twelve of the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco, who sentenced the defendant, states, under affidavit, that he would have signed an application for Executive clemency during the term of his sentence, the circumstances of the case warranting such action, had he been requested so to do. Over twelve years have passed since the defendant was liberated, having served full sentence. His conduct during that period has been that of a good citizen, and I believe he has earned the right to an unconditional pardon; and while the record shows conviction of a felony, the sentence of the Court was only for a misdemeanor. Under all the circumstances the pardon should be granted. Pardoned. March 21, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Mae Smith.....	Colusa	Vagrancy.....	February, 1895	125 days.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant is in a pregnant condition, and if allowed to serve her full term, her child will, in all probability, be born in prison. The Judge of the Superior Court, the District Attorney, Sheriff, and County Physician of the County of Colusa have petitioned for Executive clemency. She has now served more than a month, which seems to me to be sufficient punishment for her offense, and as further confinement is likely to endanger her health and that of her child, this pardon is granted. Pardoned. March 23, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
John Killen.....	Sacramento.....	Petit larceny..	February, 1895	3 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant plead guilty to the charge for which he was punished. It was his first penal offense, and from the statement of reliable and reputable citizens, the recommendation of the prosecuting witness, the request of the Police Judge who sentenced him, a certificate of good conduct from the Sheriff in whose charge he is, all asserting that he is not of the criminal element; that prior to the commission of this crime he bore an excellent reputation for honesty and industry, willing to work at any labor by which he could earn an honest living. His family are respectable and well-to-do people, residing in Ireland, who are desirous that he should be with them, and I am assured that his father has recently sent him a sum of money sufficient to pay the expenses of his return to his home in Ireland. I do hereby pardon the said John Killen, on condition that he leave the State. April 6, 1895.

Walter, alias Martin Aronson.	San Francisco	Petit larceny.	August, 1894	18 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, Judge Charles T. Conlon, Judge of Department Two of the Police Court of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, before whom defendant was tried and sentenced, in a letter to ex-Governor Markham, joins in the request for his pardon, and states that he believes the facts as presented in the petition for Executive clemency, by his sister, Mrs. Johanna Gibeau, to be true. The defendant is a weak-minded person, hardly responsible for his acts; has been in many insane asylums, both in Germany and America, and has been twice an inmate of the asylums of this State. His health is shattered, and from reliable information he is not likely to live out his term. His relatives in Germany are respectable and well-to-do people, who will take care of him, and relieve the State of his presence. Well-known and reputable citizens have also asked for his release. I do hereby pardon the said Martin Aronson, on condition that he leave the State. April 8, 1895.

L. D. F. McCullough.	Alameda	Obtaining money under false pretenses	January, 1895	6 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant does not belong to the criminal class. He plead guilty to both charges. His pardon is asked for by the prosecuting parties, who state: "Since his confinement in the city prison, he has lost the sight of his right eye, and is in great danger of going totally blind, unless released from said prison and an operation performed at once." This statement is corroborated by a very strong letter from Hon. George C. Pardee, Mayor of Oakland, urging the pardon. The Judge of the Police Court who sentenced him, the Prosecuting Attorney, and the Chief of Police also join in the recommendation for an immediate pardon. Pardoned. April 8, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
W. H. Buehler	Los Angeles	Inhumanity to prisoners	October, 1894	500 days, or pay a fine of $500.

DECISION.—Whereas, The evidence in this case has been carefully read. The complaining witness, on whose evidence the defendant was convicted principally, is a girl, devoid of all shame, according to her own statement, and one whose conduct, as given by herself, during the two days preceding her meeting with the defendant, stamps her as without moral decency. Her testimony was positively contradicted, as to the act constituting the inhumanity, by the defendant under oath, and she herself was impeached as to material matters by another witness on the stand.

The gist of the charge is that defendant, having the complainant, as an officer, under his charge, represented to her that he could and would prevent her return to a reformatory if she would submit to his will, and that she, in a state of fright and terror for fear of such return, and under the persuasion of the defendant, did submit.

Her own account given on the trial in evidence as to the act charged is: After they had got into the back room of defendant's drug-store, "The defendant asked me if I would submit to his will. I said, 'I did not know about that.' He said, 'You might as well.' I said, 'Well, I reckon I will have to,' and I did." This is the sole act of inhumanity as then given by the prosecuting witness. On cross-examination she admitted that she had been running around the streets on the two days preceding her going to the defendant's drug-store; that on the 26th, at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, she met a stranger, named Eckles, who asked "if I would go to his room, and I did." She then narrates her bedding with Eckles till 11 o'clock, when another stranger came in and occupied the bed with her till morning; then she met a third stranger, with whom she was all day, until she met another stranger named Lally, with whom she occupied a bed all night, and the next day went to defendant's drug-store, meeting him for the first time, and telling one Frank Cotter before she went "that she was going over to work Buehler for some dough" (meaning money), and that "if she got it she and I would go to the theater." The defendant was then a druggist, a man of "previous unblemished character in the community in which he resided, being a druggist of standing, a member of the school board, etc." On the trial he offered to prove, but the Court refused to accept the same, that the complaining witness had admitted that she had nothing against the defendant, Mr. Buehler, but that an officer was putting her up to make the charge against defendant, and was compelling her to testify against him. And now comes the complaining witness herself and swears that the defendant did not at the time charged, or ever have sexual intercourse with her, and that all her testimony charges, in so far as they in any manner reflected on defendant, were absolutely false, and that she was compelled by threats to prosecute and swear against the defendant. It is hard to conceive how, on this woman's sole evidence as to the act constituting the "inhumanity," when the same was contradicted by a man of his standing, and she was impeached by her own evidence and another witness, the defendant could have been convicted. It is almost impossible to conceive how the act charged, as set forth in the testimony given on the trial, could have constituted the "inhumanity" to her as complained of. Whatever I might have done without this woman's retraction, and whether it or the original story were true, there is but one course left, and that is to pardon the defendant. And here I wish to state that I believe him innocent of the charge made against him, and think it is his duty to prosecute those who induced this girl to prosecute him. Mr. W. N. Ryan, the Assistant District Attorney at the time of the trial of the defendant, writes me: "I think you will agree, upon an inspection of the record, that the conviction was an absurdity." I do so agree. That persecution was the aim and object of this trial, is shown by the fact that Mr. Ryan had twice refused to grant a complaint in this case, and only after repeated importunities did the District Attorney, Mr. Dillon, grant the same, believing it impossible to secure a conviction. Mr. L. S. Seaman, one of the Police Judges of Los Angeles, also doubts the justice of his conviction, and asks for Executive clemency. A petition, signed by many responsible and well-known citizens, corroborates the statements of Messrs. Ryan and Seaman, and urges that a full pardon be granted to the defendant. Pardoned. June 3, 1895.

Albert J. Conrad.....	Sacramento.....	Illegal fishing.	May, 1895	100 days.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant is a young man of twenty-one years of age, and not in any sense a criminal. His release is asked for by the Justice who sentenced him, who states that his sentence would have been much lighter had the law permitted it. The District Attorney, Sheriff, Chief of Police, and many other influential citizens have petitioned for his liberation. Believing that defendant has been sufficiently punished, the offense being committed ignorantly, without any intent to do an unlawful act, the law under which he was punished not having come to his notice. The balance of the imposed fine is remitted, and defendant ordered discharged. Pardoned. June 10, 1895.

John R. Lambert.....	Sacramento.....	Vagrancy and disturbing the peace....	March, 1895	9 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant was not in any sense a criminal. Unfortunately addicted to drinking, he was, at the instance of his father, arrested, charged with disturbing the peace, and who thought a short confinement would prove a benefit. The sentence imposed, nine months, was excessive, and the Judge who sentenced him requests his pardon on the ground of ill health, and in consideration of his agreement to lead a different life. His father, an old and respected citizen of Sacramento, assures me that employment awaits him immediately on his release, and he feels satisfied that he will reform. He has already served over three months, and realizes his position. The petition is numerously signed by leading officials of the city and county and other influential citizens, all of whom believe that he has been sufficiently punished, and that the ends of society and justice will not be subserved by further punishment. Pardoned. June 27, 1895.

Jane Anderson.....	San Francisco ..	Selling liquor without license	June, 1895.....	100 days.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant is represented to me by well-known and reputable citizens as being a sober, industrious woman; the mother of four minor children, who are dependent upon her for support. The Prosecuting Attorney, Mr. John T. Dare, is satisfied that she has been sufficiently punished, and joins in her application for pardon, as does also the Police Judge, H. L. Joachimsen, who sentenced her.

The fine inflicted was in accordance with law, and could not be lessened by any act of the Judge. The character of the defendant warrants clemency, and, believing with her petitioners that she has made sufficient atonement for her misdemeanor, I grant her this pardon. July 17, 1895.

Laura Haven	Yuba	Vagrancy	October, 1895....	6 months.

DECISION.—Whereas, Defendant is a girl of nineteen years of age, and her release is asked for by the Sheriff, Superior Judge, Police Judge, Deputy District Attorney, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, County Physician, and the Grand Jury of Yuba County, on the grounds of her advanced pregnancy, and the lack of all accommodation in the county jail for a person in her situation. The County Physician states under oath: "The county jail is no fit place for her in her present condition, and if she be detained therein much longer, not only her own life, but that of the child she is carrying, will be endangered. Neither is there any accommodation or fit place for her in our county hospital. In the interest of common humanity, she ought to be liberated at once." By order of Hon. E. A. Davis, Superior Judge, the report of the Grand Jury has been forwarded me, and the following excerpt of the state of the jail is here given: "The jail is in very bad condition, the bottom of the iron cells so badly decayed that great holes are broken through the floor, which open into what seems to be an old sewer, which connects with the cesspool of the jail. This is dangerous to the lives of the prisoners." They further recommend: "To his Excellency, the Governor of the State, that he at once pardon Laura Haven, now confined in our county jail for vagrancy," for reasons set forth in the petition presented in her behalf, the substance of which is herein stated. Pardoned. December 21, 1895.

Thos. Upson	San Francisco ..	Selling a lot- tery ticket ..	January, 1896 ...	6 months and fine of $300.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant up to the time of his trial in this case always bore an excellent character; that he is not a member of the criminal class is shown by the evidence in his behalf. The petitioner declares in his application for Executive clemency that "if pardoned it is my intention to at once depart from San Francisco and to devote all my energies for the balance of my life in the pursuit of lawful and legitimate business." A notice of the intention of petitioner to apply for a pardon was served on Charles A. Low, Judge of the Police Court, Department No. 4, Wm. M. Madden, Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court, Department No. 4, Hon. George H. Bahrs, Judge of the Superior Court, Department No. 12, W. S. Barnes, Esq., District Attorney of the City and County of San Francisco, more than ten days ago, and none of the within-named gentlemen have written a single word of protest against the granting of said application. And whereas, the petitioner is a young man, and this is his first conviction; under all of the circumstances of the case, as represented to me by Senator Bert and others, I consider a fine of three hundred ($300) dollars, and forty days' imprisonment in the county jail, a sufficient punishment in this case. I do hereby commute the sentence of Thomas Upson to expire February 18, A. D. 1896, upon the payment of three hundred ($300) dollars, the amount of said fine. February 17, 1896.

REPRIEVES OF SENTENCE.

William Leary	Monterey	Murder in first degree	March 29, 1895.....	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant was sentenced to be hanged March 30, 1894. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, which affirmed the decision of the lower Court, and defendant has now been re-sentenced to be hanged March 29, 1895. Petition for a hearing in this case has been presented to me. Not having been able to review the testimony in the case, and being desirous of possessing a thorough knowledge thereof—particularly so as life is involved—and to enable me to examine the same with care and judgment, believing that justice will not be disturbed by such act, I have respited the defendant until Thursday, April 11, 1895. March 25, 1895.

Rico Morasco	Solano	Murder, first degree.....	April 11, 1895	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, Petition for a hearing in this case has been filed. Ex-District Attorney George A. Lamont and others desire to be heard in the case, and, unwilling that a case involving the death penalty should be hurried, and believing that every person directly interested in so important a cause should be heard, I do, for that purpose, reprieve the defendant until the 3d day of May, 1895. April 6, 1895.

Anthony Azoff.....	Santa Cruz.....	Murder, first degree		Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, Application for a hearing in this case has been made by attorney for defendant, who states in an affidavit that he has “other and further proofs which are very material and important, and which he is desirous of bringing before me.” And further, not having been able to examine the testimony in said case, and desirous of being thoroughly informed therein, and anxious to give a full hearing to any new proofs that may be submitted, particularly so in a case involving the death penalty, I have granted a respite until the 6th day of June, for purposes of such investigation. I do hereby reprieve the execution of the said sentence until the 6th day of June, A. D. 1895. April 22, 1895.

Rico Morasco	Solano	Murder, first degree	April 11, 1895.....	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, On April 6th I granted a reprieve until the 3d day of May for a hearing in this case. The attorneys on the part of the defendant were unable to appear before me at the time set therefor, and on the third appointment, failure on my part prevented a meeting. Since then a letter from Mr. James A. Devoto, attorney for defendant, has reached me, informing me that he can produce the testimony of about twenty reputable residents of Vacaville to the effect that the prisoner was not of sound mind at the time he committed the crime. This statement places me in an embarrassing position, inasmuch as, if I refuse to hear such testimony, I will be accused of having been devoid of all human feelings, and consented to the execution of an insane man. I will not be so placed, and therefore again respite the defendant, that this testimony may be laid before me, that I may judge its character and ascertain whether it be worthy of consideration in the final adjudication of the case. I do hereby reprieve the execution of said sentence until the 7th day of June, 1895. May 1, 1895.

Patrick J. Collins ...	San Francisco ..	Murder, first degree	March, 1895	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant's attorney claims he can furnish proof sufficient to warrant commutation of sentence, and asks for a hearing. The testimony in this case is voluminous, consisting of about five hundred pages of typewritten matter, and which I have not as yet been able to fully review. A crime involving the death penalty demands a full investigation, and I am desirous it should be had, and therefore grant this respite for the purpose asked for. I do hereby reprieve the execution of said sentence until the 7th day of June, 1895. May 1, 1895. Executed June 7, 1895.

Anthony Azoff	Santa Cruz	Murder, first degree		Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The execution of said Anthony Azoff is reprieved until the 7th day of June, 1895, at which time the sentence will be put into effect. June 2, 1895. Executed June 7, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Rico Morasco	Solano	Murder, first degree	April 11, 1895	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The District Attorney who prosecuted the defendant, and who has no personal interest in the case, urgently solicits Executive clemency therein. He states that at the trial he did not ask the jury for a verdict involving the death penalty. The defendant is an exceedingly weak-minded man, barely responsible for his acts, and at the time of his trial he had neither money nor friends to aid him. He does not belong to the criminal class. Mr. E. D. Perkins, an ex-Sheriff of Solano County, and formerly Captain of the Guard at San Quentin, was also the officer who conveyed the defendant to the State Prison. He has had many years of experience among criminals, and writes me: "I feel it my duty to urge a commutation of Rico Morasco's sentence, for the following reasons: He is nearly an imbecile, being weak in mind and body. He is not even aware that he has been sentenced to be hung." Mr. Gregory, a resident attorney at Fairfield, corroborates the above statement, and says: "If the testimony of the witnesses with whom I have talked had been gotten before the jury, he would not have been convicted of a capital crime. I think the ends of justice would be subverted by commuting his sentence to imprisonment for life." The present District Attorney, Mr. Frank R. Devlin, states that, while not connected with the case, he was present during the greater part of the trial, and is of the opinion "that the ends of justice could be fully met were his sentence commuted to life imprisonment." Hon. E. D. Ham, the presiding Judge who sentenced him, writes me: "His manner while on the witness-stand, and during the course of the trial, convinced me that the ends of justice would have been subverted had the jury returned a verdict of 'guilty of murder in the first degree, with the penalty of life imprisonment attached.'" A petition numerously signed by old and respected citizens of Vacaville and Fairfield earnestly asked for a commutation. A careful revision of the testimony satisfies me that in this instance the execution might be stayed, and I therefore reprieve the defendant until March 1, 1897. The reason for so lengthy a reprieve is owing to my intention to recommend to the next Legislature the passage of a law which shall prevent the pardon of a criminal commuted from the death penalty to life imprisonment, without the concurrence of a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court, as I believe can be done under the manner of regulating applications for pardon under Article VII of our Constitution, and no Governor would ignore such a law. I do hereby reprieve the execution of said sentence until the 1st day of March, 1897. June 2, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Freemont Smith ...	Colusa	Murder in the first degree..	May, 1894	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The evidence in this case is entirely circumstantial, and the verdict of the jury calling for the death penalty undoubtedly rested on the testimony of Mr. Thomas Price, a microscopical expert, as to whether the blood stains found on the defendant's clothing came from a person or a hog. He testified that the blood was consistent with that of human blood, and inconsistent with that of a hog. From a careful review of the testimony I am convinced that such evidence influenced the verdict as stated. I have submitted portions of the same clothing, furnished me by the District Attorney, to two well-known, reputable microscopists of San Francisco, Dr. D. W. Montgomery and Dr. Alfred Abrams, whose knowledge in this line and in whose judgment and integrity I have implicit faith. They have carefully examined the same, and report their inability to prove the stains to be of human origin, but are still pursuing their investigations. I also desire further tests to determine the true character of these blood stains. The defendant is a poor man, without means to aid in his defense, and apparently without friends capable of assisting him. For the reasons above stated I believe the defendant should be respited. I therefore grant a reprieve until Friday, the 9th day of August, 1895. June 5, 1895. Executed August 9, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
William Leary	Monterey	Murder, first degree	March 29, 1895....	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, A petition numerously signed by leading citizens of Monterey County has been presented to me for a commutation to imprisonment for life in behalf of the defendant. While I do not now feel justified in acceding to the request, I am satisfied from the statement made to me by the prison officials that the condition of defendant, both physically and mentally, warrants a respite until I can give his case a more thorough investigation. The officer who has him in charge, and who sees him daily, says that he is slightly childish and partially paralyzed in one limb. The Warden informs me that Dr. Mansfield, the Prison Physician, corroborates that statement. His extreme age, seventy-six years, doubtless is the cause of his childishness. Under these circumstances I do not think that justice will suffer by a further respite. I do hereby reprieve the execution of said sentence until the 27th day of December, A. D. 1895. December 9, 1895.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
William Leary	Monterey	Murder, first degree	March 29, 1895	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, The defendant was sentenced to be hanged March 29, 1895, but was reprieved March 25th until April 11th, and again on April 9th further reprieve was granted until December 27, 1895, for the reason: "That the condition of defendant, both physically and mentally, warrants a respite until I can give his case a more thorough investigation." A petition, numerously signed by leading citizens of Monterey County, was also presented, asking for a commutation to life imprisonment, founded on the same reasons. The officer having him in charge stated that he was slightly childish, and partially paralyzed in one limb, and the Warden informed me at the time that the then Resident Prison Physician, Dr. Mansfield, had corroborated the official's statement. Owing to his advanced age, coupled with the above-mentioned statement of his condition I reprieved him until December 27th, so that I could possess a thorough understanding of his case. Sufficient time has now elapsed in which full opportunity has been given me to thoroughly investigate defendant's condition. Under date of December 8th, the Warden has forwarded me a certificate from the now Resident Physician, Dr. W. M. Lawlor, as follows: "This is to certify that I have given William Leary, prisoner No. 15761, a careful examination as to his physical and mental condition. I find that, owing to his age—seventy-six past—his mental faculties are very much impaired, and his physical condition is exceedingly poor." The extreme age of the defendant, and his feeble mental condition, is of such a character as to render him, to a great extent, oblivious to his situation. I therefore deem it proper to extend his reprieve until March 1, 1897. This lengthy reprieve is owing to my intention to recommend to the next Legislature the passage of a law which shall prevent the pardon of a criminal commuted from the death penalty to life imprisonment, without the concurrence of a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court, as I believe can be done under the manner of regulating applications for pardons under Article VII of our Constitution. I do hereby reprieve the execution of said sentence until the 1st day of March, A. D. 1897. December 17, 1895.

Paulo Kamaunu	El Dorado	Murder, first degree	February 7, 1896	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, Hon. Henry E. Cooper, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Hawaiian Government, in behalf of that Government, has requested as follows: "This Government is without information regarding the circumstances surrounding the case, and as to whether the man had adequate representation by counsel, and therefore would ask that a suspension of sentence be allowed until it can be informed upon these points." And whereas, such requests between Governments, relating to imprisoned citizens, are carefully weighed, and honored where possible, and firmly believing that no injustice to the State will result from granting such request, I therefore grant a respite for the purpose asked until June 19, 1896, upon which day said sentence shall be executed, unless otherwise ordered. I do hereby reprieve the execution of the said sentence until the 19th day of June, 1896, upon which day said sentence shall be executed, unless otherwise ordered. April 3, 1896. Executed June 19, 1896.

DECISION.—Whereas, Cæsar Cummings was sentenced to be executed on the 3d day of December, 1895, and said judgment being affirmed by the Supreme Court of this State, and said Cæsar Cummings being resented to be executed on the 25th day of September, 1896. The Judge of the court in which conviction was had failed to comply with the law (Penal Code, 1218), requiring him, immediately after such conviction, to transmit to the Governor a statement of the conviction and judgment, and of the testimony at the trial, and the same was not so transmitted until a few days since, when called for by me; and whereas, the law evidently contemplates that the Governor shall familiarize himself with said evidence when an application for commutation is made; and whereas, a petition signed by a great number of citizens of the county in which the defendant was convicted asks for his commutation; and whereas, there are matters connected with the said crime that I deem it my duty to investigate before execution of the said Cæsar Cummings, I do hereby reprieve the execution of the said sentence until the 30th day of October, 1896, upon which day said sentence shall be executed, unless otherwise ordered. S. D. Worden.....	Yolo	Murder, first degree	December 18, 1896.....	Death.

DECISION.—Whereas, S. D. Worden was sentenced to be executed on the 12th day of February, 1896. Whereas, said case was appealed to the Supreme Court of California, and the judgment of the lower court being affirmed, said defendant was resented to be executed on the 18th day of December, 1896; and whereas, owing to the great amount of testimony and evidence as to insanity which the attorneys for defendant desire to present for my consideration, and to the further fact that my time is now largely occupied in attending to official duties connected with the incoming Legislature, and in order to enable me to give this case the attention necessary to arrive at the knowledge of the facts, such as will justify me in passing upon the merits of the application, and in view of the fact that I intend, in my message to the Legislature, to recommend legislation which will restrict the pardoning power in cases where the petitioner's sentence has been commuted from death to life imprisonment, I do hereby reprieve the sentence of S. D. Worden until June 4, A. D. 1897, when said sentence shall be executed, unless otherwise ordered. December 5, 1896

REPORT

OF THE

STATE CONTROLLER.

CONTROLLER'S DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, December 15, 1896. }

To HON. JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of California:

SIR: In accordance with Section 433, Political Code, I have the honor to submit herewith my report for this department for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years, ending June 30, 1895, and June 30, 1896, respectively, embracing exhibits showing the receipts and disbursements in support of the State government, the condition of the several funds of the State Treasury, and giving other information of a public nature properly appertaining to the revenues of the State. The various transactions are shown in detail, and I have endeavored to explain the object of each particular fund, its sources of revenue, and the expenditures therefrom, in a manner that will admit of no mistake in the mind of the intelligent reader.

It is made the duty of the Controller to suggest plans for the improvement and management of the revenues, and it is a source of gratification to me to state that many of my former recommendations have met with legislative and executive favor and have become incorporated in our laws. The few suggestions I have to make in this report appear in their proper places, and I trust will meet with your commendation.

STATE TREASURY.

The following comparative exhibits show the Controller's ledger balances in the several funds, the amount of outstanding Controller's warrants and balances, the aggregate of which shows the total amount of money in the State Treasury at the close of the fiscal years, June 30, 1894, June 30, 1895, and June 30, 1896; also, the increase or decrease in the amount of money in the State Treasury at the close of each, as against that of the former fiscal years.

FUNDS.

Statement No. 5 of the Appendix shows in detail the condition of the various funds at the end of the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years. The following presents a review of the principal funds:

GENERAL FUND.

All moneys received in the State Treasury, not specifically appropriated to other funds, are apportioned to the General Fund. Its principal revenue is derived from a tax on real and personal property. From this fund the ordinary expenses of the State government, other than for school purposes, are met.

The following statements show the receipts into and disbursements from the General Fund for each of the two fiscal years:

On September 1, 1894, there remained in the General Fund a balance of but $37,307 62 to meet necessary expenditures until the first installment of State taxes should be paid into the State Treasury the following December. In order that expenses might be met and the creditors of the State paid in cash, I transferred from other funds to the General Fund the sum of $710,000 during the month of September, and during the month of November, $150,000 additional, which proved sufficient to meet all demands until the General Fund was replenished. On May 1, 1895, the General Fund was overdrawn to the extent of $96,434 30, and again, on August 1, 1895, to the amount of $146,754 87, and this condition continued until the following December, when the situation was relieved by the incoming first installment of State taxes.

It was to such a condition of affairs that I called particular attention in my last biennial message, and suggested a remedy therefor. I wish to again urge upon the attention of the Legislature the absolute necessity of providing sufficient revenue to meet the appropriations made, and in the case of large appropriations for special purposes, to make them available after the first of January following their enactment.

The General Fund is now in a most healthy condition, and should not be allowed to again become exhausted. As shown in the foregoing summary, the balance in the fund June 30th last was $2,557,290 10, and at this writing there still remains a heavy balance.

STATE SCHOOL FUND.

The revenue for the support of common schools arises from property tax, poll tax, and a tax on collateral inheritances; from interest upon unpaid principal due from sales of lands granted by the General Government to the State for educational purposes, known as State school lands; from interest on bonds held in trust by the State for the support of common schools, and from the sales of Geological Survey Reports. The money arising from all these sources is known as the State School Fund. The Controller is required by law to report, on the first Monday in January and July of each year, to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, a statement of the securities belonging to the School Fund, of the moneys in the State Treasury subject to apportionment, and the several sources from which they accrued.

The money is apportioned by the Superintendent and paid out upon Controller's warrants, issued upon presentation of the Superintendent's drafts, in favor of the several County Treasurers.

The amount necessary to be raised for the State School Fund by an ad valorem tax is $7 for each census child between the ages of five and seventeen years, which census is reported to the Controller by the Superintendent of Public Instruction on or before the tenth day of August of each year.

For the forty-sixth fiscal year the tax levy for school purposes was $2,057,279. The amount actually collected was $2,235,638 84, of which $80,913 61 was taxes collected from railroads for the years 1886 and 1887. From other sources the receipts were $594,357 82.

For the forty-seventh fiscal year the amount levied was $2,195,459. The amount collected was $2,320,270 08, of which $80,284 34 was railroad taxes for the year 1887. Other receipts amounted to $722,530 07, making the aggregate receipts for the year $3,042,800 15. The amount apportioned to the counties was $3,037,933 45, an amount equal to $9 40 for each school child.

The census returns for 1896 made by the County Superintendents, and reported to me by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, give the aggregate number of school children of the requisite age as 330,709. The amount necessary to be raised by the tax levy for school purposes for each of the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years is $2,314,963. Following is a table showing the amounts expended annually from the State School Fund for the past seventeen years :

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1880.....	$1,516,123 83

Since the issuance of the Controller's last biennial report county bonds held in trust for the support of common schools have been redeemed to the amount of $331,600. During the same time county bonds were purchased to the amount of $287,000. The decrease in bonds held in trust for the support of common schools is therefore $44,600.

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND.

This fund is intended to meet the interest due on the outstanding Funded Debt Bonds of 1873, held in trust by the State Treasurer for the benefit of the State School Fund and the University Fund, and also the interest due at the rate of 6% per annum on the sum of $79,750, belonging to the Endowment Fund of the State University, but by mistake withheld therefrom and appropriated for other State purposes. The amount required annually to meet these payments is $141,435, which the State Board of Equalization is directed to raise. All moneys remaining in the State Treasury to the credit of this fund on the 3d day of January each year, after the payment of the interest due, the Controller is directed to transfer to the General Fund. Following is a statement of the receipts and disbursements:

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND.

Receipts.

Balance from forty-fifth fiscal year	$62,037 02

OTHER FUNDS.

The condition of the remaining funds is fully set forth in the Appendix, Statement No. 5.

THE STATE DEBT.

The condition of the State debt remains the same as last reported. State Funded Debt Bonds of 1857 to the amount of $4,500, and those of 1860 to the amount of $500, are still outstanding. They are undoubtedly lost or destroyed. The outstanding Funded Debt Bonds of 1873 are all held in trust by the State for the State School and University Funds. They amount to $2,277,500, and interest at the rate of 6% per annum is paid semi-annually in January and July of each year.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

As may be seen by reference to the statement of receipts into the State School Fund, the amounts derived from this source have been steadily increasing since the approval of the Act. In the forty-fifth fiscal year the receipts were $1,365 26, in the forty-sixth fiscal year $32,787 70, and in the forty-seventh fiscal year $102,599 70. Much of the tax is paid under protest, as it is claimed the law is unconstitutional, and the question is now being tested in the courts.

In the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco, Judge Slack decided that all bequests of less than $500 in amount were not subject to the tax, basing his decision on the decision of the New York Court of Appeals (112 N. Y. 102), on a statute almost identical with our own. Upon learning of this decision of Judge Slack, I referred the matter to the Attorney-General, who agreed with the Judge in his construction of the law.

WARDS OF THE STATE.

Attention was directed in my last report to the enormous amounts being expended by the State in the care of aged persons in indigent circumstances, and I recommended that the law be repealed and the expense be hereafter borne by the counties, where it properly belongs. The repeal of the law was one of the first acts of the last Legislature, and the result has been a saving to the State of half a million dollars annually. I am advised, however, that an effort will be made during the coming session to reenact this law, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the effort will meet with failure. The County Boards of Supervisors are the proper officials to look after such matters, and are much more careful and economical in their expenditures when all the money comes from the County Treasury and they cannot look to the State for reimbursement.

The amounts expended by the State for the care of orphans, half-orphans, etc., continue to increase with alarming rapidity, and some safeguards must be thrown around this law, if we are to keep within the bounds of reasonable economy. During the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years $675,378 79 was paid out for this item, a portion of which is properly chargeable to prior fiscal years.

My estimate of the amount required for this purpose during the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years is $675,000.

RAILROAD TAXES.

In my last biennial report I gave a history of the reassessment of certain railroad properties for the years 1880 to 1885, both inclusive, made by the State Board of Equalization in August, 1893, in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature, approved March 23, 1893.

In August, 1894, the State Board, acting under the provisions of the same law and in accordance with the opinion of Attorney-General Hart, reassessed the following properties for the years 1886 and 1887, viz.: The California Pacific Railroad, Central Pacific Railroad, Northern Railway, San Pablo & Tulare Railroad, and the Southern Pacific Railroad; and for the year 1887, the South Pacific Coast Railroad. At the time this assessment was made, the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco had rendered a decision in favor of the State in the cases of People vs. The Central Pacific Railroad Co., People vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Co., People vs. California Pacific Railroad Co., People vs. Northern Railway Co., People vs. San Pablo & Tulare Railroad Co., and People vs. South Pacific Coast Railroad Co., involving the taxes on the original assessments of said roads for the year 1887. This decision held the original assessments for the year 1887 to be valid, and gave judgment in favor of the State for the face value of the tax, interest, penalties, costs, and attorney's fees. Upon rendition of this decision the railroad companies appealed the cases to the State Supreme Court, and, pending the decision on appeal, the first installment of taxes under the reassessments, amounting to $385,691 14, became due and were paid by the railroad companies.

On January 6, 1895, the Supreme Court of the State affirmed the judgments of the lower court in the six cases, as to the following amounts:

People vs. Central Pacific Railroad Co.: State and county taxes, $295,740 71; penalty, $14,786 95; counsel fees, $22,180 56; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1893, at 7% per annum, until paid.

People vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Co.: State and county taxes, $251,134 26; penalty, $12,556 66; counsel fees, $18,835 06; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1893, at 7% per annum, until paid.

People vs. San Pablo & Tulare Railroad Co.: State and county taxes, $11,886 85; penalty, $594 32; counsel fees, $891 51; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1895, at 7% per annum, until paid.

People vs. California Pacific Railroad Co.: State and county taxes, $37,015 45; penalty, $1,850 75; counsel fees, $2,776 16; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1893, at 7% per annum, until paid.

People vs. Northern Railway Co.: State and county taxes, $41,483 45; penalty, $2,074 15; counsel fees, $3,111 25; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1893, at 7% per annum, until paid.

People vs. South Pacific Coast Railroad Co.: State and county taxes, $10,178 48; penalty, $508 91; counsel fees, $763 39; costs, $42 16; with interest on the foregoing amounts from February 3, 1893, at 7% per annum, until paid.

On February 15, 1895, upon motion of counsel representing the railroad companies, the trial court entered partial satisfaction of the judgments in the cases of the Northern Railway, San Pablo & Tulare Railroad, California Pacific Railroad, and South Pacific Coast Railroad, in the following amounts respectively, to wit: $8,192 36, $2,821, $14,757 78, and $3,018 01, all as of the 22d day of November, 1894, these being the payments and date of payment, made on account of the first installment of State and county taxes on the alleged reassessment of said railroads heretofore noted. On the following day final payment was made of the remainder of the judgments, as follows: Northern Railway, $39,166; San Pablo & Tulare Railroad, $10,741 52; California Pacific Railroad, $27,378 03; and South Pacific Coast Railroad, $8,585 48; together with attorneys' fees and interest thereon, amounting to $8,617 30.

The two remaining companies, the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, sued out writs of error to the United States Supreme Court, and, pending the final determination of these suits, the second installment of taxes on the reassessment for the year 1886 became due and were paid on April 27, 1895. Tender was also made on the same date to the Treasurer and also to the Controller by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of $77,677 12, and by the Central Pacific Railroad Company of $102,935 71, being the amounts due from said companies as the second installment of State and county taxes upon the alleged reassessment of their properties by the State Board of Equalization for the year 1887; but, acting upon the advice of Attorney-General Fitzgerald and special counsel, Langhorne & Miller, these amounts were not accepted.

The decision of the United States Supreme Court did not disturb the judgments of the State courts, and on June 8, 1896, after securing from the trial court a partial satisfaction in the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of $76,710 16, and in the case of the Central Pacific Railroad Company of $102,935 71, these being the amounts paid on November 22, 1894, by said companies to the State as the first installment of State and county taxes on the alleged reassessment of said railroads for the year 1887, the remainder of the judgments were fully satisfied, paid, and discharged.

All of the payments referred to in the foregoing account are itemized and fully set forth in Statements Nos. 10, 11, and 12, of this report.

This closes the final chapter in the history of the railroad tax cases, and it is a matter of congratulation that this question, which has dragged its slow length along for so many years and has been the subject of so many bitter attacks, both in and out of the courts, has been finally determined in the State's favor.

DELINQUENT RAILROAD TAXES.

The State and county taxes due upon the assessments of the rolling-stock of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, made by the State Board of Equalization for the years 1894 and 1895, are delinquent and remain unpaid.

The State and county taxes due upon the assessment of the California & Nevada Railroad, made by the State Board of Equalization for the year 1895, are also delinquent and unpaid.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 3670, Political Code, action has been begun against each company for the taxes of the respective years.

REVENUE LAWS.

It is currently reported that an attempt will be made during the coming session to again amend our revenue laws. If this be true it is to be deplored, and I sincerely trust the attempt will not be successful. The continual change to which the revenue law is subjected at every session of the Legislature results in a confused condition of affairs that militates strongly against its efficiency and endangers the validity of assessment and collection. In some respects our system of taxation could be simplified and strengthened, but we shall never gain the desired end by pursuing the course that now finds expression in our Legislature. The revenue system as it now exists is set out in the Political Code in Sections 3607 to 3900, inclusive, and these sections so impinge and depend upon one another that by disturbing one section others are affected thereby. This fact, however, does not seem to impress itself upon the mind of the average legislator, and as a result, instead of concerted action looking to a systematic revision of the law, a flood of bills is introduced into each house, each bill amending, repealing, or enacting some certain section or sections of the revenue law without regard to the effect their enactment may have on other portions thereof. The revenue law, to be effective, must be general in its application; every county, and city and county, should assess, equalize, levy, and collect its taxes, whether on real or personal property, at the same time and by the same officers, and the compensation of these officers should be fixed on the basis of the number of inhabitants of the county in which they serve. For years many of our counties, and cities and counties, worked under special laws relative to their revenue—laws passed before the new Constitution went into effect—and it has been my endeavor since my incumbency of this office to bring the entire State under one general revenue system. In this I have been entirely successful, save in the case of compensation, which is governed by the County Government Act.

During the last session an attempt was made, at my suggestion, to create a commission, the members thereof to be appointed by the Governor, to revise the revenue laws and report a bill to the Legislature before its close. This attempt was defeated, but the Assembly, by resolution, appointed a special committee, consisting of three of its members, to report such a bill. This committee labored diligently and intelligently at their task, but the time was too limited. However, much good was accomplished, as it was a step in the right direction, and the bill reported by them became a law. With a few minor amendments, which I shall incorporate in a bill and have introduced at this session, the system as it now stands will work smoothly and effectively.

In revising the law during the last session a marked change was made in the system of disposing of property for non-payment of taxes. Heretofore, the delinquent property has been offered for sale by the Tax Collector at public auction, and, in case there was no purchaser who would take the land and pay the taxes and costs due, it was then struck off to the State. Under the present law all delinquent property is struck off to the State, and heavy penalties attached to its redemption. Under the old law, one year was allowed in which to redeem, and at the expiration of that period the State was entitled to a deed to the property, after first serving notice on the owner. Here, however, the old law stopped, and no officer was authorized to serve notice or apply for a deed on the part of the State, and, in consequence, the State could secure no title to the delinquent property. Under the present law, property sold to the State, and remaining unredeemed for a period of five years, is deeded to the State by the Tax Collector, and it then becomes optional with the Controller to authorize the Tax Collector to advertise and sell such property to the highest bidder, provided the bid shall be for not less than the amount of taxes and accrued interest, costs, penalties, and expenses.

A section of the new law provided that "in all cases where land has heretofore been sold to the State for delinquent taxes, the deed therefor shall be made to the State within one year after this Act takes effect; provided, five years shall have elapsed after the date of such sale." Said section further provided that the State Controller should provide uniform blank deeds upon which all conveyances to the State for property sold at delinquent tax sales should be made.

The duties imposed upon the Controller by the new law have been faithfully carried out. The blank deeds were prepared, and after approval by the Attorney-General, were forwarded to the several Tax Collectors. About a dozen Tax Collectors have complied with the law by executing deeds, and after recording, have forwarded them to be filed in this office. The remaining Tax Collectors have either neglected or refused to comply with the law, and as there is no penalty attached to the non-performance of this duty, it is impossible to enforce it. It must be said, however, in defense of many of these officers, that to compel a compliance with this law would work an extreme hardship. It must be borne in mind that the law provided for the execution of deeds, not covering a period of one or two years, but for more than twenty years—in fact, from the advent of the law authorizing property to be struck off to the State for delinquent taxes. The Supervisors refused to aid the officers charged with the execution and recording of deeds, by appointment of extra clerical assistance, or any pecuniary aid whatever. The salaries of such officials were totally inadequate out of which to pay such clerical assistance, and the law therefore became almost a dead letter.

The disposition of property after the State has acquired title by deed, through tax delinquency, is a grave question. In most instances property struck off to the State for non-payment of taxes is of no value whatever, and if offered for sale at auction, as contemplated by law, a purchaser could not be found to bid the amount of tax and accrued penalties for which the property was sold. Again, the advertising of such property is a source of great expense to the county, particularly where no purchaser can be found. For these reasons I have deferred all sales. I did, however, direct the Tax Collector of Los Angeles County to advertise and offer for sale a few lots or parcels of land to which the State had acquired title; but after the advertisement had commenced to run, and before the day fixed for the sale, the owners of the several tracts or parcels redeemed the same, and thus put a stop to the sale. I also issued an order directing sale of certain property in the City and County of San Francisco, but I became officially aware that it would entail a useless expense upon the municipality to advertise the same, first, because the property was valueless; and second, it was patent that a purchaser could not be found. I therefore canceled the order.

Since directing the advertisement and sale of the Los Angeles property, it has occurred to me that the law is not sufficiently explicit on this point—as to the authority of the Controller to discriminate in offering such property for sale, and I have therefore prepared an amendment to the section, which, if adopted, will permit me to advertise and sell such property as in my judgment will obtain a purchaser. The remaining property to which the State secures deeds must necessarily remain dormant until such time as the original owner sees fit to redeem. There is no other method I can suggest for disposing of it.

The penalties provided by the revised laws for redemption of property sold to the State for delinquent taxes are extremely severe. They are, 10% if the property is redeemed within six months after sale, 20% if within one year, 40% if within two years, 60% if within three years, 80% if within four years, and 100% if within five or any greater number of years. The law was intended, I presume, as an inducement to the delinquent for the early redemption of the property, and as such would act in a favorable light; but when such law is applied to sales made several years ago, extreme hardship is entailed on the redemptioner. An appeal is now pending in the Supreme Court to test the legality of such redemption law as applied to sales of property made prior to the approval thereof. The suit was brought in the Superior Court of San Diego County by the Teralta Land and Water Company against the Auditor of said county, and a decision given against the State.

A new section (3831) was added to the Code, the effect of which is to make it mandatory on the part of the Assessors to enforce the collection of all taxes where there is not sufficient real property to secure payment of same, and failing in this the Auditor must state an account of the uncollected portion and make demand on the Assessor for its payment into the County Treasury. If at the expiration of fifteen days from the date of the demand the amount thereof has not been paid, the District Attorney must commence an action for the recovery thereof. The wisdom of this provision is shown in the fact that all personal property taxes coming within the purview of the section have been collected excepting in eight or ten counties.

ASSESSORS' CONVENTION.

On the 23d of November last a convention of County Assessors met at the State Capitol, for the purpose of discussing the present revenue laws relative to the assessment of property. Out of fifty-seven counties in the State, thirty-eight were represented, and, as a member of the State Board of Equalization, I was present and took part in the proceedings. A few additions and some amendments to the laws were proposed and adopted by the convention, all of which will be incorporated in the form of a report, and presented to the Code Commissioners, and laid before the Legislature.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS.

By an Act approved March 19, 1891, the Legislature authorized and directed the transfer of $80,000 from the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund to the General Fund, as a loan to said General Fund, without interest. In accordance with the provisions of the law the transfer was made, and the amount has never been returned to the fund to which it belongs. By Section 4, Article IX, of the Constitution, "all estates of deceased persons, who may have died without leaving a will or heir * * * shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of common schools throughout the State." I therefore advise and recommend that the incoming Legislature authorize the transfer of $80,000 from the General Fund to the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund, in repayment of the loan heretofore made, and further authorize and direct the transfer of $100,000 from the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund to the State School Land Fund, where it may become available for investment in securities, the interest on which is appropriated to the support of our common schools, as provided in the Constitution.

INDIAN WAR BONDS.

The Attorney-General, in his report, has succinctly stated the condition of the suits against the State for recovery on the outstanding bonds and coupons issued under the Act of May 3, 1852, and but little can be added thereto. However, since the issue of the Attorney-General's report, Judge Catlin, of the Superior Court of Sacramento County, has given judgment against the State in the cases of Reis vs. The State and Mead vs. The State, in the amounts of $33,552 12 and $636 64, respectively. The Judge holds the State to be liable for the face value of the bonds and coupons, but that interest thereon is not recoverable (Molineaux vs. State, 109 Cal. 378).

The judgments in the cases of Molineaux vs. The State for $4,500, and Bates vs. The State for $2,880, have been paid; that in the case of Scott vs. The State, for $1,600, has not yet been paid.

DEFALCATION.

On April 22, 1896, I received from H. O. Southworth, Esq., Director of the State Insane Asylum at Stockton, a copy of the expert's report in the matter of the accounts of N. M. Orr, ex-Treasurer of said Asylum, from which it appeared that Orr was indebted to the State of California, for and in behalf of said Asylum, in the sum of $10,000 86, for moneys received by him while acting as Treasurer of said Asylum, and for which no account or report of such receipt or disbursement thereof had ever been rendered. On the same date, I made demand upon said Orr, which demand was personally served upon him by the Sheriff of San Joaquin County, that within twenty days thereafter he pay to and deposit with the Treasurer of State, for the use and benefit of said Stockton Insane Asylum, the said sum of $10,000 86, in default of which payment proper proceedings in law would be commenced to enforce the provisions of the demand.

At the expiration of twenty days from the service of the demand, no settlement having been made, in accordance with the provisions of Section 437, Political Code, I stated an account against said Orr, and directed the Attorney-General to proceed against him in the courts. Suit was commenced by the Attorney-General in due time, and the case is now pending in the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento upon a motion for a change of venue to the County of San Joaquin.

In this connection it may be stated that this amount which Orr is charged with appropriating was taken from the contingent fund of the Asylum, and from the funds in his custody as Treasurer of the Asylum, belonging to the inmates thereof. No account of any of these funds is kept in this office, and the information regarding the shortage necessarily came from the Trustees of the institution in the first instance. Under the law, however, the Controller is the officer charged with the enforcement of the collection of moneys due the State, and the matter was therefore referred to me for action.

TAXES OF 1886.

In the Sacramento "Record-Union" of December 19, 1895, there appeared an editorial relative to the shortage of ex-Tax Collector Hammond, of Los Angeles County. This editorial stated that there had been paid into the County Treasury of said county, by the official bondsmen of said Hammond, a sum something over $21,000 in amount belonging to the taxes of the year 1886, which had been collected by Hammond as Tax Collector, but which he failed to account for and pay into the County Treasury. This editorial was the first notice I had received of such a payment, and I immediately made an examination of the records filed in this office, and found that the County of Los Angeles was still indebted to the State to the extent of about $5,000 on taxes of the year 1886. I then wrote the Auditor of Los Angeles County of my discovery, and made demand for the State's portion of the amount paid into the County Treasury. The Auditor accepted my figures, and, in settlement with the county in May last, the State received its portion of the taxes and interest thereon, amounting in all to $6,261 59.

FEES OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

In my last biennial message I called attention to the fact that the fees of the office of Insurance Commissioner, collected by J. N. E. Wilson, the then incumbent, for the month of June, 1893, amounting to $2,988 41, had not yet been paid into the State Treasury. Suit was brought to require payment, and judgment has been given by the Superior Court of Sacramento County against Wilson and his bondsmen. This judgment has been appealed from, and is now pending in the Supreme Court.

PEOPLE, ETC. vs. COULTERVILLE AND YOSEMITE TURNPIKE CO.

The Legislature of 1891 granted permission to the Coulterville and Yosemite Turnpike Company, to sue the State for the loss and damage alleged to have been suffered and sustained by said corporation, by reason of the State granting a right of way over the Yosemite grant to a rival wagon-road company. This permission was conditioned in that said company should file a bond in sufficient sum to cover the costs of court, and an additional bond, in the sum of $500, to be paid as fees for counsel employed by the State in the defense of the case, should the suit be determined in favor of the State. The bonds were duly filed and approved, and suit promptly brought by the Turnpike Company, which resulted in judgment for the State.

In the payment of its bond for attorney's fees, the company and its bondsmen were not so prompt, and it was found necessary to commence suit for recovery. The Superior Court of Sacramento County has recently rendered judgment in favor of the State.

BOUNTY ON COYOTE SCALPS.

Shortly after the rendition of my last report, in which I commented on the question of payment of these claims, the Supreme Court, on rehearing, in the case of Ingram vs. Colgan, held that the Act of the Legislature of 1891 made no appropriation. The Legislature, being then in session, repealed the law of 1891 granting the bounty, and passed a bill appropriating $275,000 for the payment of claims already accrued. The latter bill the Governor failed to approve, and the claims remain unpaid. The accumulated claims, according to the reports of County Clerks filed in my office, amount to $287,615, and I recommend that an appropriation of that amount be made.

INCREASE IN OFFICES AND COMMISSIONS.

During the last two State campaigns, a cry has gone up from every quarter for economy in conducting the State government. It was demanded of legislative aspirants that they pledge themselves to the reduction of expenses and the abolishment of some and consolidation of other State commissions and offices. Everybody preached economy; but few, if anybody, practiced it. During the sessions of 1891, 1893, and 1895, the number of offices and commissions has been largely increased, and the monthly salaries paid from this office alone on the last day of each month have increased in round numbers, from $36,890 in January, 1891, to $44,700 in November, 1896—an annual increase of nearly $95,000. These figures do not include the payrolls of any of the State institutions, nor do they convey an adequate idea of the additional expense to the State, for the salaries paid these newly created officers and commissions is the smallest part of the appropriations made for their use and benefit. Certainly, this does not look like economy, nor even an approach to it.

In the same time, but two commissions have been abolished; the Forestry Commission, and State Board of Viticulture, whose work has been turned over to the State University, and is now conducted at comparatively small expense to the State.

ESTIMATE OF EXPENDITURES.

In the estimate of expenditures, the amounts allowed the various State institutions, such as prisons, asylums, and normal schools, in some instances show an increase over the appropriations of two years ago. The items of "salaries" and "support" have been segregated, in order that a better idea may be had of the purposes for which the money is to be expended.

Before fixing the amounts required, I wrote to the proper officer of each institution, in order to ascertain what amount was actually necessary, and where an increased appropriation was requested and a proper explanation given, no reduction was made. In some cases, however, I considered the estimate extravagant, and cut it down.

The Warden of San Quentin Prison asks for an increase of $25,000, and in explanation it is stated that the actual cost of maintaining the institution is about $6,500 a year more than the appropriation of two years ago. This deficiency has been made up out of the Prison Fund, but, owing to poor prices and small sales of grain sacks, the fund is about exhausted and cannot be depended upon to any extent during the next two years. The prison is also put to an extra expense of about $400 per month by the Act of the Legislature of 1893, providing for the construction of what is known as the "Tiburon road." In this connection it appears to me that the County of Marin should be required to pay the attendant expense of building this road; but that is a matter for legislation. In the meantime, the prison must bear this extra expense, and the appropriation should be adequate.

Folsom Prison asks for an increase of $21,000 in its appropriation. The number of convicts has increased over 100, and the prison has no earnings with which to help out in the expense of maintenance.

It is a poor policy which prevents the magnificent water-power owned by the State at this prison from being utilized in some manner to the pecuniary benefit of the taxpayers. If it cannot be used for the purpose of manufacturing the articles of wearing apparel used in the various State institutions, because of the alleged competition with free labor, at least it could be employed in the generation of electrical power which could be transmitted to Sacramento and used for power in the State Capitol, State Printing Office, and Agricultural Pavilion, and for lighting the State buildings and grounds. The amount saved by this alone would pay a large return on the investment.

The Superintendent of the Preston School of Industry estimates that it will require $160,000 for his institution. This estimate is based on an increase of 125 in the number of boys, which I think is improbable. There are now but 224 inmates. Two years ago I estimated it would require $100,000 to maintain this school, and that amount was appropriated. The management have kept within the appropriation, apparently without difficulty. In my judgment, an increase of $25,000 will be sufficient.

Whittier State School estimates that $230,000 is necessary to run that institution for the next two years. I consider this an extravagant figure. The appropriation of $200,000 for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years appears to be ample. In addition to the appropriation made by the Legislature, this school has a fund applicable to the expense of maintenance, in which there now remains a balance of $45,000, and into which receipts are constantly flowing. I think an appropriation of $200,000 is quite sufficient, and have so placed it in my estimate.

The Medical Director of the Southern California Asylum asks, for the maintenance of his institution for the next biennial term, $204,400, based upon an estimate of 700 patients at 40 cents per capita. This is an increase of $87,600 over the last appropriation. For the forty-seventh fiscal year it has cost about $60,000 to conduct this asylum, it having been necessary to create a deficiency of $12,000. The cost for the forty-eighth fiscal year will probably be somewhat in excess of the forty-seventh, and the Legislature will be called upon to make a deficiency appropriation of $25,000 or $30,000. The asylum now has about 450 patients. Allowing for an increase of 150 patients, this would make 600 patients in all, which, at a per capita of 40 cents per day, would require about $175,000 for the two years, the amount I have placed in my estimate.

To the Home for Feeble-Minded Children I have given an increase of $22,000, to Mendocino Asylum $15,000, and to Agnews Asylum $7,000.

The Normal Schools have each asked for an increase, and in each case I have allowed it upon the representations made.

The estimate for military purposes is larger than the amount appropriated by the last Legislature, but is strictly in accord with the statute governing the National Guard. The Adjutant-General will also ask for an appropriation for new uniforms and for encampment purposes, but these being special objects, I have not included the amounts herein.

For restoration and preservation of fish and game, the amounts asked for are $10,000 in excess of the last appropriations.

For the State Agricultural Society, and State Mining Bureau, the amounts are the same as for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years.

The State Board of Horticulture asks for $10,000 for uses of the Board. The Legislature of 1895 passed a bill appropriating $20,000 for the maintenance of this Board for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years, of which $10,400 was to be applied to the uses of the Board, and $9,600 to payment of salaries, but the bill failed to meet with your approval. The salaries have been paid out of the General Fund, in accordance with an opinion of the Attorney-General, and I have included them in this estimate, as they are fixed by statute. The amount desired for the use of the Board I have not included, preferring to leave the matter entirely with the Legislature.

The Supreme Court Commission, Dairy Bureau, and Bureau of Highways go out of existence during the present fiscal year, unless given a new lease of life by the incoming Legislature, and I have therefore excluded them from my estimate. Likewise, the Commissioner of Public Works and the Debris Commissioner, there being a serious question regarding the term for which these offices were created.

A number of new buildings and improvements will be asked for by the various State institutions, but I have not attempted any estimate of their cost, nor can I judge of their necessity from information at my command. In view, however, of the large appropriations made for such purposes during the preceding four sessions of the Legislature, the necessity should be made very apparent before any further appropriations are made.

The total General Fund estimate for the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years is $6,027,164 16, a reduction of about $1,050,000, when compared with the estimate of two years ago. This reduction is caused by the elimination of the items for support of aged indigents, $800,000; District Agricultural Societies, $190,000; Citrus Fairs, $10,000; Boards of Horticulture and Viticulture, $50,000; Debris Commissioner, $10,000; Commissioner of Public Works, $10,000; for the school text-book department of the State Printing Office, $40,000; Supreme Court Commission, $65,000; aggregating $1,175,000.

The total estimate of the cost of the State government, including the School Fund and Interest and Sinking Fund, is $10,939,960 16.

Respectfully submitted.

E. P. COLGAN,
Controller.

* Valuations reduced 10 per cent by the State Board of Equalization.

† This value for State purposes only. The county taxes are computed on a valuation of $15,657,017. The State Board of Equalization lowered the assessment roll 10 per cent, such decrease applying only to the valuation for State purposes.

NOTE.—Where two rates of taxation are given, the lesser rate is that levied upon property situate within the limits of incorporated cities or towns, such property being exempt from road tax.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

SECRETARY OF STATE

OF THE

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

For the Two Fiscal Years Ending June 30, 1896.

L. H. BROWN, : : : : SECRETARY OF STATE.

SACRAMENTO:

A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.

1896.

REPORT.

To HON. JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of the State of California:

DEAR SIR: Herewith will be found my first biennial report of the transactions of this department of the State government, for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years, commencing July 1, 1894, and ending June 30, 1896, together with facts concerning the Capitol building, statements showing repairs and expenditures, and necessary recommendations for the future.

The duties of the Secretary of State are various, requiring diligent and constant attention. By law he is, together with the Governor and Attorney-General, a member of the State Board of Examiners. The Board passes upon the claims contracted by all the State institutions, boards, commissions, and officials, for supplies furnished, as well as upon all payrolls of the several institutions; also, upon all specific claims against the State. No less than fifty meetings of said Board are held annually, at which claims to the amount of about $5,000,000 are presented for adjustment.

He is also one of the three Capitol Commissioners, whose duties are to care for the thirty-five acres in lawn and flowers comprising the Capitol grounds. The Capitol building is under his immediate charge.

His other duties are largely clerical—filing and recording papers presented, supplying State officials and legislators with stationery, and distributing the statutes, reports, etc.

ACTS OF THE EXECUTIVE.

The records of this office show that pardons have been granted in 19 felony cases; 927 felons were restored to citizenship at the expiration of their terms; pardons were granted in 17 misdemeanor cases; the sentences of 45 prisoners were commuted; 12 reprieves of sentence were granted; 24 proclamations offering rewards in murder cases were issued; 390 land patents signed; 1,576 Notaries Public, and 50 Commissioners of Deeds, commissioned; 224 Executive appointments made, and 22 bonds approved; 4 other proclamations have been issued.

THE OFFICE.

During the two years from July 1, 1894, to June 30, 1896, there were, in this office—

Filed and Recorded.

Articles of incorporation	2,036
These articles of incorporation represent 21,000 folios, of which number 18,500 folios have been recorded during my term of office. Of the incorporations, 46 are of railroad companies, and the balance miscellaneous.

Of the certified copies, 859 were made in the office, and the balance, 377, were furnished.
Seals affixed to certified copies	1,236

Filed.

Designations of agent of foreign corporation	53
Increase or decrease of capital stock, and increase or decrease of number of directors	59
Certificates of creation of bonded indebtedness	47

Commissions Attested.

Notarial	1,576
Commissioners of Deeds	50
Executive appointments	224

In the appended tables will be found a complete list of rewards offered; commutations of sentence and pardons granted; Executive appointments made; Commissioners of Deeds and Notaries Public commissioned; land patents signed (giving number of acres, county, and nature of land); designations of agents of foreign corporations; bonds, trademarks, and deeds filed and recorded.

An itemized statement is hereto appended, showing the receipts of this department, since July 1, 1894, to be $46,552 93; of which sum, $36,570 is for fees, and which was paid into the State Treasury, as provided by law, to the credit of the State Library Fund. The balance, $9,982 93, received for the sale of statutes, books, ballot paper, and maps, was paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Fund.

Your official acts as Governor of the State of California have been duly attested and registered in this office, as required by law.

The business of this department has been transacted promptly, and without a strict adherence to office hours.

THE STATE CAPITOL.

Notwithstanding the large amount of money expended, during past years, upon the building, in repairs and improvements, I found the interior of several offices, the roof, and the plumbing to be in want of repairs. Many persons from other States and countries visit the Capitol, and they often remark that "The interior of your Capitol is not in keeping with the exterior, and with the handsome grounds that surround it." In many of the offices there are not two chairs alike, or of the same quality, and we are continually apologizing for the carpets, furnishings, and furniture. With the small appropriation at our command, we have improved matters greatly since assuming office, and below will be found a résumé of what has been accomplished in this direction.

The building, for the health of its inmates, should be ventilated, because, when it was erected, ventilation was ignored entirely. The basement is never free from the foulest of air, and many parts therein are as free from light as is "Egyptian darkness." There is no fire protection, and stand-pipes should be erected, reaching into the attic, so that if a fire should start in that locality, or in the dome, it could be extinguished. At the present writing, if a fire should start above the third floor of the building, and gained ordinary headway, the entire building would be destroyed, entailing a loss to the State of California of about three millions of dollars. The Chief Engineer of the Sacramento Fire Department, at my request, inspected the building, and assured me of the facts above set forth. Upon assuming charge, there were no fire extinguishers in the building, and as a protection or preventive against fire, I purchased a number and distributed them through the several corridors and offices.

A fire was discovered, about 2 o'clock in the morning, in one of the rooms used by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, upon the third floor, and before it was extinguished by the Fire Department of this city, $250, or more, in damage was done. The direct origin of the fire is unknown, but it was supposed to have started in a sofa in the room burned, from mice nibbling matches that had gotten into that piece of furniture. I have been unable to repair the damage done by said fire, because, prior to the loss sustained, the fund for repairs, furniture, etc., was exhausted, and for several months since the event I have not had a dollar to expend.

The walls surrounding the corridors are very much in need of a coat of whitening; their condition is patent to the least observing.

The several lavatories in the building are of poor plumbing, are antiquated, and a menace to health.

During the rains of two winters, the roof leaked in many places; more than twenty tubs and buckets were used constantly to prevent, if possible, damage to the interior. In one instance a quantity of plastering in one of the rooms of the State Library fell, due to the leaks; water also came through into the Senate and Assembly chambers, and traces of the same still remain. The roof has been repaired, but it is impossible to make it rain-proof, owing to it being of copper, which, during the summer heat, expands and the seams are opened, hence the water runs in.

The saving in light has been great as compared with former expenditures, due to the stoppage of leaks, changing tips of burners from large sizes to smaller ones, and a general watchfulness over the burning and escape of gas. Under a rate of one third, as compared with prior rates, electricity is used, and the corridors and rooms are now free from the foul odor of escaping gas, for the first time, no doubt, in many years.

Upon assuming office, the attic was found to be stored with thousands of printed copies of reports and other publications, for which large sums of money had been expended, and the people, for whose benefit the several documents had been printed, were not receiving the same. Thousands were sent broadcast, including many copies of the "Resources of California." The necessary postage was a heavy drain upon that fund, but it is hoped that good results followed. While in charge, no further accumulation of reports, etc., will be permitted, and all publications furnished this office will be properly distributed, as intended in their compilation.

The carpets in many of the offices were badly worn and threadbare, some with large holes worn through. Six of these rooms have been newly carpeted, while in others the carpets were taken up, cleaned, and relaid. Cocoa matting was in use in the corridors and halls on the third floor. It was old, worn, and dilapidated, patched in many places with oil-cloth, and presented a shabby appearance. This was all removed, and the floor covered with the linoleum taken from the first floor, which has been recently laid with tiling. The office of the State Janitor, used for the storage of stationery and supplies, was also covered with some of the same linoleum.

In the rooms occupied by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, an arch was cut through the thick wall, thereby connecting the offices, and shelving was placed around the walls for his convenience and use. Similar conveniences were also fitted up in another room.

Much of the furniture throughout the building was in bad condition; some was repaired, and in a few offices new furniture and shades were supplied, to the extent that our limited resources would permit.

The elevator shaft between the first floor and basement was in very bad condition. This was repaired, but the shaft as a whole is a veritable fire-trap, and should be lined with sheet iron or other substance, to protect the upper floors from danger of fire. At present, the plastered walls are dirty, grease-stained, and unsightly.

In the Engineer's department more than $1,000 has been expended in necessary repairs to the boilers, steam-pipes, etc., and in the purchase of a modern steam pump.

At the request of the Attorney-General, a doorway was cut through the thick wall between two of his offices. This change necessitated heavy and expensive door-casing and millwork, likewise a heavy and costly door to correspond with the other door-ways in his office. The walls were handsomely decorated and hand-painted in two of his rooms, and the furniture upholstered and repaired. These offices are now much admired by visitors.

Throughout the basement, and in the lavatories, gas-jets have been replaced with electric lights, thereby effecting a material saving and furnishing a more effective and desirable light.

Upon the cupola of the dome, at an elevation of 240 feet from the ground, eight arc lights, of 2,000 candle-power each, have been placed. On a clear night these lights can be seen a distance of from fifty to seventy-five miles. They contribute greatly toward lighting the grounds, as well as the city generally. The expense of this lighting is $40 per month for all night; as compared with the rates charged upon entering office, similar lights would have cost $120 per month, until one o'clock only.

Considerable difficulty in finding the various offices was experienced by strangers and by others visiting the Capitol on business. To remedy this, signs designating the respective offices have been placed upon the door-casing of each, projecting in such a manner as to be readily perceived, and discernible in any part of the hallway.

The corridors on the lower floor have been laid with handsome tiling, at a cost of several cents per foot less than was paid for the laying of other tiling in the building. The superiority of the new tile, and of the work performed, is very noticeable.

A room in which to store the rapid accumulation of books, pamphlets, reports, and material was badly needed, and to provide for this necessity a large room on the north side of the basement was fitted up with shelving, counters, and other conveniences.

It has been the custom to place in the basement the ashes from the various office fireplaces and the engine-room, and there permitted to accumulate for years before removal, at a cost which averaged about $25 per month. Now they are taken away almost daily, at an average expense of $10 per month, including the removal of the sweepings and rubbish of the building, which were formerly dumped on the grounds, presenting an unsightly appearance.

More offices in the building are now occupied than formerly, viz.: by the Bureau of Highways, State Board of Horticulture, and Code Commissioners. At present, every available room is taken.

Excessive and exorbitant charges were, in several instances under former administrations, paid for repairs and improvements. This was not due, in any manner, to the dishonesty of officials, but was owing more particularly to the advantage taken and imposition practiced by those performing the work and furnishing material. Under this administration far more work has been done, with better results, and for less money, than was accomplished by any of my predecessors, during same period of time.

CARE OF THE BUILDING DURING SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Section 412 of the Political Code reads as follows: "The Secretary of State is the superintendent and has charge of the State Capitol, and he must keep the same, together with all property therein, in good order and repair." From time to time it has been the practice of the legislators, during the session of the Legislature, to appoint watchmen, porters, etc. The number appointed has increased to such an extent as to be a great and useless expense to the State. The Secretary of State is responsible for the condition of the Capitol building and its contents, and I respectfully ask the incoming Legislature not to interfere with me in the discharge of my duties in the care of the Capitol, as provided by law, or until such time as the present law is repealed. There is no responsibility with the legislative appointees, nor is proper care taken by them of the property of the State. The extra force needed will be two watchmen, six porters, one elevator attendant, an electrician, an engineer, and a fireman—twelve persons in all. At the last session of the Legislature forty-six persons were appointed to do the work, which I can the better perform with twelve. The expense was about $12,000, and less than $3,300 will suffice for all purposes. The work performed by the legislative appointees was very unsatisfactory, and there is no reason why employes regularly employed by the State during the year, understanding their duties, and accountable to me, should be supplanted by those who know nothing of the work required, and as a rule care less. Of the six porters mentioned, two will be needed for committee rooms, two for the Senate, and two for the Assembly, including the galleries and corridors.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES.

The Legislature of 1891 appropriated, to provide for a deficiency for the remainder of the forty-second fiscal year (January 1 to June 30, 1891), $4,000 for repairs to the Capitol building and furniture, and the purchase of furniture and carpets. Of this sum, $2,185 48 was expended for indebtedness created prior to January, 1891, and the balance, $1,814 52, was expended by my predecessor during the first six months of his term. There was also appropriated by the Legislature of 1891, "for repairs to the Capitol building and furniture, and the purchase of furniture and carpets," to be used during the forty-third and forty-fourth fiscal years (commencing July 1, 1891, and ending June 30, 1893), $35,000. Of the $35,000, all was expended but $28 40. The total expenditures made by my predecessor during the first eighteen months of his term was $36,663 34. The Legislature of 1893 appropriated for the purposes mentioned above, and available during the forty-fifth and forty-sixth fiscal years, ending June 30, 1895, $25,000; being $12,500 per annum. Upon entering office January 7, 1895, there was left but $600 12 of the appropriation, and there should have been, if the $25,000 had been distributed over the two years, $6,250. Properly, my share should have been this sum, instead of $600 12, the amount on hand. There had been expended on the Capitol building, in the eighteen months prior to my induction to office, $36,663 34; an average of $2,000 per month. With but $600 to maintain the building and repair and purchase furniture for the first six months of my term, and with a Legislature in session, which added greatly to the expenses, I was reluctantly compelled to ask the Board of Examiners to grant a deficiency for $2,000, which request was granted, and the Legislature made the appropriation. This deficiency appropriation, together with the $600 12 mentioned above, made $2,600 12 disbursed by me to July 1, 1895.

At the legislative session of 1895 there was appropriated for like purposes, for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years, commencing July 1, 1895, and ending June 30, 1897, only $5,000, being the smallest sum appropriated in many years. The $5,000 was expended during the forty-seventh fiscal year, ending June 30, 1896. For eighteen months of my term I have expended for repairs, furniture, etc., $7,600 12, as against $36,663 34 paid out during same length of time by my predecessor. The $7,600 12 for maintenance of the Capitol was disbursed as follows:

Upholstering, carpets, furniture, shades, and repairs.....	$2,813 41
Carpentering, repairs, and material	2,365 01
Painting, plastering, decorating, and material	1,477 37
Plumbing and material	944 33
Total	$7,600 12

Detailed statements of the expenditures for the various officials, boards, building, etc., will be found in the proper tables of this report.

Following is a general statement of appropriations and expenditures for repairs to Capitol building and furniture, and purchase of carpets and furniture, from 1881 to 1896, inclusive:

1881.....	$13,700 79
1882-83.....	7,000 00
1883-85.....	21,000 00
1885-87.....	11,436 78
1887-89.....	23,246 13
1889-91.....	47,540 51
1891-93.....	35,000 00
1893-95.....	27,000 00
1895-97 (of this $6,000 was for tiling).....	11,000 00
Total	$196,924 21

STATE ARCHIVES.

One of the most important duties imposed upon the Secretary of State, and one which in the past has apparently received but little attention, is the care and preservation of the records of this great State. From the earliest State administration, during Spanish rule, up to 1889, the records of each department were filed and retained in their respective offices. At that time (1889) they had become so voluminous that other arrangements had to be made for their care, and, during the session of the Legislature of that year, an Act was passed, appropriating $10,000, for the construction of a vault in the basement of the Capitol building for the purpose of storing them. This Act also provided for the appointment of a competent person, to be known as Keeper of the Archives, whose duty it was, not only to have sole charge of all records filed, but also, as specifically stated and directed by the Act, he should prepare a complete index to all public documents, and so arrange them that they could be found without delay, and that new papers might be filed and placed in their proper position without disturbing those previously stored.

The vault was completed and ready for use early in 1891. Major J. D. Gilchrist was appointed to the position of Keeper of the Archives, and the records of each department were immediately turned over to him, to be arranged and indexed. He occupied the position until his death, in September, 1892. After that date the position was left vacant, the Secretary of the State giving as his reason for not filling it that "the old archives, being now in order and seldom needed, I have not appointed a successor. The labor attached to the position is too insignificant to require an officer, and I would respectfully recommend that the office be abolished."

During Major Gilchrist's incumbency he arranged the documents, and made a partial index of the books in the lockers, merely showing the location of the books, and not covering the contents, either of the books or of the documents filed in pigeon-holes. After his death, no one in particular was designated to attend to the duties of the position, and any one desiring to examine documents was allowed to go into the vault and help himself, with the result that books and papers were often placed in the wrong locker or pigeon-hole, until they were so badly mixed that the index to location of books was practically useless.

Although the law is specific in reference to indexing the archives and the arranging of them so that they could be easily found, no effort had ever been made to comply with its provisions, and to-day the only way to obtain a document that may be needed, perhaps in a hurry, and which may be of the greatest importance, is to go into the vault and institute a search that may require a day or a week. In addition to this useless waste of time and unnecessary delay, the papers have been misplaced and lost, and no one is accountable, for the reason that what was everybody's business turned out to be nobody's business.

Upon taking office, I immediately complied with the provisions of the Act of 1889, by appointing a person to take charge of this work, and to so arrange and index the records that, by looking at the index, the character, contents, and location in the vault, of every public document filed there could be told.

After a careful examination into the different systems of indexing, it was decided to use the card index, such as is used generally for like work, and which allows the most freedom in extension, and is the most accurate for filing new matter in its proper place. A cabinet with capacity for 40,000 cards was purchased, and the work commenced.

Up to date many documents have been indexed, and arranged in order so that by a moment's examination the number of the paper, the character, its contents, and location can be known, and perhaps all the information desired may be obtained from the card; but if the original papers are desired they can be had without delay.

The present furnishings of the vault, which consist of light wooden lockers, pigeon-holes, and boxes containing the records, are out of date, cumbersome, and inconvenient, occupying space which, under the circumstances, is valuable; and although the vault is iron-lined, a fire started in the extremely dry and inflammable material there, would very quickly result in the complete destruction of the valuable papers it contains.

The room is small for the purpose, and, with the present furnishings, is filled to overflowing. The next session of the Legislature will add many documents to those already there, and they cannot be properly taken care of.

In view of the inestimable value of these records, and considering the fact that the room is now fully occupied as furnished, and that there is a possibility of their destruction by fire, I believe that it is good policy to provide steel cases for this vault, which would reduce the danger of fire to a minimum, and make ample room for new matter for an indefinite period.

STATE JANITOR.

In this department is the stationery, statutes, ballot paper, supplies, etc. The stock of stationery is in good condition for the quality, with a few exceptions of stock to the value of $148 92 that is shopworn and out of date. The stationery room and stock are in much better condition than formerly, and most of the accumulated dead stock that we inherited has been disposed of without loss. The stationery on hand July 1, 1896, was valued at $3,315 69, as compared with $3,558 12, January 7, 1895.

For the forty-sixth fiscal year, ending June 30, 1895, the value of stationery supplied to the Legislature was $1,579 16, and to State officials, $2,363 60. Under the same conditions, during the advent of a new administration, in 1891, the value furnished to the Legislature was $1,787 49, an excess of $208 33 by my predecessor; and to State officials was $2,271 86—an excess, by this administration, of $91 74 over the past régime, which increase was due to furnishing four new boards and officials with $93 58 in value. There was furnished to officials during the forty-seventh fiscal year, $2,058 95, being $304 65 less than for the previous year.

A detailed statement of the stationery charged to each office will be found in the succeeding pages of this report. Not only is an account kept with each office, and a requisition required for each article supplied, but also a record of each article purchased and given out, being a debit and a credit of each. The quality of stationery now furnished is, in some lines, superior to the old stock; and owing to the demand by several officials for a better quality, the same was purchased, believing that a medium value was cheaper in the end, and surely more satisfactory.

Copies of old Codes, Amendments to the Laws, Spanish laws, etc., to the number of about 2,600, compiled twenty or twenty-five years ago, and carried upon the shelves since, are unsalable here, and some action should be taken toward their disposal, if possible.

The number of books, etc., sent out of this office from January 7, 1895, to July 1, 1896, was:

Statutes	2,200
Statutes (paper covers)	30,000
Blue Books	5,000
Supreme Court reports	2,720
State officers' reports	3,510
Election Laws	30,000
Journals	960
Appendices to Journals	2,880

Constitution of California.....	1,000
Statement of Vote (1894)	1,000
Resources of California	5,000
Miscellaneous pamphlets	5,000

Upon my advent to office, I found 3,660 reams of ballot paper on hand, and which was useless for future elections, by reason of the provisions of Section 1196 of the Political Code, providing that all ballot paper shall be water-marked and that no design shall be used again for a space of fourteen years. Only 105 reams were water-marked, and this of date of 1892, consequently could not be used again until 1906. The paper had greatly depreciated in value, and its storage in the Capitol building was a source of danger from fire. By permission of the Board of Examiners, and after many efforts, I finally sold the paper for $790 66. In this connection, I desire to recommend that the law be amended, and that an advance of ten per cent over the original cost be charged, in order to reimburse the State for the paper that must necessarily accumulate after each general election in excess of the amount used by municipal cities for local elections.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

POWER (ELECTRICITY).

With an expenditure of a few hundred dollars, two electric motors, with attachments and pump, could be placed in the basement of the Capitol. The elevator, and the pump for pumping water into the tanks in the building, could be run by electricity, and a saving made to the State of $2,000 or more annually. Under the present system it is necessary to keep up seventy pounds of steam in the boilers, with which to run the elevator; by using electricity, at a monthly cost not to exceed $40, no fires in the furnaces would be necessary from April to the middle of November or first of December, being seven months during the year. The fact that the corridors are heated by steam during the winter season, necessitates keeping fires in the furnaces for five months. With the electric motors in place, I will be able to save the State, in light and fuel within the building, more than $4,000 a year. If a sufficient appropriation for this work, together with the regular allowance for repairs, purchase of furniture, etc., be not made by the coming Legislature, I can, with consent of the Controller, make the improvements out of the appropriation for "light, fuel, stationery, supplies, etc.," for with the system now in vogue, and with careful buying, notwithstanding the increased demand upon that fund, due to the new boards, commissions, etc., I will save sufficient money to make the change from steam to electricity. With electricity, in case of fire, it would take but a second to press a button, and the pump would start. The fire engines of this city have a pressure, in forcing water through the fire department hose, of 85 pounds; our pressure would be 120 pounds, and consequently we would have a better fire protection than the city, and, with the stand-pipes erected to the attic, we could force water, direct from the city main, through the pipes, with sufficient force to throw it over the dome.

OFFICES.

The following rooms, in some instances, are badly in need of repairs, while in others carpets and furniture are absolutely necessary: One large room of the Attorney-General, one large room of the Superintendent of State Printing, one large room of the Treasurer, three rooms of the Controller, two rooms of the Surveyor-General, one large room of the Adjutant-General, one large room of the Secretary of State, three rooms of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the entrances to the Senate and Assembly chambers. The carpet in the room occupied by Department Two of the Supreme Court is in poor condition, and the same may be said of the ones in the ladies' waiting-room and the two legislative chambers.

Repairs, furniture, or carpets will not be necessary in several rooms for some years to come, but when we took charge of the Capitol all rooms were more or less in a deplorable condition. In some, the walls had been decorated artistically, as was also the rotunda, and large sums of money thus expended; but the offices had been sadly neglected, to which, I believe, every official will testify.

In every department and office, documents and records of great value are rapidly accumulating. They are filed away in wooden cases—a practice, in my judgment, very dangerous. Every care and precaution should be exercised for their preservation in case of fire, and to that end steel cases should be used.

WATER.

The State now pays $600 per annum for water used in the building, and $1,200 per annum for water for irrigating purposes; a total of $1,800. I am convinced that for $500 a well could be sunk which would afford ample supply for the building and for irrigation, and of a quality better than that now furnished. We are now compelled to pump the water used in the building from the mains into tanks situated in the attic. The same power would lift the water from the well. The only additional expense, after the completion of the well, would be the erection of tanks, and pumping the water into them for irrigation purposes. We now have an engine, pump, engineer, and fireman, and no additional expense would entail. With electricity we could raise the water for the grounds with less expense than the present cost of pumping for the use of the building. I am confident that a saving of at least $1,200 per annum could be made to the State. I have consulted with a competent well-borer—one who has had a large experience in sinking wells in Sacramento and vicinity—and he assures me that an ample well for all purposes can be put down for a sum less than mentioned above. I recommend a consideration of this subject.

HEATING.

The quantity of fuel now used in the grates in the several rooms is excessive, and the results in heating unsatisfactory. In all modern public buildings, heaters are used instead of grates, and not only is it economy to use them, but also more heat is obtained. With grates, it is estimated by competent engineers that eighty per cent of the heat created goes up the chimney. The heaters also do away with the expense and trouble in starting fires; no dust or soot is scattered about the room, to the injury of its furnishings and the inconvenience of the occupants. There would be no additional expense in maintaining the extra heaters, because steam is kept up in the boilers for supplying the large heaters now in use in the several corridors. With electricity in use for purposes mentioned above, forty pounds of steam kept up in the boilers during five months of the year would be sufficient for all purposes, while seventy is now required for less service; hence, I am confident that, with the new system, a saving of more than $2,000 per annum could be made in fuel used in the grates and engine-room.

STATE BLUE BOOK OR ROSTER.

The Roster is compiled and published in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature, and the number of copies issued is limited to five thousand. More than half of the edition is, by law, distributed to officials (Legislative, State, County, and City) and public libraries. The demand greatly exceeds the supply, and I would recommend that the number of copies be increased to ten thousand. The book is in constant demand by a large percentage of our citizens, and by many teachers and scholars in the public schools, where it is often used in the study of civil government. It is hoped that the Legislature will increase the number, and thereby relieve this office from the necessity of informing applicants for the Roster that the supply is exhausted, as we have been reluctantly compelled to do in hundreds of cases during the past six months.

FEEES.

The Legislature, in 1895, amended Section 416 of the Political Code, containing the fee bill for this office, by reducing many of the charges; this has caused a material falling off in the receipts and revenue of the office in the past year and a half.

Among the more noted reductions are: (1) Extradition papers, from $5 to nothing; (2) Certificates of appointment and term of office of Notary Public, from $2 to $1; (3) Affixing certificate and seal of State, from $2 50 to $2.

Quite a revenue was also derived from the fees collected for making certified copies of articles of incorporation; but, by an amendment to Section 297 of the Civil Code, passed in 1895, the revenue from this source has been greatly reduced. Under the section as amended, copies made by the Clerk of the county where the original articles were filed must be taken and received by all courts as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Prior to this amendment, it was necessary to obtain all certified copies from this office.

While dwelling on this question, I desire to call your attention to the fact that a great deal of work is required to be done by this office for which the State receives no revenue. The present fee bill is defective in this respect, inasmuch as it provides no fee whatever for comparing documents; for the filing of increase or decrease of directors; for the creation of bonded indebtedness; for the increase or decrease of the same; for the change of name; for the dissolution or consolidation of corporations, or for the filing of maps of railroad corporations.

To remedy this evil, and to impose a just and equitable system of fees, I would recommend that Section 416 of the Political Code, relating to fees, be amended as follows:

SECTION 416. The Secretary of State, for services performed in his office, must charge and collect the following fees:

For filing, recording, and issuance of a certificate of articles of incorporation (except railroad, telegraph, telephone, religious, or literary), the sum of ten dollars.

For filing, recording, and issuance of a certificate of articles of incorporation of any railroad, telegraph, or telephone corporation, the sum of twenty-five dollars.

For filing, recording, and issuance of a certificate of articles of incorporation of any religious or literary corporation, the sum of five dollars.

For filing amended articles of incorporation, the sum of five dollars.

For filing certificate of increase or decrease of capital stock, and issuance of certificate thereof, the sum of eight dollars.

For filing creation of bonded indebtedness, or increase or decrease thereof, the sum of five dollars.

For filing certificate of increase or decrease of the number of directors, the sum of five dollars.

For notice of removal of place of business, certificate of continuance of existence, certificate of dissolution or consolidation, the sum of five dollars.

For filing certified copy of change of name, the sum of three dollars.

For the issuance of certificates not otherwise provided for, the sum of three dollars.

For a copy of any document on file, the sum of fifteen cents per folio.

For comparing any document, the sum of five cents per folio.

For affixing certificate and seal of State, the sum of two dollars.

For recording bonds, the sum of five dollars.

For certificate of official character, the sum of one dollar.

For each commission, passport, or other document signed by the Governor and attested by the Secretary of State (pardons, military commissions, and extradition papers excepted), the sum of five dollars.

For each patent for land issued by the Governor, if for one hundred and sixty acres or less, the sum of one dollar; and for each additional one hundred and sixty acres or fractional part thereof, one dollar.

For filing trademark, the sum of three dollars.

For filing and recording notice of designation of agent, the sum of five dollars.

For filing maps and profile of the final location of any railroad, the sum of five dollars.

No member of the Legislature or State officer shall be charged for any search relative to matters appertaining to the duties of their offices; nor shall they be charged any fee for a certified copy of any law or resolution passed by the Legislature relative to their official duties.

All fees collected by the Secretary of State must, at the end of each month, be paid into the State Treasury, and shall constitute the State Library Fund.

FILING OF CERTIFICATES, OATHS, ETC.

The Act of 1895, providing for the formation of coöperative associations, requires the original articles of association to be first filed in this office, and a certified copy thereof to be filed in the office of the County Clerk. This is a reversal of the usual order, and erroneous, as the purpose in filing articles in this office is thwarted. As the law now reads, one is compelled to open correspondence with every County Clerk in the State, in order to ascertain whether or not a certain coöperative association is in existence; while with other corporations, the information can be obtained from this office.

The law relating to the time within which the oath of office of a Notary Public must be taken, subscribed, and filed is vague and indefinite, a source of menace to property-holders, and certainly should be amended so as to admit of but one construction by the different legal advisers and officials of the State. Section 907 of the Political Code reads as follows:

SECTION 907. Whenever a different time is not prescribed by law, the oath of office must be taken, subscribed, and filed within ten days after the officer has notice of his election or appointment, or before the expiration of fifteen days from the commencement of his term of office, when no such notice has been given.

The questions arise over the time of his notice, or commencement of his term. I would recommend that the law be amended so as to avoid any question as to his qualification, by requiring him to take, subscribe, and file his oath of office and bond within fifteen days from the date of his appointment or commission.

IN CONCLUSION.

To economize has been my constant aim. Retrenchment in the State government should receive the first consideration of every official; he is but a servant of the people, and often a dispenser of their money. It is due to the people of California, and to the taxpayers in particular, that economy should be enforced in all departments of the State government. One should not be extravagant or careless with public money.

If an appropriation of $100,000 be made, the sum should not be expended, simply because it is available, when a less amount will answer the purpose for which the appropriation was made. State officials should study how to save, not how to spend. The people should be enlightened, in detail, where their money is expended, and the necessity for all public expenditures.

The State Board of Examiners should not be clerical, but all that the title implies. Much is expected of the Board by the people, but it is not at present clothed with sufficient power. The Board should be the legal body to examine into all State affairs, and by doing away with the worthless but costly expense of having members of the Legislature make their biennial tours, the State would save thousands of dollars. It is very unsatisfactory to approve claim after claim presented to the Board without a thorough knowledge of said claims, the cost of the items of supplies in the open market, quality and quantity furnished, and the labor performed. The State should get value received in all transactions, and the benefit of a doubt when there is one.

An inventory should be made biennially of all State property; a debit and credit account opened with each institution and department, and all property belonging to the State properly entered thereon. The inventory can be made by the proper officials, without expense, and reported to the State Board of Examiners.

All public funds should be kept sacred and intact, for the specific purpose for which the appropriation was made; nor should any expenditure be permitted, nor a charge against the State created, unless the appropriations for said expenditures are previously made by the Legislature. The practice of enacting laws requiring the payment of public money without the necessary appropriations, thereby necessitating payments from other funds, following the custom of "first come, first served," causing a deficit in the General Fund, to the loss and inconvenience of regular claimants and officials, and opening the doors to deficiencies, is wrong in principle, works an injury to the people, and is vicious from a business standpoint.

All moneys received in behalf of the State, no matter from what source or by what person, should be paid directly into the State Treasury; and contingent and other funds not provided for by appropriations should be prohibited by law. No State money whatever could then be expended without being drawn from the Treasury through the regular channel.

It is not sufficient for an official to save what he can to the taxpayers by cutting down, whenever possible, the appropriation for his particular office, institution, board, or commission, by not using all the appropriation if he can avoid doing so, or by permitting no deficiency, but he should be equally watchful of other appropriations, claims for which pass through his hands. The official who makes no attempt toward economy is not doing his duty to the people, and is deserving of censure.

Officials should have a thorough knowledge of State affairs, for such knowledge is essential to the welfare of the commonwealth. Practical experience, coupled with close observation, application, and study, will give the requisite information.

From the condition of things, and as a result of investigations, one would be compelled to believe that but little care has been manifested in protecting the interests of the taxpayers. Frequently men follow in the footsteps of their predecessors, keeping in the same old rut, and following old-time customs, without thought or care of improvement, or of the welfare of their constituents. It is not sufficient that an official or employé should mechanically earn his salary; if he will, he can more than save his salary, and oftentimes much more, by a proper devotion to the welfare of the State. An official should have not only the desire to do what is right, but he should make it his business to go out of his way, if necessary, to investigate public expenditures and gain a practical knowledge, outside of his office as well as in it, of the necessities for the vast appropriations of State money that are made. He should go into details and familiarize himself with the conduct of State institutions, and ascertain upon what business lines they are being conducted. The transactions of this State are large, footing up millions of dollars per annum, and its affairs should be conducted upon strictly business principles.

Respectfully submitted.

L. H. BROWN,
Secretary of State.

BONDS

IN TRUST FOR STATE FUNDS.

Transactions in, and Interest Collections thereon.

The interest when due, and the principal on county bonds when redeemed, are payable at the offices of the several County Treasurers, thereby causing the State much expense in transporting the moneys from the places of payment to the State Treasury. Bonds of counties, in most cases, can only be bought at a premium.

United States bonds are only purchasable at a premium.

On account of these necessary expenditures mentioned above, which are chargeable to the various State Funds for which the bonds are held as a benefit, the bonds net a correspondingly lower rate of interest than is indicated.

NOTE.—An Act of the Legislature of the State of California provides that the aid given by the United States to State or Territorial Homes for the support of disabled soldiers and sailors of the United States, in California, shall be paid to the Treasurer of this State, who shall disburse such aid according to the provisions of the Act.

The whole amount is paid the Veterans' Home Association, located at Yountville, it being the only institution in the State, at present, entitled to receive such aid. The Veterans' Home also receives, in addition to the United States aid, moneys appropriated by the State of California for its support.

“ THE SAN FRANCISCO DEPOT ACT.”

Approved March 17, 1891.

STATEMENT No. 31.

Issue of Bonds—"San Francisco Depot Act."

Issued under the provisions of "An Act to provide for the issuance and sale of State bonds, to create a fund for the construction and furnishing, by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, of a general ferry and passenger depot in the City and County of San Francisco; to create a Sinking Fund for the payment of said bonds, and providing for the submission of this Act to a vote of the people." Approved March 17, 1891. Ratified by the people at the general election held November 8, 1892.

Bonds bear interest at the rate of 4% per annum, payable semi-annually. Bonds mature January 1, 1912.

REPORT.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 15, 1896. }

To the Honorable JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of the State of California:

SIR: In compliance with the provisions of Subdivision 4 of Section 470 of the Political Code of this State, and of Section 432 of the same Code, as amended in 1891 (Statutes of 1891, p. 65), I have the honor to submit my Biennial Report for the years 1895 and 1896.

I took office at 12 o'clock M. on the 7th day of January, 1895. At that time the business of the office was very heavy; and it has steadily increased, both in volume and diversity, ever since.

ADDITIONAL DUTIES IMPOSED BY THE LAST LEGISLATURE.

Under former administrations it was the custom of various State officers and State institutions to employ special counsel to conduct their legal business and to advise them upon routine matters. This, however, entailed an annual expense of many thousand dollars upon the State. Consequently, shortly after I took office, the Legislature, by an Act amending Section 472 of the Political Code, placed in my charge "all legal matters in which the State is in anywise interested, except the business of the Regents of the University of California and of the State Harbor Commissioners," and prohibited any "board, officer or officers, or employé of the State, except said Regents and said Harbor Commissioners," from employing any attorney "other than the Attorney-General, or one of his assistants or deputies, in any matter in which the State is interested," except with the written consent of the Attorney-General. (Statutes of 1895, pp. 66 and 67.)

The duties of my office were thus increased by the addition of all the legal business pertaining to the management of more than forty State institutions and boards, as well as that of all State officers and employés.

It was to meet this that the Legislature allowed me an additional deputy and clerk.

OPINIONS AND GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE.

It is my duty, under the law, to render opinions in writing to the Governor, the Secretary of State, the Controller, the Treasurer, the Surveyor-General, the Trustees or Commissioners of State Institutions, and District Attorneys, "upon any question of law relating to their respective offices." (Subdivision 6 of Section 470, Political Code.)

Since the 7th day of January, 1895, I have given 799 opinions in writing, and written 1,812 letters—an aggregate of 2,611 opinions and letters.

The work of this department has increased during my incumbency fully fifty per cent.

The scope of this work is very broad. It covers every variety of question arising under the laws of this State pertaining to revenue and taxation, school laws, registration of voters, elections, fees, county government, the management and control of State institutions, the duties of State boards, trustees, officers, and employés, and the allowance or rejection, by the State Board of Examiners, of claims against the State, as well as many general questions of law, and much general advice to District Attorneys and to members of the Legislature.

I may add that, notwithstanding its volume and complexity, the work of this department is well in hand; and there is not, when this report leaves the office, an unanswered official letter upon the files.

In addition to opinions in writing, I have also held daily consultations with, and orally advised, State and other officials upon various matters pertaining to the duties of their respective offices.

CRIMINAL CASES.

(a) IN THE SUPREME COURT.

It is my duty to attend the Supreme Court and prosecute or defend "all cases to which the State * * * is a party." (Subdivision 1 of Section 470 of the Political Code.)

This includes every criminal case in which an appeal is taken to the Supreme Court. These criminal appeals are also increasing.

When I took office there were 34 criminal cases on the docket of my predecessor of which no final disposition had been made. Some of these had been argued and submitted to the Court, but many of them were briefed or rebriefed and argued after I came into office.

During my incumbency, appeals to the Supreme Court have been taken in 143 criminal cases. This makes an aggregate of 177 criminal appeals upon my docket.

By referring to the Criminal Docket, which is annexed to this report, you will see that the work of the office in this department has produced excellent results. The percentage of affirmances is exceptionally good; and this is especially true of cases involving the higher offenses. Out of fifteen first-degree murder cases, where the penalty affixed was death, fourteen have been affirmed.

(b) IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.

At your request, I detailed Deputy Attorney-General C. N. Post to assist in the prosecution of the cases growing out of the lynching of one Littlefield in Trinity County. Two of the lynchers were prosecuted early in the spring of this year, and were convicted of murder in the second degree. The trial of a third has just ended, with a like result.

The office has also participated in the prosecution of, and prepared for prosecution, several cases in Kern County.

(c) IN THE POLICE COURT.

At the request of the Fish Commissioners, I detailed a deputy to prosecute, in the Police Court of San Francisco, two offenders against the Fish and Game law of the State. The first of these cases resulted in an acquittal; but in the second a conviction was secured. This put a wholesome check upon the violators of that law.

CIVIL CASES.

The civil litigation of the State has grown to be one of the most important branches of the office work; and it is steadily on the increase. Its recent and continued growth is due to various causes—among others, to enabling legislation.

(a) SUITS AGAINST THE STATE UNDER THE ENABLING ACT OF 1893.

On February 28, 1893, the Legislature passed an Act entitled "An Act to authorize suits against the State, and regulating the procedure therein." (Statutes of 1893, p. 57.)

The first section of that Act provides that "all persons who have, or shall hereafter have, claims on contract or for negligence against the State, not allowed by the State Board of Examiners, are hereby authorized, on the terms and conditions herein contained, to bring suit thereon against the State in any of the courts of this State of competent jurisdiction, and prosecute the same to final judgment."

The second section limited the time within which suits on then existing claims might be commenced to two years. This period of limitation expired on February 28, 1895.

By Section 6, it is made your duty "to report to the Legislature, at each session, all judgments rendered against the State and not theretofore reported"; and by Section 7 it is made the duty of the Controller to draw his warrant for the payment of any such judgment "whenever a sufficient appropriation for such payment shall have been made by the Legislature."

When I took office there were nine suits upon the Civil Docket which had been commenced under this Act. Since then, process has been served upon me in nine more.

Of the nine which were commenced prior to my term of office, none had been finally disposed of by my predecessor; and, with one exception, no proceedings, other than of a preliminary character, had been had in any of them.

The eighteen cases brought under this Act fall into four natural groups, in which order I will consider them.

FIRST—Cases Brought to Recover Damages Occasioned by the Alleged Negligence of the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

These are four in number:

(1) Chapman vs. The State.—This case was brought in the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco to recover $1,266 47, and interest from August 10, 1891, as damages for the loss of certain coal occasioned by the breaking of the Fremont-Street Wharf, of that city, in 1891. A demurrer by the State to the complaint in this action was sustained on January 30, 1894. Judgment on this demurrer was entered in favor of defendant; and an appeal was taken by the plaintiff. On December 4, 1894, the Supreme Court reversed the judgment, holding that the State was legally liable. This, of course, left nothing to be established but the facts upon which the plaintiff relied for recovery. Such was the status of the case when it came into my hands. It was subsequently tried before a jury; and, on August 8, 1895, a verdict in favor of plaintiff was rendered for $1,265, with legal interest from February 28, 1893, to the date of the verdict.

As the law of the case had already been settled, and as the damages were clearly proven, no appeal from the judgment which was entered upon this verdict has been taken.

(2) Kelley vs. State.—This was an action for damages in the sum of $50,000. Judgment upon demurrer in favor of the State was entered on March 1, 1895; and no appeal has been taken from that judgment.

(3) Nelson vs. State.—This was also an action for damages, involving questions of law identical with those decided adversely to the State in the Chapman case. The suit only involved $545 50, for coal and tanbark lost by the breaking of wharves along the waterfront of San Francisco.

The negligence of the State officers was fully proven, as well as the amount of the loss; and the Court, on May 28, 1896, rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $545 50, with legal interest on $445 50 from October 8, 1894, and on $100 from January 15, 1895.

No appeal has been taken in this case.

(4) Denning vs. The State.—This action is for $20,500 damages for injuries claimed to have been received by the plaintiff through the negligence of the Harbor Commissioners, while plaintiff was an employé of the State. It is now pending upon demurrer in the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco; it presents questions of law different from those involved in the Chapman case. It is my opinion that this case can be successfully defended.

SECOND—Actions to Recover Damages for Injuries Claimed to have been Sustained by Reason of the Alleged Negligence of the State Board of Agriculture.

These actions are three in number, and all grew out of the falling of a stand of seats at Agricultural Park, in Sacramento, during the progress of the State Fair in 1891.

(1) Melvin vs. State.—In this case the plaintiff sued for $25,554 50 damages, with interest. A few days after I took office I filed an amended answer on behalf of the State; and the case went to trial on January 21, 1895. The trial resulted in a verdict by the jury, in favor of the plaintiff, for $10,000, without interest.

I subsequently moved for a new trial. After an exhaustive presentation, by counsel for each party, of the questions of law involved, the motion was granted, on the ground that the State was not legally liable.

The plaintiff has appealed from the order granting a new trial, and that appeal is now pending in the Supreme Court.

(2) DeLong vs. State.—The damages sought in this case were $10,100, with interest. The same procedure was had as in the Melvin case. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $3,500, without interest.

Upon motion for a new trial, the judgment was reduced by the Court to $2,000; and the motion was then granted, on the ground that the State was not legally liable.

This case has also been appealed by the plaintiff, and the appeal is now pending.

(3) Mace vs. The State.—The plaintiff in this action sued for $3,000 damages; but from an examination of the records of the court it appeared that he had failed to comply with certain conditions of the Enabling Act. Upon this ground the State moved for a dismissal of the case, and the motion was granted.

THIRD—Indian War Bond Cases.

The Indian War Bonds issued by the State under the Acts of February 18, 1851 (Statutes of 1851, p. 250), and May 3, 1852 (Statutes of 1852, p. 59), have been the source of much litigation.

In Sawyer vs. Colgan, 102 Cal. 283, the Supreme Court of this State held that the State was liable for the face value of the Bonds of 1851; but left the ultimate liability of the State for the Bonds of 1852 undetermined.

Eight of these Indian War Bond cases have been instituted under the Enabling Act of 1893.

(1) and (2). The first of these cases were Molineaux vs. The State and Bates vs. The State, commenced in the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento, in September and October, 1894, respectively. As the liability of the State for the face value of these bonds had been determined in Sawyer vs. Colgan, the real question at issue in these cases was the liability of the State for interest upon the bonds and coupons subsequent to their maturity. The Molineaux case was for $4,500 principal, and for interest; the Bates case for $2,940, with interest. The lower court gave judgment in each case for the full amount prayed—in the former for $19,672, and in the latter for $12,619 40.

An appeal on behalf of the State was taken in the Molineaux case, and it was stipulated that the other case should be governed by the Supreme Court decision. This appeal was pending when I took office. I subsequently argued it before the Supreme Court; and that Court modified the judgment by disallowing the interest, which was all that the State contended for.

By this modification, the State was saved, in these two cases alone, $24,851 40; or nearly three and one half times the face value of the bonds and coupons sued upon.

(3) and (4). Davis vs. The State and Scott vs. The State.—The effect of the Molineaux decision, however, is more far-reaching.

Since my incumbency two other cases involving bonds and coupons issued under the Act of 1851 have been commenced—Davis vs. The State, for $35,260 face value, and interest; Scott vs. The State, for $1,600 face value, and for interest.

Judgment in conformity with the Molineaux decision has been rendered for the face value of the bonds and coupons in each case; but judgment for interest, approximating $125,000, was denied.

The Davis case has been appealed for the purpose of again testing the question of interest; but I do not apprehend any change of opinion by the Supreme Court.

(5), (6), (7), and (8). Reis vs. The State; Baldwin vs. The State; Mead vs. The State, and Davis vs. The State.—These four cases were brought to recover the principal and interest upon bonds and coupons issued under the Act of 1852; and the face value of the bonds and coupons sued upon aggregates $80,342 17.

The first three have been tried and submitted to the court upon briefs. No decision has, as yet, been rendered in any of them, nor have all of the briefs been filed. The fourth has not been tried.

The liability of the State upon these outstanding bonds and coupons of 1852 has, as I have said, not yet been determined. The question is an extremely close and doubtful one. However, should judgment go against the State, the Molineaux case must again control; and judgment can be given for the face value of the bonds and coupons only. This will result in another saving to the State of interest approximating $265,000.

It will thus be seen that the ultimate result of the Molineaux decision is to save the State about $415,000.

FOURTH—Miscellaneous.

(1) Fresno Milling Company vs. The State.—This action was commenced on November 16, 1894, to recover $490,000 damages for obstructions alleged to have been placed at the instance of the State in a certain ditch belonging to plaintiff. This action was dismissed on January 21, 1895.

(2) Holman vs. The State.—The object of this suit was to recover $280 upon a swamp-land warrant. A demurrer to the complaint by the State was sustained, and a motion to dismiss the action granted.

(3) Mullan vs. The State.—This was an action brought by Capt. John Mullan to recover the sum of $45,616 30 for services rendered the State in the collection of certain moneys from the Federal Government.

The suit was pending in the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco when I took office. A general demurrer to the complaint had been interposed; but it had not been argued. The demurrer was subsequently argued in the Superior Court, and it was sustained upon the ground that Captain Mullan's employment was made without express authority of law, and was therefore void. The plaintiff refused to amend, and judgment for the State was accordingly entered.

An appeal from this judgment has been taken to the Supreme Court, and has been briefed and argued, and is now on submission.

I have detailed these cases at length, for it was the evident intention of the Legislature that you should be kept fully informed as to all suits brought under this Act.

I wish to add that the judgments in the Molineaux, Bates, and Scott war bond cases have been paid, as there was a standing appropriation for that purpose made by the Act authorizing the issuance of such bonds. Therefore, the only judgments at present for the payment of which appropriations are necessary are those in Chapman vs. The State, and Nelson vs. The State. These, principal and interest, amount to little more than two thousand dollars.

(b) SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY VS. THE BOARD OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

On September 12, 1895, the Board of Railroad Commissioners of this State adopted a resolution to subject the then existing grain rates of the Southern Pacific Company and its leased lines to a reduction of eight per cent.

Subsequently, a schedule of rates in accordance with this resolution was prepared by the Board, and on September 26, 1895, served upon the Southern Pacific Company.

On September 13, 1895, the Board passed another resolution contemplating an investigation of the general freight rates, other than grain, of the Southern Pacific Company and its leased lines, and a twenty-five per cent reduction of those rates if such reduction was found to be feasible. This twenty-five per cent reduction, if made, was to include all reductions made in such rates by the companies themselves since December 1, 1894. No action whatever was taken by the Board under this second resolution.

On October 14, 1895, a bill in equity was filed in the United States Circuit Court for this district by the Southern Pacific Company (as the representative, under certain alleged leases, of nine railroad corporations comprising its so-called "Pacific System") against the Board of Railroad Commissioners of this State, to restrain that Board from taking any kind or character of action whatever under either of the resolutions above referred to, or from making any reduction whatever in freight or passenger rates upon the leased lines of the Southern Pacific Company, or from enforcing or attempting to enforce in any manner any schedule or schedules of reduced rates whatever upon such leased lines.

The grounds upon which this application for an injunction was made were numerous, the principal ones being, that any reduction in rates would be unreasonable and would render it impossible for the Southern Pacific Company and its lessors to meet their expenses of operation and fixed charges; and that the provisions of the Constitution of this State, creating the Board of Railroad Commissioners and prescribing its powers and duties, are in conflict with the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It will thus be seen that the ultimate result of this action is of vital importance to every citizen of the State; for it strikes at the very existence of our State Board of Railroad Commissioners.

The complaint was accompanied by certain affidavits in support of the application for an injunction. Upon the filing of this complaint and these affidavits, the Court issued a temporary restraining order against the Railroad Commissioners; and notice of an application to the Court for an injunction pendente lite was at once served upon the Board.

Owing to the importance of the case, and the immense amount of work involved in it, the Board of Railroad Commissioners employed, with my consent, Hon. Robert Y. Hayne, Hon. W. W. Foote, and Hon. J. C. Daly, as assistant counsel. For the same reasons, and as it is provided by Section 4 of the Railroad Commissioners Act, approved April 15, 1880 (Statutes of 1880, p. 45), that it is the duty of the Attorney-General "to appear in all suits and proceedings to which the Board is a party," and that such suits and proceedings "shall have precedence over all other business except criminal business," I at once devoted every possible attention to this case, from October 14, 1895, to May 19, 1896, during which time all other business in the office was promptly transacted.

Two days prior to the time set for hearing the motion for an injunction pendente lite, counsel for the Southern Pacific Company filed an amendment to their bill of complaint. This necessitated a postponement of the hearing.

On December 9, 1895, after notice and argument, the Court permitted the United States, for the purpose of protecting its interest as a creditor of the Central Pacific Railroad Company (one of the complainant's lessors), to intervene. This necessitated another delay.

Finally, the hearing of the motion was definitely fixed for January 6th, of this year. On January 4th, two days before the hearing, complainant filed an amended bill; but, on motion of the defendants, and to prevent further delay, the Court, when the motion for an injunction pendente lite came on to be heard, ordered the amended bill withdrawn. The hearing was then proceeded with.

During the hearing there were two continuances. The first was granted at the request of the complainant, in order that it might procure affidavits in rebuttal of certain evidence adduced on behalf of the Railroad Commissioners. This continuance delayed proceedings from January 21st to March 10th. The second was necessitated by the illness of Judge McKenna, before whom the matter was heard. It occurred in the midst of my argument; and was from March 19th to March 31st.

With the exception of these continuances, the hearing occupied the full time of Court and counsel from January 6th to May 19th, of this year—a period of more than four months.

The questions presented and argued were numerous, and the amount of work necessary to the presentation of the matter can only be appreciated by those who participated in it. Some idea of it, however, may be gathered from the fact that affidavits were put in evidence on behalf of the Railroad Commissioners aggregating more than two thousand pages of closely printed matter. The argument occupied twenty-nine days.

The motion for injunction pendente lite was finally submitted to the Court on May 19, 1896; but no decision upon that motion has yet been rendered.

(c) RAILROAD TAX SUITS.

Several vexed questions relative to the taxation of railroads by the State Board of Equalization have been finally determined since I took office.

FIRST—The Six Suits Brought by the State against the Companies Owning Roads in This State Which Are Leased to the Southern Pacific Company.

These suits were instituted by the Controller to recover the State and County taxes assessed upon the railroads of the companies in question for the year 1887. Judgment in favor of the State was rendered by the Superior Court; and an appeal to the Supreme Court had been consummated and the cases argued and submitted to that Court for its decision when the last Biennial Report of this office was made. (See Attorney-General's Report for 1893 and 1894, pp. 5 and 6.)

On the day before my term of office began, the Supreme Court of this State affirmed the judgment of the lower court in all of these cases.

Four of the defendants satisfied the judgments against them at once. The other two—the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company—sued out writs of error to the Supreme Court of the United States, on the alleged ground that their Federal franchises had been included in the assessments. The United States Supreme Court refused to disturb the judgments of the State courts; and these judgments were also satisfied.

This ended in favor of the State a long and bitter fight on the part of the railroad companies against the scheme of taxation prescribed for them by our Constitution and Statutes.

SECOND—Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company Cases.

The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, a Federal corporation, operates certain rolling-stock over that portion of the railroad of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which lies between Mohave and The Needles in this State. This company has, for a number of years, disputed the right of the State Board of Equalization to assess its rolling-stock.

On May 23, 1894, the receivers of this company commenced an action in the United States Circuit Court for this district against the State Treasurer to recover taxes for the year 1895, which had been paid by the company under protest. This case was entitled Reinhart, etc., et al. vs. McDonald, and was pending, upon an unargued demurrer to the complaint, when I took office.

The demurrer was submitted on briefs last October; and the questions involved were thoroughly argued to the Court. The cause was decided on August 17th of this year, our demurrer being sustained, the Court holding that the assessment was properly levied.

In addition to representing the State, through its Treasurer, in this case, I have also filed, in the name of the State, two petitions in the receivership proceedings against this company, now pending in the United States Circuit Court, for the taxes of 1894 and 1895, which the company refused to pay. The right of the State to recover upon these petitions was determined by the decision in the Reinhart case, in favor of the State.

THIRD—Other Railroad Taxes.

Two other small railroad companies have, during my incumbency, failed to pay their taxes within the time prescribed by law. In one instance I succeeded in obtaining a settlement without suit. In the other, I have commenced proceedings to enforce payment.

(d) OAKLAND WATER FRONT CASES.

FIRST—In the Supreme Court of the United States.

On November 9, 1893, a suit in equity was commenced by my predecessor in the Supreme Court of the United States against the Southern Pacific Company, a Kentucky corporation, to quiet the title of the State to certain portions of the Oakland water front property. This had been briefed, argued, and submitted to the Court for its decision before my term of office began. The Court held that the City of Oakland and the Oakland Water Front Company, a California corporation, were indispensable parties defendant; and that it was without jurisdiction to entertain an original controversy between a State and citizens of another State and of the same State. For this reason, the suit was, on March 18, 1895, dismissed by the Court.

A memorandum of costs and a notice of motion to tax the same before the Clerk of the United States Supreme Court were served upon me shortly after the dismissal of the suit. The amount of costs claimed by the defendant was $7,765 89. I demanded a specification of items, with the result that the amount claimed was reduced to $6,143 39. I immediately made every preparation to appear before the Clerk of the Court at Washington and resist the taxation of these costs. A few days before the time set for the hearing of this matter, I received a letter from that official, in which he stated that "If there is any contention between the parties as to what is proper to be taxed, it will have to be made before the court when it meets at the next term. There is no provision of law for my hearing or deciding any contention as to taxation, and, for this reason, it will not be necessary for the parties to be here on the date noticed for the taxation."

Relying upon this letter, I did not appear before the Clerk "on the date noticed for the taxation." Very much to my surprise, however, I received a letter from that Clerk, a few weeks later, stating that the costs had been taxed on that date at $6,025 35, and requesting me to "collect and remit the amount."

I immediately moved the Court to annul this taxation of the costs by the Clerk, and to order a re-taxation, so that I might be afforded an opportunity to appear and resist the matter on behalf of the State. I based this motion upon the extraordinary and inexcusable action of the Clerk. The motion was very promptly granted.

The date for re-taxation was finally fixed for May 2d of this year. I therefore prepared and filed a brief resisting the taxation of the costs, upon various grounds. I have never received any official notification of what action, if any, was taken by the Clerk of the Supreme Court in this matter.

SECOND—In the Supreme Court of this State.

The case of People of the State of California vs. The Oakland Water Front Company, and others, referred to at page 12 of the last Biennial Report of this office, is still pending in the Supreme Court of this State. I obtained permission of that Court to file some additional points and authorities in that case; and it was submitted to the Court for its final decision on August 10th last.

The submission of this case was delayed in order that it might be considered by the Supreme Court in connection with a number of cases brought by the City of Oakland affecting the same property and involving some of the same questions.

(e) NATIONAL BANK TAXATION.

The right to tax the personal property of National Banks, and the taxation of the shares of such banks in the hands of stockholders, are unsettled questions in this State. At the request of the State Board of Equalization, I made a thorough examination of the law bearing upon both of these propositions, and advised that they be tested in the courts.

At the request of the Controller, I have recently instituted a suit in the name of the State against the National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co., of Sacramento. This suit is to recover taxes upon both the real and personal property of that bank; and in it the question as to the right to tax such personal property is involved.

(f) STATE BANK CASES.

By Section 11 of the Bank Commissioners Act, as amended in 1895 (Statutes of 1895, pp. 175 and 176), it is made my duty, upon notification, by the Bank Commissioners, of certain matters enumerated in that section, to institute injunction proceedings against insolvent banks and their directors.

I have commenced suits of this character against the following banking corporations:

The Merced Bank;
Perris Valley Bank;
Savings Bank of San Diego County;
Riverside Banking Company;
Bank of Mendocino; and Bank of National City.

In all of these cases, excepting that against the Bank of National City (which was commenced only a few days since), the injunctions sought have been granted; and the business of the corporations proceeded against is now being wound up under the supervision of the Board of Bank Commissioners.

These cases involve much time and work; and necessitate one or two trips to each of the counties in which the banks are located.

(g) LEAVE-TO-SUE CASES.

On the docket of my predecessor there were 37 "leave-to-sue" cases undisposed of when I took office. Since then I have granted permission to use the name of the State in 42 cases. The status of these cases is shown by the copy of my "Leave-to-Sue" Docket, annexed to this report.

(h) MISCELLANEOUS.

In addition to the civil cases I have specifically mentioned—38 in number—and the "leave-to-sue" cases, there are 120 others upon my dockets, involving various questions of more or less importance. The procedure in all, and the present status or former disposition of each, are shown in the copies of my Civil Dockets, which accompany this report.

It will thus be seen that during my incumbency the civil cases upon the dockets of my office number 158; and the civil and "leave-to-sue" cases together number 237.

STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

One of the most important, and at the same time one of the most arduous, of my official duties is serving as a member of the State Board of Examiners.

With the exception of the period during which, under the law, it was my duty to devote my entire time and attention not required by criminal business to the Railroad Commission case, I have attended, either in person, or by my Assistant, almost every meeting of the Board. In fact, I have attended more meetings than a literal performance of my duty in that regard would have required; for, in order to facilitate matters and to accommodate those having claims against the State, the Board has, during most of the present administration, held weekly instead of the statutory bi-weekly meetings.

Furthermore, in addition to passing orally upon a large number of legal questions arising during the Board meetings, I have given the Board more than eighty written opinions upon every variety of subject, many of them embracing from two to six questions. Thirty-seven of these written opinions, involving the rejection or allowance of more than fifty claims against the State, and the examination of several complicated abstracts of proceedings for the issuance of county bonds, were given during the pendency of the proceedings in the Railroad Commission case.

LIBRARY.

When I took office, the entire working library at my disposal consisted of two broken sets of California Reports, Codes, and Statutes, a few old text-books on criminal law, and a partial set of United States Statutes at Large. Its total inadequacy was so manifest that the Legislature passed the following Act, which was approved on March 16, 1895 (Statutes of 1895, p. 65):

SECTION 1. The State Librarian is hereby required to supply the office of the Attorney-General with all the law books deemed necessary by the Attorney-General for the conduct of the business of said office. Such books shall be taken from the Law Library of the State when the same are in possession of the library in duplicate, and transferred by him to the Attorney-General's office for permanent use therein; and when such books are not so possessed in duplicate, the State Librarian shall purchase the same for said purpose, and he shall from time to time thereafter so supply such further books as the Attorney-General may require. The Controller of the State shall draw his warrant on the order of the Librarian for the amounts necessary for such purchases, not to exceed five thousand dollars, and the Treasurer is hereby required to pay the same out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SEC. 2. This Act shall take effect immediately.

Under this Act the library of the office has grown to be one of nearly fifteen hundred volumes; and while some of the duplicate books supplied by the State Librarian from the State Library are old editions, those which have been purchased are well selected, and have proved indispensable.

Of the $5,000 appropriated by the Act, only $2,781 54 has been expended. Therefore, there is still an unexpended balance of $2,218 46.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES.

For the last half of the forty-sixth fiscal year—January 7 to June 30, 1895 (the first six months of my term), the expenses of the office, other than official salaries, amounted to $1,892 73.

For the first half of the same fiscal year (the six months immediately preceding my term), the expenses of the office, other than salaries, aggregated $2,100 99.

This shows a decrease in the expenditures of the office, notwithstanding the fact that at the beginning of my term it became necessary to incur the extra expense of moving into and fitting up new offices in San Francisco, including shelving for the library.

For the forty-seventh fiscal year, which ended on the 30th of last

June, the general appropriations for my office, other than salaries, were as follows:

For postage, expressage, telegraphing, and contingent expenses....	$500 00
For costs and expenses of suits wherein the State is a party in interest.....	3,000 00
For traveling expenses	500 00
For office rent in San Francisco.....	480 00
Total	$4,480 00

Out of these appropriations, I made during that year the following expenditures:

For postage, contingent expenses, etc.....	$499 53
For traveling expenses.....	172 60
For costs and expenses of suits.....	1,023 27
For rent San Francisco office.....	480 00
Total	$2,175 40

This left an unexpended balance of $2,304 60, or more than half of the appropriations, which was covered back into the Treasury.

This compares even more favorably with the expenditures of past years. In the forty-third fiscal year the expenses of the office, exclusive of salaries, amounted to $4,684 50; for the forty-fourth, $4,593 75; and for the forty-fifth, $3,233 25.

While, in the aggregate, the annual appropriations are sufficient to meet the current expenses of the office, they are not properly apportioned. Both the appropriation for contingent expenses and that for rent of the San Francisco office are too small. This is particularly true of the latter.

Annexed to this report are copies of all my dockets, showing the present status of all State litigation.

Respectfully submitted.

W. F. FITZGERALD,
Attorney-General.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

ADJUTANT-GENERAL

OF THE

STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

1895-1896.

SACRAMENTO:

A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.

1896.

REPORT.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 1, 1896.

GOVERNOR JAMES H. BUDD, Commander-in-Chief, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to herewith transmit my report for the two years ending June 30, 1896, as required by law.

On assuming the office of Adjutant-General, on May 24, 1895, I found the National Guard to consist of eight regiments of infantry, one battalion of two companies of infantry, one regiment of heavy artillery, drilling as infantry, two light batteries, one troop of cavalry, and four companies of naval reserves. This constituted sixty-five companies of infantry, two light batteries, one troop of cavalry, four companies of naval militia, and attached to the brigades were four signal corps.

The aggregate strength of the Guard at that time (June 30, 1895) was 4,743 officers and men.

Acting upon the recommendation of the Board of Location and Organization of the National Guard, and in accordance with the provisions of Section 1912 of the Political Code of the State of California, approved March 26, 1895, on June 29, 1895, the following companies of the National Guard were mustered out of the service, in order not to exceed the maximum allowed by the State Legislature, viz., 69 companies of all arms of the service: Company B, Second Infantry; Company H, First Infantry; Company C, Third Infantry; Company B, Tenth Infantry Battalion, and First Troop of Cavalry, in San Francisco.

On July 23, 1895, Company B, Naval Battalion, was consolidated with Companies C and D.

Light Batteries A and B were changed into troops of cavalry, known respectively as Troop A, in San Francisco, and Troop B, in Sacramento.

Application being made by the citizens of Los Angeles, and of Salinas City, duly approved, a troop of cavalry was organized in each of said places, and attached to the First Brigade.

The Signal Corps of Stockton, formerly of the Third Brigade, was mustered out, and the equipments belonging thereto were turned over to Lieut. Fred L. Martin, Signal Corps of Sacramento, now known as the Signal Corps of the Third Brigade.

Upon application of the citizens of Santa Cruz, duly approved, there was organized a Company of Naval Reserve at that place.

On November 30, 1895, the Board of Location and Organization met in San Francisco, and formulated the recommendations which will be found in this report (pp. 207-210). In accordance therewith, General Orders No. 17, series of 1895, was issued, carrying out the recommendations of said Board.

This leaves the Guard, at its present standing, consisting of three brigades, five regiments of infantry, five divisions of naval reserve, and four troops of cavalry, numbering 4,202 officers and men, and one cadet company attached to First Infantry, and numbering 55 officers and men.

The new enlistments being made are very encouraging, and I am satisfied that the time is near at hand when the Guard will have reached its highest maximum of strength.

By the reorganization of the Guard, under the Act of March 26, 1895, the six brigades, nine regiments, and one battalion organizations were consolidated into three brigades, five regiments of infantry, one battalion of naval militia, and four unattached troops of cavalry, and dispensing with about 150 commissioned officers.

ARMS.

Since I have assumed the duties of Adjutant-General I have corresponded with every Adjutant-General in the United States, as well as with the War and Ordnance departments at Washington, also with members of Congress from this State, relative to the exchange of the Springfield rifles, model of 1873, of which we have about 2,300 (many of which are obsolete and useless), for Springfield rifles, model of 1884, as the Government has adopted the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, and has a large number of the improved Springfields which are not in use. The Ordnance Department in Washington informed me that it was necessary to have a special Act of Congress allowing the exchange of these guns. Senator Hawley, at the last session of Congress, introduced a bill in the Senate for that purpose, and there was also a bill introduced in the House by Mr. Curtis of New York; but neither of these have yet become a law, although favorably reported on by the Committee on Military Affairs; and I trust that at the next session of Congress we will be able to get these bills passed, which will allow the exchange of these arms, and will also allow the various States to purchase, from the Government, clothing and other equipments (which are not issued under the Government allotment), at manufacturers' prices. The committee of National Guard officers, which has this matter in charge at Washington, is working earnestly in this direction, and is being aided by the Adjutants-General throughout the United States, who request their members of Congress to lend all assistance possible in the passage of these bills, and in this connection I will say that the Secretary of War and the Chief of Ordnance have heartily recommended the passage of such laws.

EQUIPMENTS.

The National Guard at the present time is equipped with the Springfield rifle, models of 1873 and 1884. Those of 1873 model are, in many instances, obsolete and useless.

The Guard is very much in need of overcoats and blankets. We have this year received from the United States Government haversacks, canteens, and meat cans sufficient to supply the present members of the Guard. I am in hopes, under our next Government allotment, to have all the equipments that are necessary, except clothing, for the use of the Guard.

Since I have taken office there has been no disturbance in which there has been any necessity or intimation of the necessity of calling the Guard into service, and I trust that this state of affairs may ever continue. But we must adopt the old maxim, "In time of peace prepare for war."

THE ENROLLED MILITIA.

The report of the Adjutant-General for the year 1895 shows that 202,735 persons of this State are subject to military duty; this is a gain of 14,663 over 1894. I find that it is very difficult to get the military rolls from the Assessors of the several counties of the State, in accordance with Section 1897 of the Political Code, and the attention of the Brigade Commanders is especially called to the provisions of Section 1898, Political Code, with the request that they see that the law relating to these rolls is complied with.

NAVAL BATTALION.

The Naval Battalion now consists of five divisions, one located in San Diego, one in Santa Cruz, two in San Francisco, and one in Eureka, and constitutes a battalion under command of Lieutenant-Commander L. H. Turner.

This branch of the service is making much progress in equipments and efficiency, and during the summer of 1895 were permitted a cruise on board the U. S. cruiser "Olympia," and in 1896 had the advantage of drilling on board the "Philadelphia" and "Monadnock." Too much praise cannot be given to the officers of the United States Navy for the courtesies they have extended to the National Guard officers of this State, and especially to those in command of the Naval Battalion.

We have the monitor "Comanche," which has been furnished by the Government for the purpose of the men's drilling and exercising aboard of her. I would recommend that there be an appropriation of $5,000 for the purpose of purchasing coal and necessary supplies and provisions, so that the men may be able to go aboard of the "Comanche" and have a chance to take her around the bay and outside for drill purposes, and then when aboard they may be fed and taken care of. The Harbor Commissioners have very kindly built a boat-house for the Naval Battalion in San Francisco, where we have a full supply of boats. We have also received from the United States Government, and attached to the "Comanche," the steam launch formerly belonging to the ship "Mohican."

The Naval Battalion in San Francisco has a light battery of four three-pound rapid-firing guns, in which it is well drilled and disciplined, and can be made very efficient in case of emergency.

I would recommend the passage of a law that we may have at least two more divisions of Naval Battalion. The United States Government, through the Navy Department, is very liberal in their appropriations for equipping and maintaining the naval militia with first-class arms and equipments.

UNIFORMS.

The National Guard of California has not had an appropriation for the purchase of uniforms since 1893. Many of the uniforms are badly worn, and should be replaced, and I urgently request that the next Legislature be asked to make the necessary appropriation for that purpose.

ENCAMPMENTS.

In June, 1895, Capt. F. de L. Carrington, of the First Infantry, U. S. Army, was temporarily detailed by the War Department to inspect the encampments of the National Guard of California; but owing to there being no appropriation, only a limited number of encampments were held, viz.: the Fifth Infantry at Petaluma, Second Infantry at Vallejo, Third Brigade Signal Corps at Auburn, Second Artillery at Ukiah, and part of the Seventh Infantry in Los Angeles County. These encampments were inspected thoroughly by Captain Carrington.

In September, 1895, after personal application of myself to the Secretary of War, Capt. F. de L. Carrington was detailed permanently on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, N. G. C., and his services have been of great assistance to the National Guard of this State, as well as to my office. He is an officer whose interest is thoroughly in touch with the National Guard, and one who cheerfully gives his time and attention strictly to its interest and advancement, and the National Guard of California is to be congratulated upon having secured, from the War Department, the services of so highly and an efficient officer as Captain Carrington.

INSPECTIONS.

During the year 1896 there has been a thorough general inspection of the Guard and its equipments, by the Division Inspector, Lieut.-Col. J. C. Currier, and Capt. F. de L. Carrington, First Infantry, U. S. Army, who inspected the entire Guard of the State, and were accompanied by the respective inspecting officers of each brigade. Their reports are made part of this report, and will certainly prove interesting reading matter to all officers and men of the National Guard.

DEATH.

One of the sad bereavements which has befallen the National Guard, as well as the people of the State of California, was the loss of our Division Commander, Major-General W. H. Dimond. In him we lost a true, brave, and patriotic officer and a warm friend of the National Guard, and one to whose service, both as a soldier and as a citizen, the people of California may point with pride.

EXPENSES OF THE STRIKE.

The amount appropriated by the Legislature to pay for the expenses of supplies furnished during the strike has been paid out in accordance with the bills presented, and the fund is now exhausted. The amount to pay the troops in service is not yet fully settled. There are some checks outstanding which have been issued and not presented to the bank, and there are some in my possession which were returned to me by Col. F. S. Chadbourne, Paymaster-General, N. G. C., which have not as yet been called for, owing to the fact that the men are not known. The report of Col. Chadbourne, Paymaster-General, will be found on pp. 210-212 hereof.

There is now about $1,416 remaining unexpended and for which checks have not been presented, and of this amount there will probably remain in the neighborhood of $1,000 which will not be called for.

TARGET PRACTICE.

New rules and regulations governing target practice are now being prepared by the Inspector-General of Rifle Practice, and other competent officers, which will make very material changes in our target practice. I think the revised regulations will be much more satisfactory to the members of the Guard, and increase the interest of marksmanship very largely.

Each regiment has been supplied with a full set of silhouettes, for field work, and there has also been furnished to each regiment one set of bench-reloading tools, whereby they can reload their own ammunition at a cost of from $11 to $12 per thousand, thereby saving about $7 or $8 per thousand on ammunition, which will give the men that much more to expend in target practice.

In the year 1895, 1,827 men qualified for State decorations, and I think that liberal appropriations and hearty encouragement should always be given this branch of the service.

RECORDS.

Owing to the reorganization of and changes in the National Guard, it became necessary to make a complete set of new record books for this office, both for the records of property and of officers and men of the Guard. This has entailed a very large amount of laborious work, as the records were all found in a very bad condition, and it has been necessary to make inspections of companies and other commands to find out where the State property is located. It has also been necessary to send out circulars to the officers of the Guard in order to get their corrected records, but I am pleased to say that we now have in this office a complete set of records of the property of the State, and also of the officers and men on the active list, as well as those on the retired list.

An index of all officers of the National Guard has also been completed. This index covers about twenty years of time. This was "dead" work, but it was found absolutely necessary in order to properly keep the record of officers.

UNIVERSITY CADETS.

From the last report of Lieut. Frank L. Winn, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, University of California, the number of cadets receiving military instructions was 542.

The discipline of the corps is most excellent, and their arms and equipments are in good condition. There is much interest displayed in the matter of target practice, and there were awarded 33 State decorations to the cadets, for marksmanship, during the year 1895.

Lieut. Frank L. Winn, U. S. Army, is certainly to be congratulated for bringing this corps of cadets up to their present high and efficient military standing, since assuming the position of Military Instructor of the University.

Before closing this report, I wish to extend to you my kindly feeling for the generous support and aid which you have given me in conducting the affairs of my office. In you, the National Guard of this State has a warm friend and ardent supporter in its behalf. Having served many years in this connection, you are thoroughly in sympathy with it and its needs.

To all of the officers of the National Guard of the State I wish to extend my hearty and warmest thanks for the many courtesies and favors shown me while I have, in my humble way, been trying to work for what I have considered the best interests of the National Guard of California. The duty, sometimes, has not been a pleasant one to me. In the matter of organization, many things have become necessary to do which could not please all parties concerned. In this report, I wish to commend to your favorable consideration all officers and members of the National Guard of this State, for the true and patriotic manner in which they are striving to discharge the duties involved upon them as National Guardsmen.

Since the reorganization of the National Guard, it is in a much better condition and more thoroughly equipped, and will be more efficient should the time come when they are needed for active service, and I am satisfied that the National Guard will be able to take care of, and suppress, any outbreak that might occur.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First—I would recommend that the statutes regulating the National Guard of California be amended by the Code Commission in their report, so that it will not be necessary to introduce additional bills to the Legislature; and in that connection I would state that I am preparing, and having prepared, by competent officers, recommendations to the Commission for that purpose.

Second—I would recommend that the laws and regulations relative to the naval militia be so amended as to correspond, as nearly as possible, to those of the United States Navy.

Third—I would recommend the purchase of 4,000 new uniforms for the National Guard, 2,400 pairs of blankets, and 3,150 overcoats, at a cost of $58,750.

Fourth—I would recommend that brigade, regimental, or battalion encampments be held ten days in each year, and that the sum of $80,000 be appropriated for encampment purposes for the years 1897 and 1898.

Fifth—That the appropriation for armory rents and other incidental expenses be paid per capita to the company, not exceeding $100 per company, and that all moneys should be paid through the Paymaster's Department.

Sixth—That the State build and own its own armories in the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, and Sacramento, and such other places where there may be two or more companies located, as the amount that is now being paid for rents would much more than pay the interest upon the bonds required to build the armories, and the National Guard would have much better equipped and more commodious armories. Under the present system of armories neither the arms nor other property of the State is safe from the attack of any mob, as in many cases, all that is necessary to be done to procure the State arms is to break in a window, walk in, and help themselves.

Seventh—That a special Act be passed placing on the "Retired List" all officers who have served five years, or more, in the National Guard, and lost their commands by reason of the reorganization in 1895. Many of these officers have served faithfully in the National Guard, and it was by no fault of theirs that they lost their commands, and I think that they are entitled to be placed on the "Retired List."

Eighth—That the Laws and Regulations governing target practice be so changed that the Guard shall parade only once a year for target practice; that companies be required to have monthly shoots, and that all men obtaining a certain percentage, as may be prescribed by the Rules and Regulations, be entitled to compete for State decoration.

Ninth—I would most respectfully recommend that there be made an appropriation of $5,000, by the next Legislature, as a special fund, from which funeral expenses of State officials and National Guard officers can be paid. Within a period of one year the National Guard of this State have been called upon to parade at four funerals; namely, Lieutenant-Governor Spencer G. Millard, Governor Jones of Nevada, General John McComb (retired), and Major-General W. H. Dimond, and there was no fund from which any of these expenses could be paid, therefore creating a deficiency, and I think that there should be a special fund from which the Governor would be allowed to draw to pay these expenses.

Tenth—I most urgently recommend that the sum of $1,500 be appropriated by the next Legislature, to the Adjutant-General's office, for the purpose of defraying the expense of copying the records of the California Volunteers during the War of the Rebellion, 1861-66, on the card system, such as is kept in the Record Department of the War Department at Washington, D. C., and which system has been adopted by the State of Massachusetts and several other of the Eastern States. This system is most certainly necessary for the purpose of preserving the records of the California Volunteers, which are becoming very much worn and mutilated, from having to be examined so often.

Very respectfully,

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

Andrew W. Barrett, Adjutant-General of California, being duly sworn, says that the amounts certified to in the foregoing tables, under the heads of postage, expressage, telegraphing, cleaning and transportation of arms, traveling and contingent expenses of the Adjutant-General's office, were expended for the purpose mentioned, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General of California.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 3d day of October, 1896.

E. D. McCABE,
Private Secretary to Governor.

GENERAL ORDERS.

SERIES OF 1894.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,)
 ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, July 16, 1894. (

[General Orders, No. 9.]

As soon as the National Guard of California, now in active service, have been ordered to their homes, muster rolls in quadruplicate will be made out by all company and detachment commanders, showing the exact state of their commands, and the number of days' service performed by each officer and man. Colonels of regiments will superintend the preparation of these rolls, certifying to their correctness, and in addition will forward to these Headquarters duplicate rolls of regimental headquarters, field and staff.

Commanders of detached companies will also prepare their rolls in quadruplicate and forward through regular channels, one to be retained by division and one by brigade headquarters.

Division and brigade commanders will forward like rolls.

Brigade commanders will superintend the preparation of the rolls of the signal corps and artillery and cavalry detachments attached to their brigades.

Special care must be exercised in the preparation of these rolls, as they will be the vouchers for the payment of the troops.

The rolls will contain the names of all officers and men who have performed services in the field, and in the column of remarks will be shown, opposite each name, the date of entry into active service and return from same.

Before returning home, Colonels and commanding officers of detachments will inspect their regiments by companies, noting the condition of each company, and the exact number of officers and men in each. At these inspections Colonels and commanding officers of detachments will verify the presence of all men with their commands, including those not actually in ranks.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

C. C. ALLEN,
 Adjutant-General.

Official: ROBERT E. MURRAY,
 Assistant Adjutant-General.

IX. Leave of absence for eight months, with permission to leave the State, is granted to Captain A. B. C. Dohrmann, Staff Second Brigade. (Issued January 16, 1895.)

X. Lieutenant George H. Bower, Quartermaster Ninth Infantry, San Diego, is hereby ordered to inspect certain uniforms and equipments in possession of the commanding officers of Company A and Company B, Ninth Infantry, alleged to be unserviceable, and for which the said commanding officers are responsible. A careful report will be forwarded to these Headquarters as to the condition of the property, itemizing the same, and make such recommendations as to the disposition of the same as may be for the best interest of the service.

XI. Upon his personal application, and as provided in Section 1973, Political Code, Colonel Frank W. Sumner, Paymaster-General, is placed upon the Retired List, with rank of Colonel, from November 7, 1887.

XII. As provided in Section 1973, Political Code, Brigadier-General James B. Brown, commanding Sixth Brigade, is placed upon the Retired List, with rank of Brigadier-General, from February 8, 1893. To take effect March 15, 1895.

XIII. Before a General Court-Martial which convened at San Francisco, California, pursuant to Special Orders, No. 14, dated November 17, 1894, General Headquarters, Adjutant-General's office, and of which Major James F. Smith, Third Regiment of Infantry, is president, was arraigned Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C.

CHARGE I—"Knowingly making false muster and payrolls."

Specification: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C., while in command of the First Troop Cavalry, N. G. C., did make, sign, and forward to the Adjutant-General's office at Sacramento, California, official muster and payrolls of his troop, purporting to give the names and days of service of such members of his command as were on active duty during the months of July and August, 1894, which said rolls contained and included the names of Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, P. F. Mertes, G. W. Mertes, and T. Wessa, as performing duty as follows: C. F. Honan, 19 days; C. F. Krauss, 19 days; P. F. Mertes, 17 days; G. W. Mertes, 17 days; T. Wessa, 19 days. He, the said Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, well knowing that the said Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, P. F. Mertes, G. W. Mertes, and T. Wessa did not perform such service or duty as therein set forth, and that said muster was therefore false. This at San Francisco, California, on or between the 8th and 31st days of August, 1894.

CHARGE II—"Signing a false certificate."

Specification 1: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C., while in command of the First Troop Cavalry, N. G. C., did sign a certificate appended to the muster and payroll of his troop for the months of July and August, 1894, in words as follows: "I hereby certify that this payroll is correct to the best of my knowledge and belief." Wherein it appeared to the effect that the said roll exhibited a true statement of his said troop, and wherein it appears from said roll that Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, G. W. Mertes, P. F. Mertes, and T. Wessa were present for duty with said troop at certain times, when in fact they were absent from the same at such times, said certificate being thus in part false. This at San Francisco, California, on or between the 8th and 31st days of August, 1894.

CHARGE III—"Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline."

Specification 1: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C., did on or about the 14th day of September, 1894, unlawfully make and sign a demand against the State of California for the sum of six hundred dollars, for the quarterly allowance of the First Troop Cavalry, N. G. C., for the quarter ending September 30, 1894, and forward the same to the headquarters of the Second Brigade, N. G. C., for approval, and then to be forwarded to General Headquarters, and signed the said demands as "Captain commanding said First Troop Cavalry," when, at said time, First Lieutenant J. M. Brunson was in command of said troop, and the said Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg had been retired from active service, and from the command of said troop, thus unlawfully assuming to be in command of said troop, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline. This at San Francisco, California, on or about the 14th day of September, 1894.

Specification 2: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, did, on or about the 27th day of September, 1894, unlawfully issue written instructions or orders to First Sergeant W. A. Jenkins, First Troop Cavalry, to have rolls for target practice of said troop prepared, and signed such instructions or orders as "Captain Blumenberg, retired, commanding," when at said time Captain J. M. Brunson was in command of said troop, Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg having been retired from active service, and from the command of said troop, thus assuming to issue orders without any lawful authority, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline. This at San Francisco, California, on or about the 27th day of September, 1894.

CHARGE IV—"Conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman."

Specification 1: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, while in command of the First Troop Cavalry, N. G. C., did make, sign, and forward to the Adjutant-General's office, at Sacramento, official muster and payrolls of his said troop, purporting to give the names and days of service of such members of his said command as were on active duty during the months of July and August, 1894, which said rolls contained and included the names of Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, P. F. Mertes, G. W. Mertes, and T. Wessa, as performing duty as follows: C. F. Honan, 19 days; C. F. Krauss, 19 days; P. F. Mertes, 17 days; G. W. Mertes, 17 days; T. Wessa, 19 days. He, the said Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, well knowing that the said Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, P. F. Mertes, G. W. Mertes, and T. Wessa did not perform such service or duty as therein set forth, and that his said muster was therefore false. This at San Francisco, California, on or between the 8th and the 31st days of August, 1894.

Specification 2: In this, that Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, while in command of the First Troop Cavalry, N. G. C., did sign a certificate appended to the muster and payrolls of said troop, for the months of July and August, 1894, in words as follows: "I hereby certify that this payroll is correct to the best of my knowledge and belief." Wherein it appeared to the effect that the said roll exhibited a true statement of his troop, and wherein it appears from said roll that Privates C. F. Honan, C. F. Krauss, G. W. Mertes, P. F. Mertes, and T. Wessa were present for duty with said troop at certain times, when, in fact, they were absent from the same at the time; said certificate being thus in part false.

PLEA.

To the first specification, first charge, "not guilty."
 To the first charge, "not guilty."
 To the specification, second charge, "not guilty."
 To the second charge, "not guilty."
 To the first specification, third charge, "not guilty."
 To the second specification, third charge, "not guilty."
 To the third charge, "not guilty."
 To the first specification, fourth charge, "not guilty."
 To the second specification, fourth charge, "not guilty."
 To the fourth charge, "not guilty."

FINDINGS.

The Court, having maturely considered the evidence adduced, all the members and the Judge-Advocate being present, and having further considered the statement of the accused and his counsel, and having maturely considered the entire case, finds the accused, Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C.:

Of the specification, first charge, "guilty."
 Of the first charge, "not guilty."
 Of the specification, second charge, "guilty."
 Of the second charge, "guilty."
 Of the first specification, third charge, "not guilty."
 Of the second specification, third charge, "not guilty."
 Of the third charge, "not guilty."
 Of the first specification, fourth charge, "guilty."
 Of the second specification, fourth charge, "guilty."
 Of the fourth charge, "not guilty."

SENTENCE.

And the Court does therefore sentence him, the said Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, N. G. C., retired, to be discharged the service of the State of California.

XIV. In the opinion of the Attorney-General, "Finding 'guilty' on the specification, but 'not guilty' on the charge, is erroneous and contradictory, and such a finding will not support a sentence." Further: "In the charge and specification under consideration and the findings thereon, you have evidence of either very bad pleading or indifference and inconsistency on the part of the Court. * * * If the charge indicates an offense and the specification be properly drawn to sustain the charge, then this character of finding or verdict should be condemned; for the authority of the Court in reforming a specification is not limited in the direction that they may be made clear and definite, and it is justice to the party accused that such explanation be made when there is such an incongruous declaration as 'guilty' on the specification and 'not guilty' on the charge. In any event, charge first, and the specification to charge first, should not be construed as supporting in any degree the sentence of the Court.

"Of the second finding, charge second: Signing a false certificate is clearly in violation of the Thirteenth Article of War, and the specification, charge second, is sufficient to sustain the charge when so found guilty by the Court upon the circumstances surrounding and the evidence offered at the trial. This finding of guilty on both charges and specification is regular and sufficient.

"If the facts stated in the specifications to charge fourth will support the charge, then such a finding of 'guilty' on the specification, but 'not guilty' on the charge, is erroneous and contradictory. Such finding will not support a sentence, and in any event is to be disregarded. This species of finding is not commended in military practice, which should be concise, just, and unequivocal, having regard to the character of the party charged and the discipline of the military.

"The verdict on the second charge, 'guilty,' and specification of the second charge, 'guilty,' being a good and legal verdict, is sufficient to support the sentence."

XV. With the exceptions above noted, the proceedings, findings, and sentence of the Court are approved, and Captain Samuel P. Blumenberg, retired, N. G. C., is discharged the service.

XVI. The General Court-Martial, of which Major James F. Smith is president, is hereby dissolved.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

C. C. ALLEN,
Adjutant-General.

[General Orders, No. 5.]

The following Acts of the Legislature, approved March 26, 1895, are published for the information and government of all concerned:

I.

An Act to amend Sections 1912, 1919, 1923, 1929, 1932, 1942, 1962, 1970, 1980, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1990, 2003, 2004, 2007, 2022, 2024, 2027, 2040, 2048, 2076, 2083, and 2094 of the Political Code of the State of California, and to add one new section thereto, to be known and numbered as Section 1991, and to repeal Sections 1987, 1988, 1989, and 2005 of said Code, all relating to the National Guard of California.

[Approved March 26, 1895.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one thousand nine hundred and twelve of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1912. The organized uniformed militia of the State of California are known as the National Guard of the State of California. This force shall not exceed sixty-nine companies, of which sixty companies shall be infantry or artillery, as the Board of Location may direct, and five companies of the Naval Battalion, and the other four companies shall be distributed to such arms of the service as the Board of Location may direct. The National Guard must be located throughout the State with reference to the military wants thereof, means of concentration, and other military requirements.

SEC. 2. Section one thousand nine hundred and nineteen of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1919. All staff officers shall be citizens of the State of California, and except Surgeons, Judges-Advocate, and Chaplains shall be examined as prescribed for elective officers in section one thousand nine hundred and seventy-four of this Code before being commissioned. This provision shall not apply to appointees on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief.

SEC. 3. Section one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1923. All moneys hereafter appropriated for the purchase of service uniforms or equipments shall be devoted entirely to the purchase of uniforms and necessary equipments, which shall be the same as worn by similar corps in the United States Army, and nothing further shall be expended upon dress uniforms or equipments. Any regiment, unattached battalion, or unattached company may, however, adopt, subject to the approval of the Commander-in-Chief, a distinctive dress uniform and equipments, which may be worn on all occasions, unless otherwise ordered; but the expense of providing and maintaining such uniforms and equipments shall be borne entirely by the organization so adopting. There shall be a Board of three officers, to be detailed by the Commander-in-Chief, which Board shall meet from time to time, but at least once in each year, for the purpose of considering and recommending to the Commander-in-Chief what in its judgment is most urgently required for the uniforming and equipping of the Guard from time to time.

SEC. 4. Section one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1929. Any enlisted man may be discharged before the expiration of his term of service by order of the commanding officer of the regiment or unattached battalion, or if a member of an unattached company, troop, or battery, by the brigade commander, on the recommendation of his company commander, and also for any of the following reasons: To accept promotion by commission; upon removal of residence from the State, or out of the bounds of the command to which he belongs to so great a distance that, in the opinion of the commanding officer, he cannot properly perform his military duty; upon disability, established by certificate of a medical officer; whenever such commanding officer shall approve the application of two thirds of the members of a company requesting the discharge of an enlisted man thereof, and if, at a regular meeting of a company, or of a meeting called for that purpose, two thirds of the members of a company desire by vote the discharge of one of their members, an application for the discharge of such soldier shall be made by the company commander. Or he may be dishonorably discharged for either of the following reasons: Upon conviction of felony in a civil court; by sentence of a court-martial. A character shall be attached to all discharges. Every member of the National Guard dishonorably discharged from the military service of the State of California shall be disfranchised for the period of one year next ensuing such discharge. The discharges herein provided shall be made by the commanding officer of the regiment or unattached battalion, and in the case of members of unattached companies, troops, or batteries, by the brigade commander.

SEC. 5. Section one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1932. No dishonorably discharged non-commissioned officer, artificer, musician, or private, or member of a company dishonorably discharged from the National Guard, shall be permitted to again enter any company of the National Guard, except the offense is pardoned by the Commander-in-Chief. No dishonorably discharged officer of the National Guard of California shall be permitted to hold any office of trust or emolument, nor be permitted to again enter any company of the National Guard, except the offense be pardoned by the Commander-in-Chief.

SEC. 6. Section one thousand nine hundred and forty-two of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1942. The colors carried by organizations of the National Guard shall be such as are borne by similar organizations of the United States Army, except that the regimental or battalion colors shall have thereon the State coat-of-arms, instead of the arms of the United States; and no military organization provided for by the Constitution and laws of the State, and receiving State support, shall, while under arms, either for ceremony or duty, carry any device, banner, or flag of any State or Nation, except that of the United States, or of the State of California. It shall not be lawful for any body of men whatever, other than the regular organized National Guard of this State, and the troops of the United States, to associate themselves together as a military company or organization, to drill or parade with arms in this State, without the license of the Governor thereof, which license may at any time be revoked; provided, that students in educational institutions where military science is a part of the course of instruction may, with the consent of the Governor, drill and parade with arms, in public, under the superintendence of their instructor; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent benevolent or social organizations from wearing swords. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to arrest and punishment therefor.

SEC. 7. Section one thousand nine hundred and sixty-two of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1962. The companies, troops, and batteries of the National Guard shall be composed of officers and men as follows:

1. Each company of infantry shall have not less than fifty nor more than one hundred and three officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates, which must include one commissioned officer, and may include one Captain, one First Lieutenant, one Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster-Sergeant, four Sergeants, eight Corporals, and two musicians.

2. Each troop of cavalry shall have not less than fifty nor more than one hundred and three officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates, which must include one commissioned officer, and may include one Captain, two First Lieutenants, one Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster-Sergeant, four Sergeants, eight Corporals, two trumpeters, two farriers, and one saddler.

3. Each foot battery shall have not less than fifty nor more than one hundred and three officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates, which must include one commissioned officer, and may include one Captain, one First Lieutenant, one Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster-Sergeant, four Sergeants, eight Corporals, and two trumpeters.

4. Each field battery shall have not less than sixty-one nor more than one hundred and forty-nine officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates, which must include one commissioned officer, and may include one Captain, two First Lieutenants, one Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster-Sergeant, six Sergeants, eight Corporals, two trumpeters, two farriers, and one saddler.

5. The Naval Battalion shall be commanded by a Lieutenant-Commander. Each company shall consist of one Lieutenant, one Lieutenant Junior Grade, two Ensigns, and not less than fifty nor more than one hundred petty officers and men.

6. The numerical strength, rank, titles, and insignia of rank of the companies, troops, and batteries, and their officers and men, of the National Guard shall conform to the laws, rules, and regulations of the United States Army so far as the same may be effectively applicable; and upon changes being made in the said laws, rules, and regulations of the United States Army, the Commander-in-Chief of the National Guard shall cause the same changes to be made in the National Guard to correspond thereto so far as they may be effectively applicable as aforesaid.

7. Each company, troop, or battery may have not to exceed ten honorary members, who shall pay fifty dollars per annum each into the company, troop, or battery treasury, and shall thereupon be entitled to all the exemptions to which men on the active list are entitled, and shall not be required to drill or perform any military duty by reason of such membership.

SEC. 8. Section one thousand nine hundred and seventy of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1970. There must be an annual inspection and muster of the National Guard between January first and June thirtieth, each year, by brigade, regiment, battalion, or company, as may be deemed advisable by the brigade commander; and the commanding officer of each company must make out and certify the necessary muster rolls, showing the names and number of the members of the company, the officers in the order of their rank, and the privates in alphabetical order, and also a list of the ordnance, ordnance stores, clothing, and other property of the State, in the possession of the company. He must transmit, through the proper military channels, one copy of the roll and list attached to each superior headquarters.

SEC. 9. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty of the Political Code is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1980. There shall be mustered in and attached to the National Guard a detachment of signal men, which shall be divided into three signal corps, each to consist of not less than twenty nor more than forty men; provided, that each corps shall be located in its entirety at one place. Each corps of forty men shall be officered by one Captain, one First Lieutenant, three Sergeants, and four Corporals. Each corps of less than forty men shall be officered by one First Lieutenant, three Sergeants, and four Corporals. The commissioned officers shall be elected, qualify, and serve as is provided for other officers of the line. The non-commissioned officers shall be appointed by the brigade commander upon recommendation of the brigade signal officer. The brigade signal officer shall have direct supervision of the detachment of signal corps, and the corps commander shall report to him direct. Whenever the signal corps shall be mounted in the performance of active duty, each officer and man so mounted shall receive a per diem of two dollars during the time of such service. Whenever a State appropriation shall be made for supplying horses to mounted officers and commands, the signal corps shall receive a proportionate allowance from said fund; provided, that mounted service is being performed by the corps at such time.

SEC. 10. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-three of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1983. Regiments of cavalry and artillery shall consist of such troops, batteries, and officers as are provided for such organizations in the United States Army, when the National Guard shall contain sufficient troops or batteries to form regiments under those provisions.

SEC. 11. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-four is hereby amended to read as follows:

1984. The field officers of a regiment are one Colonel, one Lieutenant-Colonel, and one Major for each battalion. The field officers of a battalion, when composed of less than six companies and more than three, are one Lieutenant-Colonel and one Major; when composed of two or three companies, then one Major only. No person shall be eligible for election as a field officer unless he shall have served at least two years in the National Guard of some State; provided, that service in the regular or volunteer forces of the United States shall be counted as service in the National Guard.

SEC. 12. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-five of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1985. Such officers are elected by the commissioned officers of the different companies comprising a regiment or battalion; and if the regiment or battalion is already formed, by all the commissioned officers thereof, excepting staff officers, and they shall hold office for the term of four years. Upon application of the officers entitled to elect, the General of brigade to which such regiment or battalion is attached, or to be attached, must appoint a suitable person to preside at the election, who must give ten days' notice of his appointment, of the place of holding the election, and of the office to be filled, which notice shall be issued and promulgated as orders usually are in the command. The brigade commander may order an election for field or line officers if application is not made for an order for an election within two months after the vacancy occurs, or after the expiration of the term for which the officer was last elected.

SEC. 13. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-seven of the Political Code, relating to the formation of light artillery battalions in the National Guard, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 14. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-eight of the Political Code, relating to elections and appointments in artillery battalions in the National Guard, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 15. Section one thousand nine hundred and eighty-nine of the Political Code, relating to drills of artillery battalions in the National Guard, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 16. Section one thousand nine hundred and ninety of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1990. The staff of a Colonel commanding a regiment consists of one Surgeon, with rank of Major; one Adjutant, with rank of Captain; one Assistant Surgeon, with rank of Captain; one Chaplain, with rank of Captain; one Battalion Adjutant for each battalion; one Quartermaster, who shall also act as Paymaster; one Commissary; one Inspector of Rifle Practice, who shall be Ordnance Officer, each with the rank of First Lieutenant; one Sergeant-Major, one Principal Musician, one Quartermaster-Sergeant, one Commissary-Sergeant, one Hospital Steward, two Color Sergeants, one Battalion Sergeant-Major for each battalion, one Drum Major. All of whom shall be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Colonel, or until their successors are appointed and qualified.

The staff of a Lieutenant-Colonel or Major commanding an unattached battalion consists of one Adjutant, with the rank of First Lieutenant; one Assistant Surgeon, with the rank of Captain; one Commissary, who shall also be Quartermaster; one Inspector of Rifle Practice, who shall also be Ordnance Officer, each with the rank of Second Lieutenant; one Sergeant-Major; one Commissary Sergeant, who shall also be Quartermaster-Sergeant; one Hospital Steward, and two Color Sergeants. All of whom shall be appointed by such commanding officer, and hold office at his pleasure, or until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 17. A new section is hereby added to the Political Code, to be known and numbered as section one thousand nine hundred and ninety-one, and to read as follows:

1991. All Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons of the National Guard shall be of at least five years' practice in surgery prior to their appointment; all Judges-Advocate of the National Guard shall be members of the bar of the Supreme Court of the State of California; all Engineer Officers of the National Guard shall be regular civil engineers; all Chaplains shall be regularly ordained ministers.

SEC. 18. Section two thousand and three of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2003. The National Guard of the State of California is hereby organized into three brigades, each commanded by a Brigadier-General, the limits of each brigade to be fixed by the Commander-in-Chief. Brigadier-Generals and their staff officers deprived of their office by reason of the reorganization hereby provided for, are hereby placed on the retired list with their rank.

SEC. 19. Section two thousand and four of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2004. The three brigades of the National Guard compose a division, commanded by a Major-General.

SEC. 20. Section two thousand and five of the Political Code, relating to the attaching of new counties to brigades, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 21. Section two thousand and seven of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2007. The staff of the Brigadier-General consists of one Assistant Adjutant-General, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, who shall be chief of staff; one Engineer Officer; one Brigade Inspector; one Quartermaster, who shall act as Paymaster; one Commissary; one Judge-Advocate; one Inspector of Rifle Practice, who shall also act as Ordnance Officer, and one Signal Officer, each with the rank of Major; one Surgeon, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel; two Aids-de-Camp, with the rank of Captain, and two Staff Orderlies, with the rank of Sergeant-Major. All of whom shall be appointed by the Brigadier-General, and hold office at his pleasure, or until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 22. Section two thousand and twenty-two of the Political Code is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

2022. The Commander-in-Chief may annually order an encampment for discipline and drill, either by division, brigade, regiment, battalion, or unattached company, and all troops assembled and encamped under orders of the Commander-in-Chief for not less than seven days shall receive a sum equal to one dollar and twenty-five cents per day for each officer and man regularly on duty in such camp; provided, that the aggregate for each company of such last mentioned allowance of one dollar and twenty-five cents per day shall not exceed the sum of four hundred dollars per company; all officers and men shall receive in addition to the above allowance the actual fare to and from the place of encampment; and provided further, that when the division or a brigade is regularly assembled and encamped for discipline and drill for not less than seven days, then in addition to the above allowance, the Major-General, Brigadier-General, and each staff officer on the general staff, shall receive from the State the sum of one dollar and twenty-five cents per day while regularly on duty in such camp; and provided further, that in any camp held in pursuance of orders from the Commander-in-Chief, all mounted officers and enlisted men shall receive the sum of two dollars per day for each horse necessarily used by them at such encampment; and provided further, that by all officers and enlisted men of companies of the Naval Battalion such services may be performed afloat.

SEC. 23. Section two thousand and twenty-four of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2024. All mounted commands must drill mounted at least four times each year.

SEC. 24. Section two thousand and twenty-seven of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2027. Companies, troops, and batteries already organized may wear uniforms and equipments now in use, until supplied by the State with the service uniform and equipments; after which no uniforms and equipments other than those supplied shall be worn, except that a dress uniform may be worn, as provided in section one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three of this Code. No money of the State shall be used or applied to the purchase of the uniforms and equipments other than those in this section mentioned. All non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates of a company, or of a general, brigade, regiment, or battalion staff, the members of the signal corps, and of the hospital and ambulance corps, and of regularly organized and enlisted bands (which bands shall not exceed in number twenty-five each), shall be furnished with service uniforms and equipments at the expense of the State. Such uniforms and equipments shall be issued to the division, brigades, regiments, and companies, upon requisition, in such form as may be prescribed. The service uniform and equipments shall be issued to the several organizations of the National Guard upon requisition of the proper officer. The commanding officer of each organization shall be responsible for the keeping and return of all uniforms and other military property committed to his charge. Each commanding officer who shall receive uniforms and equipments, or portions of uniforms or equipments, for the use of his command, shall distribute the same to his command as he shall deem proper. The service uniform and equipments shall be furnished, as aforesaid, by a Board, which is hereby provided, to consist of three commissioned officers, to be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief. This Board is authorized and directed to purchase the cloth, arrange for its cutting, and also for its making, when required by the commander of any organization, and also to purchase equipments; and the bills of said board shall be audited, allowed, and paid as are other military demands. This Board shall also fix the maximum price or cost of the making of each article of uniform, and shall permit, upon proper requisition of division, brigade, regiment, or unattached battalion or company, to draw the money instead of the cloth, or the cost of its making, or either, and provide itself with a corresponding number or articles of uniform; provided, that the bills therefor shall be audited, allowed, and paid as other military demands.

Sec. 25. Section two thousand and forty of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2040. In case of the absence of the Commander-in-Chief from the Capital, or if it is impossible to immediately communicate with him, the civil or military officer making the requisition for troops may, if he deem the danger imminent, and not admitting of delay, serve a copy of such requisition, together with a statement of the Commander-in-Chief's absence, or the impossibility of immediately communicating with him, upon the division commander, or in his absence, upon the General commanding the brigade, who is authorized to exercise, with respect to calling out the troops of his division or brigade, the powers conferred in this section upon the Commander-in-Chief; but if the call is disapproved by the Commander-in-Chief, the troops so called into service must be immediately relieved from such tour of duty. Officers and men performing duty in response to any call as provided herein, shall, upon the proper rolls being approved by the Board of Military Auditors, receive their pay therefor out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and the State Controller is hereby directed to draw his warrant therefor, and the Treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same.

Sec. 26. Section two thousand and forty-eight of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2048. Where troops are called into active service from different brigades or regiments, and the number so called are not more than sufficient to constitute one complete regiment, the Commander-in-Chief must so organize them, and must designate the particular officer to command it; or he may make such other organization of said troops as he may deem proper, and designate the officer to command.

Sec. 27. Section two thousand and seventy-six of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2076. The following officers may appoint courts-martial:

1. The Commander-in-Chief, for the trial of general officers, retired officers, and all officers of the staff of the Commander-in-Chief.

2. The Major-General, for the trial of all staff officers of the division and brigades, and of field officers of regiments and battalions.

3. The Brigadier-General, for the trial of officers and soldiers in their respective brigades.

4. The commanding officers of regiments and unattached battalions, for the trial of all enlisted men in their respective commands. For the trial of enlisted men of regiments or battalions, the commanding officer thereof may, at any time, appoint a summary court-martial, to consist of one officer whose rank is not below that of Captain. For the trial of enlisted men of unattached companies, troops, or batteries, the brigade commander may, at any time, appoint a summary court-martial, to consist of a First Lieutenant of such company, troop, or battery.

5. The officer appointing said court shall fix the day on which it shall convene, and when convened the court may adjourn from time to time, as shall become necessary for the transaction of business; but the whole session of the court, from the day on which it shall convene until its dissolution, shall not exceed three weeks, and in case any vacancy shall happen in the court, or a new court shall be required, the officer ordering the court, or his successor in command, may fill such vacancy, or order a new court.

6. The officer constituting such court shall, before he enters on his duties as such, take the following oath: I, —, do swear (or affirm) that I will well and truly try and determine, according to evidence, all matters between the People of the State of California and any person or persons who may come before the summary court-martial to which I have been appointed. And such oath shall be taken by him before a Justice of the Peace of the county in which he resides, or a field officer, and it shall be the duty of such Justice of the Peace or field officer to administer the oath without fee or reward.

7. Such court shall direct a non-commissioned officer, or other fit person or persons to be by him designated, to summon all delinquents and parties accused to appear before the court at a time and place to be by him appointed, which service shall be personal or by leaving such summons at the residences of such delinquents and parties accused.

8. Such non-commissioned officer, or other person or persons so designated, shall make the like returns and with like effect as commissioned and non-commissioned officers are authorized and required to make in cases of warning to a company or regimental parade, and shall be subject to the like penalties for neglect of duty.

9. The court shall be conducted in the same manner as summary courts-martial are in the service of the United States, and shall have the trial of all offenses, delinquencies, and deficiencies that occur in the regiment or battalion for which it shall have been appointed, and also of any that occur in the separate companies, troops, or batteries; and the said court shall have power to impose and direct to be levied all the fines or penalties to which enlisted men are declared to be subject by the provisions of this chapter.

10. The proceedings and sentence of any such court shall, without delay, be delivered to the officer ordering the court, who shall approve or disapprove the same within fifteen days thereafter, and shall give notice of his approval or disapproval to the president thereof; and from the sentence of any such court imposing a fine or penalty for any offense, delinquency, or deficiency, an appeal, if made within twenty days after the fine or penalty was made known to the person fined, shall be allowed to the officer ordering the court, or to his successor in command, and he may remit or mitigate such penalty or fine.

SEC. 28. Section two thousand and eighty-three of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

2083. Courts of Inquiry are governed by the same rules as similar courts in the Army of the United States. They shall have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses when summoned by them, to preserve order in and about the court-room during sessions, and to punish for contempt, as Judges of the Superior Court have under the laws of this State.

SEC. 29. Section two thousand and ninety-four of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2094. There must be audited and allowed by the Board of Military Auditors, and paid out of the appropriation for military purposes, upon the warrant of the State Controller, to the commanding officer of each infantry or artillery company of the National Guard, the sum of one hundred dollars per month; to the commanding officer of each light battery having not less than four guns, with which they regularly drill and parade, and to the commanding officer of each troop of cavalry, the sum of two hundred dollars per month; and to the commanding officer of each company of the Naval Battalion, the sum of one hundred dollars per month; the sum so paid to be used for armory rent, care of arms, and proper incidental expenses of the company. There must also be audited, allowed, and paid out of the same appropriations, to the commanding officer of each regiment or battalion, the sum of five dollars per month for each company in his command, for clerical expenses, stationery, printing, and postage; and if the regiment or battalion has more than four companies, and has attached to it an organized and uniformed band of not less than twenty people, the additional sum of thirty-five dollars per month for such band; to the Major-General, four hundred dollars per annum; to the Brigadier-General of each brigade, three dollars per month for each company in his brigade, and to each company, a sum necessary for uniforms, and to keep the same in repair, not to exceed one hundred and fifty dollars per annum; and to the Adjutant-General, four thousand dollars per annum, to be expended by him in promoting rifle practice. There shall also be paid from the military appropriations of the State a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars for the first year of its existence, to the Brigadier-General for a hospital and ambulance corps in their respective brigades, which sum shall be expended in the purchasing of proper supplies, equipments, and medicines for such corps, and thereafter to such corps there shall be paid a sum, for the same purpose, of not exceeding five hundred dollars per annum.

SEC. 30. This Act shall take effect immediately.

II.

An Act to amend Section 731 of the Penal Code of the State of California, and to add a new section thereto, to be known as Section 734, relating to the suppression of riots and parading of independent companies.

[Approved March 26, 1895.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section seven hundred and thirty-one of the Penal Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

731. Whenever any portion of the National Guard or enrolled militia shall have been called into active service to suppress an insurrection or rebellion, to disperse a mob, or to enforce the execution of the laws of the State or of the United States, the commanding officer shall use his own discretion with respect to the propriety of attacking or firing upon any mob or unlawful assembly; and his honest and reasonable judgment in the exercise of his duty shall be full protection, civilly and criminally, for any act or acts done while on duty. No officer who has been called out to sustain the civil authorities shall under any pretense, or in compliance with any order, fire blank cartridges upon any mob or unlawful assemblage, under penalty of being cashiered by sentence of a court-martial.

SEC. 2. A new section is hereby added, to be numbered and known as section seven hundred and thirty-four.

734. It shall not be lawful for any body of men whatever, other than the regularly organized National Guard of this State, and the troops of the United States, to associate themselves together as a military company or organization, to drill or parade with arms in any city or town of this State, without the license of the Governor thereof, which license may at any time be revoked; and provided further, that students in educational institutions where military science is a part of the course of instruction may, with the consent of the Governor, drill and parade with arms, in public, under the superintendence of their instructor; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to prevent benevolent or social organizations from wearing swords. And any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to arrest and punishment therefor.

SEC. 3. This Act shall take effect immediately.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

C. C. ALLEN,
Adjutant-General.

All of the above officers having been transferred from Battery B, Light Artillery.

II. The following changes in the undress coat and undress cap for all officers except Chaplains, and the undress cap for all enlisted men, are adopted, to conform with G. O., No. 22, issued from Headquarters of the Army, Washington, D. C., April 12, 1895:

UNDRESS COAT.

A single-breasted sack coat of dark-blue cloth or serge, with standing collar fastened with hook and eye; coat to close with a flap containing suitable concealed fastenings, the skirt to extend from one third to two thirds the distance from the hip-joint to the bend of the knee, according to height of the wearer; cut to fit the figure easily; a vertical opening at each side of hip, according to pattern; shoulder straps and collar insignia to be worn. The coat to be trimmed with lustrous black mohair flat braid, as follows: Edged all around the bottom, the front edges, the collar, and for six inches upward from the bottom along both side-openings to the skirt, with braid $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches wide. This coat will be worn when full dress is not required. During the warm season this coat may be made of white duck or flannel, to be worn with white braid, but without shoulder straps or collar insignia.

On undress duty, a plain leather belt will be worn under the undress coat, the sword-hook emerging through the opening of the coat on the left side. For field service, or when the pistol is carried, the belt will be worn outside the undress coat when so directed by the commanding officer.

The insignia for officers' undress coats will be as follows:

For all officers, the letters N. G. C., Gothic design, of suitable height, embroidered in gold or made of gold or gilt metal, fastened to each side of the collar, one inch from its edge and midway of its height.

For all officers of the staff, corps, and departments, their distinctive insignia, without wreath, 1 inch high, embroidered in gold or made of gold or gilt metal, fastened to each side of the collar, about $\frac{3}{4}$ inch from the letters N. G. C.

For all officers of the line, the recent forage-cap ornament, 1 inch high, embroidered in gold or made of gold or gilt metal, fastened to each side of the collar, about $\frac{3}{4}$ inch from the letters N. G. C.

UNDRESS CAP.

Of dark-blue cloth, the diameter at the top slightly less than at the base, the height $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches all around; the seam around the top without a welt, and neatly stitched on each side. The band $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide, with welts projecting $\frac{1}{4}$ inch at the top and bottom, the bottom welt $\frac{1}{4}$ inch above the base of the cap. The visor of black patent leather, bound with the same, and molded to shape, green underneath, rounded and sloping downward from the horizontal. A rigid stiffening all around to extend from the base of the cap to within 1 inch of the top, and a hair-cloth stiffening throughout the remainder of the sides and top; four black-metal eyelets for ventilation, two on each side, placed above the band; a cap cord of gold bullion, $\frac{1}{8}$ of an inch in diameter, for the officers' caps, and a chin strap, like the one now in use, for the enlisted men's caps, secured at both ends by small regulation buttons, one on each side, immediately back of the ends of the visor. For general officers, a band of black velvet, and for all other officers, except Chaplains, a band of lustrous black mohair braid, filling the space between the welts. The cap badge for officers and enlisted men placed in front so that the top of the badge will be slightly below the top of the cap.

The cap badge for all officers will be the coat of arms of the State of California, embroidered in gold, modified in size to conform as near as possible with similar badge adopted in United States Army, and with the word "Eureka" omitted.

So much of this order as refers to the undress coat and cap for officers shall take effect on July 1, 1895; and that portion of it that relates to the undressed cap for enlisted men on the first of January, 1896.

III. The following changes are hereby made in the nomenclature of the various companies comprising the Naval Battalion, N. G. C. The entire battalion is to be considered as one ship's company:

- Company C to be hereafter known as First Gun Division.
- Company D to be hereafter known as Second Gun Division.
- Company A to be hereafter known as Third Gun Division.
- Company E to be hereafter known as Fourth Gun Division.

IV. The semi-annual parade for target practice, as prescribed by law and the rules and regulations, N. G. C., will take place during the month of September, at such times (Sundays excepted) and places as may be designated by brigade and regimental commanders.

Only such ammunition as is furnished by the State will be used in official scores. Cartridges have been sent to the several commands. Owing to the limited appropriation, actual expenses only can be allowed Inspectors of Rifle Practice.

Number of medal held by any soldier must be given in column of "Remarks."

V. In pursuance of the recommendation of the Board of Location and Organization, two additional troops of cavalry (Troop C, to be located at Salinas, and Troop D, at Los Angeles) are hereby mustered into the service.

VI. Officers elect of Troop C, Cavalry, First Brigade, will report for examination to the Examining Board of Second Brigade at San Francisco, at such time after August 15, 1895, as such Board shall notify them to appear.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, November 6, 1895. }

The specifications for forage caps, as adopted by the War Department of the United States Army, September 5, 1895, is published for the information of all concerned.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR FORAGE CAPS.

Cloth.—To be made of dark blue cloth, wool-dyed indigo, unless otherwise authorized by the purchasing officer; to be fifty-four (54) inches wide; to weigh not less than fourteen (14) ounces to the linear yard; to contain sixty-two (62) threads to the inch in the warp, and fifty-eight (58) threads to the inch in the filling; to be capable of sustaining a strain of not less than thirty-two (32) pounds to the inch in the warp, and twenty-eight (28) pounds to the inch in the filling; the cloth to be well sponged without refinishing, before being made up into caps.

Band.—The band to be one and one half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches wide, formed by the material of the body of the cap, between two welts, each welt at top and bottom projecting one eighth ($\frac{1}{8}$) inch, the bottom welt being one eighth ($\frac{1}{8}$) inch above the base of the cap; the band to be strengthened by a strap of strong split leather, about one sixteenth ($\frac{1}{16}$) inch thickness all around, and two and one quarter ($2\frac{1}{4}$) inches wide, sewed in between the sweat band and the body of the cap, with the lining of the cap between the two.

The height of the cap to be three and one quarter ($3\frac{1}{4}$) inches all around; the seam around the top without a welt and neatly stitched on each side; the diameter of the top from right to left to be six and one half ($6\frac{1}{2}$) inches, and from front to back seven and five eighths ($7\frac{5}{8}$) inches.

Visor.—To have a slanting visor of patent enameled leather, black above and green underneath, about one eighth ($\frac{1}{8}$) inch thick, and bound with black patent leather to a depth of about three sixteenths ($\frac{3}{16}$) inch, neatly stitched; the width of the visor from the lower edge of the cap to the inner edge of the binding at its widest part to be one and three quarters ($1\frac{3}{4}$) inches, and the entire visor to be moulded to shape.

Trimmings.—A small regulation button on each side immediately behind the ends of the visor for chin straps; the side buttons to be fire gilt; the chin strap to be made of good enameled leather in two parts, each part about ten (10) inches long and one half ($\frac{1}{2}$) inch wide, fitted with a stout fire-gilt slide on the end of the under part, and a leather keeper on the end of the upper part, through which the end finished to a point will project about one half ($\frac{1}{2}$) inch, to permit the strap to be adjusted at will; the sweat leather to be of Belgian leather, about one and seven eighths ($1\frac{7}{8}$) inches wide, turned on the upper edge and properly cemented, the lining of strong black satin, cut and shaped to the inner body of the cap, the crown of the lining to be made with an interlining of black muslin of good quality, there being an interlining of hair cloth of good quality, cut and shaped to the entire inner portion of the crown of the cap, extending from the top to the lower edge of the body of the cap between the band and stiffening and the body. Each cap to have four (4) black metal eyelets for ventilation, two (2) on each side, placed above the band, the center of each eyelet to be about five eighths ($\frac{5}{8}$) inch from the upper seam of the cap and one and one half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches apart from each other. Each cap to be finished with a loop of black mohair or worsted braid not less than one eighth ($\frac{1}{8}$) inch wide, and securely fastened under the sweat leather at the back of same.

The above specifications based on cap size $7\frac{1}{4}$. Materials, workmanship, and finish to conform to standard sample.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., May 16, 1896. }

[General Orders, No. 5.]

I. In compliance with Section 2018, Political Code, the National Guard of California will parade for target practice for the year 1896, in June and September, respectively. The parade will be by regiment or company, and at such times (Sundays excepted) and places as the respective brigade commanders shall direct.

II. Inspectors of Rifle Practice will have supervision of target practice, and the same will, as far as practicable, be conducted under the rules prescribed in Blunt's S. A. Firing Regulations. The distance for S. R. shall be 200 yards; the distance for pistols shall be 50 yards; the distance for carbines shall be 175 yards.

III. Members of Staff of Commander-in-Chief and "Retired Officers" will be permitted to report to any I. R. P. on any day of the target practice, in uniform, and shoot under his auspices.

IV. The ammunition furnished by the State and such re-loaded shells, only, as shall contain not less than 66 grains of powder and bullets weighing not less than 405 grains, for S. R. or Lee rifles, will be used at such target practice.

V. The State decorations for rifle practice for the year 1896 will be awarded as follows: To each competitor who shall make not less than 60 per cent in each semi-annual target practice, a bronze bar; not less than 80 per cent, a silver bar, and not less than 90 per cent, a gold bar—i. e., each competitor must make a score of at least 30, 40, or 45 in June, and also in September, to enable him to obtain the decoration of the respective class to which he shall be entitled.

VI. No competitor will be awarded either medal or bar who shall have attended less than 60 per cent of his company drills for the year ending August 31, 1896.

VII. It is the desire of the Commander-in-Chief to change the range for target practice of Springfield Rifle to 200, 300, and 500 yards for 1897, and to alter the Rules and Regulations, N. G. C., to conform to said change, and the attention of commanding officers is thus early called to this fact to enable them to make the necessary changes in their bulkheads to accommodate their commands to the new requirements above mentioned. Shortness of time necessary to make the changes in the ranges for the present year precludes the increasing of the distance for target practice at this time.

VIII. The Colt's revolver having been adopted for the N. G. C., S. & W. revolvers will not be permitted to be used in any target practice contest above mentioned.

IX. The following changes have occurred among the officers N. G. C., since date of G. O. No. 4:

First Infantry.

Reinhold Richter to be Captain Company I, with rank from March 2, 1896; vice Boxton, promoted.

Fifth Infantry.

Emanuel S. Heller to be First Lieutenant and I. R. P., with rank from July 14, 1892; original.

Sixth Infantry.

Frederick W. Ward to be Captain Company E, with rank from March 24, 1896; vice Byrnes, retired.

Gilbert L. Adams to be Second Lieutenant Company E, with rank from March 24, 1896; vice Ward, promoted.

William G. Dozier, Jr., to be First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant, with rank from March 26, 1896.

Seventh Infantry.

Robert Wankowski to be First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant, with rank from January 20, 1896; vice Landell, resigned.

John W. Musselman to be First Lieutenant Company F, with rank from March 9, 1896; vice Weller, promoted.

Joy A. Winans to be Second Lieutenant Company F, with rank from March 9, 1896; vice Musselman, promoted.

Troop D, Cavalry.

William P. James to be Second Lieutenant, with rank from April 7, 1896; vice Dana H. Burke, resigned.

Naval Battalion.

Henry B. Underhill, Jr., to be Lieutenant Junior Grade and O. O., with rank from March 17, 1896; vice Elliott, transferred.

R. Herbert Clement to be Ensign and Asst. O. O., with rank from March 17, 1896; vice Sullivan, relieved.

X. Section 1965, Political Code, prescribes the manner of giving bond for the security of State property, and paragraph 345, Rules and Regulations, requires Captains of companies to give new bonds for each term of two years; therefore, no demands for State allowance of companies will be approved until company commanders shall have first filed their bonds in A. G. O. as required by law.

XI. A Register of Officers, N. G. C. (active list), is sent out with this order; should any changes or errors in P. O. addresses have occurred, the officers will notify General Headquarters, in order to enable this office to correct the same.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 13, 1896. {

[General Orders, No. 6.]

I. In compliance with Section 2018 of the Political Code, the National Guard of California will parade on Saturday, the 4th day of July, proximo, in celebration of the 120th anniversary of American Independence. Brigade commanders will issue the orders necessary to carry out the provisions of his order, and forward to this office parade reports of their respective commands.

II. The Report of the Board of Survey convened by S. O. No. 6, c. s. (said Board consisting of Lieutenant-Colonel John C. Currier, Division Inspector; Captain F. de L. Carrington, First Infantry, U. S. A., and detailed on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, acting in conjunction with each Brigade Inspector within the limits of his own brigade, to wit: acting in conjunction with Major John W. F. All of the above-described uniforms that can be repaired, and thereby made serviceable, by using parts of articles badly worn in the repair of other pieces that are in better condition, company commanders will have so repaired, and these repaired uniforms will then be carefully packed away for service in the field or camp, and thereby preserving any new uniforms that may be issued hereafter, as well as the better grade of uniforms now in the possession of the troops.

The fact of the use of all articles that may be cut up to be used in the repair of other articles must be certified to by the company commander, and such certificate be forwarded to General Headquarters, when proper credit can be given for such articles so used.

III. Those companies and organizations not mentioned above, and to which no credit is given for uniforms and equipments condemned by the Boards of Survey, are omitted for the reason that the reports in these cases have not yet reached General Headquarters.

No United States Government property which was condemned and recommended to be dropped from the quarterly ordnance returns by said Board of Survey can at this time be approved by General Headquarters. Final action touching all United States Government property will have to be approved by the Secretary of War before any credit can be given commanding officers for any loss or destruction thereof.

The final recommendations of the War Department in all these cases will be announced from General Headquarters in future orders, when proper credit will be given those organizations entitled thereto.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
 Adjutant-General.

 ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, June 18, 1896. }

[General Orders, No. 7.]

I. It is with profound sorrow that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of MAJOR-GENERAL W. H. DIMOND, which occurred this morning, in New York City.

W. H. DIMOND was appointed Captain and Assistant Adjutant-General United States Volunteers, from New York, March 3, 1865; resigned July 8, 1865. Served, also, as a Captain of cavalry company in Honolulu, H. I. He was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel and Aid-de-Camp on Staff of Governor George C. Perkins, January 26, 1880; promoted to Brigadier-General commanding Second Brigade, National Guard of California, on December 14, 1881; re-appointed January 30, 1883, and February 7, 1887, and was promoted to Major-General Commanding Division September 28, 1887, and re-appointed April 8, 1891, and May 15, 1895, and was, at the time of his demise, holding said office.

To the exceptional force of character displayed by him throughout his career he joined a simplicity of manner and gentleness of disposition which endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. There is no one living of his acquaintance who will not grieve upon the receipt of the tidings of his death.

II. The funeral will take place from the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Van Ness Avenue and Sacramento Street, San Francisco, on Wednesday afternoon, the 24th inst.

III. The commanding officer of the Division N. G. C., will issue orders that the usual appropriate military honors be rendered.

IV. On the day next succeeding the receipt of these orders the National flag will be displayed at half-mast on the armories, as provided by paragraph 447, Rules and Regulations, N. G. C.

V. The regimental colors will be draped for the period of thirty days. (Two streamers of crepe, 7 feet long and about 12 inches wide, attached to ferrule below the spearhead, will be used.)

VI. On the day next succeeding the receipt of these orders a salute of thirteen guns will be fired at San Francisco at half-hour intervals, commencing at 8 o'clock A. M., as per Section 429, U. S. A. Regulations of 1895. Minute guns will also be fired while the remains are being borne to the place of interment, as also the salute at the grave, as provided by Section 430, said U. S. A. Regulations.

VII. Members of the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief will assemble in full-dress uniform at the California Hotel, in San Francisco, for the purpose of attending the funeral in a body. Colonel F. S. Chadbourn, Paymaster on the Staff of Commander-in-Chief, will make necessary arrangements for carriages for the Staff.

VIII. The usual badge of mourning will be worn for the period of thirty days.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

SPECIAL ORDERS.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
 ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, September 8, 1894. }

[Special Orders, No. 12.]

Brigadier-General John H. Dickinson, commanding the Second Brigade, National Guard of California, having requested the appointment of a Court of Inquiry as to the conduct of the troops under his command, including his own conduct, and it appearing to the Commander-in-Chief that, in justice to the entire Guard of the State, a thorough inquiry should be made as to the conduct of all the troops, including the Naval Battalion, participating in any manner during the late strike;

By virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, a Court of Inquiry is hereby appointed to meet in San Francisco on the seventeenth day of September, 1894, at the armory of Company C, First Infantry, at 10 o'clock A. M., and there prosecute its labors, without regard to hours, but with due regard to expenditures and the efficiency of its work. Said Court will inquire into the operations of the National Guard of California, called into active service during the late strike, and particularly as to the conduct of officers and men called into active service from July 3d until the arrival of the United States troops in Sacramento, July 11, 1894.

It will also inquire into the conduct of all troops participating, in any manner, from the commencement of said strike to its close. This work must be performed without regard to rank, prejudices, or preconceived ideas. Its investigations will be faithfully returned to the Commander-in-Chief, with its opinions freely expressed and its suggestions clearly enunciated. Said Court will bear in mind that it is due to the reputation of the Guard that its work shall be thorough, and its labors should be performed with that fact in view. The investigation is important, and the conclusions of the Court will be received by the Commander-in-Chief as official, and acted upon accordingly.

DETAIL FOR THE COURT.

Colonel Park Henshaw, Eighth Infantry, President.
 Colonel Frank W. Sumner, Staff Commander-in-Chief.
 Lieutenant-Colonel Stuart S. Wright, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain Charles L. Tilden, retired, Recorder.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

C. C. ALLEN,
 Adjutant-General.

Said Board will carefully inspect said property, and report the condition thereof, and make such recommendation for the disposition of the same as may be for the best interest of the State.

DETAIL FOR THE BOARD.

Major C. Jansen, First Infantry.
 Captain D. A. Smith, Fifth Infantry.
 Captain George H. Wethern, Fifth Infantry.

II. Lieutenant-Colonel Will E. Fisher, Aid-de-Camp, Staff of Commander-in-Chief; Lieutenant-Colonel George Stone, Engineer Officer, Division Staff; Major Victor D. Duboce, Inspector, Second Brigade; and Major Charles Jansen, First Infantry Regiment, N. G. C., are hereby detailed as a Board of Officers to examine the books and financial accounts of Companies C and G, First Infantry Regiment, N. G. C.

They will report as soon as practicable to this office, how all State money has been expended since January 1, 1892.

III. Leave of absence for sixty days from this date, with permission to leave the State, is hereby granted Lieutenant-Colonel W. J. Younger, Aid-de-Camp, Staff of Commander-in-Chief. Upon his return he will report in writing to these Headquarters.

IV. Lieutenant-Colonel N. T. James, Staff of Commander-in-Chief; Lieutenant Louis H. Turner, and Lieutenant Colin A. Douglass, Naval Battalion, are hereby appointed a Special Examining Board for the purpose of examining officers elect of the Naval Battalion, N. G. C.

V. Lieutenant-Colonel N. T. James, commanding Naval Battalion, N. G. C., is hereby ordered to detail an officer from the Naval Battalion, N. G. C., to inspect the books and papers of the late Lieutenant-Commander F. H. Stahle. Such officer will make a report to this office as soon as possible.

VI. All boats belonging to or in the possession of the Naval Battalion, N. G. C., will be painted black on the outside and white on the inside, and will carry upon each bow the letters "N. B." No other letter or mark, or name of any description shall be carried on the outside of the boat, except that barges and gigs may carry a gilt stripe below the beading, and coppered launches will have a white stripe, not over two inches wide, just above the copper. All boat masts, oars, and boat hooks will be kept clean and bright.

VII. The commanding officers of the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Divisions, Naval Battalion, will report at the end of each quarter all company property owned and controlled by them on a separate return from the State property returned every quarter.

VIII. Lieutenant-Colonel N. T. James, Staff of Commander-in-Chief, having been detailed as Inspector of the Naval Battalion, he is hereby permitted to wear the side arms required by the United States Navy.

IX. The resignation of First Lieutenant Marion M. Ogden, Commissary, Seventh Infantry, N. G. C., is hereby accepted, to date from December 1, 1895.

X. Upon his personal application, and with the approval of his superior officers, that part of Paragraph VII, S. O. No. 12, c. s., accepting the resignation of Captain H. L. Partridge, Company B, Fifth Infantry, is hereby revoked, and he is restored to his command.

XI. G. A. Carson, of the Signal Corps, Second Brigade, having, on June 16, 1892, been detailed under S. O. No. 10 as Orderly on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, he is hereby returned to his command as a private.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
 Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, December 31, 1895. }

[Special Orders, No. 14.]

I. Colonel R. L. Feeler, Assistant Adjutant-General, California, is hereby detailed to report to General M. W. Muller, commanding Third Brigade, for special duty. (Approved December 11, 1895.)

II. Captain Wm. R. Johnson, Company A, Sixth Infantry, N. G. C., is hereby detailed to act with Colonel J. J. Nunan, as a member of a special Examining Board, for the purpose of examining Major Frank E. Lane, I. R. P., on the Staff of the commander Third Brigade, N. G. C. (Approved December 13, 1895.)

RESIGNATIONS.

III. The following resignations are hereby accepted, to date from January 1, 1896, to wit:

George Reed, Jr., First Lieutenant Troop D, Cavalry.

William M. Simpson, Captain Commanding Company B, Sixth Infantry.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT.
Adjutant-General.

REPORTS.

INSPECTION OF FIRST BRIGADE.

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE, FIRST BRIGADE, N. G. C., }
SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., May 1, 1896. }

To the Inspector-General N. G. C., Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: In compliance with General Orders Division No. 1., c. s., General Orders First Brigade No. 2, c. s., and Circular No. 1 from Headquarters Division, under date June 1, 1895, relating to the annual muster and inspection, I have the honor to present the following general report embodying the consideration of matters not mentioned, or, if mentioned, only incidentally referred to, in my individual company reports already forwarded.

The annual tour of inspection of the First Brigade commenced at Ventura, Ventura County, on April 9th, where I was joined by Captain F. de L. Carrington, First U. S. Infantry, detailed on Staff of Commander-in-Chief as Inspector and Instructor. Later, at Santa Ana, we were met by Lieutenant-Colonel John C. Currier, Division Inspector, and from there we inspected together. A considerable portion of the time the Adjutant-General was with us. The troops inspected consisted of the Signal Corps attached to the brigade, Troops C and D, Cavalry, and the Seventh Regiment of Infantry consisting of twelve companies.

COMPARATIVE STRENGTH.

The Signal Corps consists of 20 men, in command of a First Lieutenant, and all but one man reported for muster, as will appear more fully from the tabulated statement hereto attached and marked "Schedule A."

Troop C, of Salinas City, Monterey County, consists of 4 officers and 81 men, and Troop D, of Los Angeles, of 4 officers and 58 men, as will appear more fully from the tabulated statements hereto attached and marked "Schedules B and C."

The Seventh Regiment of Infantry consists of twelve companies, and, with the First Infantry of San Francisco, comprises the only other twelve-company regiment in the State. The total strength, inclusive of field and staff, non-commissioned staff, band, and officers and men of the line, is 805, of which 51 are officers. Of the entire regiment only two officers failed to respond at muster—Major Fernald, absent in Alaska on leave, and Capt. Frank L. Baldwin of Company A, absent without leave—and 33 men. Percentage present, 95.5. The largest company is the maximum company of Capt. R. V. Dodge, of San Diego, Company B, with 103 officers and men. The next largest, Company E of Santa Paula, Ventura County, a town of 1,300 inhabitants, with 75 officers and men. The smallest company is Capt. N. S. Bangham's, Company I, of Pasadena, Los Angeles County, with 50 officers and men. Six companies have over 60 officers and men each, while the average per company for the entire regiment is 63. The largest attendance at muster was 100 per cent, accredited to Companies D, E, L, and the non-commissioned staff; the smallest, 76.4, accredited to Company A. All of which more fully appears from the tabulated statement hereto attached and marked "Schedule D."

PERSONNEL.

Just at the present time the number of recruits is larger than ever before, owing to the interest in military matters which has been awakened during the past few months. Heretofore general interest in the National Guard has been lacking. The young and enthusiastic, in whose natures the military spirit lives and thrives, and will continue to live and thrive under any and all conditions, however adverse, have been interested and active. They have attended their drills, gone into camp for summer instruction whenever there were funds to pay the cost of their transportation and maintenance, and have paraded under the heat of our southern sun for the amusement of the people. At all times they have been ready to maintain law and order at the call of the authorities, and occasionally have gone into actual service to accomplish this purpose, surrendering their time and, in many instances, their occupations, in return for the jibes and sneers of the on-lookers. Their bravery in this has been commendable. For the bravest in heat of battle, when passions are inflamed and there is no time to stop and think about getting hurt, is not always the bravest before a howling mob of malcontents at "outs" with everybody and everything, and at peace with neither God, man, nor devil. Beyond the young and enthusiastic, however, the general public has heretofore taken little or no interest. It has been content to observe the companies in the different localities struggling along for existence without any particular feeling as to whether they should survive or perish. It has been loth to contribute even words of encouragement, to say nothing of financial support. To tell the truth, merchants and business men, farmers and orchardists, the citizens at large, have looked upon the National Guard as a social organization without any particular social standing, and never as a body militant, the real intent of which is to act as a nucleus for a great army of the Republic such as we boast so much of being able to organize at a moment's notice in case our national being is threatened. They have regarded it as boys' play, because, forsooth, it has been made up of the young men of our cities and towns and villages. They have not stopped to realize that in the wars this country has had in the past the great bulk of our soldiers were young men, and in many instances mere "boys"—boys in years, but with the fire of manhood aglow in their hearts and tingling through every inch of their veins. They have not stopped to think that these young men are fitting themselves to protect their property and their homes and their families in case of need; that they are preparing themselves to instruct their elders how to protect themselves should trouble come. In fact, they did not think at all. Recently, however, and only recently, have these sentiments begun to change. Here, there, and everywhere interest in the National Guard is springing into life. Those who were formerly the most outspoken against the service have ceased to inveigh. Those who were grudging in their meed of praise now have no hesitancy in offering commendation. Merchants and men of affairs are enlisting here and there and becoming part of the bone and sinew of the organization. Young men of good social standing and good families are identifying themselves with it. On all sides men are beginning to think. They are commencing to realize that every citizen owes a duty to the Government with relation to the National Guard—a duty which should express itself either in belonging to the service or in heartily supporting those who do.

This change of heart has been brought about by several causes. In the first place, for years the militia of this State has been considered top-heavy. There have been too many officers in proportion to the enlisted men. There has been a feeling that it was not a serviceable organization. The recent reorganization, and the consequent strengthening of companies and lopping off of useless staff officers, has at once placed it on a business basis which the people in this brigade, at least, appreciate. Coupled with this, the prospect of trouble with Great Britain and Spain over the Venezuela and Cuba matters has stirred the fires of patriotism which burn on the altars of every American heart—sometimes smoldering, but always alive—with the result that the interest in military affairs has taken a sudden and highly satisfactory turn, and recruits are numerous and of the best material.

Not always the largest community boasts the largest and best company, as is evidenced by the fact that Salinas City, a place of about 3,000 people, supports a cavalry troop of 85 officers and men, which, next to the company of infantry at San Diego, is the largest in the brigade. Or, that Santa Paula, a little town of 1,300 inhabitants, has an infantry company of 75 officers and men, the second largest company in the Seventh Infantry. In fact, the poorest companies in the brigade are found in the City of Los Angeles. This is due, in large measure, to the interest the country people are taking in the social and military features of their organizations. The merchants and farmers are enlisting; their best young men are joining. The result is that we are getting companies of reliable men, of whom each particular town is proud. In Los Angeles the citizens do not take the interest they should. They have three infantry companies of 51, 51, and 69 members, respectively, one cavalry troop and a signal corps, in a city of 100,000 inhabitants. Every one of the infantry companies should have at least 75 or 80 men. But the people loudly protest what ought to be done, and then, with but few exceptions, offer no encouragement to their employés who enlist. On the contrary, they begrudge them the few minutes extra time once a week they ask for to be at drills promptly. As for the business and professional men themselves, few enlist. They are all too busy and too selfish. They begrudge their services to the militia, and yet howl the loudest for military protection when threatened by local troubles. A great deal of this may properly be said of some few men in interior towns. I have a case in point. The First Sergeant of Company H of Ventura is a very competent non-commissioned officer, besides being a very intelligent and modest young man of good family, and well liked in the community. He was employed by a merchant of his town. The merchant was in the habit of keeping his establishment open until 8 o'clock in the evenings, and he objected to the militiaman leaving his work a moment before 8 o'clock, even once a week, to attend drill. On the night of the inspection of his company he had trouble with his employer about getting away, and rather than disobey the orders of Captain Browne, to assemble at a certain hour, he resigned his position. How much better would this merchant have performed his duty as a citizen if he had allowed his employé a few minutes on this occasion? And yet it is just such kind of men that do the bulk of the adverse criticism of the National Guard.

In this regard it will not be amiss to call attention to another incident which happened in connection with the inspection at Santa Paula. Captain Metcalf had a man working with a party stretching wires for the Sunset Telephone Company at Newhall, 36 miles away. He was afraid he would not report for muster, and thereby make a hole in his perfect percentage of attendance, and sent a Sergeant and detail to bring him in. Arriving at Newhall, the foreman of the party objected strongly to the man going, and indulged in any amount of vituperation respecting the National Guard in general and this detail in particular. The Sergeant had his orders, however, and the man went back with him. But here was the proposition. Of all classes of people and all business associations none can even approximate to the corporations in demanding the assistance of the militia in supporting laws the maintenance of which are vital to their existence. They know that the sworn citizen soldiery has no right to question how, when, or where laws become laws; that their bounden duty is to support and maintain them, however unjust and iniquitous they are. Hence, they demand and are supplied with protection whenever a law is threatened. In return for this service, which they exact most rigidly, they pay their proportion of taxes and nothing else. A moral obligation to extend assistance and encouragement to officers and their men seldom enters into their calculations. Their proper course should be to issue instructions to their subordinate officers to offer every assistance within their power toward allowing their employés to attend all drills and duties which are imposed upon them as militiamen. Then they may possibly have some reason for finding fault if the organization does not come up to their expectations. Until they do, however, they have none.

As a rule, the National Guardsmen in the First Brigade are intelligent and enthusiastic. Weak and sickly men are the exception. No command in the State can make a better showing in this regard. Officers and men have remarkably fine physique, and are in condition to do active service in the field at any moment, for nearly all of them lead out-of-door lives, and are healthy and vigorous in consequence. Fully 95% are native-born Americans, and of the remaining 5% but a dozen or fifteen are not citizens, either by birth or adoption.

ENLISTMENTS.

Not enough care is taken by Captains in recruiting. As a rule, the average Captain, unless he has a maximum company, is anxious to recruit up to the limit. He enlists every man who presents himself, without regard to who or what he is. He pays no attention to his physical or mental condition. The mere fact that he wants to join the service is sufficient. This is all wrong, and the quicker it ceases the quicker will enlistments begin to add strength instead of weakness to the organization. While it is true that in the militia in this State there are no restrictions touching how large or how small a recruit must be, or how great or how little his mental capacity, yet there should be, and I take this opportunity of recommending strongly that some steps be taken by the authorities whereby a standard for admission to the National Guard may be established. There should be a fixed limit as to age, weight, height, and chest measurement with expansion, at least, to the end that none but able-bodied men, free from any spot or blemish of disease, be enlisted. By so doing, the mere fact of a man's being the member of the organization will give him a prestige among his fellows, in as far as health is concerned, that will tend to increase enlistments among those who are proud of their physique and are loth to be put on an equal footing with the sick or diseased. Then, again, the oath of allegiance should be supplemented by a rigid set of questions touching upon the recruit's feelings with regard to the comparative duties he owes to other organizations of which he may be a member or be in sympathy with. Men are enlisted in the National Guard each year who perfunctorily say "I do" as an officer rattles off the oath by which he agrees "to support and maintain the laws, and all officers employed in administering the same," etc., and yet who have no intention of keeping that obligation if brought in conflict with what, in their narrow minds, they consider the duty they owe to some society or other. They are seldom found out, unless some strike or disturbance occurs. Then they come to the surface like scum, and like scum should be skimmed off and discarded. This is rather a dangerous time to have such matters determined, as has been found out by past experience. Far better would it be to have a clear understanding with the recruit as to what is expected of him as a soldier before he is sworn in. Far better to have him understand that his first and greatest duty is to "obey orders" absolutely, implicitly, and blindly, if need be, but to obey orders in any event. Too little consideration is given by Captains to the necessity of making the oath-taking a solemn function. As a rule, it is rattled off at express speed, and nine out of every ten recruits have no idea what they are swearing to. This practice should be stopped. Commanding officers should impress upon this ceremony the dignity which is in keeping with the solemnity of the obligation. In Company K, Capt. T. H. Goff, of San Bernardino, a system is in vogue which is highly commended. The taking of the oath is made a serious matter, and coupled with it a series of questions are propounded, on the satisfactory answers to which is based the recruit's final enlistment. The questions are as follows:

1. Can you and will you devote at least one night a week to the company?
2. Are you a member of any Labor Union, and as such member would you consider your first duty to be with the Union or with the Government?
3. If the company should be called into service by the State or General Government as against a mob of any kind, no matter by whom instigated so long as the law is defied, will you respond promptly and unquestioningly obey all orders?
4. Do you understand the consequences of disobedience of military orders?
5. Do you understand what is required of you by becoming a member of this company?
6. Do you thoroughly understand that as the State supports our organization we owe it in return, as a matter of honor and also of business—that we should consider it first in all our engagements and give it the preference it deserves?
7. Have you any mental reservations whatever in the answers given to these questions?

No man should be enlisted unless he is either an American citizen by birth or adoption, or has declared his intention so to become. And, if he be a minor, and of foreign birth, he should be refused, unless his father is a citizen or has declared his intention to become one.

While it may be urged that it would be difficult to enact a law which would satisfactorily meet all such requirements, a very simple way is offered in the regulation which allows any Captain to refuse to enlist a man when, in his judgment, he is an improper person. I would therefore recommend that this matter be taken up by the General commanding this brigade, to the end that the officers of Southern California, at least, may agree upon a uniform method of enlisting recruits in conformity with the suggestions I have herein set forth.

MATTERS OF INSTRUCTION.

The average recruit, fresh from the farm or office or store, is utterly devoid of military bearing. In the majority of cases he is anything but erect, carries himself as though he were going to fall apart, and is, in general, an unprepossessing figure. The first duty his new Captain owes to him is to see that he is straightened out. While, of course, in the limited time devoted each week to drills, it is impossible to produce militiamen with the carriage of regulars, yet far better results can be accomplished than are. Throughout the entire brigade I have yet to find the first company that gives more than a passing brush at the "setting-up" exercises. In nearly every instance the men have no practical understanding of this drill whatever. And this in the face of imperative suggestions from headquarters that company commanders should pay especial attention to the "setting-up" exercise. Even some of the officers are stoop-shouldered, and need some of it. But the antipathy displayed against it is pronounced; and of a hundred recruits not ten of them are drilled in it. This negligence on the part of the Captains of companies—I speak of them all—is unpardonable. The very first drill the new man should get is that which will teach him how to carry himself. At least fifteen minutes each night, once a week, for two months, should be devoted to it, and he should have natural pride enough to practice some of the exercises at least a few minutes every day in between times. Every company, as a company, should be drilled in the exercises for five or ten minutes each drill night. If we would have our militiamen look like soldiers, and not like round-shouldered invalids with the weight of a thousand woes on their shoulders, this should be attended to. In order to see that it is done I would recommend that the Colonel of the Seventh Infantry issue specific orders to his Captains requiring it, and accompany them with directions to report each month the amount of time devoted to this most important drill. I would also recommend that the General commanding the brigade issue similar instructions to the commanding officers of the unattached companies.

There is too much haste displayed in putting the recruit into the ranks. He should be thoroughly instructed in all foot movements, including marchings, facings, etc., until he is sure he knows his right hand from his left. Then he should be taught to handle his rifle and be acquainted with its uses and abuses, thoroughly instructed in the mechanism of the Buffington sight, and given the manual before he is given even a probationary period in the company proper.

To accomplish all this properly requires intelligent and enthusiastic non-commissioned officers. My inspections show a superior quality of non-commissioned officers in most of the companies. With his officers, he is anxious to learn and to follow as closely as possible the methods in force in the regular service, the perfection of which must ever be the National Guardsman's standard of excellence. To this end, in every company, there should be one evening each week devoted to a non-commissioned officers' school. Most companies have them, but all should. The Captain should be the instructor. Minor problems should be given out and logical solutions required. Discussions on military subjects, with occasional papers on more or less interesting points, should be encouraged. Every non-commissioned officer should be taught to drill the company in "School of the Company." Every Captain who faithfully follows this plan will be more than repaid in the ultimate improvement of his command through his Sergeants and Corporals.

Officers' meetings should also be held. I find that, while on every hand the officers of the brigade are young, enthusiastic, and intelligent, they lack force. This is especially so among the Lieutenants. Most of them are too apologetic. Instead of directing their men with firmness and decision from their tactical positions, they are too much given to approaching them in a timorous manner and whispering their instructions to them. An officer's duty is to command and not to apologize—a soldier's to obey and not to reason why. Captains should give their subalterns every opportunity of becoming familiar with every duty which devolves upon a company commander. He should instruct them in all sedentary duties, and in all matters relative to the proper handling of men in the armory and in the field, and should take them into their counsel in all matters relative to the internal policy of the command. In some instances new Captains have apologized for not understanding how to prepare muster-rolls and keep their accounts straight, by stating that their former Captain had never taught them how it should be done. Captains should insist on their Lieutenants drilling their companies frequently—and especially in platoon drill, with non-commissioned officers as chiefs of platoons. In discussing their duties, however, officers should do so in their own quarters and out of the hearing of their men, for the sake of discipline.

Wherever companies are located sufficiently near each other to make it possible, battalion drills should be held. At present none are held, and there is no excuse for it. The companies at Redlands, San Bernardino, and Riverside are only nine or ten miles apart, and Major Prescott, the senior Major of the regiment, lives at Redlands. In Los Angeles are three companies, while at Pasadena, only a few minutes away by several lines of cars, is another, and the Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, and a Major (Major Weller), all reside at the former place. Santa Paula has Major Fernald, and is only a short distance from Ventura. In all these instances there is every reason for having battalion drills frequently. They will prove instructive to officers and men. They will provide a change, and can be so arranged as to combine business with pleasure. They will acquaint the men of one command with those of another, to the end that an enduring esprit de corps may be established. Joint target practice may be indulged in, and skirmish firing may be practiced with pleasure and profit. If need be, the company commanders can select a spot midway between two towns and have practice marches, pitching camp at a common point, establishing guard lines, posting sentries, and receiving general instructions from the field officer in charge as to camp duties, etc. All of these things would tend toward the efficiency of the service, and would furnish pleasant relaxation to the men from the ordinary humdrum of weekly drills.

Every company should be provided with some sort of a military library. It is not necessary that it should be entirely technical. A little of that goes a long way with men who are soldiers for pleasure and for the love they bear the service, and not for profit. And much can be accomplished in a general way by bringing about a healthy regard for the good there is in a soldier's life, and an intelligent understanding of what should be shunned. I know of no better way of accomplishing this than to purchase a set of Capt. Charles King's military novels. They are absorbing in interest, true to life in the army—in barracks and in field—and I have yet to find a young militiaman who is a reader of King, and I have found hosts of them, but what takes a deep interest in his military work and is a good soldier. Cheap editions of the drill regulations should be provided out of company funds for the use of every man in the company. I would also recommend that the Adjutant-General endeavor to procure from the General Government a copy of Army Regulations for the Captain of every company. Captains are everywhere anxious to follow Army rules, but in only one or two instances have they anything to go by. The bi-monthly publication of the "Military Service Institution" is another valuable source of information, and every Captain should be a member of the organization, to the end that this valuable journal finds its way to a place in his library. The carrying out of these suggestions, and many more of a similar nature, will prove very beneficial, I am sure.

In the matter of the education of the men of the Seventh Infantry in the "first aids" to the wounded, Major H. R. Arndt of San Diego, regimental surgeon, has a highly commendable plan in process of incubation which gives promise of meeting most successfully this highly important proposition. Heretofore the regimental surgeons of Southern California have made no attempt to systematically provide for the instruction of the men in such matters. Hospital corps have had no existence, and passive activity has been the sum total of their energy in behalf of the service. Dr. Arndt, who is most enthusiastic in all National Guard work, and especially so in the work of his particular department, has examined the question carefully, and consulted freely with Army surgeons, and hopes to soon be enabled to commence the development of his ideas, the ultimate realization of which is his fondest hope. The Major made a personal report to me, at my request, on the subject, portions of which are appended.

"In a general way," says the Doctor, "it is safe to assume that all medical service in the State troops must follow as closely as possible the pattern set in the United States Army. This includes eventual instruction of all enlisted men in 'first aid' to the wounded as part of the regular instruction given by the company officers, who, in turn, are presumed to have been taught by the post surgeon or other medical officer. The chief difficulties we, as militia, must meet, are: First, the distribution of the regiment over a considerable territory with only two of the companies having medical officers within their limits; second, the fact that the State does not recognize a 'hospital corps' as a distinct organization or branch of the service; third, the difficulty, as it appears to me, of knowing where to buy proper supplies, at reasonable prices, even where there is money on hand to pay for them.

"My own plan, which is the result of careful study of the medical service in the United States Army and of the needs of the National Guard of California, is simple enough to be efficient, and I anticipate good results if I am permitted to carry it out. I propose, first of all, to establish a litter-corps in Companies B and L, at San Diego and Santa Ana, the two companies within reach of the two medical officers of the regiment. With three litters in each company, twelve men in each company will thus be drilled once a week in the drill for the Hospital Corps of the Army (U. S.). In due time this detail will be returned to the company, and a new detail of the same number of men made for the same length of time, so that eventually every man in the company will be competent, should necessity arise, to give efficient aid in the removal of the sick or wounded, no matter under what conditions. It is my aim to extend this drill to all companies of the regiment, and I anticipate that both officers and men will be interested in it. At the same time, should the regiment be called into active service before this latter proposition can be carried out, Companies B and L will be able to furnish the needed litter-squads without lessening their own efficiency as 'fighting units' in the regiment.

"The establishment of a hospital corps, the need of which in the National Guard is not yet officially recognized, can immediately follow by selecting from Company B a detail of say, six or eight men, such men as have shown a special liking or fitness for work of this sort. I will instruct this squad in 'first aid,' which, of necessity, includes the rudiments of anatomy, physiology, etc., the controlling of hemorrhages, bandaging, etc., thus endeavoring, in a small way, to provide men of value in the care of the sick or wounded. In other words, a small detail of men who can apply dressings in an emergency, handle a wounded man, stop a hemorrhage, nurse a sick fellow in camp or field, cook a patient's food when necessity demands it, and additionally be prepared for any emergency likely to arise. This squad can be under the immediate command of an 'acting hospital steward,' with rank of Corporal or Sergeant.

"In due time, i. e., after experience has shown just how much of this work we must do to insure efficiency, the company officers of the regiment must be taught the principles involved, in order to enable them to assume the rôle of teachers. I am confident that it will not be difficult to do this. A meeting of the officers at some central point, as Los Angeles, for two days, would be sufficient."

DISCIPLINE.

The National Guard itself is older than the standing army. The Constitution of the United States recognized it as an existing institution, even before its adoption. Our standing army never can be large; for, as a people, we regard a large army as a menace to our republican institutions. By force of circumstances, therefore, we must look to the National Guard to act as a reserve to the standing army, and in order to make it available whenever the time comes for its use as such, it must be maintained and disciplined as nearly in conformity to the methods used in the regular establishment as possible. Officers should be elected for life, subject to the reservations of the Army, and a stop thereby put to the strife which ensues in many of the companies every two years. Under the present arrangement, unless a company is composed of exceptional men, the commanding officer, if he tries to get discipline as it should exist, even considering that the company is of the militia and not in the regular service, subjects himself to the disapproval of many of his men, who can not or will not understand his position, which finds expression in violent opposition when the officer comes up for reelection. It may or may not result in his defeat and the loss to the State of an intelligent and capable officer. That it works havoc to the discipline of the organization is without question. If, on the other hand, the officer caters to the class of men referred to, he disgusts those who take a pride in the organization and are willing and anxious to be subjected to rules and regulations, and discipline is again ruined. These are conditions which confront the National Guard every day of its existence, and the best way to obviate them is, in my judgment, found in the suggestion made, which I hereby recommend for consideration.

Another source of perturbation to officers and men is the volume of Rules and Regulations of the National Guard of California, commonly known as the "Red Book." Of all combinations of misinformation they have to contend with, this is unquestionably the worst. It is a complete compendium of military inaccuracy, supplemented by a mass of obsolete and useless precautions and rules and regulations formulated by successive Adjutants-General and added to what there was before they came into office. On every seven out of ten pages there are rules prescribed for guidance which are diametrically opposed to the regulations of the Army—which should be the rule of conduct as far as practicable. Sections of the Political Code relative to the National Guard, which have been amended over and over again, are side by side with instructions for inspections based on General Upton's tactics. Descriptions of uniforms long since superseded find place side by side with rules which cannot be applied, in view of orders which have subsequently been issued. Men who are anxious to learn what the laws are touching the National Guard, and what rules and regulations are prescribed, are continually led astray by the perusal of this volume. All this militates against discipline and good order, and I would recommend, now that we have attached to the staff of the Commander-in-Chief an officer of the regular army, that he be made the president of a board to completely revise the rules and regulations governing the service in California, to the end that officers and men alike may be intelligently educated. They give their time and attention, at no inconsiderable expense to themselves, to a service which is for the good of the entire commonwealth, and the State owes it to them that they be properly instructed and informed in a legitimate and business-like manner.

The Majors of the infantry regiment should be assigned to battalions without any further delay, to the end that they may make occasional rounds of inspections among their own companies to observe whether discipline is properly developed and maintained between the annual tours of the brigade inspector. While several of the companies are located inconveniently for the very best assignment of battalions, a fact which has probably deterred the Colonel commanding the regiment from making the assignments heretofore, at the same time something in that direction should be done according to the best arrangement possible. And from my observance, after carefully considering the various points of location of companies and the residence of the several Majors, I would recommend that, as far as possible, the First Battalion be assigned to Major Prescott, the senior Major, as follows: Companies B of San Diego, G of Redlands, K of San Bernardino, and M of Riverside; that Major Fernald be given the Second Battalion, to consist of Companies D of Pomona, L of Santa Ana, H of Ventura, and E of Santa Paula; and that Major Weller be placed in command of the Third Battalion, with Companies F, C, and A of Los Angeles, and I of Pasadena, under him. An assignment of this kind would spur the respective Majors to renewed efforts to accomplish more in a pleasant spirit of friendly rivalry among battalions than is now being done. It would increase the desire for battalion drills, and would, in every respect, be beneficial.

The general discipline of companies throughout the brigade is good; in some instances it is excellent; but as a rule it needs improvement. Discipline in its true sense is a term as broad as patriotism. It includes the internal as well as the external manifestations of method and precision. It includes the proper development of patriotic impulses, guided by a comprehensive understanding of what our laws are with reference to the militia and the reason for their existence. It has as its guiding stars Implicit Obedience and Perfect Courtesy. In all military or semi-military affairs it should be as potent indoors as in the field or on parade in the public streets. Discipline and respect—respect of men for their officers, and of officers for the soldierly qualities of their men—go hand in hand. The discipline of the companies in armory as to courtesy is not good. In one of the companies of the Seventh Regiment the Adjutant-General, accompanied by myself, in full uniform, inspected the locker-room and talked with the men who were themselves in uniform preparatory to assembling for muster, and no more attention was paid to our presence than if we had been civilians without military authority or the military right to command. We entered the room in full view of the First Sergeant and most of the other non-commissioned officers, without a summons to “attention.” We talked to the men individually, without a salute or recognition of our rank of any kind. In other companies I observed this same absence of etiquette among the men, but by no means to such an extent.

The officers’ quarters should be as sacred among National Guardsmen as they are in the regular service. And while it is eminently proper for officers, as soon as the strictly military functions are over, to fraternize with the men, and by their interest in all social features, and their friendship upon all occasions, teach them to love and respect them, it is yet to be deprecated that the lines are so loosely drawn in some companies as to allow the promiscuous use of the officers’ room by the enlisted men, and friendly familiarity while in uniform not justified by their relative stations. No man should be allowed to enter his Captain’s office without a warning knock at the door. And no man, when he enters, should take possession of a chair unless invited to do so. His cap or hat should be removed, and he should stand at “attention” until requested to state his business. Then, if he is not asked to remain, he should retire as quietly as he entered. This is not a hardship and is no more than the courtesy one gentleman would exhibit to another on entering his office or apartment in the everyday walks of life.

The exchange of military salutes on the street while not on military duty, while not prescribed, is very proper, and certainly tends toward a closer feeling between officers and men, who are thereby constantly reminded of their common interest in a common service.

In the checking-up of the property in the possession of the various company commanders, one particular thing was noticed more than another, and that was the remarkable excess found in many instances, and the excess, in some measure, which was observed everywhere. This is as bad from the standpoint of discipline as though the reverse was found to be the case, and there was actually a shortage. During my experience as a line officer it was no uncommon thing to meet officers who gloried in having a man or men under them who were acknowledged as most artistic thieves, and more than one Captain has boasted that he never went into camp without taking more home with him than he originally brought. And while, in the present instances, it is hardly just to lay that as the reason for the excess, some property having been issued to the companies between the date of their last quarterly return and the date of inspection, in nearly every instance it is more or less undoubtedly the result of lack of care on the part of commanding officers, superinduced by the poorest kind of discipline. A Captain should be held as strictly to an accountability where his property shows an excess as where there is a deficit. A table is herewith appended, showing the excess found during the present inspection, as follows:

	Seventh Regiment.
	Company A.	Company B.	Company C.	Company D.	Company E.	Company F.	Company G.	Company H.	Company I.	Company K.	Company M.
Scabbards	3	5	4		1

These matters should receive attention at once. In the matter of courtesy thorough instructions should be given. It is not necessarily the man per se who is to be so carefully considered, although that is additionally a pleasant thing, but it is the rank which should be borne in mind. No one cares much for the mere bunting of which our National colors are composed, but who is there but respects and reveres the red, white, and blue, cemented to its field of stars by over a hundred years of progress and prosperity, when it patriotically typifies our ideal of which is greatest and best among the nations of the earth? If as much attention were paid to them and to matters of drill as is paid to the mustering of 100% of attendance at annual musters, the showing of the troops would be greatly enhanced.

ARMS AND EQUIPMENT.

The cavalry troops are well equipped, with the exception of carbines, which should be issued to them at the earliest possible opportunity. The signal corps is well equipped throughout.

In the infantry the Springfield rifles, cal. .45, model of 1873, should all be called in and replaced by a like number of serviceable rifles of 1884 model. It would seem as though, in view of the change of this arm by the Government for the new magazine rifle, this could be accomplished now quite readily. The old model Springfield was, in every instance, an old gun when originally issued to the militia, since when its continual use has rendered it utterly unserviceable for all practical purposes. Through the great difficulty experienced by Captains in obtaining spare parts from General Headquarters, even after repeated requisitions for them, in the past, many of the 1884 rifles are not what they could be made to be by the replacing of broken springs, ejectors, etc. I would strongly recommend that prompt attention be paid in the future to these requisitions, to the end that the rifles of latter model, which are otherwise perfectly adapted for active service, be kept up as they should be. As the men are supplied with rifles, so should the officers be supplied with the Colt's revolver. There is no reason why officers should be compelled to purchase them. They purchase their own uniforms and side-arms, and are under continual expense from the day they receive their commissions, and in this matter, at least, should be relieved. Some few revolvers have been issued, but I have yet to learn of a single line-officer who has been provided with one. The number has been so small that but few have them. All should be so equipped—and at the expense of the State.

In the matter of cooking utensils and field outfits, nearly every company commander has been forced to exercise his own individual ideas, and has purchased a little here and a little there, until every company, with the exception of two, has the most marvelous assortment of miscellaneous cups, pans, kettles, etc., it is possible to imagine. The two exceptions noted are Companies B and I, each of which have a complete Buzzacot field outfit. Their advantages are legion. In the first place, every article contained therein is of regulation army pattern and size, and made of the most durable material. Then, again, it is so compactly packed as to occupy the least possible space, and be of the least inconvenience in handling. The cost is small—from $40 to $60 for from 50 to 75 men—and I would recommend their general use throughout the brigade. Only one company has knapsacks, a most fortunate thing, as it happens, at the present time, for the knapsack is now obsolete, and has been entirely superseded by the Merriman pack or blanket-bag in all well-equipped organizations. These, together with blankets, should be provided as soon as Captains possibly can.

In the purchase of all such things, however, I would recommend that officers refrain from buying anything until they satisfy themselves as to what is regulation in the Army. In my opinion, all quartermaster stores should be uniform throughout the organization. And the uniformity should be that of the regular service. Captain Carrington has expressed to me his willingness and desire to discuss these questions with the officers, and nothing could be of greater service in the securing of what is uniform and proper.

SEDENTARY DUTIES.

I find the books and accounts throughout the brigade in excellent shape as far as neatness and accuracy are concerned, save in some few instances and particulars, where corrections have been made and directions given. There is a lack of uniformity in the methods in use in the various companies in the handling and distribution of company and State funds. In some the Captains pay all bills for materials purchased with State funds without any authorization from the company whatever. While this method is thoroughly justified on the hypothesis that they, and they alone, are under bonds for the proper distribution of funds, at the same time, for the protection of the officers themselves, it would seem as though a system of warrants, ordered by vote of the company, as I found in operation in Company G, Seventh Infantry, would be most satisfactory. In this method bills are presented to the company at each monthly business meeting, are read and referred to an Auditing Committee consisting of enlisted men, and by the committee reported back with recommendation that a warrant be drawn for the amount. The warrant is then ordered drawn by a vote of the company. It is countersigned by the Secretary and Captain of the company, and is used to pay the bill. Warrants are cashed by the Captain upon presentation by their holders. Either this or some other uniform system should be adopted. Of all accounts and records examined, those of Capt. W. O. Welch, Acting Assistant Adjutant-General of the brigade, are most praiseworthy. Since he has taken charge he has instituted an entirely new and complete system, which is highly commended to the consideration of officers throughout the service. A brief of all reports and communications forwarded and transmitted is made after the appended example, as follows:

This record enables one to tell at a glance the general condition and strength of the companies and elements comprising the brigade at any given time, and very forcibly points out any delinquencies in the matter of forwarding returns. A similar record is made of annual muster-rolls, so as to show the number of officers and enlisted men, both present and absent, the totals of each, and the total membership of each element, the percentage present, and the markings of the inspecting officer as to discipline, instruction, military appearance, and condition of arms, etc. Following this is a tabulated statement of quarterly demands, as follows, with date of receipt of property returns, etc.:

Captain Welch has just finished making a new roster of officers in the brigade, and a new register of enlisted men in the Seventh Regiment, and is very much in need of another register for the enlisted men of the Signal Corps, Seventh Regiment band, and the two troops of cavalry. Each of these organizations is now kept in a separate book. I would recommend that he be so supplied, to the end that he may complete this most excellent system already begun.

MISCELLANEOUS.

In conclusion, I desire to urge upon Captains the correction of the following errors noticed to a greater or less extent in all of the companies during the ceremony of inspection: (1) Instruct men that their cartridge boxes should be closed immediately after the inspecting officer has passed in their rear. The men have fallen into the habit of waiting for the Inspector to tap the box as he passes. This is not the proper thing for him to do. (2) Instruct the men how to receive their pieces from the inspecting officer. Too many of them take them with both hands. (3) Instruct them that they are not to offer their rifles to the Inspector. He will take them if he wants to.

Very respectfully,

J. W. F. DISS,

J. W. F. DISS,
Major, and Inspector First Brigade, N. G. C.

OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR FIRST BRIGADE, N. G. C., }
SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., June 3, 1896. }

To the Inspector-General, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to add the following to my general report already forwarded, the supplemental report being occasioned by an oversight.

The consolidation of the former two regiments, the Seventh and the Ninth, into the one twelve-company organization, which now exists, has proven most beneficial in more respects than one. The lessening of expenses, owing to the necessity of maintaining but one headquarters instead of two, has been considerable. The concentration of authority in the hands of one Colonel has resulted in increased interest in the service, and in harmonizing many discordant interests which were always a detriment in the past. Colonel Berry, the present commanding officer, is most competent and enthusiastic, and no more intelligent officer could have been found to occupy this most important command. He has instituted many new methods in the working of his office, and has placed the organization more nearly on the basis of business than it ever has been before. Letters are now promptly answered and a close watch kept on the component parts of the regiment. He has gathered about him a staff of young and enthusiastic officers who are making rapid strides in perfecting themselves in the several lines in which their duties will call them. They are required to report at the regimental headquarters every Thursday night for instruction and weekly orders. This innovation is to be highly commended. Captain Alfonso, the Adjutant of the regiment, is an especially competent officer, and his books and records are in perfect order and condition. Colonel Berry's non-commissioned staff is exceptionally well selected, and is composed of the cream of the non-commissioned officers of the regiment.

Special attention is directed to the new regimental band of this regiment. It has been organized under the direction of Mr. George Cann, who is acknowledged to be one of the best, if not the best, all-round band musicians in this part of the State. He is a composer of more than ordinary ability, and his associate members are all soloists, and regularly enlisted in the State service. Quite a large percentage of them have seen service in some military band or other. They have had considerable opposition among their fellow musicians, who have endeavored to persuade them from enlisting, but have worked together with a harmony doubly satisfactory.

Very respectfully,

J. W. F. DISS,

Major, and Inspector First Brigade, N. G. C.

INSPECTION AND MUSTER OF SECOND BRIGADE.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL A. W. BARRETT, Inspector-General, N. G. C.:

All inspections and musters were held in the regimental or company armories, in service uniforms, as per orders from Superior Headquarters, from March 24th to April 6th.

FIRST REGIMENT INFANTRY—SAN FRANCISCO.

The Field, Staff, Band, and Companies A, B, D, E, I, L, and M, were inspected and mustered in the regimental armory, corner Page and Gough streets. This armory is of brick, and has a drill hall 82x118. Five companies are quartered on the ground floor, and three, with the Regimental Headquarters, on the upper floor. Exit from the upper floor to the ground floor is very bad, as the stairways leading to the upper floor are very narrow and entirely inadequate for any military emergencies; also, easy access can be obtained from the street into armory through the windows of the lower floor, thus making State property insecure. The windows should be iron-barred; otherwise the armory is well adapted and the companies well quartered, excepting that two companies oftentimes occupy the drill hall on drill nights at the same time, each company drilling independent of one another, and oftentimes the companies are in the way of each other. Extended order being the most important instruction to our troops, this instruction is necessarily impeded by two companies being in the drill hall at the same time.

Companies C, G, F, and K were inspected and mustered in the armory on Ellis Street. This armory is of brick and stone. This armory was formerly occupied by C and G alone as an armory and social hall. It has been renovated to quarter four companies and the Signal Corps. It is to be used exclusively as an armory. There are two drill halls. Companies C and G are quartered on the lower floor, F and K on the upper floor, and the Signal Corps in the basement. Each company is well quartered, having fine company-rooms, storerooms, and all necessary conveniences. Access and exit front and rear excellent, and is now well adapted for an armory.

Company A, First Infantry.

Capt. J. F. Connolly. In Regimental Armory—one room and storeroom in garret. State property well taken care of, records good, finances none. Drill night Thursday. Officers' meeting once a month, non-commissioned officers' once a week. Rent $60 per month. Part of company appeared in caps for inspection and muster. Company drill fair, platoon movements fair, manual poor, Lieutenants fair as to knowledge of their duties. Captain good officer.

Company B, First Infantry.

Capt. George Filmer. In Regimental Armory—one room and storeroom conveniently arranged. State property very well taken care of, records excellent, finances none. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' once per week. Rent $60 per month. Company fell in on time. Company drill good, manual good, platoon movements fair. Fine body of men, made a very good showing. Lieutenants good. Captain good and efficient officer.

Company C, First Infantry.

Capt. J. W. Dumbrell. Ellis-Street Armory—two rooms and storeroom conveniently arranged. State property very well taken care of, records excellent, finances $2 75 cash on hand. Drill night Monday.

No regular company officers' meeting; non-commissioned officers' once per week. Attendance 100%. Rent $60 per month. Company fell in on time, formation very good. Company drill good, manual by numbers good, without numbers very good; platoon movements good, bayonet exercise good. Lieutenants timid in giving commands. Captain good and efficient officer.

Company D, First Infantry.

Capt. R. A. Marshall. Regimental Armory—one room and storeroom in garret. Lockers in company rooms well arranged. State property very well taken care of, records excellent, finances $81 96 cash on hand. Drill night Friday. No officers' meeting, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per quarter. 90% present. Rent $60 per month. Company fell in on time. Company drill very good, manual with and without numbers very good, platoon movements fair, marching very good. Lieutenants good. Captain a very good commander.

Company E, First Infantry.

Capt. Ed Fitzpatrick. Regimental Armory—two rooms and storeroom in garret. Lockers in one room. State property well taken care of, records good, finances $67 14 cash on hand. Drill night Wednesday. Officers' meeting twice per month. 90% present. Rent $60 per month. Company fell in on time; part of the company appeared in caps. Manual with and without numbers fair, company drill fair, platoon movements poor, marching fair. Officers nervous. Captain Fitzpatrick, with more experience, will make a good officer.

Company F, First Infantry.

Capt. J. A. Miller. Ellis-Street Armory—four rooms and three storerooms, very conveniently arranged. State property taken care of in excellent shape. The Quartermaster-Sergeant deserves great credit for the manner in which the storerooms are kept. Records excellent, finances $161 50 on hand. Drill night Tuesday. Officers' meeting once per week, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 85% present. Rent $60 per month. Company fell in on time, formation very good, made a very fine appearance. Company drill very good, platoon movements very good, manual very good, men steady in ranks. Officers and non-commissioned officers well instructed. Captain Miller a very good and efficient officer.

Company G, First Infantry.

Capt. E. C. Sutliff. Ellis-Street Armory—four rooms and basement, with storerooms conveniently arranged. State property very well taken care of, records excellent. Rent $60 per month. Finances none. Drill night Monday. No regular officers' meeting—officers of Company G meet generally on drill nights. Non-commissioned officers meet once per week. 80% present. Company fell in on time, men steady in ranks, attentive to drill. Company drill good, manual by numbers and without numbers very good, platoon movements good, marching good, firing very good, the company a fine body of men. Captain a good and efficient officer.

Company H, First Infantry.

Capt. F. W. Warren. Regimental Armory—one room, and storeroom up in the garret, lockers in company room. State property well taken care of, records good, finances none. Rent about $60 per month. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting twice per month. 90% present. Company fell in on time; part of the company appeared in caps. Formation good, company drill good, manual fair, platoon movements fair. Instruction of Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers fair. Captain a good officer. A substitute by the name of Ratsford answered to the name of Cronin. Captain Warren expressed himself as ignorant of the fact that such was the case; that this name fell in on the company without the knowledge of the Captain.

Company I, First Infantry.

Captain Richter not having qualified, Lieutenant Huber commanded the company. Regimental Armory—two rooms and storeroom, lockers in one room. State property very well taken care of, records excellent, finances $70 90 on hand. Rent $60 per month. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per week. 100% present. Company fell in ten minutes late, formation good. Company drill good, marching good, platoon movements fair, manual good. Non-commissioned officers' instruction very good. The company is well managed and a fine company of men. Lieutenant Huber is a good officer.

Company K, First Infantry.

Capt. T. J. Cunningham. Ellis-Street Armory—four rooms and storeroom, very conveniently arranged. State property, very best care taken of. The Quartermaster-Sergeant deserves special mention for the manner in which his department is managed as to neatness and accuracy to property in general. Records excellent, finances none. Rent $60 per month. Drill night Tuesday. Officers' meeting not regular, non-commissioned officers' meeting monthly. 90% present. Company fell in on time, formation very good, men steady in ranks and very attentive to duty, officers and non-commissioned officers well instructed. Company drill very good, manual very good, platoon movements very good. Company made a very good appearance—fine body of men. The company a very good company in general, and well managed by Captain Cunningham, who is an excellent officer.

Company L, First Infantry.

Capt. J. F. Eggert. Regimental Armory—one room and storeroom in garret, lockers in company rooms. State property well taken care of, records excellent, finances $120 25 on hand. Rent $60. Drill night ———. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 80% present. Company fell in on time, men steady in ranks, attentive to duty. Company drill good, manual good, marching good, platoon movements fair, instruction of officers and non-commissioned officers good. Company well managed by Captain Eggert, also a good officer.

Company M, First Infantry.

Capt. Thomas O'Neil. Regimental Armory—two rooms and storeroom in garret, lockers in one room. State property well taken care of, records excellent, finances $11 22. Rent $60 per month. Drill night Friday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 90% present. Company fell in on time, formation good, men steady in ranks. Company drill very good, manual by numbers fair, without numbers good; platoon movement fair, instruction of Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers good, the general management of the company by Captain O'Neil very good. Captain O'Neil is a good, efficient officer.

First Infantry Cadets.

Capt. J. P. Moulthrop. Armory in Boys' High School building—wood, one room conveniently arranged. State property well taken care of. Rent none. Finances none. Salary for Armorer $7 50 per month. Records excellent. Drill Tuesdays and Thursdays. Officers' meeting twice per month. 95% present. Company formed on time, 3:30 o'clock P. M. Boys steady in line, company drill very good, platoon movements very good, manual with and without numbers very good. The company made a very fine appearance and are well instructed. The percentage of boys that join the companies of the National Guard after they leave the Cadet Company is very small.

FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

The Field, Staff, and Band were inspected and mustered with companies stationed at various localities, as follows:

Col. Fairbanks, March 29, Petaluma Regimental Headquarters.

Lieut.-Col. Whitten, March 24, San José.

Major J. F. Hayes, March 25, Oakland.

Major L. W. Juilliard, March 30, Santa Rosa.

Major J. P. Dunn, Surgeon, March 25, Oakland.

Capt. T. A. Rottanzi, Asst. Surgeon, March 26, Alameda.

Capt. D. A. Smith, Adjutant, March 25, Oakland.

Lieut. C. C. Derby, Commissary, March 24, San José.

Lieut. A. A. Borlini, Bat. Adjt., March 26, Alameda.

Lieut. John Hendy, Q. M., March 26, Alameda.

Non-Commissioned Staff.

E. W. Weeks, Bat. Sergt. Maj., March 26, Oakland.

W. W. Kirkman, Q. M. Sergt., March 26, Oakland.

D. J. Halihan, Ord. Sergt., March 26, Oakland.

E. W. Medau, Col. Sergt., March 26, Oakland.

A. D. Whitlock, Drum Major, March 26, Oakland.

L. L. Riley, Com. Sergt., March 24, San José.

F. D. Walker, Sergt.-Major, March 24, San José.

Neil Brown, Col. Sergt., March 30, Santa Rosa.

Company A, Fifth Infantry, Oakland—March 26.

Captain Poulter. Two rooms and one storeroom, not conveniently arranged, brick building. State property well taken care of, records excellent, finances $13 30 on hand. Rent $50 per month, also $30 per month salary for Armorer. Drill night Thursday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 75% present. Company formed on time, formation good, men steady in ranks. Company drill good, manual good. Company a fine body of men; made a good appearance. Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers well instructed. Captain Poulter a good and efficient officer.

Company B, Fifth Infantry, San José—March 24.

Captain Partridge. Eight rooms and drill hall 59 feet square, brick building, conveniently arranged. State property well taken care of and secure, records excellent, finances $249 63 on hand. Rent $55 per month, also $15 per month salary for Armorer. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per week, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 85% present. Company formed on time, not sized at first, men steady in ranks. Company drill good, manual good, platoon movement fair. Company a fine body of men, of good physique. Company well managed by Captain, also a good and efficient officer.

Company C, Fifth Infantry, Petaluma—March 29.

Capt. Thomas Maclay. Armory brick—five rooms and drill hall, conveniently arranged. State property well taken care of, records excellent, finances $14 on hand. Rent $50 per month, $25 per month salary for Armorer, and $10 per month for target range. Sublet hall for dances. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting on drill nights, non-commissioned officers' once per month. Company formed on time, men steady in ranks. Company drill good, manual by numbers poor, manual without numbers very good; platoon movement fair, extended order by squad leaders fair. Company a fine body of men. Captain Maclay a good officer.

Company D, Fifth Infantry, San Rafael—March 27.

Capt. William Elliott. Armory wooden building—two rooms and storeroom. Drill hall fairly well arranged. State property well taken care of, but not very secure. Records good, finances $155 32 on hand. Rent $60 per month, and $17 50 per month salary for Armorer. Drill night Friday, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month; officers' meeting on drill night. 80% present. Company fell in on time, formation fair. Company drill good, manual good, platoon movement fair. General appearance of men good—a hardy body. Captain Elliott a good and efficient officer.

Company E, Fifth Infantry, Santa Rosa—March 30.

Capt. J. Dunbar commanding, as Captain-elect Haven had not qualified in time for muster. Armory brick—four rooms and one storeroom; three bathtubs and two shower-baths. Drill hall 35 x 75. Rooms conveniently arranged. Electric lights. State property well taken care of, records good, finances $44 60 on hand. Rent $40 per month, also $25 per month salary for Armorer. Drill hall rented occasionally for social purposes. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per month. Company formed on time, formation good. Company drill good, manual by numbers poor, manual without numbers good; platoon movement fair. Extended orders by squad leaders fair. Captain Dunbar a good officer.

Company F, Fifth Infantry, Oakland—March 25.

Captain Wethern. Armory brick building—two rooms and one store-room, not conveniently arranged. State property well taken care of, records excellent, finances $65 60 on hand. Rent $45 per month, also $25 per month salary for Armorer. Drill night Monday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. 75% present. Company formed on time, formation good. Company drill good, manual by numbers good, marching good, men soldierly-bearing, and knowledge of duty fair. Non-commissioned officers not very well instructed. Men strong and healthy. Captain Worthen a good and painstaking officer. This company the largest in the brigade.

Company G, Fifth Infantry, Alameda—March 26.

Capt. W. F. Chipman. Armory wooden building—four rooms and drill hall, all conveniently arranged, good quarters all around. State property very well taken care of, records excellent, finances $1,117 20 (for fitting up armory, etc.). This state of finances is due on account of the company only receiving half allowance from the State for a long period since its organization in 1893. Rent $55 per month, also $20 per month salary for Armorer. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers' meeting once per month. Company formed on time, formation good, men steady in ranks. Appearance of men very good, and attentive to drill. Manual by numbers good, company drill good, platoon movement good, non-commissioned officers' drilling squads fair. The company a very fine company. Captain Chipman a good officer.

Captain Chipman several days after muster reported to me that the names of Privates James Ross and Hammond were answered present by substitutes not members of the company, without his knowledge; upon his knowledge of the fact, reported the case to me. I therefore marked the above named privates absent, which gives Company G 96%, in place of 100%, present.

Company H, Fifth Infantry, Napa—March 31.

Capt. F. G. Easterly. Armory brick—a store fitted up for an armory; large glass front. Not very secure for State property. State property well taken care of. Two rooms fairly arranged. Records excellent, finances none. Rent $44 50 per month, also $10 per month salary for Armorer. Drill night Monday. Officers and non-commissioned officers meet together twice per month. 70% present. Company formed on time, formation good, men steady in ranks. Manual by numbers poor, manual without numbers good. Company drill good, platoon movement fair. A good company, and well managed by the Captain.

BRIGADE SIGNAL CORPS.

Capt. George C. Boardman, Jr. Ellis-Street Armory—five rooms, including storerooms, all conveniently arranged. Records excellent, finances $178 87. Drill night Thursday. No officers' meeting, non-commissioned officers, once per month. Company fell in on time, formation very good. Company drill very good. Men steady in ranks, and very attentive to duty, and well informed. Manual very good. Signaling good. The company made a very fine appearance. This is without any exceptions a very excellent corps, and well managed by Captain Boardman, who is a very good and efficient officer. State property in an excellent condition. Rent $50 per month.

TROOP A.

Capt. H. T. Sime. Armory on Geary Street, a brick building, formerly a church—five rooms and drill hall, not very well adapted for an armory. Records good, finances none. Rent $50 per month, salary for Armorer $40 per month, and $5 per month for Company Clerk. State property well taken care of. Drill night, Wednesday. Officers' meeting once per month, non-commissioned officers, once per month. Company did not fall in on time. Company drill good, manual good. The troop was formerly a light battery, and have on hand light battery property. The proficiency of the company is fair, due to the fact that they have not been in the cavalry branch of the service long.

GENERAL REPORT.

In addition to the inspection and muster, a Board of Survey convened in accordance with orders from General Headquarters, said Board consisting of Capt. F. de L. Carrington, U. S. A.; Lieut.-Col. J. C. Currier, Division Inspector, and Major Charles Jansen, Brigade Inspector. All the United States and State property of the several companies was carefully examined. All property found to be worn-out and unserviceable was recommended to be condemned; and all property lost, company commanders were required to certify and swear out affidavit as to the manner in which the property was lost, lost property to be recommended to be stricken from the property rolls. This work will prove beneficial to the Guard, as much worthless property was carried on the rolls, and the lost property, much of which was lost by former Captains.

The First Regiment made a very good showing, with very few exceptions. This was due to the unsettled state of affairs in the regiment, caused by the reorganization and the shifting of companies from one armory to another; therefore, some companies were unsettled and had not got down to business when the inspections were ordered. Any shortcomings were not due to the lack of discipline and efficiency on the part of the officers and men. The regiment has good material and promises to be a very good organization.

The Fifth Regiment made a very good showing. Notwithstanding that the Regiment is scattered in different localities, there is an esprit de corps which reflects credit upon officers and men. It is a well-united organization; the men are hardy, of good physique, and very anxious to learn and become proficient. The regiment as a whole is a very good and reliable regiment, and well directed by Colonel Fairbanks.

The brigade while undergoing reorganization and consolidation of companies had the temporary effect of an unsettled state of affairs, and under the circumstances the brigade came to the front, made a very good and creditable showing at inspection and muster. With very few exceptions the companies are well managed by their Captains; no complaints against their officers, State money properly and judiciously expended—many companies having State money on hand. State property well taken care of; majority of property that has become unserviceable due to the hard usage received during the railroad strike, and other old property accumulated under the administration of former Captains. The personnel of officers and men very good, material of the best, being healthy, sound, active, intelligent, zealous, and well informed as to their duties, and maintain excellent discipline. With thirty days' training in the field, officers and men of this brigade would make as good troops as ever trod on a battlefield.

The average age is twenty-three and one half years; the average age of our troops of the late Rebellion was twenty-two and one half years. This shows that the average age of men of this brigade exceeds the average age of the troops of the late Rebellion by one year, which explodes the so often unkind assertion of the public that our National Guard is composed of mere boys.

I may be over-zealous in the praise of the brigade, but as the inspection and muster of the brigade was conducted by myself personally, I closely observed and studied the officers and men, conditions, and circumstances. Time allotted for drill is one to one hour and a half. Men, after following their day's vocation for a livelihood, and oftentimes tired out, attend to their drills and subject themselves to discipline. In the country quite a number of men come from miles to attend to their duties; all this without any compensation. When National Guardsmen attain the proficiency and discipline exhibited at the last inspection under the above circumstances, too much praise cannot be given them. Captains who came forward with the merit of "excellent" deserve the highest of praise, as I know well the labor, the trying circumstances, that Captains have to contend with to bring their companies to the proficiency of "excellent."

I would suggest that lectures be occasionally delivered on discipline, endurance in war, heroic deeds of our American soldiers, and American patriotism, which is as necessary in peace as in war. This would stimulate and be greatly appreciated by the men. Now that the men give their time without compensation, and are willing to perform any duties that they might be directed to perform, they should in return, by the people, be properly equipped in every respect. In the first place, they should receive the same attention as the troops of the regular service. They should have two sets of uniforms: one for field service complete, which they have not—many or all companies are deficient in overcoats, blankets, hats, canteens, haversacks, and have a poor lot of 1873 rifles; for ceremony and parades, a full-dress uniform. It is no credit to any community to allow the National Guard to appear in service uniforms at the funeral ceremony of a United States or State dignitary, while troops of the Regular Army appear in full dress. All the companies in the brigade, except Companies H and G, Fifth Infantry, have a full complement of dress coats, mostly all in good condition. I would recommend that they be turned over to the commands and that each regiment be allowed to alter them as a distinctive uniform as they see fit, and that additional appropriation be asked next Legislature to maintain the full-dress uniform, as the men are deserving of such attention. The citizens of this community can rest assured that as far as I have observed in the brigade the troops are reliable, ready at any time to defend life, property, and the honor of their country, under any condition or any circumstances.

I have observed that among the Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers they are well informed theoretically in the drill regulations, but lack force in executing their knowledge, which is mainly due in not obtaining the necessary practice they should have; they seem timid in giving commands, especially in the presence of officers of other commands, and the voice is not used in accordance with the drill regulations. Schools for giving commands are very essential, as the proficiency of a company depends a great deal on the manner in which commands are given by its commander.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

CHARLES JANSEN,
Major and Inspector.

INSPECTION OF THIRD BRIGADE.

BAKERSFIELD, CAL., March 31, 1896.

The Assistant Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G. C., Fresno, California:

SIR: In obedience to verbal instructions received from the Adjutant-General of the State of California, I have the honor to inclose herewith papers relating to the inspection of the Sixth Infantry Regiment, N. G. C., made by me in pursuance of General Orders No. 3 from the Headquarters of the Third Brigade, N. G. C., dated Fresno, California, February 28, 1896.

The object of forwarding the Inspection Report appertaining to this particular regiment, before the completion of the inspection of the entire brigade, is, as stated to me by the Adjutant-General, to enable him to begin the work of compiling the statistics therein presented.

The inspection of the balance of the brigade will begin at Sacramento on May 2, 1896, and will occupy a period of about two weeks; and the reports appertaining to that inspection will be forwarded in due season, together with a general résumé of the inspection of the entire brigade.

The detailed reports with reference to each company, which can be found upon consultation of the papers herewith, will, it is hoped, furnish the Brigade Commander with all the information necessary in the premises. There are, however, some points that have been developed in the course of this inspection to which I desire to invite the especial attention and consideration of the Brigade Commander.

The Regimental Headquarters of the Sixth Infantry is located in Stockton, the Regimental Adjutant is at Fresno, while the Regimental Sergeant-Major is at Modesto, and this wide separation of the Colonel from his assistants has given rise to a state of affairs, relative to the administration of the regiment, particularly in reference to correspondence, which, in my opinion, is quite detrimental to the interests of the service. In order to expedite the transaction of the regimental business, correspondence is carried on to a large extent directly with the Colonel of the regiment, and not through the Regimental Adjutant, who is the proper official through whom such communications should be transmitted. While no doubt this method of carrying on the correspondence expedites the work, it, at the same time, gives rise to a certain irregularity in this correspondence which is much to be regretted. The Guard is a school in which those who enter its service are supposed to be instructed in the correct method of carrying on the business of the command, and it is certainly quite as necessary that the correspondence between the Colonel and his several subordinate officers should be carried on in the proper form as that the companies should receive proper practical and theoretical instruction in the performance of their several duties. The present Regimental Adjutant of the Sixth Infantry is an officer too valuable to be entirely lost to the service, and it is believed that, even should his duties be transferred to some other officer at Regimental Headquarters, means could be devised by which his valuable services could still be retained to the State; but it is not believed by me that the advantage to the regiment resulting from his holding the position of Adjutant can ever be a compensation for the damage that will result from the present method of carrying on its official correspondence, due to his absence from Regimental Headquarters. The Regimental Adjutant should, in all cases, be at Regimental Headquarters; also the Regimental Sergeant-Major. The Battalion Adjutant and Battalion Sergeant-Major should also be at Battalion Headquarters, or at the place where the Battalion Commander is located; the necessity for this assignment and location of Battalion Adjutant and Sergeant-Major, is, however, not as great as in the cases of the Regimental Adjutant and Sergeant-Major, whose duties are so largely administrative.

There is a great lack of uniformity in the records kept by the different companies. No two are exactly alike, no two are conducted upon exactly the same lines, and in consequence it is very hard to arrive at a comparative estimate as to the relative efficiency of the companies in this respect. It is earnestly recommended that a perfectly uniform set of books be adopted for the use of all the companies of the command, and that these books be of uniform size, pattern, etc., to be furnished from the Adjutant-General's office, and that the company commanders be held to a strict accountability that these records and books be kept in proper shape.

There is a great lack of uniformity in the head-dress worn by the different companies; some being uniform in caps, some in hats, and some with a combination of both; one company having campaign hats entirely without ornaments, another with campaign hats with ornaments complete, while others have a large proportion of the hats with ornaments and the balance with no ornaments whatever. A uniformity in this matter should be adopted, and this uniformity should be established by the Regimental Commander, and not left to the option of the commanders of companies. If the campaign hat is to be adopted as the service head-dress it should be so ordered and insisted upon, and, as the hat ornament is undoubtedly a detriment in the field, and it is almost impossible to preserve it under hard usage, it is recommended that the campaign hat be left entirely without ornament.

Some of the companies are equipped with cartridge boxes, belts, and scabbards; other companies are equipped with web belts and scabbards.

If the regiment was brought together to-morrow for inspection, these differences in the method of equipment would soon be made very evident and would not redound to the credit of the regiment as a whole. It should be insisted upon from Headquarters that the commands be clothed and equipped uniformly, and the commanding officers of regiments should be held to a strict accountability that this uniformity be preserved.

A large part of the regiment is armed with the Springfield rifle, model of 1873, with two notches in the lock, and these rifles are scattered promiscuously throughout the different companies; while the balance of the command is armed with the Springfield rifle, model of 1884, with three notches, by means of which the hammer is held at the safety notch, half-cock, and full-cock. This dissimilarity in the pieces causes great confusion in the matter of inspection of arms, loading, etc., and it is recommended that as soon as possible all the rifles of the model of 1873 be turned in and that new pieces be issued of the model of 1884. In inspecting the rifles of the command those of the model of 1873 have nearly all been reported as serviceable, because they are capable of being employed at short range in cases of emergency. Nevertheless, it will be greatly to the interest of the command should the State succeed in securing for it rifles of a model of later date than that of 1873; particularly in view of the fact that I am given to understand that the requirements for marksmanship throughout the command are to be very much increased, and as these 1873 model guns are by no means suited to accurate marksmanship.

There is not a company in the regiment that can execute the settings-up, nor is there a squad in any company, so far as I was able to determine, that could do this. It was observed throughout the regiment that there were a number of men in each company who had apparently received little or no instruction in either the manual or company movements, and when the attention of the company commander was called to these cases the answer almost invariably was that these men were recruits who had not received more than one or two drills, and in some cases the information was imparted that it was the first time they had appeared in ranks at all. This is wrong, and an unwritten law should be adopted in every company to the effect that no man should be permitted to be in the ranks at all until he had been a member for at least three months, and this probationary period should not mean a period of three months' membership, but should mean that the recruit has had at least ten squad-drills. A recruit, in joining the company, should be placed in charge of a non-commissioned officer, and this non-commissioned officer should be excused from all other military duty during the time he is in charge of such recruits. These recruits should be drilled by him in a squad separate from the remainder of the command, and, as stated above, they should not be permitted to enter the ranks of the company along with the older soldiers until they have had at least ten drills, and if at the end of this period they are not sufficiently instructed they should be kept in this squad until they are so; and at any inspection, or other ceremony, requiring the presence of the men in ranks, this awkward squad should not be found with the company, but should be placed on its left in charge of its instructor.

There were but two companies in the regiment that made any attempt at executing the bayonet exercise, and these companies were by no means perfect. These two features of the drill are of great importance; the first constituting the A B C of drill, and the second being very useful as a means of making the men familiar with their pieces and active in the handling of them.

Squad-drill, including setting-up and bayonet exercises, should be insisted upon throughout the whole command.

There is but one company in the regiment that had the proper cadence in quick time; the cadence being in all other cases too slow, although some of the companies attain very closely to the proper time. In almost all cases the companies have the habit of starting off from the halt, at the command "march," with a stamp of the foot, which is incorrect, and this irregularity should, if possible, be corrected.

There seems to be an almost utter lack of systematic theoretical instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers. This matter can, I think, be quite easily regulated by carrying out the plan adopted by Company H, of Merced, which is as follows:

On drill nights the officers of the company meet one hour prior to the assembling of the company for drill, and devote that hour to the studying of the regulations appertaining to the drill for the evening. It is believed that, by following out this system, in a very short time the officers would become much more familiar with their duties than they now are, at a minimum cost of time and trouble, as it would only involve them in the expenditure of an extra hour.

The regiment is not supplied with the proper number of overcoats; some of the companies having as few as seven, while others have overcoats sufficient to equip nearly the whole command.

Several of the companies are supplied with blankets which were issued during the strike of 1894, while others have no blankets whatever, and if called out to-morrow would have to take such blankets with them as they could secure at home.

While all of the companies are supplied with canteens and haversacks, a great number of the haversacks on hand are of ununiform pattern, and were only issued at a time when nothing else could be secured. The same can be stated of quite a number of the canteens.

There is not a company in the regiment that has a blanket bag, ration can, or camp kettle suitable for field service. While all of the companies have a greater or less number of knives, forks, plates, dishes, etc., they are not suited for active campaigning, and are only makeshifts by means of which the companies can accommodate themselves while in their short practice camps. Some of the messing outfits consist of china and glassware, utterly unsuited to service in the field.

A few of the companies have reloading tools, but the outfits provided are very meager, and, perhaps with one exception, unsuited to the work required.

There is scarcely a company in the regiment that has on hand, as a reserve, the ammunition that it should have. There should be on hand always, in each company, at least forty rounds of ball cartridges per man, which, for the average company, would require about 2,500 rounds.

This reserve ammunition should be issued to the companies with the strictest orders to the Captains that it be retained, and under no circumstances used, unless replaced by other ammunition received from Headquarters. There is a great tendency, of course, to make use of such ammunition as is issued to the companies for target practice, and this order would be very hard to maintain; at the same time, I consider it to be of paramount importance that the command be provided with the proper supply of ammunition in time of trouble.

A large number of blouses and pants have been reported as unserviceable, but the Board of Survey, convened for the purpose, has unanimously decided that these articles should not be turned in to General Headquarters, but that authority be given the Captains of companies to repair these articles of clothing, using up in such repairs such of the articles as are in poorest condition, and, after the clothing has been properly repaired and cleaned, that it be packed away and reserved for field service—in this manner protecting any new issue of clothing that may be subsequently placed in the hands of the companies.

In some of the companies there is altogether too much work placed upon the Captain. Every company should have a Company Clerk, who should receive a compensation of, say, $7 50 per month, which compensation would be sufficient, not only to remunerate him for the work which he would properly perform, but would also place him under such obligations for the performance of his duties as would insure a proper condition of the papers, books of record, and correspondence of the command. It is only in this manner, in my opinion, that uniformity can be established in the records of the different companies.

There should be no Armorer to a company, but each man should be held to a personal accountability for the condition of his rifle and equipments. This is done in one or two companies, and in those instances where this is the case the rifles were found to be in the best condition.

There are very few, if any, companies in the command where Government and State property is not permitted to be taken from the armory; in fact, I do not believe that there is a single company that does not permit this to a greater or less extent, and in one or two companies this irregularity had reached quite an extraordinary development. Of course, for purposes of target practice, where men cannot meet together at the same time prior to going to the target range, the taking of the rifle on the range by the individual can scarcely be avoided, but the granting of permission to take arms, equipments, or clothing away from the armory for private use, under any circumstances, should be positively forbidden.

In making these criticisms, I do not desire to convey the impression that I regard the Sixth Infantry Regiment as anything else than a good command. The irregularities above noted are all such as can be easily corrected by a little attention to detail and a slight increase in the strictness with which the orders already existing are carried out. The material of which the Sixth Regiment is composed is as fine as any that can be found in the State. Of this I can speak understandingly, having had a more or less intimate acquaintance with a large number of the regiments throughout the State. The morale of the men is most excellent and the character of both rank and file is of the highest order. There is also displayed throughout the whole regiment, from Stockton to Bakersfield, a most earnest desire for improvement, and a willingness, on the part of both officers and men, to receive instruction and to benefit by it; and if the strictness with which this inspection has been conducted shall have the effect of correcting such irregularities as have been noted, I will have been amply repaid for the trouble and labor involved.

It is a very difficult matter, indeed, to accurately arrange the different companies of the regiment according to general merit, in view of the fact that, almost without exception, each company possesses one or more points of excellence distinguishing it from the others, which offset in its favor, in a greater or less degree, such deficiencies as are apt to be observed in it. After most careful deliberation, however, and with all the data before me, I have arranged the companies according to the following general figure of merit:

1. Company E, of Visalia.
2. Company H, of Merced.
3. Company F, of Fresno.
4. Company G, of Bakersfield.
5. Company B, of Stockton.
6. Company C, of Fresno.
7. Company D, of Modesto.
8. Company A, of Stockton.

The above assignment of relative merit takes into account everything noted, including promptness at roll-call, condition of arms and equipments, discipline, steadiness in ranks, drills, etc., and will, I think, not vary much from the correct standing.

I desire to invite attention to the fact that the certificate upon the Muster Roll, so far as relates to the remarks required of the Inspector, concerning discipline, instruction, etc., does not correspond with the remarks required of him as laid down on page 1 of the Inspection Report—in other words, it does not embody exactly the same points—and that this gives rise to some confusion and difficulty in making the entries regarding these several points. It is suggested that the general remarks called for upon the Muster Roll and upon the first page of the Inspection Report should correspond exactly, in order that this difficulty may hereafter be avoided.

I have prepared five copies of the report of inspection of each company, in order that, if thought proper, copies can be distributed, along with the copies of the Muster Roll, as follows: One copy to the Adjutant-General of the State, one copy to Division Headquarters, one copy to Brigade Headquarters, one copy to the headquarters of the regiment, and one copy to the Captain of each company, believing that, if this inspection is to be of any benefit to the command, it is necessary and proper that not only the Adjutant-General, but all intermediate commanders down to the Captains of the individual companies, should know exactly the condition of affairs in the command over which they exercise control; and that this information can be best conveyed by furnishing the Captain of each company a copy of the report of the inspection in his individual case.

I have also prepared two additional copies of this report, in order that, should you see fit, you can forward one copy to the Adjutant-

General of the Division, and also one to the Adjutant-General of the State.

I have the honor, sir, to be,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANK S. RICE,
Major, and Inspector Third Brigade, N. G. C.

BAKERSFIELD, CAL., May 26, 1896.

Assistant Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G. C., Fresno, California:

SIR: I have the honor to inclose herewith detailed reports of the inspection of the Staff of the Third Brigade, N. G. C.; Signal Corps, Third Brigade, N. G. C.; Troop B, Cavalry, Third Brigade, N. G. C., and the Second Regiment of Infantry, Third Brigade, N. G. C., which inspection was made by me between the 4th and 13th of May, 1896. These reports, together with this general résumé, conclude the inspection of the Third Brigade for the year 1896.

In forwarding these reports, I desire to say that I found the personnel of the Third Brigade throughout to consist of very excellent material, and that so far as my observation goes I have been able to discover very little difference in the figure of merit as between the units of the command in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

The Second Infantry Regiment is almost exactly upon a par with the Sixth Infantry Regiment as regards instruction, equipment, personnel, and general efficiency. In the total figure of merit, the Sixth Infantry Regiment, you will observe, rates a very little higher, but this I believe is about the correct relative standing. You will observe that the Second Infantry contains a company which is reported as the best drilled in the brigade; at the same time, it contains a company which is the poorest in the brigade in the matter of drill. The Second Infantry also contains two companies having the cleanest guns in the brigade, and, conversely, it also contains two companies which have the dirtiest guns in the brigade. The Second Infantry also contains more companies than the Sixth having 100 per cent of attendance; it also contains a company which has the lowest per cent of any in the brigade. This leads me to the conclusion, after careful consideration of the respective merits and demerits of the two organizations, that the Sixth Regiment averages a very little better than the Second, but this average is so close to that of the Second that I could not conscientiously recommend one regiment above the other in point of general efficiency. They are both almost exactly alike, and, as stated before, consist throughout of most excellent material. The wonder to me is, not that they have not been able to accomplish more, but rather, taking into account all the disadvantages under which they labor, that they have been able to do as well as they have, and I think that throughout both rank and file they are entitled to much credit for the efficiency to which they have attained.

I desire to call especial attention to Troop B, Cavalry, which I consider a very efficient organization. I should like very much to have inspected it mounted, but this privilege was not granted me, consequently I cannot speak for their efficiency in that particular part of their duties; but in everything else pertaining to this troop, I can only speak in terms of commendation, and I desire to still further emphasize this statement by saying that I inspected the troop with this prejudice in my mind, namely: that, on general principles, I am not in favor of the maintenance of cavalry as a part of the National Guard, on account of the excessive expense, and of my belief that it is almost impossible, with only three or four mounted drills per year (which is usually the case with the cavalry of the Guard), to secure anything like the practical efficiency which should be required of a mounted organization. It takes long years of hard training to make a thorough trooper, and I have for years been of the opinion that the same amount of money expended in the equipment and maintenance of good infantry would be of more practical benefit to the State than the keeping up of one half the strength of an inefficient cavalry force. In view of this opinion, which is still held by me concerning the maintenance of cavalry in the State forces, I have, nevertheless, been forced by the inspection which I have just made to give to Captain Cook and his excellent troop the above commendation.

I also desire to speak in praise of the Signal Corps of the brigade, which I found composed of intelligent, industrious, and active young men, who appear to take great interest in the work at hand. I was given to understand that throughout the whole membership of this corps most earnest work was being performed, and that nearly all the spare time they had from their various professions and lines of business is devoted to this work.

Regarding the equipment of the brigade, particularly the infantry, the same remarks made with reference to the Sixth Regiment will apply almost throughout to the Second. If the Third Brigade was to turn out to-morrow as a body, it would be absolutely impossible, with their present equipment, to have them uniformed alike. As dress uniforms are now a thing of the past, the brigade should, as soon as possible, be placed in condition, as regards equipment, so that the men could appear either on parade or in the field uniformed and equipped with campaign hats, blouses, pants, leggins, web belts, haversacks, and canteens, at least, and, if practicable, they should have, in addition, each man an overcoat, blanket, and blanket bag (or blanket roll). And there should be some uniformity in the messing outfit; at present there is none whatever, most of the companies being supplied with china cups, saucers, dishes, and other paraphernalia absolutely unsuited to service in the field. If practicable, each man in the command should be supplied with a ration can, knife, fork, and spoon, to be issued to him with his haversack. These, with his canteen, and the five or six camp kettles and dutch ovens that should be allotted to a company, would place the command in condition to take the field at any time and subsist upon the regulation government ration.

There is an almost utter lack of uniformity in the matter of keeping the accounts of the several companies with the Adjutant-General's office. Although some of the companies have attained a fair state of perfection in the keeping of these accounts, by far the greater number keep a very imperfect set of accounts. There should be some absolutely uniform system adopted, and after this system has been decided upon some competent person should be sent from General Headquarters to each company to remain with it long enough to give the company commander and clerk thorough instruction in the method of keeping the records and accounts. I believe that this is the only way in which uniformity can be established, and until such uniformity has been established it will be impossible for any inspector, in the limited period of time allotted to him for the inspection of the property, books of account, etc., of a company, to properly audit the accounts. I have not attempted to do so during this inspection, as I found, almost at the very start, that the time allotted me was not sufficient, and that it could not be done. In many instances there were no retained vouchers kept by the companies by means of which the accounts could be checked up; the answer being, when called upon to produce the vouchers for my inspection, that they had been sent along with the returns to General Headquarters. Some had stubs to the vouchers at hand, but these stubs, not being receipted, were in no sense vouchers and could not be passed upon as such. In some of the companies duplicate vouchers were retained, and in one or two instances the accounts were so nearly correctly kept that I was enabled to check back for quite a period of time; but the accounts kept in this manner were the exception and not the rule. I believe that a blank form of receipt should be adopted for the payment of all accounts; this receipt to be in duplicate—one copy to be kept with the retained papers at the armory of the company, and the other copy to be sent along with the return to the Adjutant-General. These vouchers, in each instance, should be filed with each return, so that when the Inspector calls for the papers he may be able at once, and with the least possible delay, to check up all the payments in regular order.

The irregularity above mentioned I consider to be one of the most important matters to be attended to at General Headquarters; not that I believe that there has been any irregularity in the handling of or disbursement of the funds placed in charge of the Captains, but simply that there has been no proper system adopted for the keeping of accounts.

Throughout the entire brigade, I do not believe that the officers and non-commissioned officers have devoted the time to the study of the drill regulations that they should, and I believe that much more interest would be taken in the drills by the men in the ranks if their officers and non-commissioned officers were more thoroughly posted in their duties. In one or two instances it was particularly observed that nearly all the mistakes made during the drilling were due to the lack of familiarity of the officers and non-commissioned officers with the duties that they had to perform. Certainly, if the commander does not know the drill himself, he is utterly unfit to instruct anybody else in the same; and in every instance where the Captain, or the officer in charge of the organization, appeared to be familiar with his duties the company made a good showing.

I also desire to invite the attention of the Brigade Commander to the fact that in very few instances were the details charged with the presentation of company property to the Board of Survey in uniform at the armory when the board met in session. This may appear a small matter, but it is one, beyond a doubt, which affects the general discipline of the command, and I think it would be for the best interest of the service that the attention of all company commanders should be called to the fact that no matter what the duty they are called upon to perform as guardsmen they should always appear in uniform during the performance of such duty. From the fact that this was very generally neglected it would appear that the duties incidental to the Board of Survey were not considered by the various commanding officers as in a sense strictly military; but this idea is entirely erroneous and should receive correction.

I desire to invite especial attention to the armory for the National Guard in the City of Sacramento. It is an old building, part brick and part wood, and located in close proximity to adjacent structures, also of wood and brick combined, and in my opinion is not suited for its present uses. It is now used as the Headquarters of the Second Infantry, as the armory for the Signal Corps, Troop B, Cavalry, and Companies E and G, Second Infantry. The company rooms are small, and closely crowded together. The storerooms are very inadequate, and I do not believe the building safe, either from fire or attacks of a mob in case of any trouble that might arise. It seems to me that the Capital of the State of California certainly should present to the Guard a more suitable site for the armory, and should also arrange for the erection upon such site of a building adapted to the purposes required. The present armory at Sacramento is no credit to either the Guard or the city.

COLONEL A. E. CASTLE, Assistant Adjutant-General Division, N. G. C., San Francisco:

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith my report of the Annual Inspection and Muster of the Division, National Guard of California.

One year ago the division consisted of 3 brigades, 10 regiments, 69 companies; strength, 4,411—officers and men.

By the consolidation under General Orders Nos. 17 and 18, dated December 7 and 9, 1895, the organizations have been reduced to 57 companies, consisting of 1 division, organized into 3 brigades, 5 regiments, 4 troops of cavalry, 5 divisions of Naval Reserve; total strength, 4,229—a numerical reduction of 182 men.

In the report of the Brigade Inspectors, you will note that in some instances the inspection books, muster rolls, and their statistical reports show each a different rating for "average merit." The attention of the officers was called to this fact, and they stated that the reason was that the heads under which the "average merit" is rated on the muster rolls do not agree with those on inspection books, and that in making up their estimate of the standing of the companies, they took into consideration points not given in either.

Therefore, in drawing my conclusions as to the merit of the various organizations, I have considered the rating of the Brigade Inspectors, together with my own observations.

The inspections were conducted throughout the Division by Brigade Inspectors Major J. W. F. Diss, of the First Brigade, Major Charles Jansen, of the Second Brigade, and Major Frank S. Rice, of the Third Brigade, in connection with Captain F. de L. Carrington, First Infantry, U. S. A., detailed as Inspector and Instructor on the staffs of the Commander-in-Chief and myself. The Adjutant-General of the State was present at a large number of inspections, and I personally inspected fifty companies.

Every company in the State was inspected by one of the above named officers and in most cases by three—the Division and Brigade Inspectors, and Captain Carrington.

The inspections were begun on the 15th of March and were completed on the 26th of May; but, owing to the distance and the length of time consumed in traveling from place to place, the actual time occupied in making the inspections was about two months.

A most thorough, careful inspection and examination was made as was possible in the time allotted. The inspection of the arms, armories, and clothing of the company properties was invariably taken in the daytime, while the evening was occupied for the formal inspection, muster, and drill. Every company was given some exercises in drilling, in company movements, and in the manual of arms and extended order. This was done principally in the streets, as the armories in most instances were too small, and, being used for entertainments and dancing assemblies, the floor was frequently found to be so smooth as to render marching very difficult. Wherever it is possible the streets should be used for drilling instead of the armories. It would not only give greater freedom of movement and admit of more precision in drill, but would enable the troops to execute the turnings in quick and double time without danger of falling, giving the men greater confidence in themselves, thereby better fitting them for actual service.

Accompanying this report are the reports of the Brigade Inspectors, with separate inspection books for each company, containing full and complete information in detail as to the arms, equipments, clothing, rent, and appearance of the armories; salaries paid clerks and armorers, care of State property, condition of the records and finances, and a general review of the affairs of the different companies as noted by the Inspectors. To which I invite your attention.

Major J. W. F. Diss, Inspector First Brigade, submitted an excellent extended report of his inspections of the First Brigade, which consists of the Seventh Infantry (twelve companies stationed in Los Angeles, San Diego, and vicinity), and companies of cavalry stationed at Los Angeles and Salinas respectively.

In the Seventh Infantry, Company B, of San Diego, grades 4.80, which is the highest in order of merit of any company in the State; also, largest in numerical strength, it being at the maximum, 103; 98% were present at inspection. This company shows the result of careful attention to duty and harmony; its officers and men appear to work in thorough accord with each other. Company A, of Los Angeles, grades the lowest in order of merit, but this is partly explained by the sudden disappearance of Captain Baldwin, which left the company in a somewhat demoralized condition. I approve of the recommendation of Major Diss, that a court of inquiry be instituted to investigate the financial affairs of this company. Since the inspection I have been informed, unofficially, that all the money affairs of this company have been adjusted, and that no deficiency now exists.

Companies D, of Pomona; E, of Santa Paula, and L, of Santa Ana, reported 100% present at inspection.

Three companies of this regiment, namely: I, of Pasadena, and A and C, of Los Angeles, are just about minimum; all three companies were below the minimum at inspection. Two of the companies—A, of Los Angeles, and D, of Pasadena—are in the same condition they were last year, neither having gained in numerical strength. Such companies should make most earnest efforts to recruit their ranks. With the reorganized Guard and full allowances from the State, there should be no more skeleton companies.

Major Diss goes into somewhat extended remarks on many topics of interest to the Guard. I note among them the patriotic motive that inspires the young men to enlist, to the character and class of men that are joining, such as professional and business men, to the greater interest, unselfishness, and patriotism of those living in the country towns as against those in the City of Los Angeles, and the superiority in the social positions, esprit de corps, earnestness, and pride prevailing in the country over the city.

He speaks highly of the physique and personnel of the companies—95% are native born. I call attention to his remarks as to the standard for admission to the National Guard, and to the importance of impressing upon recruits the nature of their oath of allegiance to the State and their officers. I approve his recommendation as to the assignment of Majors to battalions and that they have drills whenever it is possible to do so, where companies are situated near enough to be brought together, without serious expense and inconvenience.

Major and Surgeon Arndt's plan for "first aids" to the wounded seems practical and worthy of consideration—certainly it would inspire our young soldiers with greater confidence if they knew that a trained body of men were always at hand to assist them in case of their being temporarily disabled.

Referring to Major Diss' allusion to the insecurity of an officer's position, I strongly approve of his remarks as to the weakness of a system whereby officers are compelled to stand for reelection every two years. I believe with Major Diss that an officer's position should be made permanent, but I think they should be appointed rather than elected. I approve of his suggestions as to the uniformity in the method of distribution of funds, payment of bills, and in keeping of accounts. Major Diss submitted very clear statistical statements and returns of each command.

The deficits in this brigade are not very serious, the principal being uniform pants in Company L, of Santa Ana. The companies showing the greater excesses are A, C, D, F, G, and M; each has considerable amount of property on hand, for which they are not accountable in their property returns and for which there seems to be no explanation. In fact, every company in this regiment has an excess of something, as noted in the report of the Brigade Inspector. There is no reason why a company should have any surplus, and all such should be taken up on property returns and properly accounted for.

Colonel J. R. Berry, of Los Angeles, the newly elected Colonel of this regiment, is a careful, painstaking officer, and possesses the respect and confidence of his regiment in a high degree. It is hoped he will infuse some of his enthusiasm into the Los Angeles city companies, which seem the most in need of it.

There are two troops of cavalry in this brigade, namely: Troop C, stationed at Salinas, and Troop D. at Los Angeles.

Troop D was first inspected, and presented rather an unsatisfactory appearance. They showed lack of discipline and knowledge of duties, and carelessness in their company movements and saber exercise; their arms and equipments, however, were in good condition; possibly there was some excuse for their appearance, owing to the fact that the inspection was taken during the "Fiesta" week in Los Angeles, and the Captain being absent at the time. The muster rolls were improperly made out, were returned for correction, and much delay was experienced in recovering them. Since the day of inspection both the Captain and First Lieutenant have resigned. I am of the opinion that unless immediate steps are taken by this company to improve its condition it should be mustered out, as the money can be expended to greater advantage in those organizations which take greater pride and interest in the service. Later reports of this company show improvement over that presented at inspection. They were inspected by the Adjutant-General, and he reports a great improvement in drill, discipline, and appearance, and it is hoped that under new officers they will rapidly improve and become an effective body of men.

Troop C, of Salinas, under Captain Burke, was inspected mounted, and in discipline, drill, and efficiency they rank well. The conditions at this point seem particularly favorable to a cavalry organization. Upon inquiry at the inspection it was ascertained that a very large per cent of this company owned their horses. They turned out 60 at a mounted drill, and went through the company drill, saber exercise, mounting and dismounting, in a very creditable manner. They have a complete outfit, and it is kept in excellent condition. The company was inspected and mustered in the armory in the evening, dismounted, 74 being present. Officers and men take pride in their organization, and are warmly supported by the community.

Major Diss submitted a short supplemental report, in which he speaks of the beneficial effect of the consolidation of the two regiments in the south, of the harmony now existing between Colonel Berry and his subordinates, and of the lessened expenses of the command. To which attention is invited.

In the Second Brigade, Major Jansen, the Brigade Inspector, filed a report of 31 pages, in which he gives a careful résumé of all matter contained in his inspection book, with brief remarks pertaining to each company inspected.

This brigade consists of the First and Fifth Infantry, Signal Corps, and Cavalry Troop A.

Of the twelve companies composing the First Infantry, all stationed in San Francisco, the one ranking highest in order of merit is Company F. They had 87 on the rolls, with only one absent at inspection, and in order of merit they rank 4.75. The lowest in order of merit is Company E, although this company also had only one absent at inspection. Companies D, G, I, and K had 100% at inspection.

This regiment, since its reorganization, has had some difficulties to contend with in the way of harmonizing the various interests thrown together under new officers, losing their old company letters under which many of them had marched and served so many years, changing of armories, training of recruits, etc.; but with true soldierly spirit they have accepted the situation and are almost universally adapting themselves to their new conditions, are loyal to their commanding officer, Colonel McDonald, and are rapidly becoming a strong and efficient regiment, in which the City of San Francisco can have confidence and should be proud. Out of 935 men in the regiment, 906 were present at inspection, an average of 96%, and the average merit of the entire regiment is 4.26, which is a few points higher than any other regiment of the division.

Major Jansen reports that there were no complaints against officers, and that the State moneys were properly accounted for by those responsible.

I invite your attention to his recommendation as to the armory corner Page and Gough streets. It should be made secure against sudden attack by a mob. In a city like San Francisco, where there is such a large floating population and unruly element, the armories should be made difficult of access by an unauthorized body of men, and the windows on the ground floor barred.

There are serious deficits in several companies in this regiment, notably D, B, and L; the principal ones are in hats, pants, leggins, blouses, and canteens.

The Fifth Infantry is stationed in the cities surrounding the Bay of San Francisco—Oakland, San José, Petaluma, San Rafael, Santa Rosa, and Napa. This regiment was not affected to any extent by the reorganization, and retains its old high standard and esprit de corps. Of 560 men in the eight companies composing this regiment, 537 were present at inspection, 23 being absent, an average per cent of 94.5, and average merit 4.24.

Company F, of Oakland, ranks highest in order of merit; Company E, of Santa Rosa, ranks lowest. The personnel of this regiment is excellent. The men as a rule are healthy and strong, and take pride in their respective companies. The towns in which they are situated warmly support them, although I think the town of Napa could exhibit more commendable pride and interest in their young company, which is struggling to maintain itself.

Colonel Fairbanks, the Colonel of the regiment, has the respect and confidence of his men to a high degree, and is ably supported by them in his efforts to improve his command.

The signal corps of this brigade, as I may say of all the brigades, is of a very high standard of excellence. The men in this branch of the service are selected with much care, and take great pride in their commands in every part of the State.

Cavalry Troop A, of San Francisco, was inspected on foot. Out of 58 men on the rolls, 54 mustered at inspection; per cent, 93, and the average merit was 4.00. The company movements were fairly well executed, as well as saber exercise, but this troop has not shown the efficiency that was expected of it; it has been supplied with the very best of arms and equipments and has excellent material in its ranks. Captain Sime has recently been promoted to another command and the company is now in the hands of Lieutenant Jenks, who appears to be doing his utmost to make it an efficient organization. It is hoped that he will be aided in this by his company, and that this organization will develop into a strong, efficient body of mounted men.

Attention is invited to the remarks of Major Jansen at the close of his report, particularly as to the personnel of officers and men; to the intelligence, health, and character of the men; to the average age, twenty-three and one half years, showing that the Guard contains the flower of youth, and that they are at the age when nature is at her highest state of perfection; also, to his remarks about the self-sacrifice and devotion to duty. I have frequently noted the same, and if I may be permitted, I wish to impress upon our citizens the importance of sustaining and encouraging the Guard. Nothing cheers and sustains our soldiers so much as the respect and confidence of the community in which they live. The great City of San Francisco, particularly its press and people, should unite to encourage and sustain their one regiment of infantry. It is worthy. The manner in which they turned out at an hour's notice in response to emergency calls during the year shows that they are made of the right sort of material for soldiers. San Francisco should and can easily maintain the crack regiment of the Guard of California.

Major F. S. Rice, Inspector of the Third Brigade, submitted two reports, one of them of the inspection of the Sixth Infantry, located in the San Joaquin Valley, which was held in March, and the remainder of the brigade, namely: Staff, Signal Corps, Troop B Cavalry, and Second Infantry, in May. His report was carefully made and complete, every detail of his inspection books showing thorough knowledge of his duties and careful consideration of the subjects discussed.

Major Rice is a retired officer of the U. S. Army, a graduate of the Military Academy at West Point, and, having served many years in the active service, is enabled to bring the result of his valuable experience. He is an enthusiastic member of the National Guard of California.

I invite your attention to the many excellent suggestions in his inspection books and throughout his report. I commend his recommendations as to the Staff of the Sixth Infantry—the Adjutant of a regiment should certainly be near his commanding officer; also, as to the keeping of the records and money accounts and the condition of the arms throughout the brigade.

I again renew my previous recommendation as to the muskets of the model of 1873 in the hands of the Guard of this State. They cannot be replaced too soon by a more modern and effective arm, as will be seen by the report of the Board of Survey who examined the arms this year. A large proportion of the guns are worn-out and should be condemned; they are unreliable, and these facts, being known to the men, cannot help but to create distrust and uncertainty, should they be called upon to go into active service.

The arms of the model of 1884 are in excellent condition, and are used universally by the men in the companies for "shooting guns"; that is, a few of them are selected out of every company and used almost exclusively for target practice. Such guns are taken special care of, while the others are more or less neglected.

Major Rice recommends a systematic theoretic instruction for officers, and that every man in the company should be taught the simple rules of military practice and usage. Major Rice states that very few companies have any reserve ammunition, and of the importance of company commanders having under their control a proper amount for emergencies. I approve of his recommendation. Like the other Brigade Inspectors, he calls attention to the want of uniformity in the keeping of cash accounts, and strongly recommends an immediate reform in this particular. His remarks on this subject are worthy of consideration. He advises, where it is possible, for each man to care for his own gun. Certainly, the money expended in the salary to armorers in many instances does not secure satisfactory results, and those companies who had no armorer often had the very best rifles; a notable instance of this was Company H, Sixth Infantry, of Merced, whose rifles were in excellent condition, every man caring for his own. Where a man uses the same rifle every time and cares for it, he becomes familiar with its mechanism, and necessarily has greater confidence in its use. But when this cannot be done, owing to the occupation of the men and distance from their residences to the armory, then a competent armorer, who will attend to all the arms, should be employed, and he should be allowed sufficient compensation to justify his giving up enough of his time to the proper care and attention to the arms, equipments, and armory.

I heartily coincide with Major Rice when he suggests that every company should employ a clerk to keep the records and accounts. He believes it can be done at a salary of not more than $7 50 per month. In many instances the Captains themselves do the work. Better results would undoubtedly be obtained if the Captains would devote all their time to the management of their respective companies, leaving the clerical work to be done by a competent man. I also approve of Major Rice's recommendation that all expenditures be made by check on some bank or trust company, on properly approved vouchers, checks and vouchers to be numbered alike.

Major Rice calls attention to the lack of uniformity in the uniforms, particularly head-dress, worn by the different companies, and in their equipage. His remarks as to the uniformity and equipments are worthy of immediate consideration.

Major Rice, as well as the Inspector of the First Brigade, calls attention to the entire neglect of the "settings-up" and squad drill. Too much attention cannot be given to the ground work of military instruction; unless a recruit is properly drilled and instructed upon his first entry into the service, he labors under great disadvantage throughout his military life.

Attention is called to the lack of blankets, and also blanket bags and other articles suitable for field service. Companies as rapidly as possible should provide themselves with a mess outfit for field service of uniform pattern, and I know of nothing more complete, in every particular, than that spoken of by Major Diss, of the First Brigade, now in use in Companies B and I, of the Seventh Infantry, called the "Buzzacot Field Outfit," or one of similar make. I thoroughly examined one at Pasadena, and was particularly impressed with the convenience, economy of space, durability of material, and completeness in every respect of this admirable outfit.

In the Sixth Infantry, only one company had 100% present at inspection, namely, C, of Fresno. The highest in order of merit was Company H, of Merced, and the lowest, Company D, of Modesto.

The deficits in this regiment were principally confined to Companies C and G. There is a great diversity in the amount paid for rent of the armories, $10 per month being paid at Merced, and $83 per month at Bakersfield. The latter I consider excessive, especially for a country town.

The Second Infantry, of eight companies, is located in the upper Sacramento Valley and vicinity. With 535 men on the rolls, 487 were present at inspection, an average of 90.8%. Two companies, namely: B, of Colusa, and G, of Sacramento, had 100% present at inspection. Company C, of Nevada City, is reported to be the highest in order of merit, and Company F, of Woodland, the lowest.

This regiment was somewhat affected by the reorganization and consolidation, but it is rapidly recovering from its temporary embarrassment, and it is believed would acquit itself creditably if it were called out on an emergency.

Major Rice again speaks of the want of uniformity in the matter of uniforms and equipments, and I approve of his recommendations in this respect. The troops should certainly be provided with hats, blouses, pants, leggins, web belts, haversacks, and blankets. The same remarks as to camp outfit apply to this regiment, as have been alluded to in all other regiments of the Guard.

Major Rice speaks of the impossibility of inspectors making a proper inspection of money accounts during the annual inspection tour, on account of the limited time allotted to an inspector, which is quite true, and attention should be immediately given to these matters, to the end that a complete and satisfactory system throughout the entire Guard may be established. In no other way can the irregularities that appear every year be corrected.

The three brigade commanders, Generals Muller, Warfield, and Last, gave personal attention to the inspections throughout their respective brigades, and afforded every facility in their power to a thorough inspection. They frequently attended in full uniform at the inspections, and sent details from their staffs to assist. They are each striving to bring up the standing and efficiency of their several commands, and I believe the coming year will show a material advance and improvement in the discipline and efficiency of the Guard.

The Naval Reserve was inspected and mustered as follows:

Headquarters of the Battalion, and First and Second Divisions at San Francisco, by Captain F. de L. Carrington, U. S. A.;

The Third Division at San Diego, April 15th, by the Division Inspector;

The Fourth Division at Santa Cruz, April 29th, by Colonel N. T. James;

The Fifth Division at Eureka, March 19th, by Lieutenant-Commander L. H. Turner.

Inspection books and reports of these officers are already in your hands. During the year one of the divisions, namely, B, of San Francisco, has been mustered out, and a company of infantry at Eureka has been changed to a company of the Naval Reserve.

The inspections show that the Naval Battalion is in fair condition. It is composed of excellent men, and is armed with an effective weapon, namely, the Lee magazine rifle, and Colt's revolvers, all being in first-class order, and the supply of equipments, uniforms, etc., ample. This arm of the service would without doubt be ready to resist an attack, or take to the sea at the shortest notice; but there is not the enthusiasm and interest that was expected.

The division at San Diego is well commanded by Lieutenant Shaw; turned out well, with good numbers, and exhibited an excellent spirit. They executed the movements on the street and in the armory very commendably, but the attendance at muster was not up to the standard of the Guard.

The division at Eureka, having been within a year changed from an infantry company, has labored under some disadvantage, but it is rapidly adapting itself to its new conditions, under good officers.

The division at Santa Cruz is reported by Colonel James to be in good condition; the men turned out well at inspection and performed the company movements fairly well, especially in the riot drill.

Captain Carrington inspected the two divisions in San Francisco. He reports that the books, records, and equipments of the Second Division were neatly stored and cared for; that the monitor "Comanche," now lying in the stream off San Francisco, was also in excellent condition, with the exception that its deck was covered with tar. I approve of his recommendation as to the re-covering of the deck. This division is commanded by Lieutenant Gunn. The bearing of the men was excellent and they exhibited considerable pride and interest in their organization. The equipments, clothing, and lockers were in good order.

Attention is particularly invited to Captain Carrington's remarks regarding the First Division. I was present and witnessed the inspection, and I heartily coincide. The arms and equipments of this division were brought to the boathouse in great disorder, late, although ample time had been allowed. All its property shows great neglect and carelessness in the handling; in many of the rifles the sights are broken. At the inspection and muster in the evening, the men appeared careless and indifferent, and seemed to lack respect for their officers. Their commander, Lieutenant Douglass, reported that he had been quite ill, and during the inspection and since then his appearance seems to bear out this statement; but this is not sufficient excuse for the appearance of his command.

In both the First and Second Divisions there are very serious deficits, as shown by their property returns, and their commanders should be called upon for an immediate explanation.

These commands have been organized within three years, and were supplied with the very best quality of clothing, arms, and equipments. Why there should be a deficit of 11 rifles in one command, and 7 in another; of 42 uniform pants in one and 48 in another—and also a serious shortage in hats, caps, shirts, white pants, blankets, ponchos, leggings, neckerchiefs, in fact, in a majority of the articles for which they are responsible, during the short period since they have been organized, has not, up to the date of this report, been explained.

I recommend that action be taken against the officers responsible for the serious shortage in the property for which they are accountable to the State.

Captain Carrington accompanied me during the entire tour of the State, and I found him a most valuable assistant and counselor. A graduate of West Point, and having been for many years an active officer of the U. S. Army, he comes to the Guard with enthusiasm and unusual interest in National Guard matters, with the most thorough knowledge of every detail of military life; the State is fortunate in securing such an officer as Military Instructor.

In conclusion, I consider the Guard of to-day of the State of California in a much better condition than it was a year ago.

The number of the organizations having been reduced from 69 to 57 companies, with a corresponding reduction in the general, field, and staff officers, has permitted those remaining to be placed on full allowance, thereby giving them a better opportunity to equip themselves; while at the same time the numerical reduction is small, and when the companies are filled, as they now give promise of being, it is believed that within the next six months the 57 organizations of the Guard will show a greater strength and more efficiency than the 69 companies of which the Guard was composed a year ago; while at the same time the reduction of 12 companies effected a considerable saving of money to the State, showing the wisdom of the order for consolidation and reorganization.

The first effect of the reduction and consolidation was to produce a temporary confusion; some very worthy companies were mustered out, others were consolidated, but the Guard as a rule has loyally accepted the situation and set themselves to work, both officers and men, to harmonize the various conflicting interests, and great credit is due them for the patriotic, soldierly spirit shown.

I think there would be exhibited greater interest and efficiency if some compensation was allowed. The amount need not be large, but at least on all occasions of duty of inspection and muster they should be paid, and once a year every company in the State should be called out for a month's instruction and exercise, during which time they should receive some compensation.

Throughout my entire tour of the State, I found very few occasions where officers or men criticised the acts or orders of their superiors. This is highly commendable. The duties which members of the Guard are often called upon to perform are frequently onerous and exacting; they are frequently required at a moment's notice to leave their various business callings to respond to the call of duty; their positions in the Guard require a sacrifice of their time and money. Company commanders, particularly, have many difficulties to contend with; they are obliged to adjudicate differences between members of their companies, to lead the social events in their respective localities, look after the financial accounts, and oftentimes required to take money out of their own pockets to assist the company. They are frequently compelled to use personal influence and entreaty with their men to keep them in the ranks, and, as I noted in my report of last year, that the Guard as a rule, during the serious strike of 1894, submitted so cheerfully to the many privations they were called upon to endure, and acquitted themselves so creditably under the most trying circumstances, shows that our Guard is composed of the same class of men and inspired by the same patriotic motives that sent the "Boys of '61-2" to the war in defense of the flag, and I believe the "Boys of '96" are just as courageous, just as honorable and patriotic, and would show just as much devotion to duty, as did the heroes of thirty-five years ago.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN C. CURRIER,
Lieutenant-Colonel, and Division Inspector, N. G. C.

INSPECTION REPORT OF CAPT. F. de L. CARRINGTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 15, 1896.

To the Assistant Adjutant-General, Division, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith report of the recent inspection of the National Guard, made by me in pursuance of instructions from the Adjutant-General of the State, directing me to report to the Division Commander for this duty.

This inspection was made in conjunction with the Brigade and Division Inspectors, each of whom has submitted reports covering all the numerical details of the muster. I will therefore omit that information, and proceed at once to a plain statement of the condition of the Guard as it appeared to me—accompanied by such suggestions and recommendations as I consider proper in the premises.

Following the wishes of the Governor and Division Commander, the intention was to make the inspection thorough in every particular—the object being to discover, as far as possible, the true state of the Guard as to efficiency and equipment, and thus put the authorities in a position to apply any needful remedies.

The Division and Brigade Inspectors, Colonel Currier and Majors Jansen, Diss, and Rice, entered into the work so heartily, and performed their duties so cheerfully and efficiently, that the real work of my position was greatly reduced, and thus gave me better opportunity to study the Guard thoroughly. As the immediate representative of the Secretary of War, and in compliance with his expressed wish, I have sought to use every endeavor to encourage the feeling in the National Guard that the General Government desires their welfare and improvement, and that a cordial relation should exist between the Regular Army and State troops. My observation during this tour of inspection satisfies me that the Guard is beginning to realize and appreciate this attitude of the General Government, and that it is having a good effect.

My acquaintance with the National Guard of California dates back eight or ten years; but not until within the past year have I been brought into close official relationship with it. During these years the condition of the Guard has steadily improved, until to-day it is far superior to what it was some years ago.

I have now visited and carefully inspected every organization in the State. I have talked with officers and men, pointing out errors and irregularities wherever observed, and have sought to find just what was most needed for their betterment. I have no hesitancy in saying that I have found the material good throughout. Officers are generally intelligent, well informed, and exhibit an interest in the Guard, and as for the enlisted men, I was struck with their robust physique, especially those of the country companies. No better material can be found from which to make fine soldiers, and their efficiency as such must depend almost entirely upon their officers, and more especially upon the Captain and First Sergeant. These two must be well instructed, active and interested, and devote much time, besides drill occasions, to all the details of the company. The same thing applies in a less degree to the Lieutenants.

I found that officers frequently made the excuse for shortcomings that "we get no pay for this work, and think we do very well under the conditions, and should have all due credit." Well, I fully agree with them; but they should also remember that this service is entirely voluntary, and the conditions are understood beforehand.

Moreover, it should be considered an honor, and it is certainly a virtue, to serve one's State, and "Virtue is its own reward." However, I do not wish to be understood as discouraging the idea that some material remuneration would be right and proper. The Guard is certainly a necessary and important part of the State machinery, and should be kept in the best possible condition. This requires the services of good officers, whose time is surely worth something, and I would suggest the following as not too much and entirely earned:

Captains (and Lieutenants, when commanding Company)-----	$30 per month.
Lieutenants with Company-----	10 " "
First Sergeants-----	15 " "

For the Guard, as at present organized, this would require an annual appropriation of just $47,520, which would increase the tax rate but slightly, and would be money well invested.

I do not think the elective method of obtaining officers is the best — first, because personal feelings enter so largely into the choice that fitness is very likely to be lost sight of in the desire to elect a “good fellow” or popular man; and, after election, such a man is obliged to sacrifice discipline to maintaining popularity and position.

The Rules and Regulations, however, provide a means of checking this tendency, and that is the Examining Board, which should be composed of officers of unquestioned ability and character, who can be depended upon to lay aside personal feelings, and consider the interest of the Guard only. At the time of original election, a possession of military knowledge is not so important as character and standing in the community. A man of fair education and intelligence can very soon gain a knowledge of drill regulations by study — a perfect tactician who lacks force of character to command men can never make a good company officer or maintain discipline. These considerations suggest that Examining Boards should perform their duties fearlessly — without partiality or favoritism, and recommend no man for a commission who is not entirely fitted for the important duties that must devolve upon him.

Captains complain that some men resist their best efforts to compel them to attend drills with regularity. These men always make an excuse for failure to attend, which the Captain, in many instances, cannot decline to accept. To overcome this tendency to slight the weekly drills, I would suggest, first, that the Captain and other officers must evince a personal interest in each man, and while the hour set apart for drill should be strictly duty, and every military formality observed, every proper inducement should be thrown out to make the meeting interesting. Men who persist in staying away, and who show no desire to attend to their duties, should be dishonorably discharged.

In the matter of drill itself all possible variety should be given—not dwelling so long on any one movement as to render it monotonous and tiresome. I would suggest five or ten minutes setting-up exercises; ten minutes manual, including bayonet exercise; occasionally the school of the soldier, and a little squad drill, which not only teaches the details of drill, but also gives the non-commissioned officers an opportunity to test their knowledge of the drill book; and enough of extended order to enable the Corporals, at least, to learn their duties in the armory. When practicable, drills should be held outside the armory. It not only has the benefit of giving the men confidence under observation, and imbues them with a desire to excel, but also gives the public an opportunity of seeing the citizen soldiery, and increases interest in, and respect for, this arm of the State Government. Practical exercises in guard duty should also be held in every armory, as well as the rudiments of advance and rear guard, and outpost duty.

I regret to find that quite a large proportion of the men do not have a proper appreciation of the aim and object of their association as National Guardsmen. While many understand the obligation of their oath, and are duly impressed with the duty they owe to the State and Nation, many more seem to have had no definite object in enlisting beyond the social or picnic advantages. The Articles of War are rarely read to the companies, and the status of National Guardsmen, and their relation as such to the civil authority, but little explained. It cannot be expected that the recruit, coming from the farm, desk, or workshop, will intuitively learn these things, and every company officer should thoroughly inform himself, and properly instruct his men. The Articles of War should be read to every recruit before he enlists, and to the entire company occasionally (about twice a year). For this purpose, one of the regular drill nights each month might be devoted entirely to this sort of instruction, and the officers should lose no opportunity to impress upon the men the dignity and importance of their duties, and the fact that the occasion may arise at any time, as it did in 1894, when the stern and trying obligations of their oaths as soldiers will be put to the test. I strongly urge short practice marches wherever practicable.

It is equally gratifying to report that there is a well-developed spirit of emulation, and a strong desire to learn, and to do the proper thing. Men, when in the ranks, seem to understand that they should be attentive and respectful, but they are apparently not taught that discipline also includes neatness, orderly conduct, and respect to superiors at all times, especially about the armory and in camp. They should understand that the first call for a formation means to get ready, so that, the instant the last note of the assembly sounds, the ranks are formed, and the First Sergeant can proceed at once to call his roll. Their failure to do so at present, I believe, is only because they have not been properly instructed.

The Guard, so far as the ordinary company drill goes, is generally well instructed, but the proficiency varies very much in the different companies of each regiment, especially where they are separated. A number of companies appeared to poor advantage, as will be seen below. While some companies will naturally excel others, there should be no such marked difference as exists between the best and poorest companies of each regiment. After careful consideration of the condition in which each company was found at the inspection, as to drill, discipline, soldierly appearance, etc., I find the infantry companies stand as follows, assuming the maximum to be 5:

1. Company B, Seventh Infantry	4.80	} Excellent.
2. Company F, Fifth Infantry	4.75
3. Company K, First Infantry	4.75
4. Company F, First Infantry	4.75
5. Company I, Seventh Infantry	4.75
6. Company C, Second Infantry	4.75
7. Company M, First Infantry	4.60
8. Company G, First Infantry	4.60
9. Company C, First Infantry	4.60

10. Company B, First Infantry	4.50	} Very Good.
11. Company H, Sixth Infantry	4.50
12. Company A, Second Infantry	4.50
13. Company K, Seventh Infantry	4.50
14. Company E, Sixth Infantry	4.40
15. Company D, First Infantry	4.37
16. Company G, Sixth Infantry	4.37
17. Company G, Fifth Infantry	4.37
18. Company B, Fifth Infantry	4.37
19. Company L, First Infantry	4.35
20. Company E, Seventh Infantry	4.35
21. Company F, Sixth Infantry	4.30
22. Company A, Fifth Infantry	4.25
23. Company D, Fifth Infantry	4.25
24. Company G, Second Infantry	4.25
25. Company M, Seventh Infantry	4.25
26. Company C, Fifth Infantry	4.25
27. Company H, Second Infantry	4.20
28. Company D, Seventh Infantry	4.20
29. Company C, Sixth Infantry	4.00	} Good.
30. Company F, Seventh Infantry	4.00
31. Company B, Second Infantry	4.00
32. Company I, First Infantry	4.00
33. Company B, Sixth Infantry	3.87	} Fair.
34. Company H, Seventh Infantry	3.75
35. Company D, Second Infantry	3.75
36. Company H, Fifth Infantry	3.75
37. Company A, First Infantry	3.75
38. Company H, First Infantry	3.75
39. Company E, Fifth Infantry	3.65
40. Company A, Sixth Infantry	3.60
41. Company E, Second Infantry	3.50	} Poor.
42. Company G, Seventh Infantry	3.50
43. Company C, Seventh Infantry	3.50
44. Company L, Seventh Infantry	3.25	} Very Poor.
45. Company F, Second Infantry	3.25
46. Company D, Sixth Infantry	3.25
47. Company E, First Infantry	3.25
48. Company A, Seventh Infantry	3.00

This rating would suggest that there should be more uniformity in method of instruction, not only throughout the Guard, but more especially among the companies of a regiment.

I believe an attempt has been made in some, notably the Fifth Infantry, to adopt a system, but there is no reason why the whole Guard should not pursue a uniform, progressive, method throughout. In some of the New York regiments, Colonels announce in orders a scheme for the entire season, outlining the scope of drill and exercises for each drill night. In this way the scattered companies may be kept apace, so that when they assemble as a regiment, each is ready to take its place in the regimental line on an equal footing, to carry forward the higher training necessary to fit soldiers for the exigencies of war—in other words, to begin the course of “field exercises” which the War Department is so anxious should form the principal part of camp instruction for State troops. These consist, in a general way, of learning to march under the trying inconveniences of dusty roads and a burning sun; the taking advantage of natural, and the making of artificial, cover as protection against the enemy’s missiles of destruction; of commanding officers learning to take proper precautions for the security of their commands, on the march and in camp, selecting proper positions on the field of battle, teaching men to care for themselves in camp, so as to best preserve their health, strength, etc. They do not include the picnic and spectacular features, and sham battles so common in National Guard camps. Such a scheme for a week's regimental encampment has been promulgated by the War Department, and is as follows:

SCHEDULE OF EXERCISES.

Monday.—Morning: Target practice, regimental and close-order drill. Afternoon: Guard-mounting and parade. Evening: Officers' school in minor tactics.

Tuesday.—Morning: Target practice, company attack and defense on varied ground, enemy "imaginary." Afternoon: Guard-mounting and parade. Evening: School in minor tactics.

Wednesday.—Morning: Target practice, battalion attack and defense on varied ground, enemy "outlined." Afternoon: Guard-mounting and parade. Evening: School in minor tactics.

Thursday.—Morning: Regimental exercise in attack and defense, to carry out prepared problems, enemy "represented." Reports of commanders required in writing. Afternoon: Guard-mounting and parade. Evening: Lecture on marches and outposts.

Friday.—Regiment to assemble equipped for field service, men carrying blanket roll and half-shelter tents, and rations for one meal. Regiment accompanied by hospital corps detachment and ambulance, and one or more wagons loaded with mess kettles, firewood, and intrenching tools. Regiment to march, covered by advance guard, for about six miles, to a position selected (hired if necessary) for a temporary bivouac. An experienced and competent instructor in the art of marching infantry with the minimum amount of fatigue and discomfort to accompany the command. Regiment to go into position and cover its front and flanks at once, by outposts established on ground previously carefully examined by instructor. Outposts to conform to assumed information of an enemy and to strength of command. Hasty intrenchments to be constructed at once (if authority of owner of land has been obtained); shelter tents to be put up; cooks, detailed from companies, to prepare dinner; outposts to be inspected and positions taken, to be commented upon by instructor. Return march taken up, covered by rear guard, in time for guard-mounting in camp. Reports of outposts and advance-guard commanders, and sketches of positions required in writing.

Saturday.—Guard-mounting in the morning, and preparations for inspection. Afternoon: Companies inspected by Colonel, and review by Commander-in-Chief. Evening: Reading reports of the week, and comments of the Instructor and Colonel.

Sunday.—Morning service and preparation for departure.

The three Signal Corps are all in excellent condition, and deserve credit for their high state of efficiency as to drill and proficiency in signaling. They are probably equally proficient, made up as they are of intelligent, well-informed, young men. It is difficult to arrange them in order of merit, because there is only a distinction without a difference. I have seen the San Francisco corps under every condition; they are very soldierly in bearing, drill well, mounted and dismounted, and are fine soldiers. I would put the corps as follows:

1. Second Brigade, San Francisco.
2. First Brigade, Los Angeles.
3. Third Brigade, Sacramento.

The opportunity was not good for judging of the efficiency of the cavalry troops. The inspections were all made dismounted. I did not inspect the Salinas troop, but from the reports of the Division and Brigade Inspectors, I am of the opinion that it is in very good condition. The Sacramento troop showed good advantage dismounted, the San Francisco fair, and the Los Angeles poor—(I understand that this troop is improving since inspection). I have seen the San Francisco troop mounted on two or three occasions since the muster, and it is improving.

It is difficult in the National Guard to bring cavalry up to a high standard of efficiency, and it is very expensive. I think it would be of much more benefit to the State to maintain less cavalry and more infantry. To that end, I would recommend the mustering out of two of the troops now in existence, and the organization of four (4) companies of infantry in their stead; there would be no increase of expense, and then it would be practicable to organize another eight-company infantry regiment, by taking four companies from one of the twelve-company regiments, preferably the Seventh, as the First Brigade has but one regiment and should have at least two. If this is not done, I would recommend that the Los Angeles troop be disbanded, and a light battery of four guns be organized, and equipped with modern steel guns, to be located at San Francisco or Los Angeles. At present there is no artillery, and no serviceable guns except Gatlings, and there should undoubtedly be one well-equipped battery as a part of the State forces.

If four troops of cavalry are continued in service, it might be well to form them into a battalion for administrative purposes and place it in command of a Major or Lieutenant-Colonel, who should be a man well suited for the position.

While the probabilities are rather remote that the troops would ever be united for drill, instruction could be uniform in all, and the fact that they are one organization would certainly encourage esprit de corps and engender a healthy spirit of rivalry.

Target practice seems to have been prosecuted as well as the limited allowance of ammunition would permit. The fact that about as much money is expended by the State in the purchase of medals as rewards for marksmanship, as is paid out for ammunition, seems to me to suggest the necessity for changing the system somewhat. The allowance of ammunition should be increased as well as the requirements; firing should be held at longer ranges than 200 yards.

The matter of old and defective rifles has been made the subject of a previous report, but it is of such importance that I would be derelict did I fail to recommend renewed efforts to acquire serviceable arms for the Guard. In this connection, I desire to call attention to the fact that public stores, and especially rifles, are not taken proper care of by the men to whom they are issued for use, which is entirely inexcusable. The practice seems to prevail pretty generally of having the rifles cared for by an armorer. While it is well enough to have an armorer for general supervision of arms, each man should be required to keep his rifle and equipments in proper condition. It consumes but little time, and is an important part of a soldier's duty; besides, it is a small amount of personal interest for a soldier to take in the tools of his profession. While the arms were found in an excellent state of cleanliness in a number of companies, especially in Company H, Second Infantry, at Redding, none were in better condition than those in the company at Merced (Company H, Sixth Infantry), where each man is required to care for his own.

The Guard is badly in need of a proper field equipment, especially overcoats, blankets, shelter tents, canteens, haversacks, tin cups, meat ration cans, knives, forks, and spoons, as well as company field cooking outfits, Buzzacot ovens, or camp kettles, mess pans, etc. No time should be lost in supplying them.

The Medical Department needs reorganization, and proper legislation looking to it should be invited at the earliest moment possible. For State troops, I think it is probably better to maintain a Regimental than a General Medical Department. For each regiment there should be one Surgeon, and an Assistant Surgeon for each battalion, with an adequate number of stewards, nurses, etc. These should be properly organized into a Regimental Hospital Corps. Each regiment should be provided with a serviceable ambulance. Each company should have two hand-litters, and keep four men continually trained as company litter-bearers. Instruction of the Hospital Corps should be carried on regularly in the armories. I would recommend that a Board of Medical Officers, with the present Surgeon-General, Col. Wm. E. Hopkins, as its president, be convened to formulate a suitable bill for this reorganization.

There are very few armories in the State at all suited for the housing of the Guard, or the public property in their charge. In San Francisco, at least, I think the State should own an armory building, constructed with a view to the comfort and convenience of the troops, as well as security of property. In the country towns large and expensive armories are entirely unnecessary; a room only large enough to form in, well secured against fire and thieves, answers the purpose, because the salubrity of the California climate makes it practicable to drill out of doors most of the time, which, as I have before remarked, is much more beneficial than drilling in the armory.

As I have already submitted a report covering the inspection of the Naval Battalion, it is not included herein.

In conclusion, I desire to express my appreciation of the uniform courtesy that has been extended to me by the officers and men of the Guard throughout the State, and the interest they have manifested in my efforts to aid them.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. DE L. CARRINGTON,
Captain First U. S. Infantry,
Inspector.

INSPECTION OF NAVAL BATTALION.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 3, 1895.

To MAJ.-GEN. W. H. DIMOND, Commanding N. G. C.:

DEAR SIR: In accordance with orders from General Headquarters, under date of June 20, 1895, acknowledged by post June 22, 1895, and orders from Division Headquarters dated June 21, 1895, acknowledged by report in person to Major-General Dimond, I, on June 22, addressed the following communication to Lieutenant-Commander Fred H. Stahle, N. B. N. G. C. (same was delivered by messenger and receipted for by M. A. Stahle):

JUNE 22, 1895.

DEAR SIR: I am in receipt of orders from Division Headquarters to make an inspection of the Naval Battalion upon the 26th of June, and would ask, if you can find it convenient, to call at my office upon Monday, the 24th, at any time between the hours of 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. to discuss the matter of arrangements.

Yours respectfully,

N. T. JAMES,
Lieut.-Col. A. D. C.

To Lieut.-Com. FRED H. STAHL, N. G. C.,
Commanding Naval Battalion,
No. 1027 Mission Street, City.

Receiving no reply, on June 25th I addressed the following, sent by messenger to Headquarters Naval Battalion:

JUNE 25, 1895.

DEAR SIR: Not being in receipt of any reply to mine of the 22d inst., I am obliged to request that Company C of the Naval Battalion will be ready for inspection at the armory at 8 o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, June 26th;

That Company D will be ready for inspection at their armory at 8 o'clock P. M. on Thursday, June 27th;

That Company B will be ready for inspection at their armory at 8 o'clock P. M. on Friday, June 28th, and that you will notify the commanders of the companies accordingly.

I will also request that yourself and adjutant be present at these inspections.

Yours very truly,

N. T. JAMES,
Lieut. Col. N. G. C.

To Lieut.-Com. FRED H. STAHLE, N. G. C.,
Commanding Naval Battalion.

This was replied to by Lieutenant Brooks, Adjutant N. B. N. G. C., calling in person and handing to me communication (marked "A") and Circular Battalion Orders No. 7, with Paragraph V in brackets (marked "B"). It will be noted that no time is designated for the inspection.

Being informed by Adjutant Brooks that orders for general inspection had been given, I repaired to the armory of Company B, at corner of Page and Gough streets, at 8 P. M. of June 26th. I there found Company B preparing for inspection, and shortly after, Company C and Company D arrived. Lieutenant-Commander Stahle also arrived at about same time.

All three commanders of companies complained that they had not received orders in proper manner to allow them to turn out their companies, and were very emphatic in their expressions, laying the blame upon their Battalion Headquarters.

It was evident that there was grave laxity in communicating the orders from Division Headquarters to the company commanders, and I am informed by them that such is the case in other instances.

The Battalion was formed under command of Lieutenant-Commander Stahle and inspected as a battalion. None of the commissioned staff of the Lieutenant-Commander were present, and but two of the non-commissioned staff, and no excuses were given for the absentees. The Adjutant was not present. The following was the attendance at muster:

Lieutenant-Commander F. H. Stahle.....	Present.
Commissioned Staff.....	All absent.
Non-Commissioned Staff (3).....	Present, 2; absent, 1.
Staff Bugler.....	Absent.

Company C (Lieutenant C. A. Douglass, Commanding.)

Commissioned officers	4	Present.....	4	Absent.....	0
Enlisted men.....	73	Present.....	51	Absent.....	22
Totals.....	77		55		22

Of those absent, three were reported as sick, but could not be verified, owing to absence of surgeons.

Company D (Lieutenant L. H. Turner, Commanding.)

Commissioned officers	4	Present.....	3	Absent.....	1
Enlisted men.....	62	Present.....	34	Absent.....	28
Totals.....	66		37		29

Of those absent, five were reported as sick.

Company B (Lieutenant C. C. Dennis, Commanding).

Commissioned officers.....	4	Present.....	4	Absent.....	0
Enlisted men.....	59	Present.....	49	Absent.....	10
Totals.....	63		53		10

Of those absent, three were reported as sick.

The commissioned officers all complained that the large number of absentees was caused by the late hour at which the company commanders received their orders, and the manner in which they were given.

Upon inquiry among the petty officers and enlisted men of all the companies, this was confirmed.

BATTALION INSPECTION.

The formation of the Battalion was poor; appearances indicated that neither officers nor men were familiar with battalion formations and drills.

The appearance of the officers and men in each company was good.

The arms were in good condition, and showed supervision.

Uniforms were neat and clean, and, with exception of several men being without lanyards and one without a cap ribbon, the general appearance was very creditable.

At close of Battalion inspection, Companies C and D were dismissed, with the understanding that the armory of Company C would be inspected on evening of 27th and that of D on 28th.

COMPANY B.

(Inspected June 26, 1895, after Battalion Inspection.)

Armory is situated on the southeast corner of Page and Gough streets, San Francisco, Cal., and is occupied by the Second Artillery, N. G. C. Company B sublets one room on ground floor, paying $75 per month, with privilege of drill hall on each Wednesday evening only. Arms and armory in charge of the Armorer of Second Artillery, N. G. C. The building is of brick, well constructed, and not exposed to danger of fire from surroundings. The quarters of Company B are entirely unfit for their use, and the rent is excessive for the accommodations furnished.

Storerooms for State Property.—Inadequate for the requirements of the service.

Quarters are clean, but owing to limited space cannot be properly arranged. The manner in which cartridges are stored is dangerous and should be discontinued.

State Property is not well taken care of, nor is proper inventory kept. The blankets were found rolled in the ponchos, and canteens, haversacks, and straps were thrown into drawers indiscriminately. While the conveniences of the quarters are somewhat to blame for this, still a good quarter-gunner is badly needed.

Drill.—The drill of the company, especially in skirmish and with the field-piece, is much to be commended. The bugle calls are well understood, and the men drill with precision, and show training. The drill, however, should be inclined more toward the customs of the naval service. The company throughout shows more of the soldier than the sailor.

Inventory is included in muster roll herewith. This was checked, except as to uniforms; many of these are kept at home by the men, owing to the need of washing them at intervals. The cooking utensils, upon return from the "Olympia," were stored with a portion of those belonging to Company D, and have not yet been brought to the armory.

Field Gun is in good condition, as also all spare parts.

Finances show balance on hand of $463 28. Books fairly well kept.

Morale.—The morale of the company is good. The men and officers both seem to take an interest in its welfare. The commissioned officers need instruction in the school of the "sailor."

COMPANY C.

(Inspected June 27, 1895, 8 o'clock P. M.)

Armory.—Situate No. 620 Bush Street, between Powell and Stockton streets, San Francisco, Cal. Building occupied by societies and saloon. Company C leases one large room on first floor, paying $65 per month, and has use of drill hall on second floor each Tuesday only. Building is brick and frame, and is exposed to the dangers of a general conflagration. The quarters occupied by company are good and well adapted to the use required. Armory cared for by company's Armorer; pay, $10 per month.

Storerooms for State Property good and well arranged.

Quarters are clean and neat and shipshape. The lockers of men are neatly stowed, and the ammunition and spare stores accessible and well cared for.

State property well taken care of and in good condition. One "poncha" tom should be condemned.

Drill.—As infantry, very creditable, but with one-pounder field gun men showed great lack of training. The company has no bugler, therefore drill by signals could not be had.

Inventory included in muster roll herewith; checked and found correct.

Field Gun in good condition, as also spare parts.

Finances.—I find the statement of finances to be as follows:

Due from State, quarter ending March 31st	$300 00
Due from State, quarter ending June 30th	300 00
	$600 00
Liabilities.
Armory rent to March 31st	$195 00
Armory rent to June 30th	195 00
Due Armorer	30 00
Outstanding debts for fitting up of quarters	121 00
	$541 00
Balance
	$59 00

In addition to above, Lieutenant Douglass claims $250, due from State June 30, 1895, as yearly allowance. The company's books are kept by the two Ensigns, separate from the State books and not under control of Lieutenant Douglass. Books are not well kept.

Morale good. Men especially seem to take great interest in keeping up the standard.

COMPANY D.

(Inspected June 28, 1895, 8:15 o'clock P. M.)

Armory.—Situate No. 1615 Pacific Avenue, between Polk Street and Van Ness Avenue. Building occupied by Light Battery and by a riding-school. Company D leases three large rooms on second floor, paying $50 per month, and has use of riding-school for drill each Tuesday. Building is brick, and not liable to fire from exposures. The quarters occupied by company are good, and, except drill hall, well adapted to the needs of the company. Armory and arms cared for by company's Armorer and Quartermaster.

Storerooms for State Property excellent, and well taken care of.

Quarters clean, neat, and shipshape. Lockers neatly stowed—"a place for everything and everything in its place."

State Property well taken care of and in good condition. Nothing requiring condemnation, but eight (8) rifles need new sights, without which they are useless.

Drill.—Infantry very good. Owing to annual target practice, was not able to inspect with field guns.

Inventory well kept; everything checked and found correct, as per list in muster roll herewith.

Field Guns.—One one-pounder Hotchkiss in good condition, as also spare parts. One Accles rapid-firing gun, 30 caliber, in good condition.

Finances.—Books are excellently kept, and are a model which should be followed by all other companies in Battalion.

Morale good. The discipline of this company is very good, and the system a credit both to men and officers.

GENERAL REPORT.

The morale and esprit de corps of the separate companies is good, but the want of Battalion concentration and uniformity in methods, drills, company regulations, etc., is having a depressing effect, and will in time prove disastrous to the entire force.

At present each company commander acts upon his own responsibility, and the Battalion partakes more of separate commands than of one body. The staff seemingly take but little interest, and I am informed by each of the Lieutenants commanding that neither the Lieutenant-Commander nor staff has visited the companies' armories (except at inspection in March) for more than a year past.

As before noted, none of the commissioned staff were present at inspection, nor was the Adjutant present at any of the armory inspections, although his presence was requested in mine of 25th of June to Lieutenant-Commander Stahle.

Company commanders also complained of the manner in which orders are issued. There is considerable confusion, owing to orders from the various Headquarters being distributed to companies instead of being segregated at Battalion Headquarters.

Lieutenant-Commander Stahle reports that he receives orders from Brigade Headquarters which are not always in conformity with previous one from the Division. I would suggest in future that all orders for the Battalion be issued from Division Headquarters.

Ordnance.—This department has in the past been entirely neglected. At the annual shoot, on the 28th and 29th of June, Company C did not have a cartridge. Some uniformity as to the storing and use of State ammunition is badly needed.

Ambulance Corps.—There is no provision for the care of sick or wounded. No Hospital Steward, Apothecary, or Surgeon's Mate.

Facilities for Instruction are very meager. The various armories being so far apart, and each company having the use of a drill hall but one night each week, prevents proper instruction. One meeting night each month is used as a company meeting, leaving only three drill nights per month.

It is impossible to instruct the entire company in the use of the field pieces under these conditions, or to familiarize the men with the bugle calls. Proper battalion drills are out of the question. A dress parade on the street at night does harm, not good, as men and officers under such circumstances make errors which pass without correction. The entire instruction so far has partaken too much of the soldier and not enough of the sailor.

Squad drills by gun's crews and boat's crews should be substituted for company drills and should be encouraged. The men should be taught to consider themselves all a part of one ship's company, and not members of various organizations with the petty jealousies, etc., which are bound to be engendered.

The new boat-house under construction by the Harbor Commission will be of inestimable value to the Battalion, and I earnestly recommend that the General Headquarters will request of the United States Government the use of three (3) more boats and the schooner "Freda"; also one ship's gun to mount on shore for drill purposes.

For the amount now paid as rent by the companies, a suitable building might be obtained near the city front, where all companies can be housed and where the boat-house will be sufficiently near to allow the various crews to make use of it in the evenings and on holidays.

The commanders of companies are fully alive to the necessity of combining the armories under one roof where the organization as a ship's company can be effected and where uniformity in instruction, drill, and everything else pertaining to the sailor's duties can be obtained.

I would recommend that a ship-writer be appointed for each company, whose duty it will be to keep the books of the company, and that a uniform system be adopted and enforced. With the exception of Company D, the books are not satisfactory, and there seems to be no method of checking what should be on hand belonging either to Government or State.

I inclose Exhibits "A" and "B" and duplicate muster rolls for Companies B, C, and D; also duplicate report for Headquarters.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Respectfully yours,

N. T. JAMES,
Lieutenant-Colonel N. G. C.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 4, 1896.

The Assistant Adjutant-General, Division N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report of the annual muster and inspection of the Naval Battalion located in this city, consisting of Headquarters, First and Second Divisions, made in compliance with S. O. No. 14, c. s., Headquarters Division N. G. C.

I called upon Lieutenant-Commander Turner, commanding the Battalion, on Saturday morning, May 23d, who showed me his orders of May 18th and 19th (copies inclosed), prescribing time and place of inspection, and giving certain instructions to division commanders. I also examined the books and records of the Headquarters, and found them in excellent condition generally.

As most of the equipment of the Battalion is stored aboard the monitor "Comanche," I made arrangements with the commanding officer to board the ship at 10 A. M. the 26th. Upon arrival at the boat-house, I found Captain Turner awaiting me, and after taking a careful inventory of all property in the boat-house we went to the ship, the Division Inspector accompanying us. The equipments of the Second Division were found to be neatly stored there under lock and key. Only a few articles pertaining to the First Division were on the ship. The monitor was found to be in excellent condition generally, except that her main deck is covered with a heavy coating of sticky tar, which is a serious impediment to comfortable footing, and should be removed, or if this is impracticable (which I believe is the case, owing to condition of deck) some sort of board covering should be made. The steam launch and small boats are in excellent condition.

A wagon-load of the equipments of the First Division arrived at the boat-house just as we were about to start for the ship. This I caused to be arranged, and took an inventory of it at the boat-house. The commanding officer informed me that he had supposed the inspection of the clothing would be made "on the men at the night inspection," and for that reason the locker-rooms had not been prepared for that inspection. I therefore directed that they be in readiness the next day, the 27th, at 1 P. M., at which time I repaired to the armory and completed the inventory. Lieutenant-Commander Turner was present, and gave me every assistance during the entire inspection. Neither of the division commanders was present at the day inspection of property.

The formal muster and inspection were held at the armory. As the arms were aboard the "Comanche," the commanding officer, upon recommendation of Lieutenant-Colonel James, ordered the divisions to form without arms. Colonel James explained to me that he had suggested this course because the arms had been much damaged by being carried back and forth. Owing to the smallness of the assembly room but one division could form there, so that they were inspected separately, and not in division formation. The following table shows result:

	Present.		Absent.		Total.
	Officers.	Enlisted Men.	Officers.	Enlisted Men.
Headquarters staff, etc.....	7	3	0	1	11
First Division	4	53	0	28	85
Second Division	4	56	0	28	88
Totals	15	112	0	57	184

Lieutenant Douglass, of the First Division, was present in civilian's dress, saying he was too sick to take command of his division. He also said he thought the inspection was to be on the 27th, upon which I asked him if he had not received the order, to which he replied, "Yes," and he had no excuse. I inclose copy of his own division order, which would indicate that his memory is either very short, or that he gave the matter of inspection very little thought or attention. I suggested to him that, as the inspection would necessarily be short, he had better put on his uniform and take command. However, he did not do so, and soon left the hall. This division was commanded by Lieutenant Guy C. Calden, whom I found to be a bright officer, well informed and ready-witted. He gave good commands, and showed that he understood his duties. The other officers were soldierly in bearing and neat in uniform, etc. I had no opportunity to judge of Lieutenant Douglass' capacity. The petty officers were well appearing, and seemed intelligent. The enlisted men, generally, showed lack of discipline. There was much unsteadiness in ranks, considerable gazing about and talking. Uniforms lacked neatness. Five men were in civilian's dress. They all informed me that they had uniforms, but for one reason and another did not put them on. Two said they had only received notice of the inspection that evening, just before the hour for assembly.

The Second Division was commanded by Lieutenant Gunn, who gave every indication of being an excellent officer. His bearing was very soldierly, and he gave an excellent command, carrying force and attention with it, which was evinced by the excellent bearing of his men. They were better uniformed, more attentive, and did not present the slouchiness observed in the First Division. The officers and petty officers of this division are entirely up to the standard of those in the First Division. The material in both divisions seems very good.

The locker-rooms of the First Division were in very poor condition; much of the white clothing was very dirty.

In the Second Division the locker-room was neat and articles well arranged; most of the white clothing was freshly laundered.

Neither of the division commanders having with them their returns or records, I arranged a meeting with Lieutenant Gunn for Friday morning, the 29th, the earliest time he could leave his business, and as I had been entirely unable to transact any of the business of the inspection with Lieutenant Douglass, I addressed a communication to the commanding officer of the Battalion (of which I inclose a copy), asking that both be ordered to meet me at that time. As a result, Lieutenants Gunn and Douglass met me. Neither then had all the necessary information with them to enable me to close up the muster rolls and make my report. The muster roll of the First Division was also incomplete, not having the required financial statement, report of property responsibility, or even the division commander's signature. I was therefore obliged to leave them with these officers for completion, they agreeing to deliver them to me on the following Monday (June 1st), at the office of the Division Inspector. I was there at that time, and Lieutenant Gunn came with completed rolls, and they have been duly forwarded. Lieutenant Douglass did not fulfill his promise, and I have not seen him since, or received the rolls of his division. I reported the matter to Division Headquarters, and through Battalion Headquarters an order was sent Lieutenant Douglass to return the rolls, but up to this time (Thursday, June 4th) he is still delinquent.

From a copy of the last return of the First Division, furnished me by Lieutenant-Commander Turner, I have been enabled to complete my "Inspection report book."

It will be observed that there is considerable deficiency in both divisions. Lieutenant Gunn tells me that so far as his division is concerned, he is sure that he can find most of his deficiencies, and will report the result of his search to me as soon as possible. I still hope Lieutenant Douglass will return his muster roll, and do something toward explaining his shortage. Until he does, I will be unable to forward the rolls. Lieutenant-Commander Turner informs me that so far as the shortage in clothing is concerned, that most of it has been purchased by private subscription, and some by funds of the men themselves, and improperly taken up on the returns of the State property. Of course, the records of the Adjutant-General's office at Sacramento will show just what the State has supplied.

Regarding the Board of Survey, it will be seen from the foregoing that they cannot be made with any degree of accuracy until I get further information from the commanding officers of the First and Second Divisions.

The arms and equipments in the hands of this Battalion are in very good condition. For detailed showing I refer you to accompanying "Inspection book." Quite a number of rear sights of rifles are broken; these should be repaired. The 1-pr. Hotchkiss guns on board the "Comanche" are in good condition. The 15-inch guns are good, but I do not consider of much use to the Naval Reserve; and while the monitor "Comanche" is, of course, better than no vessel, and will undoubtedly serve a good purpose, I believe one of the old wooden ships, with a battery of smaller guns—say 6-inch, B. L.—and some sail-power, would be far more suitable for the use of the Naval Reserve; and I do not believe an effort to make such an exchange would be misplaced.

Having such a poor opportunity, during the inspection, to judge of the efficiency of the Battalion as to drill, I took especial pains to see them under arms on Memorial Day. On that occasion they formed part of a battalion with the Regular Navy, and showed to very good advantage. To do Lieutenant Douglass due credit, he had more men in ranks then, and I thought his division marched better than the Second.

In the light of what has preceded, comment upon Lieutenant Douglass' conduct seems hardly necessary. In my personal interview with him on the 29th, his bearing was courteous and soldierly, and I am at a loss to understand his very strange negligence since, and being unable to see him I cannot make any explanation of his conduct to the Commanding General.

Lieutenant Douglass said, in my presence, that when his division affairs were all straightened out he intended to resign his commission. Unless he immediately begins giving more attention to the duties of his position than he appears to be doing now—and as his negligence showed during my inspection—it might be well to have another officer take command of his division.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. DE L. CARRINGTON,
Captain, First U. S. Infantry,
Inspector.

REPORT OF BOARD OF OFFICERS

TO CONSIDER THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE GUARD AS TO UNIFORMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 26, 1896.

BRIG.-GEN. A. W. BARRETT, Adjutant-General, N. G. C.:

SIR: In pursuance of Special Orders No. 15, A. G. O., paragraph 1, dated September 2, 1896, a copy of which is as follows:

"In accordance with the provisions of Section 1923, Political Code (Amendments of 1895), Colonel D. B. Fairbanks, Fifth Infantry, N. G. C., Colonel J. J. Nunan, Sixth Infantry, N. G. C., and Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Currier, Division Staff, N. G. C., are hereby appointed a Board of Officers for the purpose of considering and recommending to the Commander-in-Chief what, in their judgment, is most urgently required for the uniforming and equipping of the National Guard of California.

"By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
"Adjutant-General."

the Board met at the California Hotel at 8 P. M., Monday, September 21, 1896. Present, the entire Board; Colonel D. B. Fairbanks, presiding; Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Currier, Acting Recorder.

Written suggestions were submitted by each member of the Board. After full and free discussion of the needs and requirements of the Guard, the following conclusions were arrived at:

First—Rifles. The matter which is of the most vital importance to the Guard is the want of confidence in the rifles, model 1873. Much the largest proportion of rifles in the Guard to-day are of this model. The inspection reports at the annual inspection and muster of 1896 show that there are about 2,375 rifles of the model of 1873, and 1,207 of the model of 1884, not including, however, those in the hands of the Signal Corps, the Naval Reserve, or the Cavalry. A large number of the 1873 model have been repeatedly condemned. While some of these rifles may be a good and useful arm, yet the fact that a large percentage are known to be worn-out and unreliable, causes a feeling of doubt and uncertainty to exist among the men which will be very difficult to overcome, and in the event of trouble occurring whereby the Guard should be called out, would seriously impair the efficiency of the troops of the State.

We consider it of the utmost importance that each and every enlisted man should be provided with a first-class Springfield rifle. As now equipped, there are in each company from 20 to 25 latest-model rifles, which are known as the "shooting guns," which are kept separate from the general guns used by the company. On occasions of target practice they are taken to the range by certain members or by range committees, and all men use them to make their scores. Thus, when a man comes to the butts he is handed one of these guns, all properly sighted, windage set, etc., and required only to aim and pull trigger. This does not give the man a chance to use his judgment or familiarize himself with the working of the sights in the least, and as men cannot be expected to shoot with inferior guns, this will always be the case until each company has enough guns of equal quality to equip each man; then they can be expected to use their own rifles and see that they are in proper condition for firing. With the guns, also, should be procured proper web belts for carrying ammunition; and while it is not our duty to report regarding the means of procuring these things, it seems to us possible to procure them from the General Government, on account of the recent change in the arms of the U. S. troops, and the fact that many such guns and belts as described above are stored in Government arsenals. Web belts should at once be supplied to all the companies. Many have already procured them, but there is still a great shortage. These belts are a most necessary part of a field service equipment.

Second—Service Uniform. A complete service uniform, including fatigue cap, to each and every enlisted man; the uniform to include blouse and pants, hat, cap, and leggins; also haversack and canteen. These uniforms to be, if possible, the same as used in the regular service, and the cloth to be inspected by a board of officers detailed from the Regulars and N. G. C.; and we would also suggest that these uniforms be made up as in the Regular Army, as the fitting of each man seems to give poor satisfaction where there is so much constant change in the ranks.

In the matter of blouses and trousers the Guard is fairly well supplied, each company having on its returns more than enough to uniform them, and there is no serious complaint as to quality; but some of them have been in use so long and are so much soiled and worn that the men dislike to wear them on parades or drills in public. These should be retained so that, when supplied with a sufficient number of new ones to enable them to do so, each man may possess an extra set for camp and fatigue purposes. The U. S. Army have a brown canvas suit for these uses.

Hats and Caps. Many of the service hats are reported in poor condition. About 1,100 are required to furnish the troops completely. The new pattern of cap having been adopted and supplied to a portion of the Guard, all the old forage caps should be called in and disposed of, and the new ones issued.

Leggins. The number of leggins reported as in the possession of the Guard was 3,280; part of them somewhat worn. It will require about 1,000 more to properly equip the Guard.

Haversacks and Canteens. There are reported to be on hand at the present time 3,900 haversacks and 3,700 canteens, although the new purchases have not been distributed. Many of those in the possession of the Guard at the annual inspection were of inferior quality, having been purchased during the strike. All those that were pronounced inferior or ununiform by the Board of Survey this year should be turned in and sold, and replaced by the U. S. Army pattern, which includes the ration can. The aluminum can is now in use in the Army, and with it is a knife, fork, and spoon.

Third—A Mess Kit for each company should be furnished, so that it will be prepared to take the field and supply itself at shortest possible notice. Among the most necessary articles of the mess kit are a pint tin cup for each man, to enable him to cook coffee and food, if necessary, while bivouacking on the march, without having to depend upon the arrival of the wagons, and a light portable combination company stove or oven, similar to the Buzzacot, which were found in use in several companies of the Seventh Infantry.

Fourth—Overcoats. The climatic conditions in California, the great changes in the temperature from the interior to the coast, especially at night-time, when it is frequently cold, foggy, and windy, the temperature sometimes varying from 50° to 110° in forty-eight hours, make it obviously necessary to provide against the danger of the troops taking cold and suffering from the diseases incident to sudden changes of climate. The supply of overcoats at the time of the annual muster of 1896, in the hands of the five regiments of infantry, was about 700. There were about 200 more in possession of all the other arms of the service. It will therefore be necessary to procure about 2,800 overcoats to provide the entire Guard as it stands to-day.

Fifth—Woolen Blankets and Rubber Capes. The supply of blankets as reported to us at the time of the annual muster was 1,516 pair, a large percentage of which are of an inferior quality. The blankets in use in the U. S. Army are superior in every way. We believe that a blanket costing $2 50 to $2 75 per pair can now be produced that will give good satisfaction. In order to provide each man with a pair of woolen blankets, it will be necessary to procure 3,000 new double ones. No better blankets are made in the United States than are made here in California. These blankets should be of uniform weight, size, and color, and should have the letters "N. G. C." woven in them. We recommend the purchase of rubber blankets or capes. There are very few in use at the present time in the Guard.

The rubber blanket serves as a cover in rainy weather to lay upon the ground to prevent moisture coming through, or when joined together make an excellent shelter tent, and in the absence of the latter furnish a good substitute. Undoubtedly the shelter tent would be a very useful and valuable addition to the Guard's equipment, but if both cannot be procured, we recommend the rubber blanket.

Sixth—Dress Uniforms. After the Guard has been properly supplied with a service uniform, we recommend the procurement of a sufficient number of full dress uniforms, including dress coats and helmets, to complete the outfit in this particular. More than 60% of the Guard are already supplied with dress coats and helmets, many of them comparatively new, having been used but a few times. Most of them are stored away in boxes and upon shelves, neglected and a prey to moths. The re-adoption of the dress coat would result in their being better cared for, and thus much valuable property which has cost the State a large sum of money would be saved from destruction.

The coat and helmet may be worn with service trousers, with a dress belt and cartridge box. The cartridge box should be of black leather, the belts and helmets white or black, as would be most consistent with proper economy. In speaking of dress uniform we, of course, consider it secondary to the service uniform. We deem it of the first importance that the troops be well equipped for field service; nevertheless, we believe that a dress uniform is very essential in keeping up the esprit de corps of the Guard. In full dress the men present a much better and more soldierly appearance, and on occasions of parades and reviews gives them an agreeable change from the ordinary service uniform. Undoubtedly many young men are induced to enter the service of the State, not only from motives of patriotism, but from a commendable pride and pleasure in military appearance and bearing, and anything that tends to add to a man's pride in his personal appearance while on parade, review, or inspection, tends to strengthen his interest in the service, and we feel assured it will make him better satisfied and more willing to turn out.

All officers should be provided with revolvers. It is estimated that 150 additional would supply the line.

As to tents and poles, which are a very necessary part of the Guard equipment during encampment, they are fairly well supplied. Some regiments, however, have a larger supply than others. They should be of uniform size, pattern, quality, and quantity.

In the foregoing recommendations we have principally considered the needs of the infantry arm of the service, which comprises 48 companies out of 59. There are also 3 companies of the Signal Corps, 4 troops of Cavalry, and 5 divisions of the Naval Reserve.

The Cavalry and Signal Corps are better equipped than the Infantry, most of them having excellent sabers and revolvers. Two of the troops of the Cavalry should be equipped with carbines, caliber .45.

The Naval Reserve is the best equipped body of the State forces. They are armed with the Lee magazine rifle throughout, a modern and effective weapon, and their clothing and equipments are in excellent order and condition.

We recommend that each regiment of the Guard be supplied with a Hotchkiss, Gatling, Accles, or other similar rapid-fire machine gun that can be easily transported and hauled through the streets by hand.

In making recommendations for equipment we have confined ourselves to what we deem of most importance and what is within the reach of the Guard, as before stated, and would also add that in our opinion many of the foregoing articles can be procured with slight additional expense. Owing to the reorganization lately effected there should be enough dress coats, if properly distributed and altered, to equip the entire Guard; also, perhaps, many other things needed to complete the service equipment of the men, and we recommend that they be properly looked after and distributed. We have not gone into the matter of further equipment, as shoes, underclothes, socks, etc., believing that such things can be better furnished by the men as now done, unless the Guard is called out for an extended campaign, when they could be arranged for.

Our idea is, not to crowd the armories with a lot of useless articles to care for, but to get the National Guard of California well and serviceably equipped, sufficient in quantity that each enlisted man may feel, on joining the Guard, that he is provided throughout with his own rifle and clothing, and not expect it to be used promiscuously upon every parade or special occasion.

Very respectfully,

REPORT OF BOARD OF LOCATION AND ORGANIZATION, N. G. C.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 7, 1895.

A joint meeting of the Governor and the Boards of Location and Organization of the National Guard of California was held in the Governor's office on the above date. There were present: Governor James H. Budd, Commander-in-Chief; Adjutant-General A. W. Barrett; Brigadier-General C. F. A. Last, First Brigade; Brigadier-General R. H. Warfield, Second Brigade; Brigadier-General M. W. Muller, Third Brigade. The following gentlemen were also present, as consulting officers: Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Currier, Division Inspector, N. G. C., representing General Dimond; and Captain F. de L. Carrington, U. S. A.

THE GOVERNOR: I wish to state to the Brigadier-Generals now, before we go into our different Boards of Location, that for some time past we have been endeavoring to reorganize the National Guard, with a view to economy and efficiency; and now that you gentlemen have become familiar with your duties and with the different officers and companies of your brigades, a Special Board of Location and Reorganization was convened, consisting of Major-General W. H. Dimond, commanding Division, N. G. C., Adjutant-General Barrett, Lieutenant-Colonel Currier, and Captain Carrington, who have made, pursuant to instructions from the Commander-in-Chief, and adopted the following plan:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., November 30, 1895.

Proceedings of a Special Board of Location and Organization, consisting of the following officers, viz.: Major-General W. H. Dimond, commanding Division, N. G. C.; Brigadier-General A. W. Barrett, Adjutant-General; Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Currier, Division Inspector, N. G. C.; Captain F. de L. Carrington, U. S. A., Staff of Commander-in-Chief.

The Board met pursuant to the verbal instructions of the Commander-in-Chief. Present—all the members.

The Board then proceeded to the discussion of the business required of it, and after a careful consideration of all the phases of the matter of the reorganization of the National Guard, unanimously adopted the following resolutions, as the best solution of the matter before it:

First—That the two infantry regiments of the First Brigade be consolidated into three battalions of four companies each, to be hereafter organized into one regiment of twelve companies, with headquarters at Los Angeles.

Second—That the four regiments of the Second Brigade be consolidated into five battalions of four companies each, to be hereafter organized into one regiment of twelve companies, with headquarters at San Francisco, and one regiment of eight companies, with headquarters outside of the city; and that Company A, First Infantry Regiment, now stationed at Eureka, be transferred from an infantry company into a company or division of Naval Reserve.

Third—That the three regiments of the Third Brigade be consolidated into four battalions of four companies each, to be hereafter organized into two regiments of eight companies each; headquarters to be hereafter established.

This will leave the Guard as follows:

Companies of Infantry.....	48
Companies of Cavalry.....	4
Divisions of Naval Reserve.....	5
Total.....	57

This will be a reduction of twelve companies, and from nine regiments to five.

There being no further business before it, the Board then adjourned.

W. H. DIMOND,
Major-General N. G. C.
A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.
J. C. CURRIER,
Lieutenant-Colonel, and Inspector N. G. C.
F. DE L. CARRINGTON,
Captain, First Infantry, U. S. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., December 4, 1895.

HON. JAMES H. BUDD, Commander-in-Chief, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith, copy of the proceedings of the Special Board of Location and Organization, convened in this city in compliance with your verbal instructions of the 30th ultimo.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. DIMOND,
Major-General N. G. C., President of the Board.

This reorganization received the unanimous vote of Major-General Dimond, Adjutant-General Barrett, Lieutenant-Colonel Currier, and Captain Carrington. It was approved by the Major-General, and thereafter transmitted to the Commander-in-Chief, and it has received his approval; and you are called together for the purpose of acting as Boards of Location without affecting this organization.

The law requires the companies of the National Guard to be established in as near conformity as possible to the Regular Army of the United States, and this is one of the purposes of this organization.

The Code makes three Boards of Location—there is the First Board of Location of the First Brigade; then, there is the Second of the Second, and the Third of the Third. Of each one of these the Brigadier-General is a member. Consequently, we will now recognize the Board of Location of the First Brigade.

On roll call, the following were found present, constituting the Board of Location of the First Brigade: Governor James H. Budd, Commander-in-Chief; Adjutant-General A. W. Barrett, and Brigadier-General C. F. A. Last.

Brigadier-General C. F. A. Last then submitted the following as his plan for reorganization of the First Brigade, and moved that it be adopted; and on motion it received the unanimous approval of the Board of Location of the First Brigade:

FIRST BRIGADE.

The Seventh and Ninth Infantry Regiments are consolidated into three battalions of infantry, of four companies each, as follows:

First Battalion—Companies A, B, C, and F, Seventh Infantry, to be known as Companies A, D, C, and F, respectively, First Battalion.

Second Battalion—Companies D and E, Seventh Infantry, and Companies D and E, Ninth Infantry, to be known as Companies H, E, I, and K, respectively, Second Battalion.

Third Battalion—Companies F, C, and G, Ninth Infantry, to be known as Companies L, M, and G, respectively, Third Battalion.

Companies A and B, Ninth Infantry, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company B, Third Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel John R. Berry, Ninth Infantry, and Major Samuel T. Black, Seventh Infantry, are hereby assigned to duty with the First Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Howland, Seventh Infantry, and Major F. T. Prescott, Ninth Infantry, are assigned to duty with the Second Battalion.

Major Charles S. McKelvey, Ninth Infantry, is assigned to duty with the Third Battalion.

Company G, Seventh Infantry, is hereby mustered out of the service.

Brigadier-General R. H. Warfield then submitted the following as his plan for reorganization of the Second Brigade, and on motion it received the unanimous approval of the Board of Location of the Second Brigade:

SECOND BRIGADE.

The First, Third, and Fifth Infantry and the Second Artillery regiments are consolidated into five battalions of infantry, of four companies each, as follows:

Fourth Battalion—Companies C, F, and G, First Infantry, to be known as Companies

C, L. and G, respectively, Fourth Battalion; Companies D and B, First Infantry, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company B, Fourth Battalion.

Fifth Battalion—Companies C and D, Third Infantry, to be known as Companies D and E, Fifth Battalion; Companies B and F, Third Infantry, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company H; and Companies E and A, Third Infantry, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company A, Fifth Battalion.

Sixth Battalion—Batteries C and E, Second Artillery, to be known as Companies I and K, Sixth Battalion; Batteries D and F, Second Artillery, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company F, and Batteries G and H, Second Artillery, are hereby consolidated and will be known as Company M, Sixth Battalion.

Seventh Battalion—Companies A, F, G, and B, Fifth Infantry, to be known as Companies A, F, G, and B, respectively, Seventh Battalion.

Eighth Battalion—Companies C, D, and E, Fifth Infantry, to be known as Companies C, D, and E, Eighth Battalion, and Battery B, Second Artillery, to be known as Company H, Eighth Battalion.

Company A, First Infantry, is hereby discontinued as an infantry company and will be enrolled as a division in the Naval Battalion, to be known as the Fifth Division.

Lieutenant-Colonel Charles H. Crocker and Major Charles Jansen, First Infantry, are hereby assigned to duty with the Fourth Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel James F. Smith and Major Thomas F. Drady, Third Infantry, are hereby assigned to duty with the Fifth Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel Dennis Geary and Major A. Huber, Second Artillery, are assigned to duty with the Sixth Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. K. Whitten, Fifth Infantry, is assigned to duty with the Seventh Battalion.

Major L. W. Juilliard, Fifth Infantry, is hereby assigned to duty with the Eighth Battalion.

Brigadier-General M. W. Muller then submitted the following as his plan for the reorganization of the Third Brigade, and moved that it be adopted, and on motion it received the unanimous approval of the Board of Location of the Third Brigade.

THIRD BRIGADE.

The Sixth, Second, and Eighth Infantry Regiments are hereby consolidated into four battalions of infantry, of four companies each, as follows:

Ninth Battalion—Companies A, B, D, and H, Sixth Infantry, to be known as Companies A, B, D, and H, respectively, Ninth Battalion.

Tenth Battalion—Companies C, E, F, and G, Second Infantry, to be known as Companies C, E, F, and G, respectively, Tenth Battalion.

Eleventh Battalion—Companies E, F, and G, Second Infantry, to be known as Companies E, F, and G, respectively, Eleventh Battalion. Companies C and H, Second Infantry, are hereby consolidated, to be stationed at Nevada City, to be known as Company C, Eleventh Battalion.

Twelfth Battalion—Companies B, C, and E, Eighth Infantry, to be known as Companies B, D, and H, respectively, Twelfth Battalion. Companies A and F, Eighth Infantry, are hereby consolidated, and will be known as Company A, Twelfth Battalion.

Company D, Second Infantry, Company D and Company G, Eighth Infantry, are hereby mustered out of the service.

Major Colin Chisholm is hereby assigned to duty with the Tenth Battalion, and Lieutenant-Colonel S. S. Wright is assigned to duty with the Ninth Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel H. I. Seymour is hereby assigned to duty with the Eleventh Battalion.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. Gray is hereby assigned to duty with the Twelfth Battalion.

In companies where no consolidations have been made, the present company officers remain intact. The officers of the new companies formed by consolidation, are as follows :

First Brigade, Third Battalion—Companies A and B, to be known as Company B, Third Battalion, Captain Richard V. Dodge, First Lieutenant Edward F. Brown, Second Lieutenant J. C. Mielke.

Second Brigade, Fourth Battalion—Companies D and B to be known as Company B, Captain George Filmer, First Lieutenant B. B. Sturdivant, Second Lieutenant E. J. Blunkall.

Fifth Battalion—Companies B and F to be known as Company H, Captain Frank W. Warren, First Lieutenant H. C. Middleton, Second Lieutenant J. J. West; Companies E and A to be known as Company A, Captain J. F. Connolly, First Lieutenant G. T. Ballinger.

Sixth Battalion—Batteries D and F, Second Artillery, to be known as Company F, Captain J. A. Miller, First Lieutenant C. F. Seitz, Second Lieutenant F. A. Nippert; Batteries G and H, Second Artillery, to be known as Company M, Captain Thomas F. O'Neil, First Lieutenant E. D. Carroll, Second Lieutenant C. J. Hogan.

Third Brigade, Eleventh Battalion—Companies C and H, Second Infantry, to be known as Company C, Captain George A. Nihell, First Lieutenant R. P. Bowerman, Second Lieutenant W. M. Ashburn.

Twelfth Battalion—Companies A and F to be known as Company A, captaincy vacant; to be filled. First Lieutenant L. A. Jackson, Second Lieutenant C. E. Small.

All other officers of the above consolidated companies are hereby relieved from command and placed on waiting orders.

REPORT OF PAYMASTER-GENERAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 5, 1895.

HON. A. W. BARRETT, Adjutant-General, N. G. C., Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to return you herewith accompanying, the payrolls of the First, Second, Third, and Fifth Regiments of the Second Brigade, N. G. C., together with seven books containing stubs of checks, and to which are attached checks numbered and described as per appended list.

Adverting to the unpaid checks, I have to inform you that check No. 98, issued to Peter McKnight, of Company A, First Regiment, was withheld, owing to the fact that check No. 508 was also issued to same Peter McKnight. Payment, however, was effected upon check No. 508, as he was doing "guard duty."

Payment on check No. 216 was withheld by order of Adjutant-General, March 18, 1895.

Payee of check No. 368 is in Boston, Mass.

Payment on check No. 540 was withheld, because same is a duplication of check No. 695.

Payee of check No. 673 is at present in China.

Payment on check No. 818 could not be made on account of the death of the payee. We are informed by the Captain of the company to which he belonged that his parents are wealthy and will not make any effort to obtain payment.

Payees of checks Nos. 651, 958, 1049, 1052, 1118, 1120, 1679, 1787, 1792, 2040, 2045, and 2054 could not be located.

Payment on check No. 954 stopped on order of Adjutant-General C. C. Allen, on account of sentence of court-martial.

Payment on check No. 1254 withheld, because same should have been reduced by sentence of court-martial.

Payment on checks Nos. 1981, 1983, 1986, 1987, 1995, and 2006 was withheld for the reason that the payees of the respective checks did not serve time as entered on payroll. See letter from Captain Julian B. Waller, herewith inclosed.

For valuable services rendered me in assisting in the payment of the National Guard of California, I desire to make favorable mention of Lieutenant-Colonel W. D. Sanborn; Lieutenant-Colonel J. F. Burgin; Lieutenant-Colonel H. P. Bush; Captain D. A. Smith, and Lieutenant Fred F. Follis.

Appended hereto I also inclose you a recapitulation, showing the amounts paid and the amounts remaining unpaid.

Very respectfully,

F. S. CHADBOURNE,
Colonel and Paymaster-General.

ARMORY FIRST TROOP CAVALRY, SECOND BRIGADE, N. G. C., }
318 O'FARRELL STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, April 18, 1895. }

COL. F. S. CHADBOURNE, Chief Paymaster, N. G. C.:

DEAR SIR: The following men, who are within here mentioned, did not serve in the late strike, but are mentioned on your payroll as having performed their duties in said strike:

1981. C. F. Honan, No. 34 payroll.
1983. C. F. Krauss, No. 36 payroll.
1986. P. F. Mertes, No. 39 payroll.
1995. J. Pontage, No. 47 payroll.
2006. P. Wessa, No. 58 payroll.
1987. G. W. Mertes, No. 62 payroll.

Only one of these men (J. Pontage) signed the payroll, but I have his check in my possession and hold same subject to your order.

Your most obedient servant,

JULIAN L. WALLER,
First Lieutenant Commanding First Troop Cavalry.

NOTE.—It has been found very difficult to give the full and correct service of the officers of the N. G. C., owing to the incompleteness of the old records in Adjutant-General Office. To the circulars sent out by Adjutant-General Office, asking for their complete records, many officers have responded, while others have failed to do so.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
 ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, January 15, 1896. }

[Special Orders, No. 1.]

I. Each brigade commander will detail a proper officer to take possession of all State property in his brigade in the possession of the Colonels late in command of the First, Third, Eighth, and Ninth Regiments of Infantry, and hold the same until further orders. Such officer will issue duplicate receipts for said property, one of which will be forwarded to General Headquarters.

II. Date of rank of Carl J. Ralph, First Lieutenant Company I, Seventh Infantry, given in G. O. No. 19, series of 1895, as July 23, 1895, is hereby corrected to read "November 19, 1895."

III. A Special Board of Survey is hereby ordered to ascertain and fix the blame for the loss of the company property of Company D, Ninth Infantry, destroyed by fire on the night of November 10, 1895. The Board will investigate the loss of said property, ascertain if due effort was made to save the arms and equipments, and report the facts, with a list of property lost, in detail (said report to be in duplicate), together with the blame for the loss thereof, to these Headquarters.

DETAIL FOR THE BOARD.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Howland, of late Seventh Infantry.

Major M. T. Owens, of First Brigade Staff.

Major J. W. F. Diss, of First Brigade Staff.

IV. Pursuant to the report and recommendation of the Board of Survey appointed by S. O. No. 10, series of 1895, the following property, late in possession of Captain T. B. Hall, of Company G, Second Infantry, is condemned and dropped from the company returns, no blame attaching to him for loss, viz.: Seventeen old pair of pants and eighteen old blouses.

RESIGNATIONS.

V. The resignation of the following officer N. G. C. is hereby accepted, viz.: Walter J. Peterson, First Lieutenant Company A, Fifth Infantry; to date from January 7, 1896.

V. Colonel R. L. Peeler, Assistant Adjutant-General of California, Lieutenant-Colonel H. I. Seymour, retired, and Major W. W. Douglas, Staff Third Brigade, are hereby appointed a Special Examining Board to examine Major S. T. Black, who has received the appointment of Major and Aid-de-Camp on Division Staff.

VI. A Special Examining Board is hereby appointed for the Fifth Gun Division, Naval Battalion, and shall consist of Lieutenant-Commander L. H. Turner, commanding Naval Battalion, Lieutenant D. J. Foley, Fifth Division, Ensign A. H. Heney, First Division, Naval Battalion.

VII. (a) Pursuant to the recommendation of the Board of Survey, of which Captain F. de L. Carrington was sole member, which met at San Diego, California, the old wooden gunrack belonging to Company B, Seventh Infantry, and charged to Captain R. V. Dodge, is hereby condemned and dropped from his property return.

(b) Pursuant to the report of the Board of Survey, of which Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Howland was president, which met at Los Angeles on January 25, 1896, the following property, charged to Captain W. O. Welch, commanding Company D, Ninth Infantry, was totally destroyed by fire at Pomona, Cal., on the night of November 10, 1895: Company records, 83 Springfield rifles (caliber 45), 83 bayonets, 60 bayonet scabbards, 60 cartridge boxes, 60 belts and plates, 3 arm chests, 13 tents and poles, 1,000 ball cartridges, 63 lockers, 70 haversacks, 6 parlor-set pieces, 2 tent flies, 1 gunrack, 42 chairs, 1 carpet, 1 table, 2 desks, 64 uniform pants, 60 uniform caps, 60 uniform blouses, 60 helmets, 6 overcoats, 75 canteens, and 1 Colt's revolver. No blame attaching to Captain Welch for the loss of said property, the fire having occurred in the middle of the night, he is relieved from all blame for the said loss, and will drop said property on his next quarterly report. Above being pursuant to the recommendation of said Board of Survey.

VIII. All officers and men who attended and participated in the sharpshooters' contest at Sacramento, February 22, 1896, and who did not get a one third fare for the return trip, can obtain said one third rate of fare by sending original certificates of attendance thereat (printed on yellow paper), or the receipt of the local railroad agent for the amount of fare paid for said return ticket. Send receipts or certificates of attendance to General Headquarters.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

III. Upon his personal application, and in compliance with paragraphs 1 and 2, Section 1973, Political Code, and pursuant to the report of the Board of Surgeons, of which Lieutenant-Colonel A. J. Pedlar was president, John D. Morgan, Captain commanding Company C, Sixth Infantry, is hereby placed on the Retired List, with rank of Captain from August 28, 1895. Upon his successor filing his bond as Captain commanding said Company C, Captain Morgan will turn over to him the command of the company and all State property, including money, in his possession.

Upon his personal application, and as provided in paragraph 3, Section 1973, Political Code, Hyman P. Bush, Colonel, and late commanding First Infantry, N. G. C., is hereby placed on the Retired List, with the rank of Colonel from May 14, 1895. (Approved April 18, 1896.)

Upon his personal application, and as provided in paragraph 3, Section 1973, Political Code, John Dunbar, Captain Company E, Fifth Infantry, N. G. C., is hereby placed on the Retired List, with rank of Captain from November 13, 1893. Upon his successor filing his bond as Captain commanding said Company E, Captain Dunbar will turn over to him the command of the company and all State property, including money, in his possession. (Approved April 15, 1896.)

Upon his personal application, and as provided in paragraph 3, Section 1973, Political Code, William D. Waters, late Major Second Artillery Regiment, N. G. C., is hereby placed on the Retired List, with rank of Major from June 13, 1893. (Approved April 25, 1896.)

In granting the application of Major Waters to be placed on the Retired List, attention is called to his long and faithful service in the National Guard of California, he having served continuously, either in the ranks or as a commissioned officer, for nearly thirty-three years.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

IV. Leave of absence for thirty days from this date, with permission to leave the State, is hereby granted Brigadier-General R. H. Warfield, commanding Second Brigade, N. G. C. Upon his return he will report in writing to these Headquarters. (Approved April 11, 1896.)

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A. W. BARRETT,
Adjutant-General.

REPORT OF SURGEON-GENERAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, November, 1896.

To the Adjutant-General State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I beg leave to respectfully submit for the consideration of the Commander-in-Chief, the following comments upon the Medical Department of the National Guard as to its present status, and certain suggestions pertaining to its permanent organization and improvement. The law and statutes bearing on the Medical Department are of the most trifling and indefinite character, and beyond allowing a small sum of money ($500) for each brigade, there is nothing that supports the organization and equipment of a proper hospital corps. At the present time there is virtually no Medical Department connected with the National Guard. Should an emergency arise there is, in my opinion, no organization fitted in any way to meet it, and of equipment there is absolutely none. In the only recent opportunity to test this matter—the strike of 1894—instruments and medicines were furnished and paid for by the faithful and patriotic medical officers, and in some instances the cots, blankets, and other necessary adjuncts of a field hospital, were supplied in the same way. At a few of the regimental encampments, ambitious and painstaking medical officers secured a semi-respectable showing, but as a general rule the encampment is regarded in the light of a summer outing; little or no support is given the medical officers, and correspondingly scanty practical results are secured. The first step in the development of an efficient medical department is the organization, by legislative enactment, of a hospital corps. This corps should be a reproduction in miniature of the hospital corps of the Regular Army. This has been in successful operation for a number of years, and many States following this lead have most thoroughly efficient, well-equipped, and well-drilled departments. I am much opposed to the regimental organization suggested by Captain Carrington in his recent report. I resent the fact that my old friend and comrade in arms should have deemed it his duty to make such an important and unqualified statement without preliminary consultation with me. My views of a proper hospital or sanitary corps organization are embodied in the proposed Act (a copy of which is herewith inclosed). The bill has been submitted to most of the officers of the National Guard in the harbor, and they give it their most enthusiastic and absolute support. It has been submitted to the criticism of the two leading authorities on organizations in the medical corps of the United States Army, and received their most earnest and flattering indorsement. It is my purpose to submit it at the next session of the Legislature, and before doing so it is my hope and most earnest wish to secure for it the approval of the Commander-in-Chief. In Article V, the amount of money to be asked for is purposely omitted. The cost for preliminary equipment will be considerably greater than the sum required for renewal in succeeding years. It is believed that the sum of $3,600 should be asked for at this time. I am of the opinion that this amount will supply all equipment, with the exception of field ambulances. I beg that my comments on the present status of things medical in the National Guard will not be misunderstood. There should be nothing but praise for the able and faithful medical officers, who sacrifice much in their efforts to secure permanent results with insufficient means.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. E. HOPKINS,
Surgeon-General.

DELINQUENT INTEREST ON STATE SCHOOL LANDS.

In May, 1895, and in May, 1896, complete delinquent lists were sent out to the District Attorneys of each county in the State where there were delinquent purchasers of State school lands.

COUNTY BOUNDARIES.

On January 11, 1896, the Board of Supervisors of Lassen County passed an order requesting the Surveyor-General to survey and establish the boundary line between the counties of Lassen and Shasta, and recommending that Will H. Earl, County Surveyor of Lassen County, be appointed to make said survey. In compliance with said request, Mr. Earl was appointed, and the necessary instructions issued to him for the making of said survey; the State of California not to be responsible for any part of the expense of such survey.

The map and field-notes, up to August 1, 1896, had not been returned to this office. I am informed, however, that the field work has been finished, and that the map and field-notes are nearly ready for filing in this office.

No other boundary survey has been run, under instructions from this office, during the two years covered by this report.

LANDS LISTED TO THE STATE.

From August 1, 1894, to August 1, 1896, the following amounts of land have been listed to the State of California by the United States:

Grant.	Acres.
Indemnity (lieu) lands	135,118.03
Swamp lands	73,515.96
Internal improvements (500,000 acres) grant	None.
Total	208,633.99

CONTESTED LAND CASES.

From August 1, 1894, to August 1, 1896, forty-eight proferts were issued from the office of the Surveyor-General.

SWAMP LAND DISTRICTS.

From August 1, 1894, to August 1, 1896, Swamp Land Districts were formed and reported to this office as follows:

STATE BOUNDARY LINE.

The eastern boundary of the State of California, as defined in the Constitution of California of 1849 and in that of 1879, is as follows: "Commencing at the point of intersection of the forty-second degree of north latitude with the one hundred and twentieth degree of longitude west from Greenwich, and running south on the line of said one hundred and twentieth degree of west longitude until it intersects the thirty-ninth degree of north latitude; thence running in a straight line in a southeasterly direction to the River Colorado at a point where it intersects the thirty-fifth degree of north latitude."

The point of intersection of the one hundred and twentieth degree of longitude west from Greenwich with the thirty-ninth degree of north latitude lies in Lake Tahoe, about three miles from its southern shore. It was therefore necessary, in making the original surveys, to establish by triangulation the point where the line southeastward from this point in the lake intersects the lake shore. In doing this, it appears that, through some mistake, this point of intersection with the lake shore was erroneously fixed at a point about three quarters of a mile too far west, which was taken as the initial point of the survey to the intersection of the Colorado River and the thirty-fifth degree of north latitude, a distance of some four hundred miles.

By Act of the Legislature approved February 26, 1889, the Surveyor-General of this State was authorized and directed to correct and establish that portion of the eastern boundary line of the State of California, southeastward from the intersection of the thirty-ninth degree of north latitude with the one hundred and twentieth degree of longitude west from Greenwich, provided the whole cost of the work should not exceed the sum of $5,000. Under the provisions of this Act the survey was commenced, the first work being to establish the point where the line southeastward from the point of intersection in the lake intersects with the lake shore. This point of intersection with the lake shore was found to be about three quarters of a mile farther east than the one fixed by the original surveys, thus verifying the fact (as stated in the report of the civil engineers who made this survey), "that the State boundary southeastward from Lake Tahoe is incorrectly marked in the field, and that the boundary-line monuments should be moved about three quarters of a mile farther east."

The following extract from the report of C. E. Grunsky and William Minto, the civil engineers in charge of this new survey, shows the work done on this boundary line southeastward toward the Colorado River:

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF THE CIVIL ENGINEERS ON THE STATE BOUNDARY LINE.

Having, as above set forth, ascertained the longitude of a point on the State line in the same latitude as the granite monument on the southeastern lake shore, the survey was continued from this granite monument, as follows:

N. $89^{\circ} 59' 43''$ E.

2,465 feet, cross old stage road Carson to Placerville N.E. and S.W.

4,073.3 feet to a point (J') on State boundary line in the same latitude as the granite monument on the lake shore (J).

Set a pine post, 50 inches by 5 inches by 5 inches, marked "CAL." on S.W. face, "NEV." on N.E. face, and "4 m. 39.64 chs." on N.W. face, from which a pine tree, 30 inches in diameter, marked "B. T.," bears N. 71° E., 101 feet distant; a pine stump, 48 inches diameter, bears N. $74\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ W., 19 feet distant. Made a stone mound around post. Thence on the boundary line with an azimuth of $131^{\circ} 21' 58''$.94 toward Lake Tahoe.

19.10 chains, old stage road Carson to Placerville; course N.E.

69.66 chains, small creek from the east.

70.46 chains, to shore of Lake Tahoe, bearing north and south.

Set a tamarack post, 50 inches by 6 inches by 6 inches, marked "CAL." on S.W. face, "NEV." on N.E. face, and "3 m. 49 chs." (distance from point O in lake) on N.W. face, from which:

A pitch pine, 28 inches diameter, bears N. $3\frac{3}{4}^{\circ}$ W., 41 feet distant; marked "B. T."

A pitch pine, 44 inches diameter, bears S. $28\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ E., 62 feet distant; marked "B. T."

A post set by U. S. G. surveyors, marked "B. M. No. 2, 3169 T. 7," bears N. $22\frac{1}{4}^{\circ}$ W., 79.1 feet distant.

From the point J', which point is on the State boundary line, and 4 miles 39.64 chains distant from the point O in the lake, where the 39th parallel of north latitude is intersected by the 120th degree of longitude west from Greenwich, the survey of the State boundary line was continued in the direction toward the intersection of the 35th parallel of latitude with Colorado River, as follows:

With the same azimuth above noted for this point, azimuth $311^{\circ} 21' 58''$.94, ascending steep mountain bearing N.E. and S.W., and noting all distances as though measured from the above named point O in Lake Tahoe.

6 miles 20.80 chains, crest of mountain, course west; thence along S.W. slope of timbered mountain.

6 miles 59.00 chains, cross sag in mountain ridge bearing N. and S., and along east slope of mountain.

7 miles 43.50 chains, spur sloping N.E., descent abrupt, broken, and precipitous. East slope of Sierra Nevada.

Set a flag on spur and from a point on line at the foot of the mountain, in west side of Carson Valley, measure at right angles to N.E. 93.40 chains to a point at which included angle between base and flag on spur is $74^{\circ} 44'$.

Log. tang. $74^{\circ} 44'$ 10.5639267

Log. base 93 40 1.9703469

Log. dist. from flag to W. end of base 12.5342736
Dist. from flag to W. end of base, 342.20 chains.

11 miles 65.70 chains, west end of base or point in Carson Valley. At western edge of same set a pine post, 50 inches by 5 inches by 5 inches, marked "CAL." on S.W. face, "NEV." on N.E. face, and "11 m. 66 chs." on N.W. face.

Made a stone mound around post.

This point is in lat. $38^{\circ} 53' 12''.37$, long. $119^{\circ} 50' 06''.99$; and the azimuth of the State boundary line is here $311^{\circ} 25' 49''.72$.

13 miles 11.00 chains, Dilucki's, 95 feet to left.

13 miles 17.97 chains, road from Carson to Woodford's; course S. 25° E.

13 miles 53.90 chains, same road; course N.E.

13 miles 70.40 chains, set a cedar post, 55 inches by 7 inches by 5 inches, marked "CAL." on the S.W. face, "NEV." on N.E. face, and "13 m. 70 chains" on N.W. face.

Made mound of stone and earth around posts with pits to N.E. and S.W.

Sprague's barn bears N. 38° W., 5 chains distant.

A small house (Sprague's) bears N. 55° W., 8.50 chains distant.

14 miles 50.40 chains, von Schmidt's granite monument, marked on N.W. face, "O., 221 m. 76 chs." is at right angles to the S.W., and 2,748.7 feet distant.

15 miles 6.00 chains, set a trap rock, 25 inches by 12 inches by 12 inches, marked "C." on S.W. face, and "N." on N.E. face.

Made a stone mound around the same.

Baldwin's house bears S. $15\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ E., 8 chains distant.

15 miles 10.30 chains, Carson and Woodford road, course S.W.

15 miles 55.00 chains, Tillman's house, to right about 20 chains.

16 miles 64.00 chains, set a granite stone, 20 inches by 12 inches by 7 inches, marked "C." on S.W. face, "N." on N.E. face.

Made a stone mound around the same.

Joe Dilucki's house bears S. 38° E., about 12 chains distant.

This point is in latitude $38^{\circ} 50' 05''.40$, longitude $119^{\circ} 45' 57''.84$; and the azimuth of the State boundary line at this point is $311^{\circ} 28' 26''.06$.

16 miles 77 chains, West Fork of Carson River, 30 feet wide, runs N. 20° E. Beyond which this survey could not be extended owing to lack of the necessary funds.

From the foregoing facts it appears that the true boundary line south-eastward from Lake Tahoe to the Colorado River, a distance of more than four hundred miles, is not marked by any monuments whatever, beyond a distance of about sixteen miles from said lake.

The following correspondence has been had between W. W. Duffield, Esq., Superintendent of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, and the Governor and the Surveyor-General of California, regarding the permanent marking by suitable monuments of the boundary line between California and Nevada:

(Copy.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 14, 1896.

To his Excellency, the Governor of California:

SIR: The United States Coast and Geodetic Survey has now on hand the determination of the boundaries between California and Nevada. This work will be completed with one more season's work, and, as it has been a very expensive undertaking, there will be no money left to permanently mark the line. Inasmuch as the States are the most interested parties, I beg to ask you whether something cannot be done on your part to either mark the points or help our funds for this purpose. The tracing of this line for about four hundred miles by scientific methods is properly a function of our service, but the setting of the monuments could be done by any parties and should be done immediately on conclusion of the marking. Can California aid us in this matter from her own funds? At the close of next season the party will pass over the entire line, making the final corrections, and at that time could set the monuments if the necessary aid is at hand.

Yours very respectfully,

(Signed:) W. W. DUFFIELD,
Superintendent.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge your communication of January 14th, and in reply Governor Budd instructs me to ask you more definitely what work you desire done by the State of California, and what amount of money would be necessary, and when the work would have to be done and the money paid?

Hoping to hear from you regarding this matter, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

(Signed:) J. M. TODMAN,
Executive Secretary.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31, 1896.

To his Excellency, the Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: Referring to your letter of the 21st of January, I have the honor to state that, as definitely as can be stated at the present time, the work of locating the boundary between California and Nevada (S.E. line) will be finished in the early part of 1897.

The part of the undertaking for which we beg to ask your assistance is the permanent marking of this line by suitable monuments when the points have been actually indicated on the ground. The aid given on behalf of the State might be in the shape of an appropriation, or, what would seem preferable, the Surveyor-General might send a party there to coöperate with our own; the State party confining themselves to the task of procuring and setting the monuments on the points located by us. In regard to the expense, that would depend entirely on how elaborate and frequent the monuments are; and California might suit her convenience entirely in that respect. The sole interest the United States has in the matter is to see the work, which we have done at considerable expense, permanently fixed, so that it may not be lost and may be available at any future time. The cost of furnishing and setting the monuments, I should think, might cost anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000, depending, as before stated, on their number and size. It would be advisable to take up the work of establishing the permanent marks when our party passes over the line for the last time.

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) W. W. DUFFIELD,
Superintendent.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of January 31st, and will call Governor Budd's attention to the same at the earliest possible moment. He is not in Sacramento at present.

HON. M. J. WRIGHT, Surveyor-General, Sacramento, Cal.:

DEAR SIR: Governor Budd instructs me to hand you the inclosed correspondence with the Superintendent of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, W. W. Duffield, at Washington, D. C., with the request that you look into the matter

Very respectfully

Executive Secretary.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., February 18, 1896.

W. W. DUFFIELD, Esq., Superintendent U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Washington, D. C.:

SIR: The correspondence between you and the Governor of California, relating to the permanent marking, by suitable monuments, of the boundary line between California and Nevada, has been handed me by the Governor, with the request that I investigate the matter.

I fully appreciate the importance to California, Nevada, and the United States of having this boundary line permanently marked by suitable monuments, and I agree with you that it would be advisable to establish such monuments when your party passes over the line for the last time.

Regarding your request that California erect these monuments, or assist in doing so, I have to advise you that this cannot be done without an appropriation by the Legislature for such purpose, and as the Legislature does not convene until January next, nothing can be done in the matter before that time.

Upon further consideration, it may be deemed advisable to present the matter to the Legislature at its next session, and ask for an appropriation for this purpose; and that I may be fully informed in the matter, will you kindly advise me at about what time your party will start to pass over the line for the last time; what point you will start from, and the probable length of time it will take to pass over the entire line; also, whether or not Nevada proposes to assist in this matter, provided California should decide to do so?

Very respectfully,

(Signed :) M. J. WRIGHT,
Surveyor-General.

(Copy.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 27, 1896.

M. J. WRIGHT, Esq., Surveyor-General of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: Replying to your letter of the 18th of February—

I beg to say that our party will, in all probability, start to pass over the line (California and Nevada boundary) for the last time in the early part of 1897, possibly by the first of February. The point of beginning will be the southernmost point of the line. Three months at least will be needed to pass over the entire distance. We have no knowledge as to whether Nevada intends to take part in the work or not. We appealed to California, because it was at her instance that the work was undertaken—i. e., at the instance of her Representatives in Congress; and this being the case, it appeared to me that the marking of the line, as determined by us, was but the legitimate and natural consequence of her first step in the matter.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed :) W. W. DUFFIELD,
Superintendent.

From the foregoing correspondence it appears that the work of establishing this boundary line by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey was undertaken at the instance of the State of California through her Representatives in Congress; and this being the case, it is claimed that the marking of the line by the State was but the legitimate and natural consequence of California's first step in the matter.

There can be no question as to the importance to the State of having this boundary line permanently marked by suitable monuments, so the work done may not be lost, but will be available to the State at any future time.

I would therefore recommend that some action be taken by the next Legislature providing for the permanent marking, by suitable monuments, of the boundary line between California and Nevada from Lake Tahoe to the River Colorado.

This is a matter of importance to the State, and should receive careful attention from the Legislature.

AN ACT

REGULATING THE SALE OF THE LANDS UNCOVERED BY THE RECESSION OR DRAINAGE OF THE WATERS OF INLAND LAKES, AND UNSEGREGATED SWAMP AND OVERFLOWED LANDS, AND VALIDATING SALES AND SURVEYS HERETOFORE MADE.

[Approved March 24, 1893.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. Any person desiring to purchase any of the lands uncovered by the recession or drainage of the waters of inland lakes, and inuring to the State by virtue of her sovereignty, or the swamp and overflowed lands not segregated by the United States, shall make an application therefor to the Surveyor-General of the State, which application shall be accompanied by applicant's affidavit that he is a citizen of the United States or has declared his intention to become such, a resident of this State, of lawful age, that he desires to purchase such lands (describing the same by legal subdivisions, or by metes and bounds, if the legal subdivisions are unknown) under the provisions of this Act; that he desires to purchase the same for his own use and benefit, and for the use and benefit of no other person or persons whomsoever, and that he has made no contract or agreement to sell the same, and that he does not own any State lands which, together with that now sought to be purchased, exceeds six hundred and forty acres.

SEC. 2. Upon the filing of said application, when the land has not been sectionized, the Surveyor-General shall authorize the County Surveyor of the county where the whole or the greater portion of the land lies, to survey the same, who shall make an actual survey thereof, at the expense of the applicant, establishing four corners to each quarter section, and connecting the same with a United States survey; and he must, within thirty days, file with the Surveyor-General a copy, under oath, of his field-notes and plat, and a statement, under oath, showing whether or not the land is occupied by any actual settler.

SEC. 3. If the surveyor thus authorized shall fail to make his return to the Surveyor-General within the time specified in the preceding section, the Surveyor-General may designate another person to make the said survey.

SEC. 4. No application to purchase land under this Act shall be approved by the Surveyor-General until the expiration of ninety days from the filing thereof in his office, and meanwhile the land shall be subject to the adverse claim of any actual settler who has resided thereon when the said application was filed.

SEC. 5. The swamp and overflowed lands designated in this Act shall be sold and patented at the same price, and on the same terms and manner of payment as at present provided for swamp and overflowed lands. All moneys received for said swamp and overflowed lands shall be paid into the Swamp Land Fund of the county in which the lands are situated, and shall be treated and disposed of in the manner as moneys arising from the sale of segregated swamp and overflowed lands. If any of the lands are suitable for cultivation without reclamation, such lands shall be sold only to actual settlers in tracts not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres. Lands uncovered by the recession or drainage of the waters of inland lakes shall be sold at two dollars and fifty cents per acre, upon the same terms of payment as for swamp and overflowed land. All moneys derived from the sale of such uncovered lands shall be paid into the School Fund of the county where the land lies.

SEC. 6. Any of the lands designated in this Act which, by reason of periodical overflow, need and are susceptible of reclamation, may be reclaimed by the formation of districts, in the same manner and subject to all of the provisions of law regulating the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands; provided, that the Board of Supervisors of the county in which the lands, or the greater part thereof, are situated, must first determine, upon proper petition presented therefor, by the holders of the title, or evidence of title, representing one half or more of any body of such land, that such reclamation is necessary and feasible.

SEC. 7. When land has been sold under this Act, no contest shall be maintained against the purchaser on the ground that the land is not of the character stated in the application, unless it is shown that it is not of the character recited in section one of this Act.

SEC. 8. All uncanceled certificates of purchase and patents heretofore issued, and payments heretofore made, for any lands as swamp and overflowed lands, which lands belong to any of the classes described in section one of this Act, whether or not such lands were segregated or sectionized, shall, for all purposes, be valid, and shall have the same force and effect as if such lands had been at all times subject to sale as swamp and overflowed lands; provided, however, that any and all contests now existing between settlers and holders of certificates of purchase shall not be affected by the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 9. All plats of any of the lands described in section one of this Act, which have been heretofore made under authority of the United States Surveyor-General, and which plats designate the same as swamp and overflowed lands, shall be deemed valid and effectual as surveys of such lands from and after the date thereof.

SEC. 10. This Act shall take effect from and after its passage.

AN ACT

TO DEFINE THE DUTIES OF AND TO LICENSE LAND SURVEYORS.

[Approved March 31, 1891.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. Every person desiring to become a licensed land surveyor in this State must present to the State Surveyor-General of this State a certificate that he is a person of good moral character ; also, a certificate signed by three licensed surveyors, or a certificate signed by the Board of Examining Surveyors (provided for in section five of this Act), which certificate shall set forth that the person named therein is, in the opinion of the person signing the same, a fit and competent person to receive a license as a land surveyor, together with his oath that he will support the Constitution of this State and of the United States, and that he will faithfully discharge the duties of a licensed land surveyor, as defined in this Act.

SEC. 2. Upon receipt of such certificate and oath by the State Surveyor-General, it shall be his duty to forthwith to issue to such applicant a license, without charge, which license shall set forth the fact that the applicant is a competent surveyor, or that he has had at least two years' experience in the field as a surveyor or assistant surveyor.

SEC. 3. Such license shall contain the full name of the applicant ; the technical institution from which he is a graduate (if he be a graduate), or if he be not a graduate, the fact must be stated in the license ; his birthplace, age, and to whom issued ; the name of the person upon whose certificate the license is issued, and the date of its issuance.

SEC. 4. All papers received by the State Surveyor-General on application for licenses shall be kept on file in his office, and a proper index and record thereof shall be kept by him, and a list of all licensed land surveyors shall be kept by him, and he shall monthly transmit to the County Recorder of each county in this State a full and correct list of all persons so licensed; and it is hereby made the duty of such Recorders to keep such lists in their offices in such a way as they may be easily accessible to all persons.

SEC. 5. Within twenty days after the passage of this Act, the Governor shall appoint three surveyors in good standing, members of the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast, and two other surveyors in good standing, not members of such society, as a Board of Examining Surveyors, who shall conduct such examinations and make such inquiries as to them may seem necessary to ascertain the qualifications of applicants for surveyors' licenses.

SEC. 6. A majority of the Board of Examining Surveyors shall meet on the first Friday of each month during their term of office, in the rooms of the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast, in San Francisco, and at such other times and places as they may select. The members of the Board shall hold office for the term of one year from the date of appointment, and shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 7. Every licensed surveyor shall have a seal of office, the impression of which must contain the name of the surveyor, his principal place of business, and the words "Licensed Surveyor"; and all maps and papers signed by him, and to which said seal has been attached, shall be prima facie evidence in all the courts of this State.

SEC. 8. Surveyors' licenses, issued in accordance with this Act, shall remain in force until revoked for cause, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 9. Every licensed surveyor is authorized to administer and certify oaths, when it becomes necessary to take testimony to identify or establish old or lost corners; or, if a corner or monument be found in a perishable condition, and it appears desirable that evidence concerning such corner or monument be perpetuated; or whenever the importance of the survey makes it desirable, to administer an oath, for the faithful performance of duty, to his assistants. A record of such oaths shall be preserved as a part of the field-notes of the survey.

SEC. 10. Every licensed surveyor is hereby authorized to make surveys relating to the sale or subdivision of lands, the retracing or establishing of property or boundary lines, public roads, streets, alleys, or trails; and it shall be the duty of each surveyor, whenever making any such surveys, except those relating to the retracing or subdivision of cemetery or town lots, whether the survey be made for private persons, corporations, cities, or counties, to set permanent and reliable monuments, and such monuments must be permanently marked with the initials of the surveyor setting them.

SEC. 11. Within sixty days after a survey relating to the sale or subdivision of lands, the retracing or establishing of property and boundary lines, public roads or trails, original cemetery or town sites, and their subdivisions has been made by a licensed surveyor, he shall file with the Recorder of the county in which such survey or any portion thereof lies, a record of survey. Such record shall be made in a good draughtsmanlike manner, on one or more sheets of firm paper of the uniform size of twenty-one by thirty inches. This record of survey shall be either an original plat or a copy thereof, and must contain all the data necessary to enable any competent practical surveyor to retrace the survey. The record of survey must show: All permanent monuments set, describing their size, kind, and location, with reference to the corners which they are intended to perpetuate; all bearing or witness trees marked in the field; complete outlines of the several tracts or parcels of land surveyed, within courses and lengths of boundary lines; the angles as measured by Vernier readings, which the lines of blocks or lots, if the record relate to an original town-site survey, make with each other and with the center lines of adjacent streets, alleys, roads, or lanes; the variations of the magnetic needle with which old lines have been retraced; the scale of the map; the date of survey; a proper connection with one or more points of an original or larger tract of land, and the name of the same; the name of the grant or grants, or of the townships and ranges within which the survey is located; the signature and seal of the surveyor; provided, that nothing in this section shall require record to be made of surveys of a preliminary nature, where no monuments or corners are established.

SEC. 12. The record of surveys thus filed with the County Recorder of any county must be by him pasted into a stub book provided for that purpose, and he must keep a proper index of such records, by name of owner, by name of surveyor, by name of grant, city, or town, and by United States subdivisions; and he shall make no charge for filing and indexing such records of surveys.

SEC. 13. Upon the failure of any licensed surveyor to comply with the requirements of this Act, and the furnishing of satisfactory proofs of such fact, the State Surveyor-General must revoke his license, and no other license shall be issued to him within one year from such revocation. A violation of section eleven of this Act shall be a misdemeanor, and any person convicted of such violation shall be punished by a fine not to exceed more than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 14. In case said Board shall refuse to meet and examine the applicants for licenses as in this Act provided, and issue to such applicants the certificate or certificates mentioned in this Act, if such person be a fit and competent person to receive the same, they may be compelled to do so by mandamus; and if upon the hearing of such mandamus it appears that they have willfully and wrongfully refused to examine any applicants, or to issue him a certificate when he is entitled to the same, such Board so refusing or failing shall be, jointly and severally, liable for all cost of said mandamus proceeding, including attorney's fee of five hundred dollars, and shall be so jointly and severally liable to any person aggrieved by such refusal, in the sum of five hundred dollars, as fixed, settled, and liquidated damages, which may be recovered in any court in this State, and the judgment (if it be for plaintiff) in mandamus shall be prima facie evidence of such injury and damage in any action which may be brought to recover damages under the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 15. All that part of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State relating to mandamus is hereby made applicable to the provisions of this Act; and all proceedings in mandamus under this Act shall be in accordance therewith.

SEC. 16. This Act shall take effect on the first day of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-one.

There are no deficiencies in any of the appropriations for this office. The accounts appear of record in the office of the State Controller, and vouchers for all expenditures are on file in his office.

Respectfully submitted.

Surveyor-General, and ex officio Register of State Land Office.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

The following correspondence has been had since this report was published:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 3, 1896.

W. W. DUFFIELD, Esq., Superintendent U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Washington, D. C.:

SIR: In January and February last, there was some correspondence between you and the Governor and the Surveyor-General of California, regarding the permanent marking, by suitable monuments, of the boundary line between California and Nevada, in which matter you requested aid from California.

Your last letter (February 27, 1896), replying to mine of February 18, 1896, stated that your party would, in all probability, start to pass over the line (California and Nevada boundary) for the last time in the early part of 1897, possibly by the first of February, the point of beginning being the southernmost point of the line. Can you now inform me more definitely when this start will be made?

As I have already informed you in former letter, nothing can be done in this matter without an appropriation by the Legislature for such purpose, and as the Legislature does not convene until January, 1897, I desire to know, if possible, the exact time when you will start to pass over the line, in order to determine if there will be time to connect with your party at the start, should the Legislature decide to authorize this work to be done.

An early reply is desired.

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) M. J. WRIGHT,
Surveyor-General.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 25, 1896.

HON. M. J. WRIGHT, Surveyor-General, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: Your letter of the 3d of September came during my absence from Washington, and since my return I have given the subject some thought.

Since you say the Legislature does not meet until January, 1897, and since the work on the California-Nevada boundary will be best begun in December or January, it appears advisable to me to defer the field work until December, 1897. This will give you ample time to determine what your Legislature will do, and also the necessary period for preparation, in case you undertake to set the monuments. The reason why we prefer to set out in December is, that this will enable us to finish the remaining 400 miles and correct back beyond Death Valley before the hot weather sets in. Moreover, the same arrangement will make it possible to cross White Mountains at the most favorable time. Some of our stations are nearly 14,000 feet high.

We estimate that three or four months after taking the field the parties will be at the southernmost point of the line, and will then immediately start back, locating finally the points. It is at the beginning of the return trip that the State contingent should join with ours and commence setting the stones, say about April 1, 1898.

This work, as I have already indicated, will be invaluable, as the establishing of these lines has cost many thousand dollars, and if they are not permanently marked, the great outlay of time and money will have been in vain.

Will you kindly inform me as soon as definite action is taken by the Legislature in the matter?

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) W. W. DUFFIELD,
Superintendent.

1897.

REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 1, 1896. }

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

We have the honor to herewith submit a report of the transactions of the State Board of Examiners since January 1, 1895.

The law fixes the first and third Mondays of each month as the regular meeting days of this Board, but the great volume of business coming before the Board, which is increasing in amount and importance with the growth of the State, requiring attention and consideration, has necessitated frequent meetings to keep the business up, and enable those having claims against the State to receive prompt payment.

It has been the earnest effort and desire of the Board to reduce the business of the State to a uniform system.

We have had 162 meetings, and passed upon 8,454 claims, aggregating the amount of $7,131,414 42; 76 claims have been rejected, aggregating $682,633 51; the items cut off and rejected from other claims aggregate $66,362 74; total rejections, $748,996 25. The total rejections aggregate more than ten per cent of the entire claims presented. The claims approved have been transmitted to the State Controller.

We have approved the following claims under Sections 663, 664, and 666 of the Political Code:

CLAIMS FOR WHICH NO APPROPRIATIONS HAVE BEEN MADE.

There have been filed with this Board, under the provisions of Section 664 of the Political Code, claims which have been advertised under the provisions of Section 665.

We herewith transmit to your honorable bodies, under the provisions of Section 666, the following claims, with a statement of the action of the Board thereon:

The following claims are approved by the Board and transmitted to the Legislature, with recommendations that appropriations be made to pay the same:

No. 787—Dennis Jordan, for balance due for completing one half of the State Prison at Folsom, presented for the sum of $79,000, with a request that the State Board of Examiners review the former approval of said claim by said Board and approve the same for such sum as now seems just and proper under all the circumstances

The following claim has been considered, and is herewith transmitted without recommendation, to wit:

No. 796—Major José Ramon Pico, for expenses in organizing the First Battalion of California Native Cavalry.....	$8,111 15
---	------------

The above claim of Major Pico was referred to L. H. Brown, Secretary of State, with a request that he investigate the same and report thereon. His report is as follows:

SACRAMENTO, December 14, 1896.

To the Honorable the State Board of Examiners:

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to your request, I have investigated the claim of José Ramon Pico, for $8,110 55, filed with your Honorable Board, and alleged by claimant to be due him as a matter of equity, for expenditures made in organizing and maintaining a Battalion of Native California Cavalry, from 1863 to 1866, and make the following report:

Upon examination of the "Records of California Men in the War of the Rebellion," by Gen. R. H. Orton, I find that José Ramon Pico was Captain of Company A, First Battalion of Native Cavalry. His uncle, Don A. Pico, was commissioned Major of the Battalion, but declined the commission, owing to sickness, and Salvador Vallejo was commissioned Major. I find that $1,796 30 was paid by the State, in two separate payments of $898 15 each, to him "for recruiting," and $1,796 30 also paid to Salvador Vallejo, for same service. Said $1,796 30 is all that the Controller's books show that the State paid. Four affidavits, made in 1892, by persons claiming to have been members of said company, or personally acquainted with the facts, are attached to the claim. No original vouchers accompany the claim. The State is not legally liable for said claim, hence it is a question whether your Honorable Board decides that the claimant should be paid as a matter of equity. Owing to the limited data obtainable, I am unable to determine whether the claim is a just one or not.

Respectfully submitted.

L. H. BROWN.

The following is a statement showing the deficiency claims approved by the Board under Section 663 of the Political Code, the appropriations therefor having been exhausted:

It is important that the law (Section 680, Political Code) authorizing the purchase of bonds for the State School Fund be amended. United States bonds are selling at a high premium, the State is issuing no bonds, and the counties of the State are paying off their bonds very fast, and the Board finds that it is impossible to keep this money invested to advantage.

DEFICIENCY CLAIMS.

Under the General Appropriation Bill and Act approved March 23, 1893 (Stats. 1893, p. 285), officers of the various departments, boards, commissions, and institutions, for whose benefit and support appropriations are made, are expressly forbidden to create any indebtedness in excess of such appropriations, except the unanimous consent of the State Board of Examiners be first obtained, and a certificate in writing, duly signed by every member of said Board, of the unavoidable necessity for such expenditure.

The Board has exercised great care in granting deficiencies, but it was found absolutely necessary to grant a few. The following is a list of the applications made, and the action taken by the Board thereon, viz.:

Permission granted to Hon. L. H. Brown, Secretary of State, to create a deficiency in the appropriation for postage, expressage, and telegraphing of Secretary of State's office, for forty-sixth fiscal year, in the sum of $700.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 21, 1895. }

To the Honorable the State Board of Examiners:

GENTLEMEN: The consent of your honorable sirs is respectfully asked to permit me to create a deficiency to the extent of seven hundred dollars ($700), for postage, expressage, and telegraphing in Secretary of State's office for the forty-sixth fiscal year.

L. H. BROWN,
Secretary of State.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }

SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1895. }

The annexed request, made by L. H. Brown, to incur and create an indebtedness of seven hundred ($700) dollars in excess of the appropriation "For postage, expressage, and telegraphing, Secretary of State's office," for the forty-sixth fiscal year, has been examined by this Board, together with other facts and circumstances connected therewith, and this Board, by the authority given it in the Act approved March 23, 1893 (Statutes of 1893, page 285), does hereby unanimously consent and agree that L. H. Brown, Secretary of State, may create a deficiency in said appropriation "For postage, expressage, and telegraphing, Secretary of State's office," for this forty-sixth fiscal year, not to exceed the sum of seven hundred ($700) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, and this consent is hereby made the authority to create such indebtedness on account of the actual necessity for such expenditure.

The indebtedness, when incurred, shall be itemized and sent to this Board in the same manner as other claims, for its approval.

Permission granted Trustees of the State Insane Asylum in Mendocino County, to create a deficiency in the appropriation for support for forty-sixth fiscal year, in the sum of $35,000.

MENDOCINO ASYLUM,
UKIAH, CAL., January 12, 1895. }

To the Honorable Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, Sacramento, Cal.:

DEAR SIR: At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mendocino Asylum, held at the Asylum on the 5th inst., the inclosed resolution was adopted, and I, as Secretary of said Board, was directed to transmit the same to your Board for action.

Kindly present the same to your honorable Board at its first meeting, and oblige,

Very respectfully yours,

J. M. MANNON,

Treasurer and Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Mendocino Asylum.

WHEREAS, It appears to this Board that the appropriation for the support of the Mendocino Asylum for the forty-sixth fiscal year is inadequate, and that said fund is now almost exhausted; and

WHEREAS, The monthly expenses of said institution are about $6,000; therefore, be it by this Board

Resolved, That the Secretary of this Board be, and he is hereby, instructed to correspond with the State Board of Examiners, and request the permission of said State Board that this Board may incur an indebtedness of not exceeding $35,000, as a deficiency in the fund for the support of the Mendocino Asylum for the forty-sixth fiscal year.

RIVERSIDE, CAL., February 19, 1896.

HON. JOHN MARKLEY, Secretary State Board of Examiners:

DEAR SIR: At the last regular meeting of the Board of Trustees for the Southern California State Asylum for the Insane and Inebriates, held at the Asylum on February 10th, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

On motion of Trustee Gibson, seconded by Trustee Cooley, it was

Resolved, That the State Board of Examiners be requested to grant permission to this Board of Trustees to create an indebtedness of $15,000 for support of this Asylum for the forty-seventh fiscal year; it was also

Resolved, That a copy of the Secretary and Treasurer's report be forwarded to the Secretary of the State Board of Examiners.

In compliance with the above resolution, and the request of the State Board of Examiners, herewith please find inclosed copy of above report, and a statement of the Contingent Fund of this institution.

Very respectfully,

F. W. RICHARDSON,
Secretary and Treasurer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA STATE ASYLUM FOR THE }

SAN BERNARDINO, CAL., May 13, 1896.

To the Honorable State Board of Examiners, Sacramento, California:

GENTLEMEN: At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Southern California State Asylum for the Insane and Inebriates, the Secretary was instructed to send a copy of the following portion of the Medical Director's report (which was accepted, and the suggestions therein contained approved by the Board) to the State Board of Examiners:

"I desire to direct your attention to the fact that our institution has again nearly reached its capacity for the accommodation of patients, and would suggest that your Board request the State Board of Examiners to notify the various courts who commit patients to this institution of the fact, that they may be requested to commit no more patients to this institution under the Inebriate Act until further accommodations are provided, or, in other words, that all patients hereafter committed should be committed as insane. We have found that the commingling of those committed as inebriates and not insane, with those of the same class who have been committed as insane, has worked to the detriment of the institution, and also of the insane patients, with absolutely no difference in the real condition of the two classes, owing to the fact that the former are not committed as insane, and which has been taken advantage of by quite a number of patients and their friends, and criticisms are frequently made to the effect that they are obliged to be housed in the same ward with insane patients, when, many times, they have been more insane (if such an expression were allowable) than those otherwise committed. They are frequently not so amenable to the rules and discipline of the institution, and, taking it altogether, I am satisfied that the present arrangement works an injustice, and will continue so to do until provisions are made for the placing of patients committed as inebriates in a ward devoted expressly to that purpose."

Respectfully submitted.

M. B. CAMPBELL, M.D.

At our last regular meeting, held on May 11th, it was the voice of this Board that the State Board of Examiners be communicated with regarding the deficiency asked for by this Board for the forty-seventh fiscal year.

It will be necessary for this Board to obtain your official permit creating said deficiency very soon, in order that we can have a circular printed similar to the one we used before to accompany our certificates of indebtedness, which we probably shall be obliged to issue for maintenance for the month of May, and for all our expenses for the month of June, 1896.

I inclose sample of certificate.

Very respectfully,

F. W. RICHARDSON,
Secretary.

Under this deficiency, bills have been filed and approved for the amount of $8,748 46, and are herewith transmitted, with a recommendation that an appropriation be made to pay the same.

Permission granted Hon. E. L. Fitzgerald, Labor Commissioner, to create a deficiency for salaries of agents or assistants, traveling expenses, and other contingent expenses of the Labor Bureau, for forty-seventh fiscal year, in the sum of $1,651 75.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 11, 1896.

To the Honorable the Board of Examiners, Sacramento, Cal.:

GENTLEMEN: I hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to authorize the creation of a deficiency in the sum of $1,651 75 for rent, traveling and incidental expenses for the support and maintenance of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, from date up to and including June 30, 1896, and in support of this request, I beg leave to refer you to the statement attached hereto and made part of this petition.

Upon assuming charge of the affairs of the Bureau, I found that the only appropriation from which I could draw for the maintenance of the Department was the appropriation of $4,500, allowed under statute of 1889.

The first necessary expenditure was found to be for the purpose of office furniture. The only furniture belonging to the office, which was turned over to me, was an office desk, two tables, several chairs, a letter-press, etc., wholly inadequate to meet the necessities of the office; therefore, I purchased office furniture (Schedule E) from the Office Specialty Co., in the sum of $198 80, and furniture from the California Furniture Co., in the sum of $267 25, with the understanding that the said bills should not be payable until the meeting of the Legislature in 1897, at which time I expected to have same covered by deficiency.

The actual expenses for the maintenance of the Department, aside from the above and the sum of $329 10, which has been paid for permanent fixtures and improvements, as shown in Schedule F, has been, for nine months, $3,808 20, or $423 15 per month. This slight increase over the proportionate amount of monthly expenditure, under the appropriation of $4,500, or $375 per month, has been occasioned by the purchase of necessary supplies, such as stationery, etc., not otherwise provided for, and reporting, transcribing, etc., incident to the investigation into Japanese immigration, and other work and necessary expenditures for the proper conduct of the Department, such as extra help, etc.

In asking for the deficiency of $1,651 75 (Schedule H), I desire to call the attention of your honorable body to the amounts comprising the same:

First—The sum of $762 30, the amount necessary for actual current expenses for the next three months;

Second—The sum of $589 45, unpaid claims for furniture, fixtures, and expenses of moving, above referred to;

Third—The sum of $300, which I estimate will be required for traveling and incidental expenses for the collection of statistics and data for my biennial report. The sum of these items constituting the total deficiency in the said amount of $1,651 75.

Together with the above referred to schedules, which pertain especially to the amount required to be covered by deficiency, I append the itemized statements of each account, showing to one cent the amount of each expenditure, and for what purpose the said amounts were expended; also, permit me to call the attention of your honorable body to the supplemental statement of the receipts and disbursements of funds received by popular subscription. These said amounts were contributed by the representative bankers, business and professional men of San Francisco, whose daily business brought them in contact with the work of the Department, who were familiar with the inadequacy of the ways and means at my command, and who, to show their appreciation of the work thus far accomplished, voluntarily assisted in placing it in a position to properly carry out the work.

Taking these facts into consideration, I feel that I am justified in petitioning your honorable body for the necessary assistance to prosecute the work of the Department.

Respectfully submitted.

E. L. FITZGERALD,
Labor Commissioner.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF STATE, }
SACRAMENTO, August 16, 1896.

To the Honorable Board of Examiners:

GENTLEMEN: Owing to the limited and unusually small appropriation made by the last Legislature, for keeping in order and furnishing the State Capitol, I am reluctantly compelled to ask your honorable body to permit a deficiency for the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), said amount estimated to be required as follows, viz.:

Attorney-General, decorating, painting, and carpeting one large room; purchase of necessary furniture, rugs, etc., for three rooms. $900 00

Controller, decorating, painting, carpeting, and repairing three rooms, which have not been put in order for many years.....	$2,000 00
Clerk Supreme Court, carpet and repairs, two rooms.....	300 00
State Printer, carpet and repairs	300 00
State Treasurer, repairing furniture, purchase of chairs and rugs, and other repairs	250 00
Janitor's office; Sergeant-at-Arms' room, Assembly; Sergeant-at-Arms' room, Senate; linoleum and repairs.....	250 00
Incidentals, such as repairs to the roof, repairs to Assembly and Senate desks, plumbing, repairing and covering furniture, carpentering, carpets, etc., for ladies' waiting-room, etc.....	500 00
For rooms of Surveyor-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction	500 00

Only as an absolute necessity, would I ask for permission to create a deficiency, and had the Legislature appropriated within fifty per cent of the usual appropriation made for years, I would not have expended the amount, let alone ask for a deficiency.

The Controller's estimate was $15,000 for two years, and the Legislature allowed but $5,000.

The appropriations made for like purposes during the past twelve years have averaged $12,102 per annum, while the appropriation for the two years ending June 30, 1897, averages but $2,500 per annum; the total appropriated and asked for, being still less than half of the sum expended in past years. The expenditures already made were, and those about to be made, are, unavoidable and necessary beyond a doubt, and the money has been, and will be, economically expended.

Respectfully yours,

L. H. BROWN.

State Board of Examiners.

FORECLOSING THE INTERESTS OF DELINQUENT PURCHASERS OF STATE SCHOOL LAND.

Article VI, of Chapter I, of Title VIII, Part III, of the Political Code, provides the machinery for foreclosing the interests of delinquent purchasers of State school land, and getting the title back into the State, when the persons holding certificates of purchase of said land fail to pay interest thereon according to law. This machinery is very expensive and unsatisfactory; it is the judgment of the Board that the Legislature should amend the law.

On April 22, 1896, the Board ordered a circular letter issued and sent to all District Attorneys. This circular has had the effect of reducing the procedure to a uniform system throughout the State.

The following is a copy of the circular:

OFFICE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 22, 1896. }

To the District Attorney of ——— County :

SIR: In compliance with the provisions of Article VI, of Chapter I, of Title VIII, Part III, of the Political Code, the Register of the State Land Office will forward you a list of delinquent purchasers of State school lands in your county.

In order to obtain uniformity of action, and to avoid the necessity of writing many letters every year answering questions relating to this matter, the State Board of Examiners make the following suggestions:

I. The publication of the delinquent list, as provided in Section 3547 of the Political Code, may be made for four weeks, five insertions, in a weekly paper (and need not be made every day in a daily paper, for four weeks, at great cost, as is sometimes done).

II. As soon as this publication is made, a copy thereof, with the bill for publication, should be filed with the County Treasurer, and at each stage of the proceedings the County Treasurer should be kept informed as to the amount of all costs incurred, as the delinquent purchaser has the right to pay up at any time before judgment (as provided in Section 3550, Political Code). And if payment be made it should include all costs to that date.

III. If the service of summons be made by publication, it should be published for four weeks, five insertions, in a weekly paper, and before publishing the summons an affidavit should be made and an order for publication obtained, as provided in Section 412, Code of Civil Procedure. See People vs. Pearsons, 76 Cal. 400; People vs. Applegarth, 64 Cal. 229; People vs. W. O. Thomas, 101 Cal. 571; People vs. Henry Schwartz, 103 Cal. 447.

IV. All claims against the State must be itemized and sworn to. Each suit constitutes a separate and distinct claim, resting on its own merits, and one should not be mixed with the other. These claims are presented in the name of the District Attorney. His claim should include all costs, and should not be made and presented until the provisions of Sections 3550 and 3555 have been complied with. The claims of the newspaper for publishing delinquent list and summons must have attached a copy of the delinquent list and of each summons, with the regular affidavits of publication attached.

The newspaper bills, County Clerk's, and all other bills should be attached to the District Attorney's bill as vouchers. The costs should be taxed by the District Attorney to be recovered from the defendant in each suit, the State not being liable for such costs until execution upon the judgment has been returned not satisfied.

There must be attached to the District Attorney's claim a certificate that execution has been returned in each case not satisfied. Also, a certificate from the County Recorder that a certified copy of the judgment in each case has been filed in his office. The form of the bill of the District Attorney should be substantially as follows:

THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, Dr.,

To....., District Attorney of County.

For costs of suits in foreclosing interests of delinquent purchasers of State School

Lands, viz:

People vs.....
Publishing delinquent notice.....	$
Publishing summons.....
County Clerk's fees.....
District Attorney's fees.....	10 00
	$-----

Giving the costs in each case.

As excessive charges have been made in many instances for the publication of the delinquent list and summons, we suggest that before granting the publication to any particular publisher, you obtain figures from other publishers, and that the printing be given to the one that makes the best terms.

In the case of Lawrence vs. Newton Booth et al., 46 Cal., page 187, the Supreme Court, in passing on a claim for publishing eighty-one summons, at $32 each, said: "We regret that we are forced to these conclusions. The demand disclosed by this record appears to have been grossly exorbitant, and we cannot avoid the conviction that the District Attorney was neglectful of the interest of the State which he represented when he procured and allowed this claim to be established against it; for, though the judgments were formerly against the defendants in the suits of foreclosure, the claim was substantially and practically against the State."

The usual charge for publishing delinquent notice is for each name $2, and for publishing summons from $14 to $20 in each case.

By order of the State Board of Examiners.

JOHN MARKLEY,
Secretary.

PER DIEM OF SHERIFFS.

The question as to the equitable interpretation of the "per diem" of Sheriffs has given the Board some trouble; it being the custom of some of the Sheriffs to take the prisoner or insane person on the evening train and return in the morning, and charging for two days, notwithstanding the time consumed was less than twenty-four hours, when, if the person had been detained by the Sheriff until the next morning, the trip could be made in one day and the State also save a hotel bill.

On January 17, 1895, the Board made and entered the following order:

The expression "per diem" on Sheriffs' claims for conveying minors to Whittier State School and Preston School of Industry, also prisoners to the prisons and insane to the asylums, was decided to mean twenty-four (24) hours, and claims will be acted on accordingly until further order.

NEWSPAPERS FOR STATE OFFICERS.

On January 29, 1895, the question as to whether the State should pay for newspapers was brought up and discussed by the Board, and on motion, the following was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The various State officials, boards of directors, trustees, and commissioners, have heretofore subscribed to newspapers and periodicals and have certified the accounts for the same to this Board for its approval; and

WHEREAS, There is no authority in law for any such expenditure; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board cannot favorably audit any account for newspaper or periodical subscription made by any State official, public institution, or officer thereof.

A circular letter, containing a copy of the action of the Board, was issued and sent out, and the Board discontinued approving claims for newspapers and periodicals.

COMPENSATION IN LIEU OF BOARD.

As it has been the custom of some officers to claim compensation in lieu of board, on February 6, 1895, the Board passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That no compensation in lieu of board shall be allowed to any officer in the employ of the State, on the ground that the same is not authorized by law.

SUPPLIES FOR OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES OF STATE INSTITUTIONS.

In reference to this matter, on March 21, 1895, the following action was taken by the Board:

Resolved, That the supplies and provisions furnished by the State to officers and employes of State institutions are the supplies and provisions purchased on contract for the inmates of such institutions, and no bills for any other supplies and provisions will be allowed by this Board.

The contingent funds of State institutions cannot be used for the purchase of supplies and provisions for the use of officers, employes, or inmates of such institutions.

All bills must be marked showing what items have been purchased on contract, and what not on contract, and explanations should be made on all bills that on their face do not clearly show for what purpose they were incurred.

And the Secretary of the Board was instructed to send a copy of this resolution to each State institution.

VOUCHERS.

On September 20, 1896, the Board passed the following order and resolution:

It is ordered that the resolution relating to receipts and vouchers, passed on June 14, 1895, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows, to wit:

Resolved, That all boards, commissions, officers, and agents of the State, presenting claims against the State to the State Board of Examiners for its approval, must itemize said claims, giving dates and amounts, stating specifically the services rendered, and attaching thereto receipts for all sums paid for traveling and other expenses, including hotel bills, hack hire, postage, expressage, freight, etc. Except receipts need not be produced for railroad fare paid within the State, or when the sum paid for any of the above items is one dollar or less. Claims without vouchers will be returned.

On September 27, 1895, a circular letter was issued containing said order and resolution, and sent to all interested parties.

JOINT MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE VARIOUS STATE ASYLUMS FOR THE INSANE, WITH THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

With a view of trying to reduce the management of the State Asylums for the Insane to a uniform system, the following invitation was issued:

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, {
SACRAMENTO, CAL., November 13, 1895. }

Mr. ————:

DEAR SIR: There will be a joint meeting, in the office of the Governor, in the State Capitol, on Friday, November 22, 1895, at 11 o'clock A. M., of the Directors of all the State Asylums for the Insane in the State, with the State Board of Examiners. At this meeting, important business in connection with said asylums will be considered, and you are hereby requested to be present, if possible.

By order of the State Board of Examiners.

JOHN MARKLEY,
Secretary.

In accordance with said invitation, the joint meeting was held on November 22, 1895.

Present—Governor James H. Budd, Secretary of State L. H. Brown; from Stockton Asylum: H. O. Southworth, J. D. McDougald, A. McDonald, Joseph Steffens, and H. W. Taylor; from Napa Asylum: Benj. Shurtleff, J. C. Martin, Robert Howe, R. P. Lamdin, A. J. Hull, and Dr. A. M. Gardner; from Agnews Asylum: Isaac Upham, F. H. Gould, E. White, and Dr. F. W. Hatch; from Southern California Asylum: H. L. Drew, Jas. A. Gibson, and Frank A. Miller; from Mendocino Asylum: J. H. Seawell, M. Gardner, and C. O'Connor.

The Governor acted as chairman, and stated the objects of the meeting.

After an exhaustive discussion and consultation of the matters before the meeting, the following resolutions were passed:

By Joseph Steffens:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the Superintendents of the Asylums for the Insane of this State be urged to continue to discharge patients therefrom whenever possible, and if the law proves defective, we favor its being so amended as to give the Superintendents the necessary power.

By Isaac Upham:

Resolved, That a committee, consisting of one from each asylum, be appointed by the Directors of the Asylums, to act in conjunction with the State Board of Examiners, to evolve a uniform system of bookkeeping, payrolls, and general asylum management; also, to report to the Code Commissioners needed legislation.

Meeting adjourned.

Meeting of Committee, January 20, 1896.—This being the time heretofore fixed for the joint meeting of the State Board of Examiners with the representatives of the five State Asylums for the Insane, for the purpose of adopting rules and regulations for reducing the management of the various asylums to a uniform business system.

Present—James H. Budd, Governor; L. H. Brown, Secretary of State; Joseph Steffens, Edward White, Dr. M. Gardner, and I. K. Fisher.

Governor Budd in the chair.

After consideration and discussion, on motion of Dr. Gardner, seconded by Mr. White, the chairman of the State Board of Examiners appointed the following committees, viz.:

Payroll Reduction and Consolidation.—Dr. M. Gardner, Joseph Steffens, I. K. Fisher, and Benj. Shurtleff.

On Patients Illegally Detained.—Dr. F. W. Hatch, Dr. A. Clark, Dr. A. M. Gardner, and Dr. M. Gardner.

Codification and Change of Laws.—Judge J. A. Gibson, Edward White, Attorney-General Fitzgerald, and Governor Budd.

Business Management and Control.—Secretary of State Brown, Joseph Steffens, and Edward White.

Joint committee adjourned to the call of the chair. None of the committees have reported.

TELEPHONES.

Telephone bills had grown to such a large sum in the aggregate that the Board felt compelled to take some action in the premises, and on March 27, 1895, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That from and after April 1, 1895, no claim will be allowed by the Board of Examiners for telephones in any State office, State department, State institution, or from any board or commission in this State, nor shall the contingent fund of any institution in this State be used for any such purpose.

Thereafter, upon proper showing being made of the necessity therefor, various officers, institutions, and commissions were permitted to put in telephones, under special contract with the company, with the understanding that all territorial switch-tags be attached to claim, showing who received and who sent the message.

PRICE OF THE STATUTES OF 1895.

On May 31, 1895, the price of the Statutes of 1895 was fixed at $2 50 per copy.

SECTION FOUR, GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILL OF 1895.

In compliance with an order made by the Board on May 31, 1895, the following circular letter was issued:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 4, 1895.

DEAR SIR: Would call your attention to Section 4 of the General Appropriation Bill, approved March 28, 1895 (Statutes of 1895, page 289), which reads as follows:

"SECTION 4. Not more than one twenty-fourth part of the amount appropriated under this Act for each department or institution for the two years ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, shall be expended during any one month, unless by consent of the State Board of Examiners."

To carry out the provisions of this section, it will be necessary to use care that no indebtedness is incurred in any one month in excess of one twenty-fourth part of the amount appropriated for your department or institution, and all bills incurred in any one month must be sent here complete with claims for that month.

Please preserve this circular for present and future use, and acknowledge receipt of same.

By order of the Board.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN MARKLEY,
Secretary State Board of Examiners.

In the judgment of the Board the adding of Section 4 to the General Appropriation Bill was wise legislation; it has compelled the equalization of expenditures and prevented deficiencies. It should be retained.

EXPERT TO THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

Deeming an expert essential to the proper discharge of the duties imposed upon them by law, the State Board of Examiners, on June 28, 1895, employed Mr. Thomas A. Lewis, of Los Angeles, as expert to the Board, at a salary of $166 66 per month, and traveling expenses. Mr. Lewis entered upon this employment on July 2, 1895, and performed such duties as were assigned to him by the Board.

On August 16, 1895, the Board audited and allowed the claim of Mr. Lewis for his first month's salary, and also a claim for traveling expenses, and transmitted these claims to the State Controller. The Controller refused to draw his warrant for either of the claims, upon the alleged ground that the State Board of Examiners was without authority of law to employ an expert.

Mr. Lewis immediately commenced mandamus proceedings against the Controller, in the Superior Court of Sacramento County, to compel him to draw his salary warrant. The Superior Court gave judgment in his favor, and an appeal was taken by the Controller to the Supreme Court, where the case was heard in Department One, and the judgment of the lower court reversed. A rehearing in bank, however, was immediately granted, and the case is now pending before the Supreme Court for final decision.

It is impossible for this Board, as constituted, to perform, without the aid of an expert, many of the duties imposed upon it by law, and for that reason the Legislature should make some provision for such employment.

JAMES SAULTRY RELIEF BONDS.

On March 14, 1889 (Statutes of 1889, page 141), the Legislature appropriated $20,000 to pay the claim of Mrs. Margaret Saultry and her minor children (being the widow and minor children of James Saultry, deceased), and directed the State Board of Examiners to invest the same in interest-bearing bonds of this State, or of some solvent county or counties thereof; "provided, that whenever any of said minor children shall become of age, or in the event of the death of either of said minors before becoming of age, the State Board of Examiners shall sell one fifth of said bonds, and the amount realized therefrom shall be returned to the General Fund of the State Treasury; and provided further, that upon all of said minors, who may survive, becoming of age, the balance of said bonds shall be sold as aforesaid, and the amount realized therefrom returned to the General Fund of the State Treasury."

On May 6, 1890, the State Board of Examiners purchased, on account of said fund, $20,000 worth of Inyo County 5% bonds, maturing in 1910.

One of said children has become of age, and, upon the Board looking into the matter, with the intention of selling one fifth of said bonds, it finds that said bonds are payable "to the widow and minor children of James Saultry, deceased." It appears, therefore, that said bonds cannot be sold without legal proceedings or legislation.

INVENTORY OF STATE PROPERTY.

Upon investigating the condition and amount of State property in the hands of commissions legislated out of existence, it was found that there was no record of State property purchased by officers, boards, commissions, or institutions, and that there were no books of record in the State Capitol, or in the office of the purchaser, to show the property that should be on hand.

On July 19, 1895, the Board ordered the following circular issued, viz.:

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., July 29, 1895. }

At a meeting of the State Board of Examiners, held on July 19, 1895, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the directors, trustees, or officers in charge of the various State institutions, commissions, and departments are hereby requested to make a complete inventory of all State property (excepting fuel, clothing, and food) in their possession, and file the same with the State Board of Examiners by September 1, 1895. Hereafter said inventory to be made at the close of each fiscal year and filed with the State Board of Examiners by August 1st.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN MARKLEY,
Secretary State Board of Examiners.

The first fiscal year after issuing the circular letter, all the officers, boards, commissions, and institutions filed inventories with the Board. The second year, a few filed inventories, or a list of the property purchased during the year.

This is an important matter. The State owns property of great value, in the hands of persons who, for the time being, are, under the law, custodians of such property.

It might be well to require all custodians of State property to make a record, in a book, of all such property in their charge (excepting fuel, food, and small items of little value), adding thereto, when additional property is purchased, all of such property purchased, and also making an entry of all State property worn-out or sold, and giving the amount it sold for.

COYOTE SCALP BOUNTY CLAIMS.

The Act fixing a bounty on coyote scalps was approved March 31, 1891, and repealed on January 24, 1895. The number of scalps for which claims were approved by the Supervisors of the various counties is 92,431, aggregating the sum of $462,155. The number of the unpaid scalps for which certificates have been issued is 57,523, aggregating the sum of $287,615.

In every county of the State organized prior to that date, there was a gradual falling off in the number of certificates issued in the year 1893, as compared with the number issued in 1892. In the year 1894 there was a large increase in the number of certificates issued as compared with 1893, and especially the last quarter of 1894 and the twenty-four days in 1895.

The Board respectfully recommends that an appropriation be made to pay these claims.

GENERAL REMARKS.

It is the judgment of this Board that supplies purchased for any of the institutions or officers of the State should be purchased under contracts, and the contracts should coexist with the fiscal years.

All claims itemized in accordance with Section 3 of the General Appropriation Bill (Statutes of 1895, page 289), that have been sworn to, and have attached vouchers for the sums therein that have been paid, have been promptly acted upon by the Board. Claims that were not itemized, or were not sworn to, or did not contain vouchers, were returned.

The law requires the Board to meet twice a month, but it has held an average of seven meetings a month, acting promptly on all claims presented in legal form, and has not cut down or rejected claims for technical reasons.

REPORT OF THE BOARD

OF

State Capitol Commissioners

TO THE

THIRTY-SECOND SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE OF CALIFORNIA.

1897.

BOARD OF STATE CAPITOL COMMISSIONERS:

HON. JAMES H. BUDD,	- - - - -	GOVERNOR.
HON. L. H. BROWN,	- - - - -	SECRETARY OF STATE.
HON. LEVI RACKLIFFE,	- - - - -	STATE TREASURER.
JOSEPHINE M. TODMAN,	- - - - -	SECRETARY.

SACRAMENTO:

A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.

1896.

REPORT OF BOARD OF STATE CAPITOL COMMISSIONERS.

SACRAMENTO, December 1, 1896.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

The thirty-first session of the Legislature of California appropriated for the maintenance of the State Capitol grounds for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years, the following amounts:

RECEIPTS.

For purchase of implements, hose, etc.....	$5,000 00
For salaries of twelve employés.....	25,920 00
For salaries of three policemen.....	7,200 00
For lighting State Capitol grounds.....	2,400 00
For water, State Capitol grounds.....	2,400 00

EXPENDITURES.

From the appropriation for the "purchase of implements, hose, etc." ($5,000 for forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years), there has been paid to December 1, 1896.....	$3,229 76
Leaving a balance of.....	1,770 24

From the appropriation for salaries of employés, there has been paid to December 1, 1896 (seventeen months).....	18,360 00
Leaving a balance of.....	7,560 00

From the appropriation for salaries of three policemen, from June 30, 1895, to December 1, 1896 (seventeen months), at $100 per month.....	5,100 00
Leaving a balance of.....	2,100 00

From the appropriation for lighting State Capitol grounds:

5 lights at $15 (9 months), one o'clock circuit.....	$675 00
5 lights at $9 (1 month), all-night circuit.....	45 00
8 lights at $9 (7 months), all-night circuit.....	504 00

Total seventeen months.....	1,224 00
Leaving a balance of.....	1,176 00

Under contract made by former Board, the Capital Gas Company furnished five lights, on one o'clock circuit, for $75, or $15 per light. The Commissioners invited new bids, and the Capital Gas Company agreed to furnish lights on an "all-night circuit" at a reduction of $6 per light, whereupon the Commissioners ordered three extra lights, making eight lights on an "all-night circuit" for $72 per month.

From appropriation for water for State Capitol grounds,
there has been paid	$1,800 00
Leaving a balance of	600 00

The Board has successfully bored a well, and has a good flow of water, and hope to be able to furnish the building and grounds with water at a rate much lower than above.

From the balance on hand ($15,089 52) of the unexpended balance of appropriation of March 11, 1893, "For care and improvement of State Capitol grounds," $39,500; expended as per last report, $24,410 48; leaving a balance of $15,089 52; the Board has expended, to December 1, 1896, the sum of	$11,637 37
Leaving a balance on hand December 1, 1896, of	3,452 15

From the appropriation for "Improving N, Fifteenth, and L streets," adjacent to the State Capitol grounds:

For superintending	$1,995 32
For incidentals	17 05
For contract	29,543 70

Total	$31,536 07
Leaving a balance of	1,471 33

By order of the Board, said balance of $1,471 33 has been returned to the State Treasury.

The former Board asked the Legislature of 1895 to make an appropriation for the improvement of the State Capitol grounds east of Thirteenth Street, which for years has been a barren waste, given over to weeds, rubbish, and the pasturing of cattle; this the Legislature did not do. The present Board, with funds already on hand, has placed the entire tract under cultivation, and to-day it presents a beautiful appearance. The tract is laid out in symmetrical flower-beds—each outlined with a border of blue-grass, six feet in width—and the flowers and shrubs planted are making a fine growth and present a pleasing effect, with outlines for really fine effects in the future.

To illustrate the possibilities of our climate and soil, Mr. Dunn, State Gardener, has, by direction of the Board, set out groves of orange, lemon, olive, umbrella, Japanese persimmon, Japanese loquat, and pepper trees, each located to show to the best advantage; also, palms, flowering shrubs, many varieties of dahlias, variegated bamboo, and Australian gum. Since planting, to this date (December 1, 1896), not over twenty-five have died. Of the flowering plants there have been set out 2,000 French cannas, 2,000 caladium escolata, and quantities of other plants.

In addition to the work in the new garden, there have been draughted and staked out by the Gardener (as directed by the Commissioners), with the assistance of three men, a main walk from the tool-house at Twelfth Street to Fifteenth Street, through the grounds, 19 feet wide by 1,232 feet long, and 3,434 feet of branch walks, 8 feet wide. These have been surveyed, thrown up, crowned to center, rolled, and covered with three inches of decomposed granite from Folsom, at the cost of the labor and hauling only. The estimated cost of that work in bitumen would be not less than $25,000. The walk, as laid, is both beautiful and wholesome, absorbing all moisture, and is kept in order cheaply—making a most desirable path, both as to utility and beauty, at a cost of only $2,353 11.

Labor—Three men at $90 per month (3 months)	$810 00
One man at $90 per month (1 month).....	90 00
Three men at $90 per month (½ month)	135 00
Three men at $90 per month (fraction of a month) ..	180 00
Freight.....	$1,215 00
Hauling by wagon.....	447 21
Total.....	690 90
	$2,353 11

On the garden west of Eleventh Street all the sod—ten acres—has been spaded by hand to a depth of two feet, and planted with eight hundred pounds of blue-grass seed. All this has had to be carefully weeded and watered throughout the summer, and now presents a beautiful lawn. This work has not been done in over twenty years.

In the hot-house 15,000 plants were raised in 1895 and 20,000 in 1896, and planted in the front lawn and terraces. Sixty-three new flower-beds have been added to those already there. The Commissioners feel sure the money put into the grounds has been well expended, and that the result has amply repaid the outlay.

Great credit is due Mr. Dunn for his work, and the Board feels that the result fully justifies its request that four more men be employed for the care of the grounds, in addition to the twelve now employed—one of whom shall be a skilled gardener and propagator. The lack of training in the men employed by the Board is a great drawback to the accomplishment of efficient work.

Owing to the extension of the garden through to Fifteenth Street, the Commissioners would ask for an increased appropriation to enable the entire garden to be properly cared for. The Gardener has in con-temptation, and will probably have completed before your body convenes, the seeding of all the plats around the ground, where the ornamental palms are planted. The palms are doing finely, and present a very handsome appearance.

The Board recommends that an appropriation, not to exceed $2,500, be made for painting of the Agricultural Pavilion;

Also, that a similar amount be appropriated for putting in a sewer extending from L to N streets, across the Capitol grounds, and connecting the same with the building and main sewers of the city;

Also, an appropriation, not to exceed $1,000, to be used for the purpose of filling in the corner of the State Capitol grounds at Fifteenth and N streets, to the level of the surrounding grade.

These appropriations are urged by the Board, because, in its judgment, these improvements are necessary; and the construction of the sewer, as herein recommended, would result in an actual saving to the State.

STATE PRINTING DEPARTMENT,

SACRAMENTO, September 15, 1895. }

To the Governor:

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith a report of the transactions of the Department of State Printing for the forty-sixth fiscal year.

A. J. JOHNSTON,
Superintendent of State Printing.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE PRINTING.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE PRINTING.

Forty-sixth Fiscal Year.

Of the appropriation of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) made by the thirtieth Legislature there remained, unexpended, at the beginning of the forty-sixth fiscal year, the sum of one hundred and twelve thousand three hundred and eighty dollars and thirty-three cents ($112,380 33). The thirty-first Legislature appropriated the further sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) to defray the expenses of legislative printing of the thirty-first session, making the total available appropriations for the forty-sixth fiscal year one hundred and sixty-two thousand three hundred and eighty dollars and thirty-three cents ($162,380 33). The total expenditures, as hereinafter detailed, aggregated one hundred and sixty-two thousand three hundred and seventy dollars and thirteen cents ($162,370 13), leaving a balance of ten dollars and twenty cents ($10 20) unexpended.

The following table shows the distribution of the expenses throughout the several departments of the plant:

The expense of printing for the departments, boards, and institutions of the State (sixty-one in number), exclusive of the Legislature, aggregated ninety-two thousand seven hundred and fifty-two dollars and twenty-five cents ($92,752 25), apportioned as shown in the following table. In this connection, permit me to say that the number of institutions, etc., for which work has been done during the past year shows an increase of thirteen 'as compared with the forty-fifth fiscal year, and an increase of six over the forty-fourth fiscal year, demonstrating the growth of the volume of work turned out by the State Printing Office.

I desire to call your Excellency's attention, particularly, to the growth of legislative printing, with the hope that you will direct the attention of the Legislature to the matter, and that, in their wisdom, some plan may be evolved which will result in a reduction of the volume of work, and consequent expense. For many years it has been customary to make an appropriation of at least $50,000 to defray the cost of legislative work, and this appropriation, although for a specific purpose, has always been referred to as "deficiency" in the State Printing Office, which is not true. The appropriation of $50,000 for the thirty-first session fell short of paying for the legislative work just $28,008 63, and in order to complete the work called for by the thirty-first Legislature it was necessary to spend $7,890 75 of the appropriation for the forty-seventh year in addition to the $70,117 88 used in the forty-sixth fiscal year, thus crippling the department to the extent of nearly $8,000 in excess of the estimates made for support for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years.

I would direct your attention to these items:

Reprinted bills	$2,343 50
Engrossed bills	5,830 45
Binding and indexing sets of bills	1,561 95
Total	$9,735 90

It is questionable whether the reprinted bills were worth the money they cost, either to the Legislature or to anybody else. The engrossment of bills by the State Printer, at an expense of nearly $6,000, did not result in a reduction of the force of Engrossing Clerks attached to the Legislature, but simply added expense to this department. The item of bound volumes of bills, indexed, was never before furnished by the Printing Office, and while I do not presume to say they may, or may not, have been useful to the members, it is a fact patent to everybody that the frequent amendments to all bills that reach final passage render the first printing useless, and it was the first printing of bills that was bound.

The items I have mentioned, if eliminated, would effect a saving of nearly $10,000; and a more careful supervision of all printing orders, by a committee of members familiar with the subject, together with a curtailment of the number of copies of each bill, and the passage of a statute preventing the indiscriminate introduction of numerous bills on the same subject, would easily effect a saving of as much more.

I wish further to say that many Acts are passed calling for large expenditures of money which carry no appropriation, but it devolves upon the State Printing Office to carry the Act into effect from its appropriation; in this connection I might refer to an edition of 30,000 copies of the Statutes for free distribution, which cost over $5,000. This should have had a specific appropriation, as it was distinctly legislative work, and not such as falls within the estimate of "Support of State Printing" for two years. I wish to say, however, that I think it wise for the State to issue a free edition of the Statutes.

The "State Roster," or Blue Book, issued biennially by the Secretary of State, has grown to be an expensive and valuable work; that of 1895 costing over $5,000. A specific sum should be appropriated for this work, and the size of the edition increased, as, in my opinion, the people of the State are entitled to the data and information contained in the Roster, and 5,000 copies will not supply the demand; but as it is, by law, the Secretary of State's publication, I think it but fair to this department that a special appropriation be made for subsequent editions.

Under this or some similar plan, and thus only, can it ever be clearly shown to the general public where the appropriation for State printing is expended, and the State Printing Office be relieved of the indiscriminate and untruthful charge of extravagance. No fair-minded person can, after a careful inspection of the State Printing Office, and with an understanding of the nearly perfect system used therein, charge the management with extravagance; on the contrary, the vast volume of work for over sixty departments and institutions, exclusive of the Legislature, could not be turned out in as good style and quality by any plant in the State for the same money, and on eight hours per diem basis. That certain reforms might reduce the amount of work I am not prepared to deny, but I doubt if the blanks and blank books, and every item of printing used by all the institutions of the State, could be supplied as satisfactorily or any cheaper in any other way.

The tables following give, in detail, the various items of legislative work as divided between both branches, and also those items belonging to the bodies jointly. The items are set forth as clearly as possible in order to show the scope of the work:

SCHOOL TEXT-BOOK DEPARTMENT.

Forty-sixth Fiscal Year.

The work in this department has been more active than usual, owing, partly, to the publication of two of the new series of Readers; and the sale of books has increased also, so that the State text-book system is in a healthy, active condition; and with the completion of the revision and betterment of the series, as contemplated by the State Board of Education, there is every reason to believe that the plan will work out as designed by its projectors. I wish, however, to say that I do not think the School Book Fund, derived from the sale of books, should be drawn upon to purchase stock and materials for, nor to pay any of the expenses of producing, absolutely new books; it is not fair to the system, and causes adverse and undeserved criticism as against the system as an entirety. Every new book should have a specific appropriation for the production of the first edition; after that the sale of the book will always reproduce it, and the schools be supplied with text-books at a minimum cost. There can be but one opinion as to the improvement in the series of Readers, and that is that they are giving entire satisfaction to teachers throughout the State.

The total expenditure on account of text-book work, in this department, has been ninety thousand two hundred and forty-seven dollars and forty-seven cents ($90,247 47), in detail as follows:

Composition employés.....	$2,650 65

Superintendent of State Printing.

STATE PRINTING DEPARTMENT,

SACRAMENTO, September 15, 1896. }

To the Governor:

SIR: Herewith I have the honor to submit a report of the transactions of the Department of State Printing for the forty-seventh fiscal year, ending June 30, 1896.

A. J. JOHNSTON,
Superintendent of State Printing.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE PRINTING.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE PRINTING.

Forty-seventh Fiscal Year.

The Legislature, thirty-first session, appropriated two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) for support of the department for the forty-seventh and forty-eighth fiscal years; of this there was expended the sum of one hundred and forty-six thousand dollars and fifty-nine cents ($146,000 59), as detailed in the following tables.

In a previous report attention was directed to the insecurity of the building used as a printing office, owing to the great weight of machinery, material, etc., in the Bindery department on the third floor. This condition of affairs was so marked during the past year, owing to unusual quantities of printed sheets and cases for large editions of school books, in addition to the usual State work, in the bindery, that it was deemed imprudent to longer risk a condition which might cause a collapse of the building, necessarily resulting in death and injury to many faithful employés, and involve the State in expensive litigation of damage suits. To remedy this state of affairs I had all the bindery machinery removed from the third to the second floor, where all the machines could be supported by posts and foundations from the ground, and had a large gallery, or half floor, put in, which is supported by three rows of heavy pillars resting on solid concrete and brick foundations in such manner that the weight is taken entirely off the framework of the building. In this gallery there have been stored printed sheets, cases, and material aggregating one hundred and fifty tons weight, which were formerly stored in the attic and on the third floor; this immense weight, added to that of the machinery and of more than one hundred people, will give some idea of the relief the change has given to the structure. The third floor, vacated by the bindery, is now occupied as the composing-room, and is not excelled, as such, by any composing-room on the Pacific Coast. It is large, well lighted, and well ventilated, and admirably adapted for the purpose.

The building has also been repainted, the roof repaired, and a number of internal changes made which have resulted in quite a considerable gain of space in several departments, which was much needed. Outside the building, the old fence which surrounded the office, and thus cut off a block of the Capitol Park, and only served to mar the landscape, has been removed and the grounds all thrown into the park, thus adding much to the appearance of the surroundings. I feel confident that the condition of the plant at this time will elicit favorable comment from any person who will inspect it.

I have appended a complete set of requisitions, orders, and blanks, in miniature, in daily use in the office, which will serve to illustrate the method followed in the execution of orders, in the purchase and issuance of stock, supplies, etc., and from which it will be seen that the most minute details are carefully looked after in all departments.

The following table shows the distribution of the expenses throughout the several departments of the plant for the forty-seventh fiscal year:

SCHOOL TEXT-BOOK DEPARTMENT.

Forty-seventh Fiscal Year.

During this fiscal year the revision of the series of Readers has been completed, as has also that of the English Grammar; and the books are on the market and in use in the schools of the State. The revised books appear to be highly satisfactory to the teachers, and the sales have been quite large, as shown in the table of sales.

The books remaining to be revised are the Advanced Arithmetic and United States History; and an Elementary History is also included in the plan of revision and improvement, for the publication of which I hope the State Board of Education will secure a specific appropriation.

The following tables are all explanatory and need no elaboration.

REPORT
OF THE
STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION FOR 1895 AND 1896.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION:

L. C. MOREHOUSE, Chairman.	{	GEO. L. ARNOLD. R. H. BEAMER. A. CHESEBROUGH. E. P. COLGAN.	}	CHAS. M. COGLAN, Secretary.
-----------------------------------	---	--	---	------------------------------------

SACRAMENTO:
A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.
1896.

REPORT OF STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

To his Excellency JAMES H. BUDD, Governor:

SIR: In accordance with Section 3692 of the Political Code, the State Board of Equalization herewith submit the following report.

Schedules "A" show the amount of property upon which the State rate of taxation was based, and the rates for 1895 and 1896.

Schedules "B" show the assessments by Assessors, and amount of increase or decrease in counties equalized by the Board.

Schedules "C" show number of acres of land assessed as per Auditors' statements, and valuation of real estate and improvements.

Schedules "D" show value of property mortgaged, assessed value of mortgages, and percentage of mortgages to total value of real estate and improvements.

Schedules "E" show value of all property after equalization by the Board.

Schedules "F" show assessment and apportionment of railways.

Schedules "G" show apportionment of railways to counties.

Schedule "H" shows assessment of railroad property owned by railroads operated in more than one county, assessed by the County Assessors.

Schedules "I" show assessment of personal property.

Schedules "J" give agricultural and horticultural statistics.

Schedule "K" shows total assessed value of property, and rates of taxation from 1850 to 1894, inclusive.

The Political Code provides that the Board of Equalization report to the Governor such further suggestions as it shall deem proper in addition to the tabulated valuation of property, and it has been customary for the Board, in making their report, to suggest what they considered needed reforms in the revenue laws, and necessary changes in the methods of assessments and collection of taxes; but the Board think it unnecessary to mention any particular change, as the Commission for the Revision of the Codes will probably take the whole subject up in detail when that portion of the Political Code is taken under consideration.

MORTGAGES HELD BY STATE INSTITUTIONS.

In our report for 1894 we offered the following recommendation, which we hereby repeat, in the hope that the Legislature may inquire into the matter and adopt a remedy:

Several of the institutions supported by the State, notably the State University, loan money secured by mortgages upon real estate. The State University Fund was created by an Act of the Legislature, approved February 14, 1887. Before that time appropriations were made by the Legislature for the needs of the different departments of the University; but the Legislature at that time concluded to change that policy by providing a tax of 1 cent on each $100 of valuation in the State, and to place the money arising therefrom into this fund, to be under the control of the Regents of the University, and to be used by them for the support and permanent improvement of that institution.

The valuation of the property upon which this ad valorem tax was placed for the thirty-ninth fiscal year was $955,455,839, and it has increased until the present year it amounts to $1,263,771,936, showing an increase of valuation of over $310,000,000.

With the needs of the University, or the application of their different funds, we, as a Board, have nothing to do, but suggest that the accumulations over and above the expenses of the institution be so used as not to injure any particular portion of the State by withdrawing a large amount of property from taxation. The Supreme Court has decided, in the case of People vs. Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, 77 Cal. 136, that mortgages held by the State University are to be deducted as other mortgages, but they are not subject to taxation, as mortgages held by private parties, consequently the value of the property, so far as the amount of money loaned upon it by the University, is eliminated from the tax roll.

The returns of the County Auditors to this Board show that there is about three quarters of a million dollars' worth of property thus withdrawn from taxation, and should a consolidation of a large amount be made in a county, road district, or school district, such a withdrawal would virtually cripple or ruin it.

The loaning of money by State institutions places the State in competition with the business of banks, disturbs the revenue system of the State and the various counties, and introduces an inequality between the counties in respect to the burden of taxation.

L. C. MOREHOUSE,
Chairman.
A. CHESEBROUGH.
R. H. BEAMER.
GEO. L. ARNOLD.
E. P. COLGAN.

CHAS. M. COGLIAN, Clerk.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES

OF THE

CALIFORNIA STATE LIBRARY

FOR THE

FORTY-SIXTH AND FORTY-SEVENTH FISCAL YEARS.

July 1, 1894, to June 30, 1896.

SACRAMENTO:

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE STATE LIBRARY.

CALIFORNIA STATE LIBRARY, }
SACRAMENTO, June 30, 1896. }

To his Excellency JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: We herewith hand you the report of W. D. Perkins, State Librarian, which shows that the expenditures for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years have amounted to $43,739 79, leaving a balance of $12,449 69 in the State Library Fund.

In the expenditure of money we have endeavored to be economical without stinting the library in its real needs. The figures herewith submitted compare favorably with those of previous reports.

Respectfully,

M. GARDNER, President.

W. S. GREEN.

ED. E. LEAKE.

CURTIS H. LINDLEY.

F. T. BALDWIN.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 30, 1896.

To the Honorable Board of Trustees of the California State Library:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to submit the following report of this department for the forty-sixth and forty-seventh fiscal years, from July 1, 1894, to June 30, 1896.

During the period named there have been added to the library 5,865 volumes, making the total number called for by the register 100,618. This is somewhat in excess of the actual number, as has been shown in previous reports. We have data, however, showing what volumes are missing.

In the purchase of books the endeavor has been made to obtain representative works in all departments of knowledge, but special attention has been given to the Law, Medical, Historical, and Genealogical Departments. To the Law Department, current reports, new text-books, and new editions have been added. The collection of session laws has been enlarged by the receipt, in exchange, of the current Acts of the various Legislatures. A great deal of correspondence has been necessary to obtain a number of these volumes, owing to the negligence of some of the States in supplying them. We have been very persevering, however, and have succeeded in obtaining nearly all of them.

As repeated calls are received from various parts of the State for genealogical information, we are giving particular attention to that department, and have obtained a number of valuable works that are of special interest to genealogists.

The collection of works relating to the history and literature of California has been steadily increasing, and no opportunity has been neglected of obtaining anything that would increase the value of that department. Files of several early California newspapers not hitherto contained in the library, we have recently been fortunate in obtaining.

The collection of periodicals has been enlarged by the addition of new sets, and we have also completed a number of old sets by the purchase of missing volumes.

Files of all the principal California newspapers are being preserved in the library. Among these we include the leading dailies published throughout the State, and one paper from the county seat of each county. A number of these are donated, and of such we have appended a list to this report. It may readily be imagined how rapidly these newspapers and other periodicals accumulate, and what a quantity of room is necessary for their preservation. It is no exaggeration to say that every available space is now utilized, and that more shelf room is an absolute and an immediate necessity. The whole library is excessively crowded and something must be done in the near future to obtain additional room.

In my last report I recommended that the library's field of usefulness be extended, by establishing, in as far as practicable, a loaning system with public libraries throughout the State. In this regard nothing has been accomplished, except with the State University Library, and we are glad to state that a satisfactory system of interchange now exists between these two libraries.

Several accidents having revealed the inadequacy of the railings around the galleries of the library, extra safeguards were provided and the expense defrayed out of the State Library Fund. Your Honorable Board will remember that the Secretary of State was requested to do this, but as he had no means with which to take immediate action in the matter, and as a recent accident had impressed upon us the necessity of some steps being taken, with the authorization of your Honorable Board the work was effected.

Several new bookcases have been placed in the library, and new shelves have been added in a number of places.

In the purchase of books and in the general management of the library, it has been our aim to maintain a high standard and to render the institution as useful to the public as possible.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. D. PERKINS,
State Librarian.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE STATE LIBRARY, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE TRUSTEES.

1. All books, papers, periodicals, maps, and works of art now in the Law Library, in the Medical Library, or in the General Library, are declared to be works and books of reference, to be kept in the Library for the use and benefit of the people of the State, and cannot be taken therefrom except as hereinafter provided. No book, map, or paper valuable as a work of art or for its antiquity shall be taken from the Library under any circumstances.

2. The Library shall be kept open every day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays. During the sessions of the Legislature and of the Supreme Court the Library shall be kept open from 9 o'clock A. M. to 9 o'clock P. M.; provided, however, the Librarian may, in his discretion, keep the rooms open on Sundays and legal holidays, and from said hour of 4 o'clock P. M. to 9 o'clock P. M., in charge of some reliable person, for the accommodation of the citizens of the State, as a reading-room, but not for the delivery of books.

3. Any person making application to the Librarian for any book, map, paper, or other printed matter for public use in the Library, shall be furnished with the same, and with such facilities for reading, copying, or making notes therefrom, as the Librarian can command. In case any book or paper so applied for shall be temporarily absent from the Library, in the hands of any State officer or other person, under the statute law or these rules, the Librarian shall have it returned, if practicable, for the use of such applicant. Children under fifteen years of age, unaccompanied by parents or guardians, are not entitled to the privileges of the Library except at the discretion of the Librarian.

4. State officers may take from the Library to their respective offices such books as they may require for reference in the discharge of their official duties; but not for the use of another person who has not the legal privilege of taking books.

5. Whenever a Judge of any court of record in this State desires a book for his information in determining any case in his court, or when he deems it necessary for any attorney to have any book in the Library for use in any trial or proceeding, he may make a written requisition on the Librarian for such book, and the order must imply a personal responsibility for its safe return. The expense of transportation must in all cases be borne by the applicant.

6. Members of State Commissions, who have not their offices at the Capitol, may order books from the Library for use in the line of their official duties, in the same manner as set out in Rule 5.

7. Any member of the Legislature, elect or qualified, may make a requisition on the Librarian, when the Legislature is not in session, for any book that may be taken from the Library, and which he will state is to aid him in the preparation of any bill to be presented at a future session in which he is to sit. Such requisition must imply an agreement that, if the book shall not be returned according to the rules of the Library, the price thereof will be deducted from his salary, the same as from the salary of a sitting member. The cost of transportation must in all cases be borne by the applicant.

8. Sitting members of the Legislature will be required to comply with the strict letter of the law.

9. No book shall be kept out of the Library more than seven days, and one day added for each five hundred miles or fraction thereof it must travel in going and coming, when ordered from a distance.

10. Writing in or marking books or periodicals, tearing or turning down leaves, and all other defacements, are strictly prohibited. Any person defacing a book or periodical shall pay to the Librarian the price of the book injured.

11. No loud talking will be allowed in any part of the Library.

12. No smoking or chewing of tobacco will be permitted in the Library.

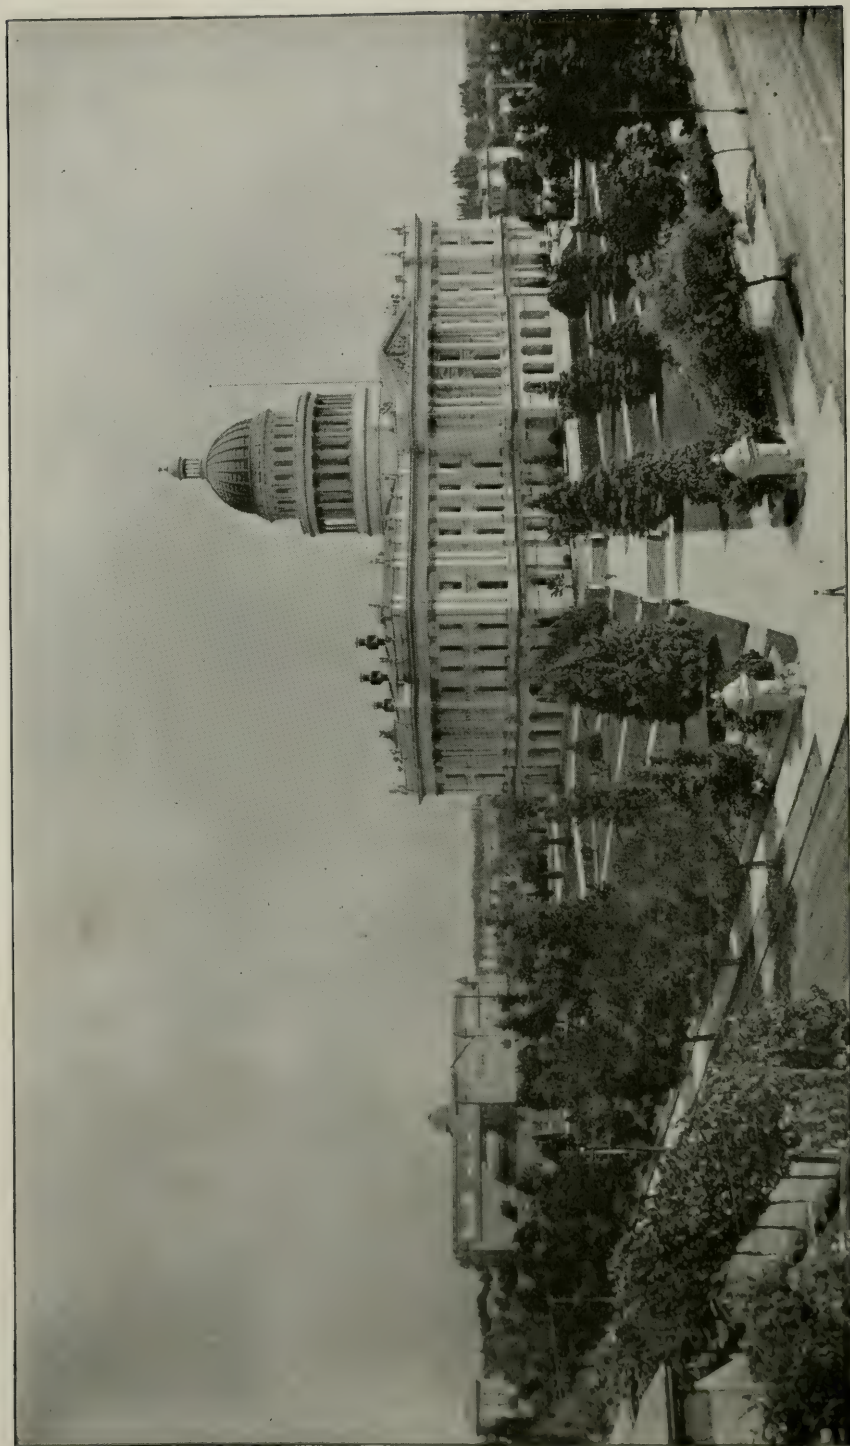

13. Copying from books, other than law books, must be done in pencil.

14. No book can be taken from the Library until its title and the name of the person taking it have been registered by the Librarian, and a receipt given for it, in such manner as may be required by the Librarian.

15. Visitors to the Library are prohibited from talking to the attachés during office hours, except on business in connection with the Library.

16. Any person violating the rules of the California State Library may be prohibited by the Librarian from the use and privileges of the Library, and for misbehavior and willful violation of the rules relating to good order in the Library and the preservation of the books may be summarily ejected from the Library.

17. No rule herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize any person to take any book, paper, or map from the Library, except for the purpose of information in the line of his official duty.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,
SACRAMENTO, September 15, 1896. }

Honorable JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of California:

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith, in accordance with Section 1532 of the Political Code of California, the Seventeenth Biennial Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the school years ending June 30, 1895, and June 30, 1896.

Respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL T. BLACK,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

REPORT.

Section 1532 of the Political Code makes it the duty of the Superintendent of Public Instruction:

"To report to the Governor, on or before the fifteenth day of September preceding each regular session of the Legislature, a statement of the condition of the State Normal Schools and other educational institutions supported by the State, and of the public schools;

"To accompany his report with tabular statements, showing the number of school children in the State; the number attending public schools, and the average attendance; the number attending private schools, and the number not attending schools; the amount of State School Fund apportioned, and the sources from which derived; the amount raised by county and district taxes, or from other sources of revenue, for school purposes; and the amount expended for salaries of teachers, for building school-houses, for district school libraries, and for incidental expenses."

In the following pages I have attempted to comply with the letter and spirit of this statute. The requirement that the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall report the number of school children in the State who do not attend any school cannot be complied with. The Political Code says, "Every school, unless otherwise provided by law, must be open for the admission of all children between six and twenty-one years of age, * * * provided, that in cities and towns in which the kindergarten has been adopted, or may hereafter be adopted as part of the public primary schools, children may be admitted to such kindergarten classes at the age of four years." The term "school children" must not be confounded with "census children." The latter includes all children between five and seventeen years of age, while the former may include all persons between six and twenty-one, or it may include all persons between four and twenty-one. The law ought to be amended in this particular, as the statistics heretofore given showing the number of census children not attending school are apt to be misleading and, therefore, valueless.

The past five years has been a period of unusual awakening in educational circles—this has been particularly so in our own State. Within that period the Leland Stanford Jr. University has opened its doors, and the number of students now enrolled in the State University and Stanford combined is more than four times the former enrollment at Berkeley. Elsewhere in this report the progress made in secondary education since the passage of the High School bill in 1891 is referred to. Each of the two great Universities has established a department of Pedagogy, and the number of students enrolled in these departments has already far exceeded the most sanguine expectations. All the great Universities of the country are rapidly following the lead of California and a few other States in this important step. Under the influence of these departments, and similar departments in our best Normal Schools, the occupation of teaching will, in due time, become the profession of teaching.

The public school system, as defined in Section 6, Article IX of the Constitution of California, consists of "primary and grammar schools, and such high schools, evening schools, normal schools, and technical schools as may be established by the Legislature, or by municipal or district authority." The Primary and Grammar Schools (now known as elementary schools), High Schools and Normal Schools are specifically referred to in the following pages. Evening schools have been established in nearly all the cities of the State, and are doing a noble work. While little has been done in the way of technical schools proper, departments of manual training have been established in many of our cities and larger towns. Two of the Normal Schools are provided with manual training departments, and are doing good work.

The course of study for the elementary schools must include (I quote the exact language of the law), reading, writing, orthography, arithmetic, geography, grammar, history of the United States, elements of physiology and hygiene, with special instruction as to the nature of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, and their effects upon the human system; vocal music, elementary bookkeeping, industrial drawing, and civil government; provided, that instruction in civil government, physiology and hygiene, and elementary bookkeeping may be oral, no text-books in these subjects being required to be purchased by the pupils.

Other studies may be authorized by the Board of Education of any county, city, or city and county; but no such studies shall be pursued to the neglect or exclusion of the studies in the preceding section specified.

Among the "other studies" many of the schools have included a little constructive geometry, and some elementary algebra, and in still others, some general history and experimental physics, and some form of manual training. The course, as a general thing, covers nine years' work, but in several counties where longer terms prevail, the course is finished in eight years, while a few devote ten years to the work on account of the shortness of the school terms caused by lack of school funds, which is unavoidable in counties covering a large territory, sparsely populated.

The High School course covers a period of three or four years, and the curricula are such that the graduates are prepared to enter the State University. The University has issued a skeleton curriculum covering the actual requirements for admission, which gives ample room for the insertion of such additional branches as the local conditions may demand, thus making the High School the "People's College," as President Kellogg would say.

The Normal Schools of the State are largely technical in their nature, being designed solely for the preparation of teachers. Under present conditions it is deemed necessary to admit to these schools graduates of grammar schools, hence, professional training must be accompanied by much academic study, thus making necessary a four years' course. Were it possible to require a High School preparation for admission to the Normal Schools, much of the academic work might be dispensed with, the course shortened by at least two years, and the expense of maintenance materially reduced. Besides these advantages, these schools would become what they ought to become, purely professional schools—just as much so as law schools, or schools of medicine.

On this point the report of the Committee of Fifteen has this to say: "Teachers are 'born, not made,' has been so fully the world's thought until the present century, that a study of subjects without any study of principles or methods of teaching has been deemed quite sufficient. Modern educational thought and modern practice, in all sections where excellent schools are found, confirm the belief that there is a profound philosophy on which educational methods are based, and that careful study of this philosophy, and its application under expert guidance, are essential to making fit the man born to teach.

"It is a widely prevalent doctrine, to which the customs of our best schools conform, that teachers of elementary schools should have a secondary or High School education, and that teachers of High Schools should have a collegiate education. Your committee believe that these are the minimum acquirements that can generally be accepted, that the scholarship, culture, and power gained by four years of study in advance of the pupils are not too much to be rightfully demanded, and that, as a rule, no one ought to become a teacher who has not the age and attainments presupposed in the possession of a High School diploma. There are differences in High Schools, it is true, and a High School diploma is not a fixed standard of attainment; but in these United States it is one of the most definite and uniform standards that we possess, and varies less than college degrees vary, or than elementary schools and local standards of culture vary.

"It is, of course, implied in the foregoing remarks that the High School from which the candidate comes is known to be a reputable school, and that its diploma is proof of the completion of a good four years' course in a creditable manner. If these conditions do not exist, careful examination is the only recourse.

"If this condition, High School graduation or proof by examination of equivalent scholarship, be accepted, the questions of the age and attainment to be reached before entering upon professional study and training are already settled. But if a more definite statement be desired, then it may be said that the candidate for admission to a normal or training school should be eighteen years of age, and should have studied English, mathematics, and science to the extent usually pursued in High Schools; should be able to write readily, correctly, and methodically upon topics within the teacher's necessary range of thought and conversation, and should have studied for two or more years at least one language besides English. Skill in music and drawing is desirable, particularly ability to sketch readily and effectively."

The State of New York has set the example of demanding a high standard of academic and professional training at the hands of those who aspire to become teachers in the city schools. Just why a similar demand is not made in the interests of her rural schools is not clear to my mind. At the last session of the Legislature of New York, the following section was added to the school law of the State:

"After January 1, 1897, no person shall be employed or licensed to teach in the Primary and Grammar Schools of any city authorized by law to employ a Superintendent of Schools who has not had successful experience in teaching for at least three years; or, in lieu thereof, has not completed a three years' course in, and graduated from, a high school or academy having a course of study of not less than three years, approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, or from some institution of learning of equal or higher rank, approved by the same authority, and who, subsequently to such graduation, has not graduated from a school or class for the professional training of teachers, having a course of study of not less than thirty-eight weeks, approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction."

When California is ready to follow the lead of the Empire State in the matter of demanding ability and skill, acquired either from experience or professional and academic training, it is hoped that the law will be broad enough to cover all the schools of the State.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

There were in California, in 1895-96, ninety-eight High Schools employing 381 teachers, at an average salary of $1,037, or $86 41 per month, counting twelve months to the year. These High Schools have, in the way of buildings, sites, and equipment, property worth $1,742,-109 44. The total current expenses for the past year amounted to $494,196 69, of which $395,192 was paid for teachers' salaries. The number of pupils attending the High Schools was 10,362—a trifle more than 3% of the entire census roll of the State. Dividing the total expenditure by the number enrolled, gives $47 69 as the average annual cost per pupil in the High Schools of California, which is a little more than double the average annual cost per pupil in the elementary schools. The average daily attendance in these secondary schools is 8,041—nearly 78% of the total number enrolled; whereas, in the elementary schools the average daily attendance is not quite 71% of the total enrollment.

These High Schools receive no State aid—the Constitution providing that all State and county school moneys shall go to the support of elementary schools exclusively. Those communities that have thus voluntarily taxed themselves in the interests of their sons and daughters, are casting bread upon the waters that shall return, not only to them, but also to the State and Nation after (not) many days. The High School idea is growing in California, and the time is not far distant when the State will come to the assistance of this much-needed secondary education, as it has already seen the necessity of aiding the elementary schools, the Normal Schools, and the University. Free States, to be lasting, must educate their future citizenship—their very existence depending upon the intelligence and patriotism of the masses.

The State University has adopted a system of "accrediting" High Schools, whereby, on account of the high order of work done, their graduates will be admitted to the University, on the recommendation of the Principal, without examination. The following schools, sixty-seven in number, were accredited for the school year 1895-96. In this list, the private schools are marked with an asterisk (thus, *):

EXPLANATION.—Where the subdivisions of a subject are not specified, the accrediting applies to the whole subject. For the year 1895-96, there has been no accrediting in Botany, Zoölogy, French, or German. In a few cases, also, it was not possible to examine schools in some other subjects. Graduates of 1896 offering any of these subjects for matriculation will take the regular entrance examinations in them. The accrediting in subjects in which an advance in the requirement takes place in 1897 will not hold good for admission after 1896, except by express authorization of the Committee on the Examination of Schools.

The matriculation subjects are as follows: 1a. English, elementary; 1b. English Composition; [2. Arithmetic; no longer required as separate subject]; 3. Algebra, through Quadratics; 4. Plane Geometry; 5. Government of the United States; 6a. Caesar's Gallic War; 6b. Cicero's Orations; 6c. Latin Composition, elementary; 7a¹. Cicero's Orations; 7a². Virgil's Eneid; 7a³. Latin at sight; 7a⁴. Prosody; 7b. Latin Composition, advanced; 8. Greek Grammar and Xenophon; 9a¹. Xenophon's Anabasis; 9a². Greek at sight; 9a³. Greek Composition; 9b. Homer's Iliad; 10a. Greek History; 10b. Roman History; 11. Physics; 12a¹. Solid Geometry; 12a². Plane Trigonometry; 12a³. Advanced Algebra; 12b. Chemistry; 12c. Botany; 12d. Zoölogy; 13. Mediæval and Modern History; 14. English, advanced; 15a. French; 15b. German.

GROUPS OF SUBJECTS FOR THE SEVERAL COLLEGES.

N. B.—By subject 12a is meant any two of the three subdivisions.

GROUP I. Admitting to the College of Letters.—Subjects 1 to 10 inclusive. Subject 11 (Physics) will be added to this group in May, 1897.

GROUP II. Admitting to the College of Social Sciences and the College of Natural Sciences.—Subjects 1 to 7 inclusive, 11, 14 or 15 (a or b), and either 10 and 13 or two of the main subdivisions of 12 (a-d). Furthermore, in the College of Natural Sciences, until May, 1899, 15a and 15b together (French and German) may be substituted for 6 and 7 (Latin); in which case 14 (English) must be taken without further alternative.

GROUP III. Admitting to the Colleges of Agriculture, Chemistry, Mechanics, Mining, and Civil Engineering.—Subjects 1 to 5 inclusive, 6 or 14 or 15 (a or b), 11, and 12; which last, beginning with May, 1897, will include two instead of one of the subdivisions of that subject, namely: for the Colleges of Agriculture and Chemistry—Chemistry (12b) and one of the other subdivisions, at the option of the applicant; and for the three Engineering Colleges, Chemistry, and Solid and Spherical Geometry, without further option. Furthermore, for the College of Agriculture, an equivalent in Entomology will be accepted in lieu of Zoölogy (12d).

IV. By a provision of the Academic Senate, the State Normal Schools may recommend their graduates to be admitted without examination as students in regular standing for the first year; their status, after that, to be determined in accordance with the evidence of scholarship presented in each case.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

The Normal Schools of the State are rendering valuable service in the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools. Notwithstanding the amount of money expended annually by the State in supporting Normal Schools, and the excellent work done by those schools, it is a fact that only twenty-five per cent of the teachers are graduates of Normal Schools.

The requirements for admission have been raised from time to time—thus keeping pace with the progress of modern educational thought. The increase in the number of High School graduates who this year (1896-97) have enrolled themselves as students in our Normal Schools, is particularly gratifying. Such students are given credit for much of the academic work done in the High Schools, and may graduate in one and a half to two years. A great many teachers, too, holding primary and grammar grade certificates, who were denied, from one cause or another, the advantages of professional training before commencing to teach, are now taking advantage of the professional work of the Normal Schools. Again, the Normal Schools are doing much seminary work among the teachers of the State through teachers' circles and other agencies. The Normal School at Los Angeles has this year introduced a department for the training of kindergarten teachers. The following circular of information gives an outline of requirements and course of study:

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 20, 1896. }

Recognizing the importance of the kindergarten as a necessary part of our educational system, the Board of Trustees of the State Normal Schools of California, assembled in joint session, April 10, 1896, resolved that said schools establish kindergarten departments as soon as practicable.

The increasing demand for thoroughly trained kindergartners in Southern California influenced the Board of Trustees of the State Normal School at Los Angeles, at its annual meeting, May 27, 1896, to establish a department for the training of kindergarten teachers. This department will be opened September 8, 1896. Miss Florence Lawson, a graduate from the Normal Course of the Chicago Kindergarten College, and one of the best trained kindergartners in the United States, has been engaged as director. No effort will be spared to make this one of the best schools of the kind in the country.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

I. High School Graduates.

1. The rules and requirements governing the admission of High School graduates to the regular Normal Course will be applied in admitting the same class of students to the Kindergarten Training Course.
2. In addition to the above, these applicants must have such a knowledge of music, both vocal and instrumental, as will, at the close of their two years of training, insure the qualifications in music necessary for successful kindergarten teaching.
3. Variations from the scholastic work referred to in No. 1, above, may be made at the discretion of the Committee on Kindergarten Training; provided, that the time gained from such variations be devoted to the special professional work of this course.
4. If students that have elected the Kindergarten Course subsequently show by their work unfitness for kindergarten teaching, they will be required to take the regular Normal course, or to drop out of the school.

II. Applicants from the Regular Normal Course.

1. Students applying for admission to the Kindergarten department, who are not High School graduates, or who have not the educational qualifications sufficient to admit them to the Two Years' Course, will be assigned to the regular Normal department, according to requirements specified on page 9, Catalogue, 1896.
2. At the end of the first two years of the Normal Course, any student may elect the Kindergarten Training Course. The work thereafter will continue to be as nearly like that of the regular Normal Course as the special work of the Kindergarten Course will permit.

III. Special Students.

Students not classified with one of the above groups will be referred for examination to a special committee, consisting of the Principal of the Normal School, the Director of the Kindergarten, and the Professor of Pedagogy of the Normal School. Any advanced standing in the required work for kindergartners, indicated in Sections I and II above, must be secured in each case by the examination which this committee prescribes.

It will be noticed that there is provision made for three classes of students:

1. High School graduates, for whom a course covering two years will be formulated.
2. Those taking a course covering four years, the first two of which will be the same as in the regular Normal department.
3. Special students whose course of one, two, or three years will be determined on examination or from credentials other than High School diplomas.

COURSE OF STUDY.

In addition to most of the scholastic work required in the regular Normal Course, the special kindergarten instruction for High School graduates and those who have finished the first two years of the Normal Course, is as follows:

First Year.—Gift work. Occupation work. "Mutter und Kose lieder" or Mother-play. Programme. Games. Psychology. English. Drawing. Music. Physical Culture. Science.

Second Year.—Advanced Gift and Occupation work. "Mutter und Kose lieder." Games. Psychology. Literature. Fröbel's Philosophy of Man. Science. Nature Study. Programme and Supervising. Drawing. Music. Physical Culture. Practice in Teaching.

The purely academic work of the above course will be pursued in the regular Normal department, as well as such additional academic training as may, on the part of candidates, be found necessary to a well-rounded and thorough preparation.

Only one class each year will be organized for the Two Years' Course. Those wishing to pursue the work during the coming scholastic year should apply to the Kindergarten Committee, Room C, Normal Building, September 3d. Consultation may be held with the Principal any day before the above date, between the hours of 9 and 11 A. M.

By order of the Board of Trustees.

EDWARD T. PIERCE, Principal.

In addition to the three State Normal Schools, the City of San Francisco supports a Normal School, to which only High School graduates are admitted. The course covers one year's work in the theory and art of teaching. The graduates of this school are found in many of the counties, and, as a rule, are doing excellent work.

The ethical side of education is not lost sight of in our admirable school system. Section 1702 of the Political Code, which is just as binding as the statute providing for scholastic work, is as follows: "It shall be the duty of all teachers to endeavor to impress upon the minds of the pupils the principles of morality, truth, justice, and patriotism; to teach them to avoid idleness, profanity, and falsehood; and to instruct them in the principles of a free government, and to train them up to a true comprehension of the rights, duties, and dignity of American citizenship."

This report would be incomplete without referring to the inspiration our elementary and secondary schools are deriving from the two great Universities and the three Normal Schools—particularly from the pedagogical departments of these institutions. The influence of these departments is being felt in the remotest districts of the State, through the teachers' institutes and teachers' associations, in nearly all of which are found one or more professors representing the highest and best educational thought of the day.

When we consider the comparative excellence of our elementary and secondary schools, the high standing of the two great Universities, of our schools of law, medicine, pharmacy, and dentistry, to say nothing of the excellence of our smaller colleges and academies, not forgetting the polytechnic, trade, and commercial schools, there can be no legiti-mate excuse for Californians to send abroad their sons and daughters to be educated, no matter whether the education desired be general or technical.

RURAL SCHOOLS.

The condition of the rural schools of the country is receiving earnest attention. At the meeting of the National Educational Association in Denver, in July, 1895, a resolution was adopted authorizing an investigation, under the auspices of the Association, of the subject of rural schools, embracing such topics as revenues and expenditures, the constitution, organization, and duties of boards of management and control, and the provision of suitable teachers. A committee of twelve was appointed to conduct this investigation, as follows: Henry Sabin, Iowa, Chairman; B. A. Hinsdale, Michigan; D. L. Kiehle, Minnesota; W. T. Harris, Washington, D. C.; A. B. Poland, New Jersey; C. C. Rounds, New Hampshire; J. H. Phillips, Alabama; S. T. Black, California; W. S. Sutton, Texas; Charles R. Skinner, New York; Lawton B. Evans, Georgia; L. E. Wolfe, Missouri.

The committee has entered upon its work, and sub-committees have been formed to consider the following topics: (1) School maintenance; (2) supervision; (3) supply of teachers; (4) instruction and discipline. The general committee is anxious to receive suggestions from any who feel an interest in the "Rural school problem," along the lines indicated.

ORPHAN ASYLUMS.

Owing to the press of other official business, it has been impossible for me to visit all the orphan asylums in the State that receive State aid. I visited a number, however, and found the children generally well cared for and kindly treated by those in charge. The children in some of these asylums attend the public schools, while in others they are taught by private teachers. My visits were necessarily so brief as to render it impossible to make any just criticism on the nature of the educational work. The teachers, both public and private, seemed to be faithful, painstaking, and in complete sympathy with the little ones committed to their care. I herewith append a list of the institutions that the Superintendent is required to visit:

EXTRACTS FROM SCHOOL LAW OF CALIFORNIA.

METHOD OF APPORTIONING STATE SCHOOL MONEY BY THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.
METHOD OF APPORTIONING STATE AND COUNTY SCHOOL MONEY
BY THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.
COUNTY SCHOOL TAX.
LENGTH OF SCHOOL TERMS.

SECTION 1858. All State school moneys apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction must be apportioned to the several counties in proportion to the number of school census children, as shown by the returns of the School Census Marshals of the preceding school year; provided, that Indian children whose parents are on Government reservations, or are living in the tribal relation, and Mongolian children not native born, shall not be included in the apportionment list. The School Superintendent in each county must apportion all State and county school moneys as follows:

First—He must ascertain the number of teachers each district is entitled to by calculating one teacher for every seventy school census children, or fraction thereof not less than twenty school census children, as shown by the next preceding school census; provided, that all children in any asylum and not attending the public schools, of whom the authorities of said asylum are the guardians, shall not be included in making the estimate of the number of teachers to which the district in which the asylum is located is entitled.

Second—He must ascertain the total number of teachers for the county, by adding together the number of teachers assigned to the several districts.

Third—Five hundred dollars shall be apportioned to each district for every teacher assigned to it; provided, that to districts having ten and less than twenty school census children, shall be apportioned four hundred dollars; provided further, that to districts having over seventy school census children and a fraction of less than twenty, there shall be apportioned twenty dollars for each census child in said fraction.

Fourth—All school money remaining on hand after apportioning to the districts the moneys provided for in subdivision three of this section, must be apportioned to the several districts in proportion to the average daily attendance in each district during the preceding school year. Census children, wherever mentioned in this chapter, shall be construed to mean those between the ages of five and seventeen years.

SECTION 1817. The County Superintendent of each county having a population of less than two hundred thousand inhabitants, must, on or before the first regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors, in September in each year, furnish the Supervisors and the Auditor, respectively, an estimate, in writing, of the minimum amount of County School Fund needed for the ensuing year. This amount he must compute as follows:

First—He must ascertain, in the manner provided for in subdivisions one and two of section eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, the total number of teachers for the county.

Second—He must calculate the amount required to be raised at five hundred dollars per teacher. From this amount he must deduct the total amount of State apportionment, and the remainder shall be the minimum amount of County School Fund needed for the ensuing year; provided, that if this amount is less than sufficient to raise a sum equal to six dollars for each census child in the county, then the minimum amount shall be such a sum as will be equal to six dollars for each census child in the county.

SECTION 1621. The Boards of School Trustees and City Boards of Education must use the school moneys received from the State and county apportionments exclusively for the support of schools for that school year, until at least an eight months' school has been maintained. If at the end of any year during which an eight months' school has been maintained, there is an unexpended balance, it may be used for the payment of claims against the district outstanding, or it may be used for the year succeeding. Any balance remaining on hand at the end of any school year in which school has not been maintained eight months, shall be reapportioned by the Superintendent of Schools as other moneys are apportioned; provided, that if a district has been prevented from maintaining a school for eight months in any year in consequence of fire, flood, prevailing epidemic, or other cause which may, upon investigation by the Superintendent of the county, be determined to be a good and sufficient one, said balance shall not be reapportioned.

SECTION 1622. Boards of Trustees may use the county school moneys for any of the purposes authorized by this chapter; but all State school moneys must be applied exclusively to the payment of teachers of Primary and Grammar Schools.

By reference to another portion of the report, it will be seen that the apportionment of State school moneys by the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the year 1896, based on the number of census children for that year, amounted to $9 42. In accordance with law, the minimum county apportionment is $6, so that the sum of the two apportionments represents the minimum amount per census child in the State.

All State school moneys are apportioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the several counties in accordance with the provisions of Section 1858 of the Political Code, based upon the number of census children of the State. The County Superintendent apportions State and County school moneys to the districts of the county, based upon the number of teachers and the average daily attendance of children in the district.

BIENNIAL CONVENTION OF COUNTY AND CITY SUPERINTENDENTS.

In order that such changes in the School Law as might be deemed necessary should be carefully considered, a committee of sixteen County and City Superintendents was appointed early in the year for the purpose of examining the law, section by section. The committee met in the City of Oakland on July 30, 1896, and after a three days' session prepared a report, which was submitted to the Biennial Convention of City and County Superintendents that met in the same place on August 3, 1896.

The Biennial Convention was in session for four days, considering the report of the Committee of Sixteen and other questions bearing upon the educational interests of the State. As the result of their deliberations, the following changes in the School Law were recommended:

SECTION 1543, changed to read as follows:

Seventh—"He shall have power to issue, if he deem it proper to do so, temporary certificates, valid until the next annual meeting of the County Board of Education, upon credentials upon which County Boards are empowered to grant certificates without examination, as specified in sections one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five and one thousand five hundred and three; provided, that no person shall be entitled to receive such temporary certificate more than once in the same county."

Eleventh—"Except in incorporated cities having a City Superintendent, to pass upon and approve or reject all plans for school-houses, and to approve or reject all orders for school furniture, and to accept for the district, when completed, all school buildings. To enable him to act in this matter, Boards of School Trustees, before adopting any plans for school buildings, or placing any order for school furniture, must submit the same to the County Superintendent of Schools for his approval."

Fifteenth—"The County Superintendent of Schools shall, unless otherwise provided by law, in the month of May of each year, grade each school, and a record thereof shall be made in a book to be kept by him in his office for this purpose; and no teacher holding a certificate below the grade of said school shall be employed to teach the same."

SECTION 1548. "He may draw his requisition upon the County Auditor, who shall draw his warrant on the unapportioned General School Fund, in his own favor, for the binding of school documents, not to exceed twenty dollars a year; for postage and expressage for his office, not to exceed two dollars for each district of his county, and for such other incidental expenses as may be authorized by law; provided, that not more than one half of such allowance shall be used during the first six months of any school year, except by unanimous consent of the Board of Supervisors; and provided further, that in incorporated cities, each school containing three hundred pupils shall be considered equal to one school district."

SECTION 1553. "No County Superintendent of Schools, who receives an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars or more, must follow the profession of teaching, or any other vocation that can conflict with his duties as Superintendent; but those receiving less than fifteen hundred dollars per annum may teach in the public schools of this State."

SECTION 1565. "Every applicant for a teacher's certificate, temporary or permanent, or for the renewal of a certificate, upon presenting his application, shall pay to the County Superintendent of Schools a fee of two dollars, to be by him immediately deposited with the County Treasurer, to the credit of a fund to be known as the Teachers' Institute and Library Fund. All funds so credited shall be drawn out only upon the requisition of the County Superintendent of Schools upon the County Auditor, who shall draw his warrant in payment of the services of instructors in the County Teachers' Institute; provided, they be not teachers in the public schools of the county in which such Institute is held; and for the purchase of books for a library for the use of the teachers of the county. At least fifty per cent of the Teachers' Institute and Library Fund shall be expended for books. The County Superintendent of Schools shall take charge of the teachers' library, prepare a catalogue of its contents, and keep a correct record of books taken therefrom and returned thereto."

SECTION 1577. First—"No new school district shall be formed at any other time than between the first day of November and the tenth day of February following in any school year, nor at that time unless the parents or guardians of at least fifteen census children, residents of such proposed new district, and residing at a greater distance than two miles, by a traveled road, from the public school-house in the district in which said parents or guardians reside, present a petition to the County Superintendent of Schools, setting forth the boundaries of the new district asked for; provided, that the provision requiring that the petitioners shall reside a distance of more than two miles, by a traveled road, from the said public school-house, may be dispensed with when the petition shall be signed by the parents or guardians of fifty or more census children, residents of a district containing more than three hundred census children."

Second—"The boundaries of a school district, except as provided in section one thousand five hundred and fifty-one of the Political Code, shall be changed only between the first day of November and the tenth day of February following in any school year, and then only when at least ten heads of families residing in the districts affected by the proposed change of boundaries, shall present to the County Superintendent of Schools a petition setting forth the change of boundaries desired, and the reasons for the same; provided, that two or more districts lying contiguous may at any time be united to constitute but one district, whenever a petition signed by a majority of the heads of families residing in each of said districts shall be presented to the County Superintendent of Schools."

Third—"Joint districts (that is, districts lying partly in one county and partly in another) may be formed at any time between the first day of November and the tenth day of February following in any school year, whenever a petition signed by the parents or guardians of at least fifteen census children, residents of such proposed joint district and residing at a greater distance than two miles by a traveled road from any public school-house, shall be presented to the County Superintendent of Schools of each county affected by the proposed formation of the joint district; and provided further, that the provision requiring that the petitioners shall reside a distance of more than two miles, by a traveled road, from any public school-house may be dispensed with when the petition shall be signed by the parents or guardians of fifty or more census children, residents of districts, any one of which shall contain more than three hundred census children. All the provisions relative to the formation of joint districts shall be by concurrent action of the County Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Supervisors of each county."

SECTION 1581. "After the making of an order by the Board of Supervisors, creating a new school district, the school must be opened therein not later than the first Monday of October following the date of said order; otherwise, said order shall be null and void."

SECTION 1599. "The voting must be by ballot without reference to the general election laws in regard to nominations, form of ballot, or manner of voting."

SECTION 1600. "Any person offering to vote may be challenged by any elector of the district, and the Judges of the Election must thereupon administer to the person challenged an oath, in substance as follows: 'You do swear that you are a citizen of the United States, that you are twenty-one years of age, that you have resided in this State one year, in this county ninety days, and in this school district thirty days next preceding this election, and that your name has been on the Great Register of this county for fifteen days.' If he takes the oath prescribed in this section, his vote must be received, otherwise his vote must be rejected."

SECTION 1617. Subdivisions Fifth and Sixth combined into one subdivision, as follows: Fifth—"When directed by a vote of their district to build school-houses, or to purchase or to sell school lots, and to make, in the name of the district, conveyances of all property so purchased or sold."

Subdivision Sixth stricken out.

Subdivision Seventh changed to Sixth.

Subdivision Eighth changed to Seventh.

Subdivision Ninth changed to Eighth.

Subdivision Tenth changed to Ninth.

Subdivision Eleventh changed to Tenth.

Subdivision Twelfth changed to Eleventh.

Subdivision Thirteenth changed to Twelfth.

Subdivision Fourteenth changed to Thirteenth.

Subdivision Fifteenth changed to Fourteenth, and to read as follows: Fourteenth—"To permit children from other districts to attend the school of their district only upon the consent of the Trustees of the district in which such children reside; provided, that should the Trustees of the district in which children whose parents or guardians desire them to attend in other districts, refuse to grant their consent, the parents or guardians of such children may appeal to the County Superintendent of Schools, and his decision shall be final; provided further, that if Boards of Trustees or Boards of Education admit pupils against the provisions of this section, the County Superintendent of Schools may refuse to draw a requisition upon the order of said Board of Trustees or Board of Education."

Subdivision Sixteenth changed to Fifteenth.

Subdivision Seventeenth changed to Sixteenth.

Subdivision Eighteenth changed to Seventeenth.

Subdivision Nineteenth changed to Eighteenth.

Subdivision Twentieth changed to Nineteenth, and paragraph (3) changed to read as follows: 3. "In regard to prosecuting, settling, or compromising any litigation in which the district may be engaged, and may vote money from the County Fund of the district, not exceeding one hundred dollars in any one year for any of these purposes. All funds raised by the sale of school property may be disposed of by direction of a district meeting. District meetings may be adjourned from time to time, as found necessary, and all votes instructing the Board of Trustees shall be taken by ballot. The Board of Trustees shall, in all cases, be bound by the instructions of the district meeting in regard to the subjects mentioned in this subdivision of this section; provided, that the vote in favor of changing the location of the school-house shall be two thirds of all electors voting at said meeting upon the proposition to change the location."

SECTION 1622. "Boards of School Trustees and City Boards of Education may use the school moneys received from State and county apportionments during the school year for any of the purposes authorized by this chapter; but a sum equal to the amount received from State apportionments, and at least sixty (60) per cent of county apportionments, exclusive of the Library Fund, must be used exclusively for the payment of teachers of primary and grammar grade schools."

SECTION 1623. "Boards of School Trustees and City Boards of Education are liable as such, in the name of the district, for any judgment against the district for salary due any teacher on contract, and for all debts contracted under the provisions of this chapter, and they must pay such judgment or liabilities out of the school moneys to the credit of such district; provided, that the contracts mentioned in this section are not in excess of the school moneys accruing to the district for the school year for which the contracts are made, otherwise the district shall not be held liable."

SECTION 1650. Third—"To place the monthly journal designated as the official organ of the Department of Public Instruction in the school district library each month; and if he fails to receive it regularly, to immediately notify the publishers and the County Superintendent of Schools of such fact."

SECTION 1674 (a new section). "In schools of more than one teacher, the Board of School Trustees, or City Board of Education, must designate one of the teachers as the Principal of the school, who shall have general supervision of the entire school."

SECTION 1713. "The Library Fund shall consist of not less than three nor more than ten per cent of the County School Fund annually apportioned to districts; provided, that in incorporated cities and towns the Library Fund shall consist of a sum not to exceed seventy-five dollars for every one thousand census children, or fraction thereof of five hundred or more, annually taken from the City or County School Fund apportioned to the city or town."

SECTION 1768. "Except in any city and county, there shall be a County Board of Education, which shall consist of the County Superintendent of Schools and of four other members, appointed by the Board of Supervisors of the county from a list of names submitted by the County Superintendent of Schools; provided, that the said list submitted shall contain at least two names for each member so appointed."

Subdivision Second stricken out.

Subdivision Third changed to Second, and to read as follows: Second—"At the last regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors preceding the first day of July in each year, two members of the Board of Education shall be appointed to serve for a period of two years."

Subdivision Fourth changed to Third, and to read as follows: Third—"If the Board of Supervisors of any county refuse or neglect to appoint members of the County Board of Education, as provided in subdivisions one (1) and two (2) of this section, it shall be the duty of the County Superintendent of Schools to appoint them. Should a vacancy occur at any time in the County Board of Education, it shall be the duty of the Board of Supervisors to appoint a person to fill such vacancy. Vacancies occurring in the County Board of Education shall be filled by the Board of Supervisors in the manner above provided; provided, that all appointments to fill vacancies be made for the unexpired time only."

Subdivision Fifth changed to Fourth.

Subdivision Sixth changed to Fifth.

Subdivision Seventh changed to Sixth.

SECTION 1770. First—"Each County Board of Education shall meet annually, at such time as they may determine. Special meetings may be called by the County Superintendent of Schools whenever in his judgment the exigencies of the schools may require them to be held. Upon the request of any three members, in writing, the County Superintendent of Schools shall call a special meeting. Notice of all annual meetings shall be given by the Secretary at least ten days prior to the time of said meeting; and no business shall be transacted at a special meeting, except as provided in subdivision second of this section, other than such as may be specified in the call of the Secretary."

Second—"Examinations of applicants for teachers' certificates shall be held only at the annual meeting of the Board. Certificates upon credentials may be granted, and certificates may be renewed, at any meeting of the Board."

SECTION 1773. "All examinations shall be in writing, in answer to questions formulated by the Board of Education. The said Board may also examine all applicants, orally, touching the questions asked and such other matters in connection therewith as shall have a tendency to demonstrate the fitness of the applicant to assume the duties of teacher. All examinations shall be public."

SECTION 1874. Second—"No change of text-books must be made at any other time than in the months of April, May, or June of the year in which the change is made, and no changes shall be made to take effect till the beginning of the school term commencing after the thirtieth day of June of that year; and no books other than those published by the State shall be adopted by the Board of Education of any county, city, city and county, or be used as text-books in any of the public schools of this State in the subjects of reading, orthography, English grammar, arithmetic, geography, United States history, physiology, and civil government."

The Convention also recommended that a change be made in Section 7 of Article IX of the Constitution, as follows: Insert, after the word "certificates" in the last line of the said Section 7, these words, "except certificates of the High School grade."

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF SEVEN ON THE CERTIFICATING OF TEACHERS.

The following report of the Committee of Seven was adopted by the Biennial Convention of City and County Superintendents, in session in the City of Oakland, August 6, 1896:

Your committee to which was assigned the consideration of the certificating of teachers and the formulating of substitutes for the present law, have given the subject careful attention, and as a result of their deliberations the following recommendations are made:

First—That all statutes, and portions of statutes, inconsistent with the provisions of the following suggestions, and particularly Sections 1771, 1772, and 1775, be repealed or modified to agree with these provisions.

Second—There shall be three grades of County Certificates, viz.:

- (a) High School Certificates of two classes: limited and permanent.
- (b) Elementary School Certificates of two classes: limited and permanent.
- (c) Kindergarten Certificates of two classes: limited and permanent.

Third—The limited certificate of either of the foregoing classes shall be granted to the applicant who successfully passes the required examination. Such limited certificate shall be valid for four years. After two years' successful experience, evidence of which has been filed with the County Board of Education and accepted by them, the limited certificate may be exchanged for a permanent certificate. Also, to grant special certificates, valid for six years, which shall entitle the holder to teach such special branches as may be required by City or County Boards of Education; but no special High School Certificate shall be granted to teach any of the subjects hereinafter named as requisite for a full High School Certificate.

Fourth—Except as provided in Section 1775, Elementary School Certificates shall be granted only to those who have passed a satisfactory examination in the following studies:

Arithmetic,	Grammar,
Geography (including Physical),	History of the United States,
Composition,	Defining and Word Analysis,
Orthography,	Reading,
Penmanship,	School Law,
Methods of Teaching,	Physiology,
Drawing,	Elementary Physics,
Civil Government,	Vocal Music,
Bookkeeping,	Botany and Zoölogy,
Plane Geometry,	Algebra,
English and American Literature,	Psychology.

Fifth—The High School Certificate shall be granted only to those who have passed a satisfactory examination in the subjects required for the Elementary Certificate (or hold such Elementary Certificate) and in English Literature, General History, History of Education, and Civics, as well as on all of the subjects in one of the following groups:

A	{	Higher Algebra,	B	{	Physics,
		Solid Geometry,			Chemistry,
		Trigonometry,			Biology,
		Physics.			Geology.
C	{	Latin required for entrance to full classical course of State University of California.
		Greek to meet same requirements. (English, French, or German may be substituted for Greek.)

Sixth—The Kindergarten Certificate shall be granted only to those who have passed a satisfactory examination in the subjects required for the Elementary Certificate, or who hold the Elementary Certificate, and who furnish evidence of satisfactory professional Kindergarten training in an approved institution.

Seventh—The Primary and Grammar Schools of the State shall be classed as Elementary Schools.

Eighth—The Board may also, without examination, grant County School Certificates as follows:

(a) Limited Elementary Certificates to the holders of the following credentials: (1) Life diplomas or certificates of States when representing experience equal to that required for the life diploma in California; (2) Normal School diplomas of other States, provided that the State Board of Education of this State shall have recommended the Normal School issuing said diploma as being of equal rank with the State Normal Schools of California; (3) San Francisco Normal School diplomas when recommended by the Superintendent of Public Schools and Principal of said school of said city; (4) California State Educational diplomas; (5) California State University diplomas when the holders have completed the full course in pedagogy and been recommended by the faculty of the University; (6) Elementary School Certificates of any county, city, or city and county of California.

(b) Limited High School Certificates: (1) To the holders of California University diplomas who have completed the full pedagogical course in said University when recommended by the faculty thereof; (2) To the graduates of any other institution of learning of the United States which the State Board of Education shall have recommended as being of equal rank with the State University of California, when the diploma of graduation from such institution shall be accompanied by a recommendation of the faculty thereof, showing that the holder has had professional training equivalent to that required by the State University of California, or who, since graduation, has had four years' successful experience—sixteen months of which must have been in a High School, in a Normal School, or as a Superintendent of City or County Schools, or who holds, in addition to the University diploma, a diploma of graduation from a State Normal School; also, to the holders of High School Certificates of any county, city, or city and county of California.

(c) Limited Kindergarten Certificates to the holders of credentials deemed by the Board to be the full equivalent, in point of scholarship, professional training, and experience, of the requirements laid down in paragraph six (6) above.

Ninth—Limited Certificates obtained upon credentials may be exchanged for Permanent Certificates on the same terms as prescribed for holders of certificates obtained on examination, as indicated in third recommendation above.

Tenth—County Boards of Education may renew certificates issued by them prior to the adoption of this law and now in force, and may grant permanent ones to the holders of certificates who shall pass satisfactory examinations in such branches as do not appear on their certificates, or in the record of the examination upon which the original certificate was granted.

All certificates and diplomas now valid in California shall continue in force and effect for the full term for which they were granted.

Members of the committee:

SAMUEL T. BLACK,
Superintendent Public Instruction, Chairman.
JOB WOOD, JR.,
County Superintendent, Monterey County.
JAS. A. FOSHAY,
City Superintendent, Los Angeles.
F. P. RUSSELL,

RULES FOR GRANTING DIPLOMAS AND NORMAL DOCUMENTS.

State Superintendent Black submitted the following resolutions, which were adopted:

WHEREAS, At almost every meeting of this Board there are several applications for diplomas and Normal documents that do not comply with the requirements of the Political Code relative to the granting of the same, or with the rules adopted by the Board; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the following information be sent to the various City and County Superintendents and Boards of Education throughout the State, for their guidance in recommending teachers for State credentials;

Resolved, That the Secretary is hereby directed to return all applications that do not fully comply with the requirements of law and the rules of the State Board of Education.

(1) Section 1521 of the Political Code requires that applicants for educational diplomas must have taught successfully a part of each year for five years, and that applicants for life diplomas must have taught successfully for a part of each year for ten years. The years need not be consecutive, but the aggregate experience must be at least thirty-five and seventy months, respectively. That is, applicants must comply with both of these time conditions. The minimum number of years must be five and ten, respectively, and the minimum number of months must be thirty-five and seventy, respectively.

(2) The certificate accompanying the application must be a valid one—granted under the provisions of Sections 1771, 1772, 1773, 1774, and 1775—in full force and effect, and the applicant must have held the same for at least one year.

(3) If the certificate has been renewed, it ought to show the date of renewal (not the date at which such renewal will expire—the law fixes that). A renewal, being the act of the Board of Education, and not of the County Superintendent, ought to be attested by the seal of the Board, just as the original is attested.

(4) The rules of the State Board of Education require that all applicants for High School diplomas must show a successful experience of eight months in the California State University, a California State Normal School, or a High School established under the laws of this State, when applying for a High School educational diploma, and a similar experience of twenty-four months when applying for a High School life diploma. In all cases, according to Section 1521 of the Political Code, there must have been a successful experience of at least twenty-one months in the public schools of California.

(5) The two years' successful experience mentioned in subdivision third of Section 1503 of the Political Code, is construed by this Board to mean twenty months.

[Minutes August 16, 1895].

The committee appointed to draft rules to govern the action of the Board in the granting of Life and Educational Diplomas of the High School grade, submitted the following report, which was accepted:

To the Honorable the State Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN: Your committee to whom was referred the matter of preparing a set of rules for the action of this Board in the granting of diplomas (Life and Educational) of the High School grade, beg leave to submit the following:

Applicants for Educational Diplomas of the High School grade must have had at least eight months' successful experience in teaching in the University of California, a California State Normal School, or a High School established under the laws of California.

Applicants for Life Diplomas of the High School grade must have had at least twenty-four (24) months' successful experience as teacher in the University of California, a California State Normal School, or a High School established under the laws of California.

Respectfully submitted.

C. W. CHILDS,
Committee.

[Minutes April 10, 1895].

COMMITTEE TO EXAMINE MANUALS OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Professor Pierce offered the following resolution:

In consideration of the fact that the State Normal Schools of California have a course of study covering four years of work,

Resolved, That the President of the Board be authorized to appoint a committee of three to examine the Manuals of the different State Normal Schools of the United States, and determine which of said schools, in their judgment, have courses of study equivalent to that pursued in the State Normal Schools of California; and further, that this Board recommend to the County Boards of Education to grant Grammar Grade certificates to the graduates of such Normal Schools of other States only as hold diplomas from State Normal Schools whose courses of study cover an amount of work equivalent to that pursued in the State Normal Schools of California.

The resolution was adopted, and Professors Pierce, Childs, and Pennell were named by the President as the committee to examine the Manuals.
[Minutes June 13, 1896].

REPORT ON NORMAL SCHOOL ELEMENTARY DIPLOMAS.

Superintendent Black submitted the following report relative to "Elementary Normal School Diplomas," and the same was adopted and filed:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 9, 1896.

To the Honorable the State Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN: In obedience to a resolution of your Honorable Body, I have investigated the matter of the standing of the holders of "elementary" diplomas from the California Normal Schools. I herewith submit the result:

Prior to March 15, 1887, the Board of Trustees of the State Normal School might, in their discretion, "issue an elementary diploma to those who worthily complete such part of the course of study and training as may be prescribed. To the person receiving this diploma, the State Board of Education shall grant a second-grade State certificate." (See Sec. 1503, P. C. of 1885.)

In 1887, Section 1503 was amended so as to limit the power of the Normal School Trustees to the issuance of diplomas only to those who "worthily complete the full course of study and training."

Section 1775, P. C. of 1885, and down to 1893, authorized County Boards of Education to grant certificates, and fix the grade thereof, to the holders of California State Normal School diplomas, not stating whether "elementary" or "complete."

In 1893, Section 1775 was amended so as to drop out the words "California State Normal School diplomas."

At the same time (1893), Section 1503 was amended so as to read: "1503. First—The Board of Trustees of each State Normal School, upon the recommendation of the Faculty, may issue to those pupils who worthily complete the full course of study and training prescribed, a diploma of graduation.

"Second—Said diploma shall entitle the holder thereof to a grammar grade certificate from any city, city and county, or county Board of Education in the State."

As a result of this investigation, I am forced to the following conclusions:

(1) County Boards of Education had authority to grant certificates, and fix the grade thereof, to the holders of California State Normal School diplomas, including the "elementary" diploma prior to the amendment of Sections 1775 and 1503 in 1893.

(2) Section 1775, as amended in 1893, nowhere permits County Boards of Education to grant certificates to the holders of diplomas of graduation from the California State Normal Schools. Had this been the only amendment regarding the issuance of certificates to the graduates of the California State Normal Schools, no holder of a diploma, either "elementary" or "complete," would be entitled to receive a certificate without examination. Section 1503, however, was amended at the same time, but the amendment makes no provision for the holders of "elementary" diplomas. The section as amended, in express terms recognizes only those who have completed the full course of study and training. In other words, County Boards of Education must look to Sections 1775 and 1503 for authority to issue, without examination, certificates to graduates of California State Normal Schools. Neither of these sections, as amended in 1893, gives any authority for the recognition of the old "elementary" diploma.

(3) If the certificates granted to holders of the "elementary" California State Normal School diplomas, under the provisions of Section 1775, prior to the amendments mentioned in (1), have been kept in full force and effect by legal renewals, they are still valid certificates. If the holders of such certificates have allowed them to expire, neither the expired certificates, nor the "elementary" diplomas on which they were granted, have any legal standing whatsoever.

Respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL T. BLACK,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

At a meeting of the State Board of Education, held January 8, 1896, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the judgment of this Board the continued payment of a subsidy from the school funds of the State to an official journal is inexpedient;

Resolved, That the President and Secretary of this Board be requested to present to the next Legislature of the State, in such a manner as they may deem advisable, the recommendation of this Board that such subsidy be permanently withdrawn.

At a meeting held June 13, 1896, the "Overland Monthly" was designated as the official organ of the Department of Public Instruction from and after July 1, 1896.

STATE TEXT-BOOK BUSINESS.

Report of the Editor-in-Chief, State Series Text-Books, to the State Board of Education, August 3, 1894:

SACRAMENTO, August 3, 1894.

HON. J. W. ANDERSON, Secretary State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to submit, through you, to the State Board of Education, the following report of progress in the preparation and publication of State text-books.

Since the last meeting of the Board, the First and Second Readers of the Revised Series have been reviewed by the editors and published by the State Printing Office. The Fourth Reader, which was in proof at that time for criticism and review, has been submitted to a large number of representative teachers in different parts of the State, and from nearly all careful reports and judicious criticisms have been received. The uniformly high opinion of its character expressed by those to whom it has been submitted is abundantly encouraging. Valuable suggestions have also been made, which will improve, in some particulars, the completed volume. The manuscript of the Third Reader, whose preparation was interrupted for a time by the unavoidable absence of one of the editors, has been completed and placed in the hands of the printer, and a large part of it is now in type. Considerable work has also been done on the Grammar.

I append figures showing the total expenditure of money by the Board and by the Printing Office in preparing the First and Second Readers for the actual printing of an edition, and the distribution of this expenditure over an estimated supply of the books for eight years; also, figures showing the cost of publishing an edition of 50,000 copies of each of the books. From these two sources the prices of the volumes are derived.

First Reader.

Cost of authorship, editorial work, and illustrations—expended by the State Board.....	$2,483 44
Cost of composition, electrotyping, engraving, and preliminary printing—expended by Printing Office.....	4,145 60
Total.....	$6,629 04
This sum divided by 325,000—the estimated supply for eight years—gives as the amount to be added to the price of the book for this outlay.....	$0 02
Cost of printing and binding an edition of 50,000 copies—expended by the State Printing Office.....	7,937 00
This sum divided by 50,000 gives as the amount to be added to the price of the book for this outlay.....	0 158
Total cost at Sacramento.....	0 178
Add cost of mailing.....	0 04
Cost at any post office.....	0 218

Second Reader.

Cost of authorship, editorial work, and illustrations—expended by the State Board.....	$2,519 15
Cost of composition, electrotyping, engraving, and preliminary printing—expended by State Printing Office.....	3,094 50
Total.....	$5,613 65
This sum divided by 210,000—the estimated supply for eight years—gives as the amount to be added to the price of the book for this outlay.....	$0 026
Cost of printing and binding an edition of 50,000 books—expended by the State Printing Office.....	11,833 35
This sum divided by 50,000 gives as the amount to be added to the price of the book for this outlay.....	0 236
Total cost at Sacramento.....	0 262
Add cost of mailing.....	0 06
Cost at any post office.....	0 322

The supply for eight years assumed in this distribution of that part of the cost of the books which is incurred preparatory to the actual printing of an edition, is based on the number of First and Second Readers of the Old Series sold during the past seven years.

It may not be improper to call your attention to the fact that the expenditure by the Board which is so distributed is less than five per cent of the cost of each volume, being an addition to the price of the First Reader of $7\frac{1}{2}$ mills, and to that of the Second Reader of 1 cent and 2 mills, the entire expense of authorship, editorial work, and illustrations being thus less than one half of the sum usually paid by private publishers for authorship alone.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State Text-Books.

Prof. C. H. Keyes, in compliance with the request of the Board, made at the meeting of April 11, 1894, presented a plan for the prosecution of the work in the preparation of a Primary History of the United States, and in the revision of the present History of the United States. This plan, after careful consideration, was adopted, and a copy thereof was ordered on file in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

On motion, it was ordered that the maximum number of pages in the Primary History, including the index, should not exceed two hundred and fifty.

On motion, it was ordered that the number of pages in the Advanced History, including table of contents and index, should not exceed the maximum of four hundred and twenty-five.

The plan proposed by Prof. C. H. Keyes having been adopted by the Board, on motion the said Keyes was employed to prosecute the work indicated therein.

On motion, the Editor-in-Chief was requested to prepare and present to the Board, at its next meeting, a plan for the revision of the State Arithmetic.

[Minutes August 3, 1894.]

Report of the Editor-in-Chief of State Series of Text-Books, made December 24, 1894:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 24, 1894.

To the Honorable State Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN: Since your last meeting the Fourth Reader has been revised by a regraduation, by omissions and substitutions, and by the introduction of a variety of exercises. The drawings for its illustration have been made and nearly all engraved; the revised copy is all in the hands of the printer, and more than half of it is in plates. The literature directed by you to be recommended for the completion of the reading course has been selected, and a list of the volumes has been mailed to you. The American Classics, so largely represented in the Fourth Reader, are drawn, chiefly, from the copyrighted publications of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and can, of course, be used only with the consent of the owners. In response to my request for that consent, I have received from Houghton, Mifflin & Co. the letter hereto attached, which is submitted for the action of the Board.

Considerable work has been done in the revision of the Third Reader, the illustrations settled, a good proportion of the drawings made, and the rest in the hands of artists, and promised to be complete before the end of this month.

Owing to the paramount importance of having the Third and Fourth Readers ready for the opening of the schools in July next, and the fact that during the session of the Legislature it has not been practicable for the Printing Office to forward our work, I have found it necessary to expend most of my time since your last meeting upon these books.

The work on the Grammar, required to be submitted to you at this meeting, has been put in type and mailed to each member of the Board. As nearly as can be estimated, the manuscript will be in the hands of the printer by July 1st next.

The plan of an Arithmetic, required by you to be submitted at this meeting, has been prepared, and the report upon that subject will be submitted to you when the subject is taken up at the present meeting.

The balance on hand, subject to the order of the Board, is $13,964 46. The claim of $3,500, balance to be paid for the manuscript of the Histories, will mature before the session of the Legislature of 1897, leaving between $10,000 and $11,000 to complete the History and the other work directed by the Legislature to be done. In my judgment, permission should be given by the Legislature of 1895, for the use, from the State Text-Book Fund, of an additional sum of $10,000, which will, without doubt, suffice to complete the revision.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND.

The Editor-in-Chief also presented a plan for the revision of the Arithmetic, which was read, and referred, for consideration, to the Board at its next meeting, the Editor-in-Chief being instructed in the meantime to have copies thereof prepared and distributed to the several members of the Board.

The matter of royalty on the excerpts taken from the works published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., for the Readers, was referred to the Editor-in-Chief, with instructions to endeavor to secure a reduction of the amount asked by said firm.

On motion, it was resolved to ask the Legislature, at its approaching session, to appropriate from the State School-Book Fund the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of defraying the expense incident to the completion of the revision of the books required to be revised.

[Minutes December 24, 1894.]

W. H. V. Raymond, Editor-in-Chief of the State Text-Book Department, submitted the following report January 28, 1895:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 28, 1895.

HON. SAM'L T. BLACK, Secretary State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you, to the State Board of Education, the following report:

1. Since the last meeting of the Board, I have revised and had printed, as instructed by the Board, suggestions touching the plan on which the new Arithmetic of the State Series should be written, and have mailed a copy to each member of the Board and to Professor Irving Stringham, Dean of the Faculty of the College of Mathematics in the University of California.

2. Satisfactory progress has been made in electrotyping the pages of the Fourth Reader, and the drawings for the Third Reader are finished and in the hands of the engraver. Both of these books, in the absence of any unforeseen accident, will be ready for the schools by July 1st.

3. The associate editors are at work diligently in the preparation of the Grammar, which is progressing as rapidly as is compatible with careful work and the best results.

4. In my last report I called attention to the condition of the appropriation made to the use of the Board, and estimated that an additional sum of $10,000 would be needed for the completion of the work required by the Legislature. The Board having, at its last meeting, adopted a resolution recommending to the Legislature the appropriation of that sum from the State School Book Fund for the purpose named, I have drawn a bill for such appropriation, which is submitted herewith. The balance to the credit of the Board January 1, 1895, was $13,205 16. Deducting therefrom the sum of $3,500 to be paid to Professor Keyes for the manuscript of the Histories of the United States, as per agreement with the Board, the available balance for the completion of the Histories and the other volumes required is $9,705 16.

5. As instructed by the Board at its last meeting, I continued my correspondence with Houghton, Mifflin & Co., respecting the use, in the Fourth Reader, of their copyrighted matter, but not with the result desired—the house adhering to the terms formerly given. The correspondence is herewith submitted.

Very respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor.

Editor-in-Chief W. H. V. Raymond supplemented his report by stating the terms demanded by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., for use of literary matter copyrighted by them and desired for the new State Fourth Reader. They are as follows: 3.9 mills per copy, with a rebate of 1.9 mills in consideration of reference made to their publications. This payment of 2 mills per copy to be made semi-annually upon July 1st and January 1st, and to be accompanied by a sworn statement of the State Printer as to the number of copies printed during the six months covered by each statement.

The Editor-in-Chief submitted the draft of a bill making an appropriation of $10,000 from the Text-Book Fund to complete the revision and compilation of text-books directed to be revised and compiled by the Legislature of 1893.

At the meeting of January 30, 1895, the State Board discussed the proposition of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., regarding literary matter for the new State Fourth Reader. Upon motion, duly seconded, the proposition was accepted by the Board, and the Editor-in-Chief was so notified. [Minutes January 28, 29, 30, 1895.]

The Editor of the State Text-Books submitted the following report April 10, 1895:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 10, 1895.

HON. S. T. BLACK, Secretary of the State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you, to the State Board of Education, the following report of progress in the revision of State Text-Books, and a statement of the condition of your fund:

1. Readers. The new Fourth Reader is fully electrotyped, wanting only an order from the Board to print the first edition. The revised copy of the new Third Reader is nearly all with the printer, and the remainder will be placed in his hands by the end of the week. Both these books will, without any reasonable doubt, be ready for market by July 1st. In this connection I take pleasure in stating that Houghton, Mifflin & Co. permit the use of the extracts from their copyrighted publications employed in this Reader without further charge than that made for matter owned by them and used by the Editors in the Fourth Reader. Their letter on the subject is herewith submitted.

2. Grammar. The Grammar is arranged in three distinct departments to cover relatively the sixth, seventh, and eighth years of school—the first embracing the recognition and use of the Parts of Speech and the Analysis of Sentences; the second the classification and modification of the Parts of Speech; the third, Syntax—each part having voluminous accompanying exercises and appropriate rhetorical and literary correlations. The first section is now entirely completed, the second is substantially so, and the third well under way. In the judgment of the Editors, the manuscript of the Grammar will be ready to place in the hands of the printer for proof copies by June 15th.

3. Arithmetic. The pamphlet of suggestions as to scope and method of the new Arithmetic, and which was submitted to you at your last meeting, has been mailed to the following persons in addition to the members of the Board: Prof. Irving Stringham, Dean of the College of Mathematics in the University of California; G. C. Edwards, Professor of Mathematics in the same institution; R. S. Holway, State Normal School at San José; A. H. Randall, teacher of Mathematics in State Normal School at San José; T. L. Heaton, Principal of High School at Fresno; J. W. McClymonds, Superintendent of Public Schools of Oakland; Geo. A. Merrill, Principal of California School of Mechanical Arts, San Francisco; James A. Barr, Superintendent of Schools, Stockton; and James H. Pond, Principal of High School, Sacramento. Replies have been received from Professor Edwards, Mr. Holway, and Superintendent Barr. The suggestions of Professor Edwards and Superintendent Barr are especially valuable.

4. Histories. I have no knowledge respecting the work on the Histories which enables me to report upon them.

5. Finances. On the 1st of April the amount of money at the disposal of the Board, after subtracting from the amount remaining in the treasury, the sum of $3,500, to be paid to the author of the Histories, is $7,832 60.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State Text-Books.

Superintendent Black, a committee of one, appointed to correspond with Prof. C. H. Keyes relative to the time when the Board might expect the manuscript of the History of the United States, submitted the following report, which was accepted and ordered on file:

SACRAMENTO, June 10, 1895.

The Honorable the State Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN: Your Secretary, who, at your last meeting, was directed to communicate with Professor Keyes in the matter of the History series, begs leave to report that he has communicated with Professor Keyes, and submits herewith that gentleman's answer:

THROOP POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, PASADENA, CALIFORNIA, }
PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, May 27, 1895. }

HON. S. T. BLACK, Superintendent Public Instruction, Sacramento, Cal.:

MY DEAR SIR: In response to your inquiry of May 24th, I beg to say that I hope to put in your hands, on September 15th, the completed manuscript of larger History. Under terms of the agreement you may recall that I was to have two years' time in which to finish this work. The major portion of the work will be completed when the larger History is out—the remainder of the effort being the problem of form rather than content.

With the larger book completed at the date above named, I believe it will be possible to count on the other by the last of April or May, 1896.

Very cordially yours,

C. H. KEYES,
President.

Respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL T. BLACK,
Secretary.

[Minutes June 10, 1895.]

W. H. V. Raymond, Editor-in-Chief of State Text-Book Department, submitted the following report June 10, 1895:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 10, 1895.

HON. S. T. BLACK, Secretary State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you to the Board, the following report:

Since the last meeting of the Board, the Third and Fourth Readers have been completed by the Editors, and put into plates by the Printing Office. An edition of 50,000 copies of the Fourth Reader has been printed, but is not yet bound. Two forms of the Third Reader remain to go on the press. I am informed by the Superintendent of State Printing that the new Third and Fourth Readers will be ready in time to supply the schools opening in July.

The manuscript of the course in Grammar for the sixth school year, as designed by the authors, is completed, and awaits only the order of the Board to go to the printer. The course for the seventh and eight years, as designed by the authors, is so nearly finished that the work of composition in the Printing Office will not be interrupted by any delay in furnishing the manuscript.

In the matter of the Arithmetic, I have no report or recommendation to make other than that made at previous meetings.

The cost of the Third and Fourth Readers is as follows:

Third Reader.

Compilation, including authorship, editorial work, drawings, and miscellaneous expense	$2,687 35
Composition, engraving, electrotyping, and finishing of plates....	3,120 00
Printing and binding an edition of 50,000 copies.....	19,764 00

Fourth Reader.

Compilation, including authorship, editorial work, drawings, and miscellaneous expense	$3,051 05
Composition, engraving, electrotyping, and finishing of plates....	4,157 00
Printing and binding an edition of 50,000 copies.....	22,232 00

Judging by past sales of the Second and Third Readers of the old series, I have assumed 240,000 copies of the Third Reader as the probable number to be sold in eight years, and 200,000 copies as the probable number of the Fourth Reader to be sold in the same time. Distributing over these numbers the sums expended in the preparation of the plates, the cost of the books is as follows:

Third Reader.

Cost of compilation, including authorship, editorial work, illustrations, and miscellaneous expense	$2,687 35÷240,000=	$0 011
Cost of composition, engraving, electrotyping, and finishing plates	$3,120 00÷240,000=	013
Cost of printing and binding an edition of 50,000 copies, $19,764 00÷50,000=		395
Add for plant		021
Total		$0 44

Fourth Reader.

Cost of compilation, including authorship, editorial work, illustrations, and miscellaneous expense	$3,051 05÷200,000=	$0 015
Cost of composition, engraving, electrotyping, and finishing plates	$4,157 00÷200,000=	020

Cost of printing and binding an edition of 50,000 copies, $22,232 00—
50,000 = ...	$0 444
Add for plant	051
Total	$0 53

Cost of mailing Fourth Reader is 7 cents. Cost of mailing Third Reader will be either that or 6 cents, the volume being less than that of the Fourth Reader.

June 1st there was remaining of the money appropriated to the use of the Board for the purpose of revision, $10,206 96.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State School Books.

The State Printer reported the number of text-books on hand June 1, 1895, as follows:

Old First Reader	1,112
Old Second Reader	8,656
Old Third Reader	5,075
Spellers	16,634
Primary Number Lessons	12,336
Advanced Arithmetic	9,701

English Grammar	7,373
United States History	1,875
Elementary Geography	5,607*
Advanced Geography	10,774†
Physiology	34,008
Civil Government	28,495
Revised First Reader	9,937*
Revised Second Reader	27,667

Upon motion, duly seconded and carried, the prices of the State Text-Books for the year ending June 30, 1896, were fixed as follows:

Name of Book.	Price.	Postage.
First Reader, old series	15 cents.	5 cents.
Second Reader, old series	33 cents.	8 cents.
Revised First Reader	16 cents.	4 cents.
Revised Second Reader	28 cents.	6 cents.
Revised Third Reader	44 cents.	6 cents.
Revised Fourth Reader	53 cents.	7 cents.
Third Reader, old series	54 cents.	12 cents.
Speller	25 cents.	6 cents.
Primary Number Lessons	20 cents.	5 cents.
Advanced Arithmetic	42 cents.	8 cents.
Lessons in Language	25 cents.	5 cents.
English Grammar	42 cents.	8 cents.
United States History	70 cents.	12 cents.
Elementary Geography	50 cents.	10 cents.
Advanced Geography	$1 02	18 cents.
Physiology	50 cents.	8 cents.
Civil Government	46 cents.	8 cents.

Superintendent Black moved that the State Printer be instructed to print no more copies of the State Grammar until directed to do so by this Board. The motion was duly seconded and carried.

[Minutes June 10, 1895.]

Mr. W. H. V. Raymond, Editor-in-Chief of Text-Book Department, submitted the following report August 16, 1895:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., August 16, 1895.

HON. SAMUEL T. BLACK, Secretary State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you, to the State Board of Education, the following report:

The only book now in the hands of the Editors of the State Series for preparation is the Revised English Grammar. Nearly all the copy for this volume is in the hands of the Superintendent of State Printing, and the remainder will be delivered to the Printing Office in a few weeks, and as rapidly as it can be put in type.

Very respectfully,

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State Text-Books.

PRINCIPAL TEXT-BOOK BUSINESS TRANSACTED AT A MEETING OF THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION HELD JANUARY 6, 7, AND 8, 1896.

The Editor-in-Chief, W. H. V. Raymond, submitted the following report:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 6, 1896.

HON. SAMUEL T. BLACK, Secretary State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you, to the Honorable State Board of Education, the following report on the subject of State Text-Books:

It may help to a clear view of the present situation of text-book work, as the Legislature has related the State Board of Education to such work, to begin this report by quoting so much of the Act of the Legislature of 1893 on this subject as prescribes the duties of the Board respecting it. The direction of Section 1 of this Act, the last Act making any reference to the Board of Education, is as follows:

"Section 1. The State Board of Education is hereby authorized and directed to revise the following books of the State series of school text-books, viz.: The First, Second, and Third Readers, the English Grammar, the United States History, and the Advanced Arithmetic, and to compile a Primary History of the United States; and in such revision and compilation may employ well-qualified persons to assist them; provided, that in revising said Readers the Board may cause them to be issued in a series of five books or less, in their discretion; and the Board shall furnish to the Superintendent of State Printing designs for all cuts and engravings to be used in the books revised and compiled under the provisions of this section."

Section 2 of the Act referred to above closes with the following provision: "The indebtedness incurred by said Board in carrying out the provisions of section one of this Act shall not exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), which sum is hereby appropriated from the State School Book Fund for the use of the said Board in the premises."

The remaining provisions of the Act, so far as they relate to the Board, are the formal provisions directing how money shall be paid, and the copyrighting of the books.

Under these provisions the Board, at its meeting in June, 1893, decided that the work of preparing the new series should be done by persons employed at a salary and giving their full time under the direction of the Editor, instead of placing it, as in the case of most of the books of the old series, by contract, with persons already occupied in other employments. In pursuance of this decision, the Board directed the Superintendent of Public Instruction to employ, in addition to the Editor already selected by the Board, Mrs. Mary W. George and Miss Anna C. Murphy, at a salary not to exceed $150 per month each. These persons were accordingly so engaged, beginning work July 1, 1893. Since that time work has been ordered and done as follows:

The series of Readers has been revised and published—the new series consisting of four books instead of three.

The Grammar has been prepared, and 100 copies of a proof-pamphlet of it have been issued for inspection, criticism, and suggestion by teachers of common schools, high schools, and universities, who have been selected for their special qualification for this work. Returns have been received from a large number of those who have examined the book, and many suggestions have been made from the different points of view of various scholars and teachers, which, though often differing one from another, have, nevertheless, resulted in a body of criticism of the utmost value. It should also be added that the general approval of the work is not less marked than has been that of the Revised Readers, respecting which I have heard no word but praise. In only one instance has the judgment of a critic been adverse to the new Grammar in any of its essential features.

The criticisms and suggestions by Professor Lange, of the State University, employed by the Board to examine the work with reference to its philological accuracy and its agreement with the historical development of the language, are especially full, clear, and conscientiously painstaking, and their value abundantly justifies the action taken by the Board in employing such a critic, as well as the selection made by the committee.

The work remaining to be done by the Editors in perfecting this volume before placing the copy again in the hands of the printer, consists in reviewing the text of the proof-pamphlet with a view to incorporating the suggestions of critics so far as they seem likely to add to the efficiency and attractiveness of the book. This work, together with a final verification of facts and quotations, will probably occupy from one to two months.

For the purpose of bringing into view, in this report, the entire action of the Board under the provisions of the Act of 1893, quoted above, I add, what is already known to you, that a general plan upon which to construct the Arithmetic directed by the Legislature to be written, was prepared about a year ago by the Editor, in accordance with your order, and printed. This plan was also submitted for suggestion to a number of schoolmen, but further work has not been undertaken in the matter of the Arithmetic.

For the sake of completeness I add, also, what is shown by the records of the Board, that an arrangement was made with Mr. C. H. Keyes, in April, 1894, to write the Primary History directed by the Legislature to be prepared, and to re-write the Advanced History directed to be revised. By the terms of this arrangement Mr. Keyes was to receive $4,000 for his work, and the manuscript was to be completed in April, 1896. Under the agreement with Mr. Keyes $500 has been paid, leaving $3,500 to be paid upon receiving and accepting his text.

The unexpended balance of the appropriation of 1893 to the use of the Board when the December salary claims are paid, will be $7,272 69.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State Text-Books.

Secretary of State L. H. Brown, at the request of the President, appeared before the Board and submitted the following report on the State Series of Text-Books:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 6, 1896.

To HON. JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of the State of California :

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to your request, I have investigated the printing and compiling of text-books by the State, and submit the following report, together with exhibits and statements :

The Legislature of 1885 made an appropriation for the preparation and publication of State text-books, and directed the State Board of Education to compile, or cause to be compiled, three Readers, one Speller, one Arithmetic, one Grammar, one Geography, one United States History.

Subsequent Legislatures added to the list, and made new appropriations. The additional books ordered were: one Elementary Arithmetic, one Elementary Grammar, one Elementary Geography, one Physiology, and one Civil Government.

June 1, 1885, the Board received from proposing authors, through advertisements previously made, specimen chapters of Readers, Spellers, Grammars, Arithmetics, and Geography.

At that date, W. H. V. Raymond's engagement began, and four months were spent in arranging these manuscripts for the press and reading proof of the same, preparatory to their examination by the Board.

October 1, 1885, the State Board began the preparation of books. Following is a tabulated statement, showing date of completion of each book, and sums expended by the Board upon them, with other items. Three Readers, Speller, Arithmetic, and Grammar were begun at this date:

Total amount expended for compiling..... $55,983 06

The Grammar ordered to be revised has been written and is now in type ready for review and revision by authors and editor, and will be issued in two or three months.

The Histories ordered to be revised and prepared are in the hands of Mr. C. H. Keyes, of Pasadena, whose contract calls for delivery of manuscript in April, 1896. Contract price with author, $4,000, of which sum $500 was advanced on account.

The Arithmetic ordered to be revised has not yet been put under way.

To complete the Histories and Arithmetic will take until June, 1898.

It is the opinion of the editor that Geographies and Histories should periodically be brought up to date. The other text-books will answer for ten or twelve years.

METHOD OF FIXING THE PRICES OF THE STATE TEXT-BOOKS.

1. All the money expended by the State Board in the preparation and illustration of any book is distributed over the number of copies of the book that, by estimation, will be sold in eight years. So much of the money expended by the State Printing Office as is involved in composition, proof-reading, proof-furnishing, engraving, and electrotyping, together with an addition to pay for the original plant, is distributed in the same way.

2. The money expended by the State Printing Office in printing an edition is distributed over the number of books in that edition.

To illustrate this statement, take the figures made in fixing the price of the Revised Fourth Reader. Two hundred thousand copies was taken as the amount of the probable sales in eight years. This estimate was based on the actual sales of Readers in the old series.

1. Amount expended by Board (authorship, editorial work, illustrations, reference books, and small miscellaneous expense), $3,051 05.
This divided by 200,000 (estimated sales in eight years) gave.....	1 $\frac{5}{10}$ cts.
Amount reported by Superintendent of State Printing as expended in composition, proofs, engraving, electrotyping, and finishing plates, $4,157 00. This divided by 200,000 gave.....	2 cts.
Added to sink the cost of plant (\$10,200 00).....	5 $\frac{1}{10}$ cts.
Total cost per volume for eight years.....	8 $\frac{6}{10}$ cts.
2. Amount reported by Superintendent of State Printing as cost of manufacturing an edition of 50,000 copies, \$22,232. This divided by 50,000 gave.....	44 $\frac{4}{10}$ cts.
Total cost at Sacramento, as fixed by the Board.....	53 cts.

To complete the work of revision and publication of the Histories and Arithmetic outlined by the Board of Education will take until June, 1898. The appropriation for compiling will be exhausted by May, 1896, providing the author preparing manuscript for the proposed Revised U. S. History is paid the balance of $3,500, per contract. To revise the Grammar School History, and prepare the smaller History and Revised Arithmetic, will require a deficiency until the Legislature of 1897 convenes, commencing May, 1896, a period of about eight months.

Amount required: for manuscript, unknown; for revision and editing U. S. History, $550 a month, which equals $4,400. If the work is completed in less time, of course deficiency will be less. If no deficiency is allowed, and author completes history when due, in May, 1896, work of compilation must cease until the Legislature acts.

Exhibit "A." The State Board fixed eight years as the time in which the number of the estimated sale of books would take to pay for themselves and leave sufficient gain to pay for plant. The cost of the first and second editions of 50,000 was distributed through subsequent editions to the number estimated that would be sold at end of the eight years. The quantity sold is considerably less than the estimate.

Exhibit "B" indicates that the theory of the Board was that at the end of eight years for each book, the net gain will have been $69,835 90. Practically, the theory is not altogether substantiated.

Exhibit "C" shows cost of compiling and printing, segregated.

Exhibit "D." The object of the exhibit is to refute the report that the Text-Book Fund has been diverted, or part of it has been used for State printing. The increase of appropriations for State printing is in keeping with the increase of the volume of State printing, and there has been no diversion of the Text-Book Fund, in my judgment.

Exhibit "E" is a detailed statement of all the transactions of the text-books since work commenced. The loss upon all the books printed and sold, to July 1, 1895, is $17,069 22.

The Text-Book Account with the State and Balance Sheet show a balance due the State, over value of plant, stock, books, etc., of $96,299.

There will be no profit upon the 196,547 books on hand July 1, 1895, but a loss over cost when sold, upon the whole number, of $4,570 08; but when the number of books sold reaches the estimates made by the Board, without considering the eight years, the gains will have reimbursed the State, providing the surplus is not used in frequent revisions, etc.

The books, from a financial standpoint, are now in good position to make an excellent financial showing in the near future, providing the State printing plant will answer its purpose for a number of years in its present condition, and the demand for books increases (which it should with increased population), and revision is discontinued.

It will take ten years, or more, before the State will have been reimbursed for loss of plant, which will, in the nature of things, wear out; or if printing of text-books should be discontinued, the plant, when sold, would realize but little upon its original cost.

If the quality of the present books is satisfactory to the pupils of the State, then no complaint should be made for printing State text-books.

The present State Printer, A. J. Johnston, is doing his full duty, and no reflection whatever can be, or should be, cast upon him. If State printing is expensive and increasing in its expenditures, it is the system that is wrong, and not the Printer. The last Legislature, at his suggestion, legislated so that excessive and expensive printing by officials, boards, commissioners, etc., could be prevented or limited.

Respectfully submitted.

L. H. BROWN,
Secretary of State.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That upon the completion of the revision of the Grammar, the offices of Editor-in-Chief and Assistant Editors be declared vacant, and that when the manuscript of the Primary History is received, it be referred to the committee, which is hereby empowered to submit the same to some person learned in such branch, for a criticism before the same is accepted by this Board.

Superintendent Black called the attention of the Board to the manner of selling books, in which it is possible for a dealer to sell them at a price exceeding that fixed by the Board. It was suggested that an amendment to the law making such action a misdemeanor would correct the practice.

At a meeting of the State Board, held June 13, 1896, Professor Alexis F. Lange submitted the following report upon the new State Grammar:

BERKELEY, June 8, 1896.

HON. S. T. BLACK, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Sacramento, Calif.:

DEAR SIR: In accordance with your suggestion, I herewith enclose my statement for the work I have done in connection with the new State Grammar, since my first report.

As you are aware, the portions of the dummy found least satisfactory from the point of view of scholarly accuracy were those treating of the classification and declension of nouns and pronouns, of the classification and conjugation of verbs, and of the gerund.

Attention was called, besides, to a number of minor defects, inconsistencies of phraseology, and infelicities of statement occurring elsewhere, and to the lack of logically arranged synopses.

I ventured, moreover, to trespass on purely pedagogical ground and to point out what, to my mind, seemed to call for re-examination and improvement.

Now, in giving assistance to the Editors in their work of a final revision, the last mentioned class of questions was, of course, left out of account, except in so far as these came up incidentally or affected arrangements and formulation. Judging, however, from such parts as have come under my observation, the Editors, while adhering in general to the original plan—a commendable plan, in my opinion—have eagerly availed themselves of the suggestions made by myself and others. As instances, I may mention the greater emphasis given to thought as determining language and to exercises compelling pupils to think, and the omission of unsuitable selections.

Verbal changes, recasting of definitions, alterations in terminology, removal of inconsistencies, etc., were largely attended to by the Editors themselves. But many of the most important of these changes I have looked over very carefully, and find that they constitute a marked improvement. In fact, some of the corrections show even remarkable ingenuity in reconciling the demands of scholarly precision with those of adjustment to the capacity of the child. Hence, there is good reason to believe that the book can now stand a comparison with most first editions of similar books.

By the way, does our system of getting text-books afford opportunities for future corrections and for the incorporation of suggestions that are the outcome of practical experience with a book? If not, so much the worse for the system. Mistakes are bound to creep in, no matter who does the writing or compiling. It is only by successive revisions that a book can be given something like excellence in details.

My suggestion that each main division of the Grammar should be followed by a synopsis of what has preceded, has been carried out in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. The same is true of the grouping of review questions by topics. It has certainly been made very much easier for the teacher to give children a coherent knowledge of the facts of our language.

The theoretical portions referred to at the beginning are now in a fairly satisfactory shape, also. Each proof-sheet was critically examined by me as soon as it came into my hands, and then discussed by letter or in conferences, of which several were held. In some cases, the same lessons were submitted to my criticism and discussed a number of times. The verb, especially, gave no end of trouble—and not only to the Editors. That is the difference between pulling down and building up. But while there are still some features of the treatment involving special knowledge that a philologist might easily find fault with, I am satisfied that about as much accuracy has been secured as is practicable without sacrificing the practical ends of the book.

To sum up, I can conscientiously say that the new State Grammar will prove a useful school book; that it is better than most Grammars with the same end in view; and that Mr. Raymond and his associates have done everything in their power to remedy defects.

Very respectfully yours,

ALEXIS F. LANGE.

A bill of Professor Lange, for services rendered on new State Grammar, $100, was allowed by the Board.

Mr. W. H. V. Raymond submitted the following report, which was ordered filed:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 13, 1896.

HON. SAMUEL T. BLACK, Secretary of the State Board of Education:

DEAR SIR: I beg to submit through you, to the State Board of Education, the following brief report:

The work of revising the proof-pages of the new Grammar, as they stood at the last meeting of your Honorable Body, has been completed, and there remains of editorial work only the review of proof-pages of the index, with a few final pages not yet settled into form, and the reading of proofs from the plates, as they are put upon the press, of so much of the book as has not already been put to press, or 168 pages. This item, however, is a light matter, involving not more than five or six hours work, and does not justify the retention of an editor. Under the resolution of your body vacating the editorial office upon the completion of the Grammar, the final duties of the Editor will therefore be performed within the next three or four days.

The work of the Printing Office upon the Grammar not yet being fully completed, I am unable to get the items of cost by which to ascertain accurately the selling price of the book. The communication of the State Printer, now on file with you, will inform you of the date at which these items can be furnished.

The unexpended balance of the appropriation to the credit of the Board is $4,447 64. The obligations outstanding, matured and unmatured, are as follows:

C. H. Keyes, account of History	$3,500 00
A. F. Lange, account of Grammar	100 00
Editorial service and expense for the month of June, say	160 00
Janitor's service	5 00
Total	$3,765 00

Leaving a balance to the credit of the Board of $682 64.

Respectfully submitted.

W. H. V. RAYMOND,
Editor State Text-Books.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE CALIFORNIA
TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION,

HELD IN OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, JANUARY 2, 3, 4, 1896.

From the Committee on the Course of Study for Elementary Schools:

Attempting to sum up the chief services which the Primary School should render to its pupils, we may present the case somewhat as follows:

1. In the first place and chiefly, the children should be taught and trained in the exercise of certain moral virtues. They should learn to be obedient, orderly, self-respecting, cleanly, and industrious. What is perhaps of still more importance, they should be led as far as may be to take a lively interest in some of the better things of life. To give them a love for school, and still more, a love for knowledge, and to quicken their individual aspirations after better things, should be among the chief endeavors of the teachers in the earlier grades.

2. They should be given command of the tools on which future progress depends. In other words, they should be taught to read, to write, and to reckon. These tools are not only necessary if they would make any progress by themselves after leaving school, or indeed if they would discharge the mere routine duties of citizenship; but are also necessary to any effective prosecution of higher studies in the school.

3. They should be introduced to the fields of useful and interesting knowledge, and be given such a start in the pursuit of knowledge that they may be expected to make some progress therein after leaving school.

We may accordingly regard the course of study of the Primary School as made up, on the one hand, of definite material of instruction in language and number; and on the other hand, of a wide range of possible material of instruction in nature study and literature. We may say that attainments in language and number—or at least in language—are necessary to the prosecution of higher work; and the pupil's progress here can be definitely ascertained. Nature study and literature probably affect the character of the child more vitally, but progress in these studies is too subtle to be accurately measured; we can only guess at the pupil's real gains through signs of awakened intelligence, interest, and love for the things he has studied. The studies then that are necessary for promotion from grade to grade in these earliest years are language and (possibly) number; while nature study and literature are among the teacher's choicest means of achieving the finer and more impalpable results of school work. It seems fair that Primary School teachers should meet a substantial requirement of instruction in language; and that they should have secured to them some reasonable portion of the school day in which to give that other instruction which prepares for no sort of mechanical test, and which is chiefly valuable for the spirit which it evokes.

So far as the lowest grades are concerned, there can be no doubt that the various lines of work in language must take precedence over the elementary work in mathematics.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Your committee would respectfully present the following recommendations:

A. That a sufficient number of copies of this report be printed to supply all of the teachers of this State, and to provide for such distribution to representatives of the press and others as may seem needful to the committee in the further prosecution of its work.

B. That the State Teachers' Association be asked to appropriate the sum of $150, to be expended by the Council in the publication and free distribution of this report, in the printing of such circulars as may be required for the furtherance of this discussion and investigation, and in the payment of necessary postage.

C. That all County and City Superintendents of Schools in this State be requested to transmit copies of this report to all teachers in the public schools of their respective counties and cities, and to set apart each one day of the County or City Teachers' Institute of the year 1896 for the discussion of the questions proposed by your committee.

D. That all teachers be requested to give serious thought and study to the problems presented in these questions, and to participate in the discussion of the same in the Teachers' Institutes; and that the Institutes be invited to sum up and transmit to this committee the results of their discussions, whether embodied in the form of definite resolutions or in any other convenient form.

E. That the public press of this State be invited to participate in the discussion of these questions.

F. That this committee be authorized to appoint such advisory committees and sub-committees as it may deem desirable for the better prosecution of its investigation; and that for this purpose it be not limited to the membership of either the Council or the Association.

G. That one half-day session of the next meeting of the State Teachers' Association be devoted to the presentation of reports of the further progress of this investigation, and the discussion of the same.

H. Your committee would recommend that the discussions of the coming year be directed to the following questions:

3. What proportion of the time in each grade should be devoted to each of the four groups of studies: (1) Language (including reading, writing, language lessons, and grammar); (2) Mathematics (including number work, arithmetic, geometry, algebra, etc.); (3) History (including literature and history proper); and (4) Natural Science (including observation lessons, nature study, and geography)?

6. How far and in what ways should the work of the several grades be determined by the prevailing tastes and aptitudes of children commonly found in those grades?

7. How far and in what ways should the work of the several grades be determined by the need of preparation for life in human society?

8. Are there other general principles which should have influence in the determination of the course of study?

9. How far and in what ways should provision be made for the recognition of individual differences among pupils?

10a. What studies from the mathematical group should be pursued in each of the grades?

10b. In what grade should long division be taught?

10c. In what grade should the study of common fractions begin? In what grade should provision be made for teaching the addition of common fractions by finding the least common multiple of their denominators?

10d. In what grade should the study of decimal fractions begin?

10e. In what grade should the analysis of problems begin?

10f. In what grade should the learning of tables of denominate numbers begin? What tables should the pupils be required to learn?

10g. What topics in percentage should be taught in the schools?

10h. Is it desirable that the work of each grade should deal with one topic or small group of topics in arithmetic; or should work in all of the main topics be continued through several grades?

10i. What place should be given to mental arithmetic?

10j. What topics in algebra should be covered in the course for the Grammar School?

10k. What should be the general scope and character of instruction in geometry in the elementary school?

10l. What instruction in bookkeeping should be undertaken in the elementary school?

We would call attention also to certain other questions of great importance, which are not proposed for regular discussion this year, but which it is our intention to bring up for extended consideration at some future time:

What kind and what amount of manual training is desirable and practicable in the elementary schools? Should a difference be made between the schools of cities, those of small towns, and those of country districts in this particular?

[We would call especial attention to the valuable reports on this subject to be printed and distributed this year by the State Teachers' Association.]

What principles should guide in the choice of literary material for use in the several grades?

What principles should guide in the choice of topics in nature study in the several grades?

What degree of excellence in language work may reasonably be expected of pupils in the several grades? What allowance must be made for the lack of home training in language and for differences in nationality? In what way should the study of formal grammar be introduced?

What correlation or "concentration" of studies is possible and desirable in the several grades?

So many teachers have asked for guidance in reading upon the general subject of the course of study that we repeat the list of books suggested in our first circular, and make some additions to the same:

The two works that are especially recommended are The Report of the Committee of Ten on Secondary School Studies, and The Report of the Committee of Fifteen. (These are published by the American Book Company and by other publishers of educational works.)

The following additional works were mentioned in our first circular: White, Emerson E.: The Elements of Pedagogy. (Chicago, American Book Company.)

McMurry, Charles A.: The Elements of General Method. By the same author, Special Method of History; Special Method in Reading; Special Method in Geography. (Bloomington, Ill., Public School Publishing Company.)

Hill, Thomas: The True Order of Studies. (New York, G. P. Putnam's Sons.)

Parker, Francis W.: Talks on Pedagogics. (Chicago, E. L. Kellogg & Co.)

We may add the following titles of works which will be found helpful either upon the subject as a whole or upon particular points:

Bain, Alexander: Education as a Science. (New York, D. Appleton & Co.)

Compayré, Gabriel: Lectures on Pedagogy. (Chicago, D. C. Heath & Co.)

Lange, Karl: Apperception, a Monograph on Psychology and Pedagogy. (Chicago, D. C. Heath & Co.)

McLellan, James A., and Dewey, John: The Psychology of Number. (New York, D. Appleton & Co.) [An interesting "symposium" on this book appeared in the Journal of Education (Boston) for December 5, 1895.]

McMurry, Charles A.: A Course of Study for the Eight Grades of the Common School. (Bloomington, Ill., Public School Publishing Company.)

Prince, John T.: Courses and Methods. (Boston, Lee & Shepard.)

Prince, John T.: Methods of Instruction and Organization of the Schools of Germany. (Boston, Lee & Shepard.)

We would call attention also to papers and discussions relating to the question of Mathematics in the schools, contained in the published Proceedings of the California Teachers' Association for former years, and particularly to the report of the Committee on Mathematics presented at the meeting held in Santa Cruz (1894).

Valuable papers relating to the problem of the curriculum may be found also in the First Year-Book of the Herbart Society (to be had of Charles A. McMurry, Secretary, Normal, Illinois).

Those who have access to the Annual Report of the Board of Education of Massachusetts, for 1893-94, will be interested in the new course of studies for elementary schools, given in pages 305-429 of that document.

In conclusion, we would express our high appreciation of the coöperation we have received in the labor of the past year. So many have rendered valuable assistance that it would be difficult to make individual mention of those to whom we are most indebted.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Adopted by the Council of Education.

Committee.

S. T. BLACK, President.

J. W. McClymonds, Secretary.

The following resolutions were adopted by the California Teachers' Association, January 4, 1895:

Resolved, That we recognize, with great satisfaction, the very general participation on the part of our teachers in the investigation of the problem of our elementary curriculum, as inaugurated by the State Council of Education. We believe that the effective prosecution of this inquiry, during the coming year, in every county and city of the State, is greatly to be desired.

Resolved, That the Council be and hereby is authorized to print and distribute, gratuitously, to the teachers of the State, the reports of its committees on the course of study, on High School certificates, and on manual training, and that the Council be authorized to draw upon the treasury for $200, or such portion of that amount as may be required, for necessary printing and postage.

EARL BARNES, President.

ANNA C. MURPHY, Secretary.

Professor Sanford, of the Committee on High School Certificates, submitted the following report:

The committee on the certificating of High School teachers has been instructed by the Council of Education to make the following report:

Your committee, while recognizing that the present system of examination of High School teachers by County Boards of Education has led to an unusually high standard of scholarship on the part of the High School teachers of California, still believes that a more nearly uniform system of issuing certificates throughout the State would greatly increase the efficiency of many of our High Schools. To secure such uniformity, it seems necessary that the qualification of applicants should be determined by some examining board appointed for the whole State.

That the present State Board of Education, made up, as it is, principally of men engaged in University and Normal School work, is not an ideal board for deciding upon the fitness of High School teachers, goes without saying. The men who, above all others, best understand the needs of the High Schools are the High School Principals of the State, and no board in which the High School Principals do not have the controlling vote should decide upon the fitness of High School teachers.

Again, an examining board for High School teachers should be as far removed as possible from any possibility of political manipulation, and should be made up of men and women willing to serve the State without pecuniary remuneration.

To accomplish these purposes, it has seemed desirable to the members of the Council that such board should consist of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Professor of Education in the State University, and three High School Principals, to be selected by these each year, and that said board should receive no recompense from the State beyond the necessary expenses of travel and of conducting such examinations as may seem desirable.

It is further recommended by the Council that in the future only those teachers who have had a liberal training equivalent to that given by the best colleges and universities of the country shall be eligible to the position of High School teachers in California. It is not insisted, however, that the whole of such preparation shall have been acquired in college, providing the applicant shall be able to show by examination that he has reached the proficiency in any general line of study required for the baccalaureate degree in our best colleges.

It is known to the committee that an unusually large proportion of the High School teachers of California are already graduates of reputable colleges, and that, with the increased facilities for professional training offered in the educational departments of the universities of this and other States, the supply of university-trained teachers will exceed the demand which the above mentioned requirement would produce.

In addition to the diploma from an approved college, which the High School Board may, or may not, be willing to accept as an evidence of suitable scholarship in the ordinary branches of the High School curriculum, it is believed by the committee that examinations should be conducted with the purpose of determining the fitness of the applicant for teaching some special department of High School work. It is believed that the best High School instructions can be given only by teachers who, in addition to a general training, are especially qualified in some particular department of knowledge. It would accordingly seem desirable that such examinations as are given should be based principally upon the specialty which the applicant expects to teach, and that the certificate should indicate the subjects in which the teacher is approved by the examining board.

It is recommended by the Council that two classes of High School certificates be granted, the one good for four years, and the other for life; that the life diploma be granted only after three years of successful experience in High School teaching, and that the board have power to revoke either certificate for incompetence or unprofessional conduct.

It is believed by the Council that the above mentioned requirements should be uniform throughout the State, but that Principals or School Boards should have the privilege of making any additional requirements which the needs of their particular schools may seem to demand.

The question as to whether a High School teacher shall be required to have pursued a course of so-called professional study in the educational department of some College or Normal School was not passed upon by the Council. In the opinion of the committee, such a course is highly desirable, and should, if not absolutely required, be strongly recommended.

FERNANDO SANFORD,
FRANK MORTON,
ELMER E. BROWN,
Committee.

In the course of the annual address delivered by Professor Earl Barnes, President of the Association, he said:

But the problems that confront us are great, and will require not only devotion, but wisdom for the solution. First among these is the problem of supplies—money. Many parts of our State are heavily burdened with taxes, the expenses of education are very heavy, and they often seem a legitimate object of attack. Retrenchment is the cry of the hour, and yet I am sure I am right when I say that we have only begun to spend money as we shall spend it in education. The strength and wealth of a country must be sought in its people. The value of people lies in their intelligence. That country where wise people live, is rich, though the people wear home-spun and dine on homely fare. We are demanding that the untrained girl from the grammar grades shall give way to the well-trained woman from the Normal School. We are demanding that the teacher, instead of compelling the boy to memorize words and tables, shall train him into manhood with as much skill as we ask from the trainer of a trotting colt. This demand can be met only by reducing the number in classes, and by securing training and brains in teachers. This means money. The fact pointed out by a recent grand jury that in one city, teachers have increased while enrollment has stood still, may mean simply that the city is keeping pace with the advanced intelligence of the day. It costs more to run our California schools than to run those of any other State. Thank heaven for the fact. In consequence, we have the best common schools in the Union.

The next problem of importance is the training of teachers. Our whole system of certificating teachers must inevitably be changed. It is nothing less than wicked to put an untrained and inexperienced boy or girl in charge of a room full of growing bodies, minds, and souls,—when a well-trained teacher is available. Our Normal Schools must as rapidly as possible abandon their academic work, and become truly professional schools such as those of medicine or law, and thus the State must provide us with well-trained teachers.

The increasing number of women as teachers in teaching positions, and in High Schools and Universities as students, to say nothing of their almost complete preponderance in the Normal Schools, raises a delicate but most pressing problem. The same causes, social and industrial, which have brought it about that boys and girls in urban populations receive nine tenths of their education from women, are still operating and with increasing power. I see no reason why, in the next few years, this proportion may not rise in our cities to ninety-nine one hundredths. We live by our admirations. Our admirations are largely formed in schools. We ought not to have a generation of men who have never learned to admire the masculine qualities in the Anglo-Saxon race. This is certainly the greatest school-problem of to-day, next to money. Can we ask women, under the existing social organization, to give their youth to a laborious and expensive preparation, and then to devote the years of their young and mature womanhood to schoolwork? Shall we rearrange our ideas so as to let a teacher live her social life as wife and mother, or shall we depend on a floating current of girls, who will devote a year or two of inexperience and unrest to work requiring the most profound wisdom and strength of mature years and large experience of life?

Some of these problems will be discussed here in this meeting. The curriculum, the certificating of teachers, the problems of a teacher's preparation, manual training, and school hygiene. These will all receive attention from the gentlemen who have consented to speak to us.

Under the subject, "The New Psychology and its Pedagogical Significance," Professor F. B. Dresslar has this to say of child-study:

Child-study is a branch of the new psychology, and it is now safe to say that no educational movement of the latter half of this century will finally result in so much good to the common schools as will this movement. Granted that much of the work now being done is desultory and misleading, the very fact that teachers are observing the children and striving to know more of their mental life, will inevitably induce better conceptions of the purpose of education, together with more rational ways of teaching. Besides the direct value of this work to the teacher, child-study is being taken up by thousands of parents, who are even now ready to say that such observation is helping them to a better appreciation of parental duties and a more rational care of their children. As Miss Wiltse says, "The study of a child, even mentally, or morally defective, throws a charm of interest about it and vastly increases the chances of doing that child good."

To know children is to love them, and not only the American school with its growing proportion of female teachers, but the American home with its decreasing children and lessening home-ties, and American girlhood generally, with its fading ideals of domesticity, can only be affected favorably by anything that tends to draw it toward the highest object of human affection, the object most worthy of reverence, love, and sacrifice—the growing child.

Professor James E. Addicott said under the head of "Manual Training":

Any earnest student of the times must see the necessity for wider knowledge, for a more varied education, for a stronger self-reliance, and for a far greater power of self-help and determination than have been given by old methods of education. The inhabitants of the civilized world are increasing rapidly; competition is becoming keener and closer. There is a demand for an education that not only gives scholarship, but prepares for citizenship in relation to life work. We have had much trouble because of workers who will not think; we may have more serious difficulty with the thinkers who will not work.

It is a good thing to be a scholar. It is a better thing to be a scholar who works. It is a good thing to be a worker. It is a better thing to be a worker who thinks.

The worker should be enough a scholar to respect the scholar; the scholar should be enough a worker to respect the worker. The dignity of intelligent handwork should be appreciated by parents and teachers. We believe manual training in the elementary schools will largely accomplish this end. If the teachers of this great Republic refuse to acknowledge industry as honorable and praiseworthy, and continue to idealize scholarship as the only attribute of mankind worth striving for, we may never hope for that sympathy, that respect, that good fellowship and brotherly love which should characterize American citizens.

* * * * *

Professor Walter N. Bush has this to say of California's present attitude toward Manual Training:

California's attitude thus far toward manual training is not consistent with her reputation for easily adapting herself to progressive and new conditions. President Eliot, in his recent visit to California, called attention to the fact that the commendable progress our secondary schools had made in modern educational work was due to the fact that in this comparatively new State the schools were untrammelled by traditions and could adopt and carry into execution courses of study that in the older and ultra-conservative Eastern States were quite impossible. Our educators have been, as a body, behind their Eastern fellows in comprehending the value of the educational idea involved in manual training. It is a significant fact that in a series of articles on our public schools, published in the Christmas number of one of our leading dailies, and written by our County Superintendents, only one referred to the subject of manual training, and in this article wood-work was called carpentering and designated as a fad. As compared with cities of the East and South, we have done little to secure the introduction of manual training in our secondary schools.

* * * * *

Professor Charles H. Keyes uses the following language to show that the teacher of Manual Training should be a cultured scholar:

Manual training in our public schools is to be justified only on educational grounds. Its object is the development of power which is general in its application, and its aim is never the production of the tradesman.

The teacher demanded for this service should be first of all a teacher, and not an artisan or an engineer. His specialty should be first of all, education, and not some branch of mechanical art.

To be a teacher is to possess such moral, physical, and intellectual health that all one's contacts with youth make for uplift. To be a teacher is to possess such culture and power as shall inspire the young to desire strength and culture for themselves. To be a teacher is to possess such mastery of the subjects of instruction, such art in imparting knowledge as to make certain that youth shall transform that knowledge to the wisdom which alone is power. To be a teacher is to know books well, and boys better.

But to be a manual-training teacher who shall truly advance the cause of industrial education, is to be all this and something more. To the equipment for general instruction must be added technical art, mastery of the tools, processes, and materials, through contact with which shall be developed conscious, skillful energy, through experience with which every other faculty shall be reduced to the dominance of the will.

The manual-training teacher, too, needs rather more of general culture than does the teacher of the Grammar School or the High School. This is necessary for the removal of the impression which is to-day the chief hindrance to the general introduction of manual training into our scheme of popular education. There is a popular impression that manual training is teaching boys carpentry, blacksmithing, etc., that this work must be done by men who are simply carpenters and blacksmiths, that such men are usually comparatively illiterate, that their contacts do not, accordingly, make for the refinements of higher living. There is a belief that a man who has education, art, and culture enough to teach anything else, would not teach tool work. The boy goes to his first meeting with his teacher of English, mathematics, or history, expecting a man of some culture; he is disappointed if he finds it not. On the other hand, he goes to the Sloyd-room, forging-room, or turning-room, expecting to meet a man of limited education and little culture; he is surprised if he finds there a cultured, scholarly gentleman. When such surprises become the rule there will be no opposition to manual training, and the public will recognize manual-training teachers as belonging to the very highest ranks of our profession. The desire for their services will simply be the desire for the best in education. We have all known that the only way to improve education and elevate teaching is to improve and elevate the teacher. The only way friends of manual training can so improve and elevate that work, as to make it sought for by the best people in every community, is to labor for the improvement and elevation of the manual-training teacher, with especial emphasis on the man and the training.

The manual-training teacher, too, needs rather more of the teaching art and the philosophic training which alone can give the power to study human development accurately, because his must, in the nature of things, be largely individual work. He is compelled to address himself to the true problem. He needs to know tools well, books better, and boys best.

The following pertinent remarks were also made upon the subject of Manual Training:

PROF. CRAWFORD, Oakland:—Fourteen years ago we made a beginning in manual training in the Lincoln School in Oakland, the first experiment of the kind in California. Statistics show that eight thousand laborers come from the Old World annually and find places here. These places are waiting, but American boys are not ready to take them. If our boys will not work, they will find places behind walls and bars. Manual training is valuable, not for the sake of culture of the individual, only, but as a help for bread-earning for the poor man.

PROF. LYSER, San Francisco:—In 1878 in San Francisco, I read a paper, advocating the teaching of manual training in every school in the State. I wasn't old foggy then, and I am not now, but I am not in favor now of introducing manual training into the public schools. I believe in manual training in schools purposely prepared for it, not in schools already full. Manual training is good, but it is not the business of our schools to furnish it. The school is not the only educational factor. Parents must share some of the responsibilities.

PROF. BARNES, Palo Alto:—I am devoted to manual training in its larger sense. The best education has come from contact with nature. It is absurd to say that Abraham Lincoln was uneducated because he did not have the advantages of the schools. He was educated for the work of his life, even if most of his claywork was done with a hoe, his woodwork with an ax, his physics with a crowbar. A face to face struggle with nature has given the best men of the country to-day. Manual training seems to promise to give man this practical contact which his ancestors got on the farm, in ships, or in the woods. The adjustment of the manual training question will come. We must keep our eyes open, and welcome truth, and find the way.

SUPT. BABCOCK, San Francisco:—If I had had less of manual training when a boy and more of instruction that would have taught me to think, I should thank God for it. What I find most practical to me of my attainments, is the ability to apply myself to what is before me. If the teachers see that children learn how to apply themselves to every task that comes, they will do well.

PROF. KEYES, Pasadena:—I have made it a boast that I have no faith in parentalism in government, and I want to stand by manual training to fight parentalism. The old education made every man a preacher, a lawyer, a doctor; the new education makes him also an electrician, an engineer. It might spoil a boy to make him of the first class when he belonged by aptitude to the second. Every opponent to-day has spoken against trade education, not against manual training proper. Manual training will equip a boy better for college, when combined with his high-school studies, than he can be equipped when his entire time is given to academic work.

Upon the subject, "Some Thoughts on School Supervision," Superintendent Thomas J. Kirk has this to say:

The advancement of educational matters is perhaps nowhere more plainly shown than in the greater importance, larger powers, and increased responsibilities and duties which have been imposed upon these officials. State Superintendents are practically now the school law-givers in their respective States. Their opinions and decisions are duly respected and have all the force of law until otherwise determined by a court of competent jurisdiction. And, at the present time, a man more of all-work and of every calling cannot be conceived than that which the office of County Superintendent demands; especially is this true in the case of the office of County Superintendent in the State of California. He is called upon to perform the duties of teacher, financier, lawyer, judge, architect, arbiter, etc. He must have some knowledge of all things, and he is expected to be a specialist in many things. In him the qualifications of the scholar, the business man, and the professional man are supposed to be combined in due proportions and to be exercised with just correspondence on all needed occasions. The more proficient in each and all of these requirements the better equipped is he for the demands of the position. How few among our numbers approach the full measure of these requirements. It is unreasonable to expect any to be so generally and so abundantly equipped, but the ideal Superintendent may readily be conceived.

The duties and the demands upon the County Superintendent in one of these large counties are scarcely to be conceived by one who has not an intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the office. Among other things, the law demands that he shall visit every school in his county at least once during each year, while, at the present time the question is raised in every county as to the legality of the appointment of a single deputy. Therefore, with the manifold duties devolving upon the Superintendent in the business department of his office, and the limited time and means at his disposal for professional duties, the department of supervising the instruction in these large counties must, under existing conditions, be more or less neglected, or at best must receive but superficial attention.

The expedient and proper remedy is difficult to determine. For want of some better plan, I offer, by way of suggestion, that legislation be asked providing that schools outside of cities having City Superintendents be grouped into supervisory school districts, such districts to consist of not more than ten different schools, employing not more than thirty teachers, and that over each of such districts there be appointed a supervising principal, the salary of same to be paid by the State as other State officials are paid.

Professor P. W. Search, in "The Ethics of the Public Schools," gives utterance to the following:

The old-time idea was that the child must bring his life into conformity to requirement. Not can, but must, was the principle of action. The teacher with eyes in the back of his head was the best teacher. There was no choice, no volition, no spontaneity—all was repression and enforced obedience. It was taken for granted that the child disliked school, that the pursuit of knowledge was distasteful, and that there was no safe way for the master to maintain his place, excepting by breaking the will of disobedient pupils. Growing out of this spirit came a long line of false incentives, which for years were all-powerful in sway; and their ghosts still walk in many school-rooms, and even in some Sabbath-schools at the present day. This reference is to rewards of merit, the keeping in at recess on so many demerit marks, prizes, percentages, honor places, discriminating rankings, and a hundred other inventions of the Evil One. The child who is taught to work for a prize, be it even in committing to memory passages of the Scriptures, is bribed, and, to that extent, corrupted. He is not taught to love truth because of its own beauty. There grows up within him, not pure love for the thing presented, but a desire for something unnatural, something selfish, something temporary. The child taught to work for a per cent never rises higher than his motive. He may work himself to a frenzied heat in his all-pervading desire to be first or to gain a high marking; but such a student remains not a worker after such unnatural stimulus is gone. He has passed his objective; his love for work dies stillborn. Hence, all such incentives are false to the spirit of education and are immoral in their tendencies.

Professor Thomas P. Bailey, Jr., presented the following partial synopsis upon "The Education of the Human Animal":

Like other animals, human beings must be (1) trained for habit, (2) nurtured for instinct, (3) developed for aptitude. In our lowest tendencies and instincts we are as truly human as in our highest intuitions and faculties. We are not animals first and human beings afterward, but we are human animals at the start. We need to remember that the phenomenal law of our unfolding is biological, but that our end or aim, and the quality of our powers, are human, and, therefore, divine. Only from the standpoint of a religious philosophy, and a philosophical religion, can we see life in its fullness of meaning, and education as the gaining of the fullness of life for the sake of the work.

Habit saves force, makes functions structural, makes consistency of character possible. The habit striven for by education does not suppress spontaneity, but regulates and equilibrates the same in such wise that our habits express our spontaneous nature, so far as it is worth expression, and our spontaneity expresses our habitual nature. Thus, our habits ought to be the regularized results of our healthy and holy instincts and aptitude. Hence, the best minds must determine what is best for children, and their instincts and aptitudes must be attuned to the best. Fortunately, directly or indirectly, the best minds agree as to the best character in its historical appearance.

Upon "Physical Training for Girls," Miss Carrie B. Palmer said:

We are obliged to combat the effect of the vague ideas concerning the entire subject in the minds of many people who have been so confused by the strain and over-effort of the old-fashioned gymnasium, and the posing and affectation of the new-fashioned "Physical Culture," that they are not quite certain whether we wish to produce acrobats or actresses. When told what we actually do wish to accomplish, they frequently fail to comprehend, and bring forward various arguments which, while often worthy of but little attention in themselves, still, do not tend to make our task any less difficult. One which is frequently heard, is that girls should be able to get sufficient exercise assisting in the housework. It is unnecessary to offer any answer to such an argument, before a body of teachers who know something of the demands of physical education, but as it is frequently met, and must be answered, a brief consideration may not be out of place. Supposing, for the sake of argument, that the average girl could be induced to do sufficient work to produce any effect, the tendency of nearly all work is toward one-sided development, and it is certainly impossible to so regulate it as to train the entire body. Only certain muscles are used, and unless other exercises are taken to supplement, and frequently to counteract, the result cannot be symmetrical growth.

Be it far from us to say that girls should not learn to work, but by any stretch of imagination we cannot call such exercise physical education. We expect to so prepare them that should necessity require they shall be able to work without straining their backs or ruining their tempers.

Another and serious obstacle is the idea held by many that physical training is, and should be, only a form of recreation. This is far reaching in its results, as it gives those who, owing to reasons already stated, do not enjoy exercise the idea that because it is not a pleasure to them they can derive little or no benefit. This argument is just as absurd as it would be if applied to the mental education. Many pupils do not and seemingly cannot be made to enjoy study, but that fact is not allowed to prevent their education. It is certainly true that the element of recreation should enter into physical training, but the real work is work and must be undertaken with the same earnestness as that bestowed upon mental improvement. In short, if we are to get actual results, it must be placed upon the same basis and treated with the same respect.

In our best universities and colleges greater advancement has been made toward securing a suitable kind of physical training and its proper recognition than elsewhere, but even here they are handicapped by what we are failing to do in the schools. By the time the university is reached, it is too late to overcome many physical defects that could easily have been corrected or prevented in the growing child and often too late to save from the consequences of an ignorance concerning the laws of health, which it is our duty and privilege to overcome. But even if this were not true and the college work would accomplish perfect results, it would make but little impression upon the average of health and the physical improvement of the race because of the small number it affects.

The public school is the only place where the masses can receive their physical as well as mental education. Our half measures have been productive of some good. Looked at from a different standpoint, however, they are an impediment to real advancement along this line because they satisfy conscience and keep us from making the effort necessary to secure effective work.

Superintendent J. W. McClymonds, in treating "The Sanitary Construction of School Buildings," has this to say upon different portions of the subject:

LIGHTING OF SCHOOL-ROOMS.

Marble says: "It appears to be a well-established rule that light should be admitted on only one side of the school-room, and this at the left of the pupils." He also says that it may be permitted to admit the light partly from behind the pupils, well to their left, but criticises this method when the teacher is taken into consideration.

Newsholme says: "The worst possible light is that which comes from windows facing the scholars. It throws the teacher's face in the shade, and likewise the books of the pupils. A light from behind obliges the pupil to sit in a twisted position in order that his book may not be in the shade. * * * The best light is that which comes from the left, and does not necessitate any other than an erect position in order that it may fall directly on the desk."

Other authorities agree with those already quoted. We conclude that the school-room to be properly lighted should be lighted from one side, and that the left of the pupils. The windows should be on the left and as much to the rear as possible, and should extend as near to the ceiling as construction will permit. They should not come within less than 4 feet of the floor.

Authorities differ as to the exact ratio of the window space to the floor space, varying from one fourth to one tenth. The best authorities, however, insist that a room is not properly lighted if the glass surface does not exceed one sixth of the floor space. A room 24 feet wide and 30 feet long should have a glass surface of 144 square feet.

An ordinary school window is 3' 3"x8'. The same room would require six windows. Authorities agree that the space to be lighted cannot be in width more than one and one half times the height of the top of the window from the floor. If the top of the window is 12 feet from the floor, the greatest distance that the window will properly light is 18 feet. You will readily see the reason for this, remembering that the intensity of light diminishes as the square of the distance increases.

With improved ventilation there is no necessity for high ceilings. With ceilings from 12 to 14 feet, it is impossible to comply with the above rule as to width of rooms. I believe a school-room, in width two and a half times the height of the top of the window from the floor, provided the bottom of the window is 4 feet from the floor, and, provided further, that the glass surface is equal to one fifth of the floor surface, is fairly well lighted.

In arranging the seats it is well to leave as wide an aisle as possible on the right side of the room, thus bringing the desks as near the light as possible.

Window shades are necessary to regulate the amount of light. A good arrangement is to have them roll from the center to the top, and from the center to the bottom. There is an objection to this arrangement, especially if the windows are only 3 feet or less from the floor, the light enters the room below the line of the eye. The windows being low, a better plan would be to roll the curtains from the bottom to the top, and in addition to the regular curtain there should be a white one to protect the room from intense sunlight and yet admit light.

Briefly stated, the following rules should govern the lighting of school-rooms:

First—All the windows should be to the left of the pupils, and well to the rear.

Second—The top of the window should extend to the top of the room—the bottom of the window being at least 4 feet from the floor.

Third—The glass surface should equal or exceed one fifth of the floor surface.

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

Specialists on diseases of the eye assert that our school desks and school lighting are responsible for much of the impaired eyesight among the pupils. Physicians attribute many of the defects of the body, found among school children, to imperfect school desks. We are now in a transition period. The adjustable school desk is expected to remedy all the defects complained of in the desk of to-day. I believe that the day is not far distant when there will be no other desk used than the adjustable. While we are compelled to use the stationary desk, there should be at least three sizes in each room. Both the placing of the desk and the seating of the pupil are important.

The top of the desk should lap about two inches on the seat. In seating the pupils, the following rules should be observed: The height of the seat should be about the same as the height of the knee of the pupil. The height of the desk top should correspond with the height of the elbow of the pupil when seated.

CLEANLINESS.

Disease lurks in the dust of the school-room. In planning a school building, projections upon which dust will accumulate should be avoided.

The plan of sweeping the floors dry is not good, as the dust rises and finds lodgment on every surface of the room. Sprinkling the floor is equally as bad, for the dust is left on the floor, and rises when disturbed.

A better plan than either of these is to sprinkle the floor with damp sawdust. This, when being swept, will gather up all particles of dust, leaving the walls and desks quite free. The school-rooms can be kept much cleaner when treated in this way, with one third of the sweeping.

As often as possible the walls and ceilings should be thoroughly swept.

The desk tops, from contact with the hands, gather organic impurities. A school desk, after having been used by one pupil, should be thoroughly cleaned and re-varnished before requiring another pupil to occupy it.

From a sanitary standpoint, it is well to have this cleansing done once each term, at least.

Air should be allowed to pass freely through the room when not occupied by the pupils.

Sunlight, wherever possible, should be admitted to a school-room. Air and sunlight are nature's great purifiers.

Towels should be provided in such quantities that no pupil need use any surface of the towel that has been used by another.

VENTILATION.

We are all familiar with the bad effects caused by breathing impure air. The stupor, dreariness, and headache resulting therefrom have been experienced by all. We seldom reflect upon the bad effects of these violations of nature's law.

We are prone to believe that, after we have taken a few full breaths of pure air, we have repaired all damage.

It is not the temporary inconveniences, caused by breathing impure air, that need be guarded against, but the permanent effects. It weakens the constitution. It sows the seed of bad health and death. Scientists attribute to the breathing of impure air many of the diseases we are wont to ascribe to colds.

There is not sufficient time, nor is it necessary, to go into the subject exhaustively. We all know the importance of it. For a very clear presentation of the entire subject, let me refer you to a book published by Appleton—"Ventilation of School Buildings," by Morrison.

Let us consider the essentials of a good heating apparatus. Any system of heating the air that does not, at the same time, provide for its renewal, is not worthy of consideration.

One of the best systems of heating and ventilating (for a mild climate) that has ever been in use is, perhaps, the most primitive—the open fire-place. A school-room with two or three open grates in it would be well ventilated and fairly well heated. One of the best school buildings in the world—the City of London High School—is, or was a few years ago, warmed and ventilated in this manner.

Exhaled air contains carbon dioxide, watery vapor, and animal secretions. The animal secretions in exhaled air are what give it the bad odor, and are the most dangerous elements in it. The impurities of exhaled air are not so light as air. It follows that the opening to remove them must be near the floor of the room. In order to keep the air approximately pure, it is found necessary to furnish 30 cubic feet of air to each person, every minute. From 200 to 300 feet per minute is as rapidly as air ought to be admitted to a school-room, in order to avoid draughts. To furnish 1,500 cubic feet at a velocity of 200 feet per minute will require an opening $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3'$. This opening should be about 8 feet from the floor. The heating apparatus should be placed at the base of the shaft, leading to the room to be heated. In this way we take advantage of the law that heated air rises. It is open to argument as to what the best means of heating the air should be; whether by steam coils, hot-water coils, or by air-warmers. If the first two named are used, there is no danger of any of the products of combustion finding their way into the school-room. The latter will be found the more economical. The air-warmer should consist of an extensive surface, moderately warm, rather than of smaller surfaces highly heated. On no account should the surface of an air-warmer be heated to a red heat. If it is found necessary to do this in order to keep the room warm, the heater should be torn out and a larger one put in. To obtain the best results, provision should be made to admit the air to the heater from different directions, so as to take advantage of the direction in which the air is moving. If this precaution is taken, sufficient air to ventilate the school building, on most days, can be obtained by gravity alone. There are days on which it is difficult, if indeed not impossible, to move the air in sufficient quantity to provide for the need of fifty pupils—without a fan. A system of ventilation, to be satisfactory, must provide for a continuous and regular flow of air. The valves must be so constructed that it is impossible to diminish the flow of air. To be complete, the valves must be automatically regulated.

I have hurriedly presented some needed improvements in the construction of school buildings, but by far the most important of all these is better ventilation. In an article in the "Forum" of January are set forth conditions in the schools of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and Chicago in regard to ventilation, which, if true, are a shame to our civilization.

What is needed to overcome this carelessness toward the rising generation? Public opinion must be aroused! This can be done, and honestly done, by an investigation into the condition of the air of the school-room. No law is of any avail that has not the sanction of public opinion. Many of the people are already awake to the importance of better hygienic conditions in our school buildings. When public opinion has been thoroughly aroused, it will then be an easy matter to secure legislation that will be beneficial. What we ask is not the ideal, but the practical.

Upon "Hygienic Improvement within Reach of us All," Miss Lucy M. Washburn said:

The death-rate, so largely decreased as to certain causes, has increased as to others, and forms of break-down not known of old, have arisen. We find this in two main directions: First—Nervous diseases are on the increase. Insomnia, that direful word but too familiar, is a new word not found in Webster's Dictionary for 1860; so is nervous prostration a new phrase. Insanity is increasing, as well as minor nervous diseases. Second—Consumption, that arch destroyer of the human race, although we know so much more than formerly about its nature and prevention, is also on the increase. Already it causes not less than one sixth of the deaths from all causes together. Examining into the causes of these ominous facts, we find two: first, the increasing strain of civilization; second, the tendency to city crowding and indoor sedentary occupation. The saddest feature is that these are causes apparently inherent in advancing civilization, and that they attack those on whom civilization has spent most—the educated, the brain-workers. It looks sometimes as if society would have to be recruited from below, and this means a waste of its gains and a check to any high final attainment.

Now what remedy is there? Only one: that intelligent effort in these lines shall increase faster than the evil it is to meet. Legislation will not lead; it is not a source of power, but only a form of its application. It lags ever behind the public opinion, which is its source. Public opinion, then, is the true power; and this must be educated. Now to me, the most unhopeful feature of all is, education as yet does not usually mean education in this most vital matter; that even high culture in other lines may co-exist with astonishing mediæval barbarism here, that it is precisely in our schools—yea, in our universities—that some of the very worst of these conditions most prevail.

Is this an over-statement, a false charge? Let us see. What have we found to be the two great factors in diminishing vitality? Indoor, sedentary, ill-ventilated living, and nervous strain; and these two are the crying evils of schools. Instead of being centers of light, most schools are in these very things centers of darkness.

Professor T. D. Wood, on the subject "Hygiene in Education," said:

Practical hygiene in education means this—that the whole environment called school, which includes everything from grounds, buildings, rooms, lighting, heating, air, color, school furniture, books, pictures, to the very teacher, shall be favorable to the best and healthiest growth and training of the child; and that the most favorable environment shall be secured regardless of expense. Is the welfare and health of forty children, or of one child even, to be balanced by the community, or the State even, against a few more cents, a few more dollars, or a few more hundred dollars, to be expended for better cleaning of the school building; for more hygienic school desks or seats; for better paper and printing in school books; for the best system of heating and ventilation obtainable? Financial economy is converted into criminal waste of child life when applied to the vital details of school conditions.

Again, hygiene in education means that the activities of the child shall be so controlled with reference to age and individual condition that growth shall be perfect and unimpeded, and that the faculties shall be trained and developed in order, in symmetry, and in power. Not only does the child fail of what he might have become, but not infrequently positive disorder and disease are produced by ignorant, unscientific methods of training, and these largely through force and over-pressure. Children are sent to school too young; the periods of school work are too long. Too early by far the child is sent home from school with work to do in the evening. From the beginning of school life, strain is brought too much on the accessory, the specialized nervous and muscular mechanism, through eye, tongue, and finger activities, while from the very beginning of school life there is too little activity of the fundamental muscle and nerve centers; the back, abdomen, chest, and shoulders become weak, or stay weak, and there is not enough of foundation to support the superstructure. From one third to one half of the active time of young children should be devoted to large movements having a definite purpose which is well understood by the teacher. Plays and games should be carefully chosen and directed.

Once more, hygiene in education means that the child should be taught how to care for his health, his body, his life. He should be taught carefully, clearly, and truthfully, according to his age and individual responsibility; in general and in detail he should be taught the laws of life and health, and how he should obey them. He should be taught plainly all that he needs to know. I do not mean that human anatomy and physiology should be taught in the lower grades, or that vivisection is ever necessary in the public schools. We are discussing not science teaching, but health instruction; as much of anatomy and physiology as the child needs to know in order to do his part well in running his own life mechanism. He should be taught health, and not disease, and a high ideal of human manhood and womanhood should be presented to him.

Some of this health teaching can be done in class. Much of it must be done individually. It must all be done scientifically, and, let me say, again, sufficiently. "Throughout all it should, then, never be forgotten that the summum bonum is health."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The teachers in the counties of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, and San Diego organized the Teachers' Association of Southern California on May 12, 1893, at Los Angeles, with Melville Dozier, of the Normal School at Los Angeles, as President.

Meetings have been held annually ever since, and the association has had a wonderful growth. The last meeting showed a membership of nearly 800, and an attendance of fully 1,200. At these meetings representative teachers from the two Universities, the Normal Schools, High Schools, and Elementary Schools have been present and participated in the proceedings. Able papers and learned discussions have marked every assembly of this live association. I regret sincerely that I have no printed report at hand, that I might cull from the proceedings as I have done from those of the State Association.

It would be profitable to the schools of our State if the other counties would group themselves into local associations. The value of the association of brains, learning, and enthusiasm cannot be overestimated.

In Memoriam.

ANDREW JACKSON MOULDER.

"Ah, that pure, noble spirit has gone to its rest,
And the true hand lies nerveless and cold on his breast;
But the name and the memory, these never will die,
But grow brighter and dearer as ages go by."

On October 14th, Superintendent Andrew J. Moulder died. He was known and respected by a large majority of our citizens. By the teachers he was trusted and loved as a tried and true friend. In matters pertaining to the schools he was far-seeing and wise. In affairs of the City, State, and Nation he was remarkably intelligent and high-minded. Men of far less ability have aspired to the highest offices of the State and Nation. His death, coming as it did, was a calamity to the schools. No one could be nearer to the confidence and heart of the teachers.

The writer of these words wishes to record here the most affectionate tribute that love can pay the memory of a modest, cultured, broad-minded, sincere, loyal, appreciative friend. His ever-courteous presence was like a benediction. He was the highest type of the American gentleman.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF SAN FRANCISCO.

WHEREAS, In response to the final summons which must sooner or later come to all, our esteemed associate and co-laborer, Andrew Jackson Moulder, Superintendent of Schools of San Francisco, has gone to rest from his work on earth; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Andrew J. Moulder we mourn the loss of no ordinary man. As an educator, his name will remain indissolubly connected with the educational history of San Francisco and of California. As a pioneer in the work of public education here, he dedicated to the cause the enthusiasm, energy, and industry of his young and vigorous manhood; and, with clear and far-reaching vision, was instrumental in laying broad and deep the foundation of our splendid system of free elementary and higher education. To him, also, was granted the rare privilege of seeing in the magnificent superstructure, the full fruition of his hopes and labors; and still more that of being called by his appreciative and grateful fellow-citizens to the management, in its full and stalwart maturity, of the system which he nurtured and directed in its infancy; and so, full of years and of honors, he laid down the work only with his life. His name and his services will ever be held in fond and grateful remembrance alike by the teachers, pupils, patrons, and officers of our public schools. Sincere and earnest of purpose, dignified of bearing, yet courteous of manner and gentle of speech, firm for the right as he saw it, yet calmly and graciously considerate of the opinions of others, sound in scholarship and clean of thought, he everywhere and always, in private as in public life, most worthily bore and nobly graced the highest title which man can bear—that of the true American gentleman—and as a model of such in its highest type, he has left his example as a rich heritage to the youth of the city.

Resolved, That we extend to his widow and children, in the shadow and sorrow of their great bereavement, our sincere, respectful sympathy.

Resolved, That when this Board adjourns, it do so in respect to the memory of Andrew J. Moulder.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes, and that an engrossed copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

* This school (for both boys and girls) was organized August 16, 1856, as a Union Grammar School. On the 8th of January, 1858, it was reorganized as the San Francisco High School. In June, 1864, the sexes were separated, and this school became the Boys' High School. The girls were sent to the school building on the corner of Bush and Stockton Streets, and there the Girls' High School was organized.

† This school was organized as a Commercial School in February, 1884, and was made a High School June 22, 1892.

SUMMARY OF STATISTICS.

From the last report of the State Controller to this office the total amount of securities held in trust by the State Treasurer for the State School Fund is $3,814,050. This consists of State Funded Bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 6% per annum, amounting to $1,526,500, and of County Bonds of various counties, amounting to $2,287,550, bearing interest at rates varying from 4% to 9% per annum. The interest of this fund of $3,814,050, together with the interest on deferred payments on school lands sold, and the amounts received from State, county, and railroad taxes, poll-taxes, and taxes on collateral inheritances, constitute the State school revenue.

In addition to the revenue raised from the above sources, the total revenue for school purposes includes the taxes levied by the various cities and school districts throughout the State. The total amount of moneys received for the support of the Primary and Grammar Schools of the State for the school years ending June 30, 1895, and June 30, 1896, respectively, including the balances carried over from the school year ending June 30, 1894, is as follows:

Reviewing these statistics, we note the following facts under their respective heads:

ENUMERATION OF CHILDREN.

The enumeration of white children of census age in 1895 was 316,992; in 1896 it was 324,098. The enumeration for 1894 was 307,671, a gain in two years of 16,427.

The census returns of negro children for 1895 amount to 2,140; in 1896, to 2,186. In 1894, 2,179 were listed, a gain in two years of 7.

The census returns of Indian children in 1895 amount to 2,356, and in 1896 to 2,597. In 1894 there were 2,133 Indian children listed; thus in two years there has been a gain of 464.

The listed native-born Mongolian children in 1896 amount to 1,731, in 1894 to 1,654; a gain of 77.

The census gains for 1895 and 1896 would be as follows: White children, 16,427; negro children, 7; Indian children, 464; Mongolian children, 77, or a total of 16,975 census children.

The complete list of census children in 1895 is 323,130, in 1896, 330,612.

The total number of children under five years of age in 1896 is 124,113, and in 1894, 119,201 were listed; a gain in two years of 4,912.

In 1895 there were 445,767 children under seventeen years of age, and in 1896, 454,725 were so listed. The increase in per cent of census children from 1894 to 1895 was 3.02, and from 1895 to 1896 was 2.31.

AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

There were enrolled in the Grammar and Primary grades in 1895, 241,322 children; in 1896, 249,335 children were enrolled. For a corresponding period of time the High School enrollment was 9,379 and 10,362, making a total enrollment in 1895 of 250,701, and in 1896 of 259,697. In 1894 the enrollment was 243,249, showing a gain in two years of 16,448.

The average number of children belonging to the public schools in 1894 was 175,532; in 1896 it was 187,938, or a gain of 12,406.

The average daily attendance of children in 1894 was 164,664; in 1896 it was 176,083, or a gain of 11,419.

AT PRIVATE SCHOOLS.

In 1894 there were 21,779 census children attending private schools; in 1896, 21,405 children are so reported. That is, the attendance at private schools had decreased 374, while the census had increased 16,975 children. To put it in per cent, the percentage of census children attending private schools in 1894 was 6.94% on a basis of 313,637 census children, and but 6.47% in 1896 on a basis of 330,612 census children. In another portion of this report will be found such statistics of private schools as have been submitted by the County Superintendents of the State.

SCHOOL STATISTICS.

The school districts of the State have increased in the past two years from 3,131 in 1894 to 3,243 in 1896; a gain of 112. In the same time, the schools have increased from 5,026 to 5,200; a gain of 174.

A full statement of the condition of the High Schools of the State is made a feature of this report. In 1895 there were 87 of these schools, and in 1896 the number had increased to 98. The number of pupils in the meantime had increased from 7,412 in 1894 to 10,362 in 1896, and the teachers from 272 in 1894 to 381 in 1896.

The total enrollment in the schools in 1895 was 241,322, and in 1896, 249,335; a gain in two years of 13,498.

Seventeen districts in the State maintained school for less than six months in 1896, as opposed to 21 maintaining school less than six months in 1894; 553 districts maintained school from six to eight months in 1896, as opposed to 777 maintaining school for an equal period in 1894; 2,593 districts maintained school eight months or over in 1896, as opposed to 2,264 districts in session for an equal period in 1894. The average sessions of the schools have increased from 7.95 months in 1892 and 1894 to 8.71 months in 1895 and 8.70 months in 1896.

In 1894 there were 6,257 teachers in the State, and in 1896 this number had increased to 6,885, a gain of 628. This increase was composed of 142 male and 486 female teachers.

The average annual salary paid to the teachers of the elementary schools in 1895 was $650 51, and in 1896, $659 82.

Five thousand seven hundred and forty teachers subscribe for some educational journal, an increase of six hundred and thirty over the report of two years since.

In 1896, 1,735 teachers of the force of the State were graduates of Normal Schools. Of these, 1,438 were graduates of the California State Normal Schools and 297 were graduates of other Normal Schools. In the past two years there has been a gain of 72 teachers, graduates from California Normal Schools, and a loss of 81, graduates from other Normal Schools. Twenty-five per cent of the teaching force of the State has thus had Normal training, and nearly 21% of it in our own Normal Schools.

A glance at the portion of the statistics relating to the furniture and apparatus of the schools shows a notable increase in the number of districts possessing good furniture and apparatus. In 1895, 2,207 districts were supplied with good furniture; this number had increased to 2,363 in 1896. In 1895, 2,055 districts were well supplied with apparatus, and in 1896, 2,114 districts were so supplied.

The district school libraries in 1896 were valued at $693,850, and number on their shelves 780,443 volumes, an increase in two years of 69,282 volumes.

In 1896 the schools were visited as follows: By County Superintendents, 7,528; by Trustees, 18,458; by other persons, 195,055; or a grand total in increase of visitors over 1894 of 16,418.

Forty-six Institutes were held in 1895, and in 1896 fifty-one were in session; 5,722 teachers attended the Institutes of 1895, and 6,444 those of 1896.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS.

The receipts for the past two years have amounted to $12,445,544 55. The expenditures for teachers' salaries, rents, repairs, contingent expenses, school libraries, and apparatus, for the same period of time, have amounted to $11,485,667 56. In 1896 the cost of tuition per scholar enrolled in the public schools was $21 24; the cost of tuition per scholar for the average number belonging was $28 19, and the cost of tuition per scholar for the average daily attendance was $30 08. The valuation of school property has increased from $15,534,044 52, reported in 1894, to $17,100,184, reported in 1896, or a gain of $1,566,139 48.

STATEMENT OF EXPENDITURES.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
COUNTY OF SACRAMENTO. } ss.

I, Samuel T. Black, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of California, do swear that the above contains a true and correct statement of the manner in which appropriations for the support of the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of California, except salaries, were expended from July 1, 1894, to July 1, 1896, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

SAMUEL T. BLACK,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 15th day of September, 1896.

W. W. SEAMAN,
Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction.
